Recruitment Drive For Newton Police

The Massachusetts Civil Service announces there will be an entrance examination for the police service of all cities and towns in the state on March 26, 1966.

Chief Philip Purcell of Newton announces that the Newton Police are conducting a vigorous recruitment program for the Newton Police Department. In the coming year, they anticipate a number of vacancies. The Chief is particularly anxious to recruit young men of good character, habits and physique for the Newton Police Department.

The Chief points out the pay is good and expected to increase to the top level of the area; employment is steady; and there are many fringe benefits, such as a generous retirement allowance, uniforms furnished, sick time allowance, vacations up to four weeks, and a good chance for advancement.

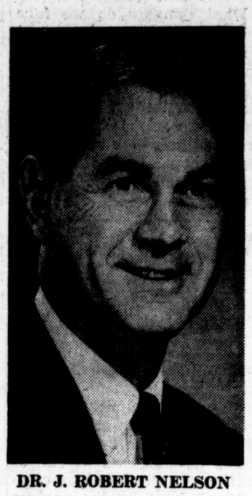

There is an expanding field in law enforcement to which the young man may aspire.

The members of the Newton Police Department have been asked to make a search for qualified men.

Minimum weight 135 pounds; minimum height 5'8". Age 21 to 35 years on day of exam. Final day for filing applications with Massachusetts Civil Service is March 7, 1966.

Applications may be obtained at Newton Police Headquarters or at the Veteran's Services Department at Newton City Hall.

The Chief said: "Law enforcement is interesting and an excellent opportunity to be of service to our community."

DR. J. ROBERT NELSON

Dr. Nelson Lectures At Church Here

Dr. J. Robert Nelson will speak on "Christian Belief for an Ecumenical Era" at the opening session of the University of Life at Newtonville Methodist Church on March 6 at 6:45 p.m.

Dr. Nelson, Professor of Systematic Theology at Boston University School of Theology, brings to this subject an impressive background of experience and achievement.

He has just been elected National President of Methodists for Church Renewal, and is editor-at-large of the Christian Century. During the past decade he has lectured in more than a hundred colleges and Seminaries around the world.

Crime Cases Increase In Local Court

The annual report submitted by Court Clerk Edward J. Cronin to the state corrections commissioner in Boston, revealed a three percent increase in the number of criminal cases handled by Newton District Court last year over 1964.

In 1965 there were 4434 criminal cases, and in the previous year the number was 4294.

Increases were listed in all three classes. Crimes against the Public Justice showed an increase from 3,985 in 1964 to 4,096.

Crimes against property increased from 255 in 1964 to 284 last year and crimes against persons increased from 54 to 59.

Complaints of violation of motor vehicle laws totaled 3,560 last year, compared with 3,434 in 1964. There were 19 operating to endanger cases in 1965, compared with 17 in 1964.

Sales Tax Would Be Issue If Donahue Opposes Volpe

Whether Governor Volpe will be hurt politically because of his courage in pressing his fight for a limited sales tax in an election year is a question which will not be definitely answered until the returns are tabulated in next November's election.

A number of Volpe's advisers wanted him to abandon his sales tax battle after his sixth sales tax bill was defeated by the State Senate last December.

They argued that it was politically risky to continue the fight, that the people might not adjust to the idea of paying the sales tax before next fall's election, that with the tax in effect for only part of the year its benefits would not be fully apparent by next autumn.

Volpe rejected their arguments and declined to heed their counsel. He took the position that the financial problems confronting the State and its cities and towns had to be met and that he had a responsibility to make another attempt to meet them, election year or not.

The guessing here is that Volpe has won new respect and that his prestige has been enhanced by his perseverance which finally saw him achieve passage of his seventh sales tax measure by both branches of

Parking Meters In More Areas Sought

A recommendation that parking meters be installed in three more municipal off-street parking areas in business sections of the city has been made by the Newton Traffic Commission following a study requested by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The commission proposed that the meters be placed in the presently unmetered parking lots in Newton Highlands, Newtonville and West Newton.

Installation of the meters in the Newtonville parking lot would be delayed until after the city purchases additional land on Highland street for parking.

Meters also would not be placed in the West Newton lot until the city buys a lot on Cherry street owned by the Rockman Estate.

Parking meters have been in use for some time in the Newton Centre municipal off-street parking lot. Merchants in that section have been urging their removal unless meters are placed in similar lots in other sections of the city.

The traffic commission recommendations have been submitted to the Board of Aldermen by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and were referred to the Street Traffic Committee.

Parking would be prohibited on the east side of Grove street in Auburndale, from the State Highway to Seminary avenue, and on the west side from the northerly end of the highway for a distance of 1860 feet, under another recommendation by the traffic commission.

One-hour parking would be allowed between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the west side of Grove street from Hancock street to a point 1860 feet from the highway.

State Solons To Take Part In Workshop

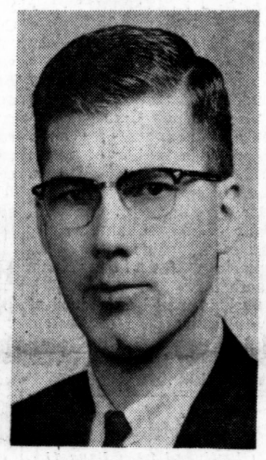

The current session of the State Legislature will be the topic at the Legislative Workshop of the Newton League of Women Voters to be held March 4th, 9:15 to 11:45 a.m. at the First Unitarian Church, 1326 Washington Street, West Newton.

The speakers will be: Senator Leslie B. Cutler; Sen-G. Bradley; Rep. Edward ator Beryl Cohen; Rep-Joseph G. Bradley; Rep. Edward M. Dickson; Rep. Irving Fishman; and Rep. Paul F. Malloy.

In order to cover all facts of this provocative topic the meeting will be divided into two sections. The first half will be devoted to exploring bills that have been filed before the General Court for consideration this year. The second half will be a lively panel discussion covering Massachusetts current tax dilemma.

The public is cordially invited to participate and to personally meet and speak with the Legislators. Baby sitting is available.

The committee planning the meeting includes: Mrs. Ernest Picard, chairman; Mrs. Frank Quinn, vice-chairman; Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Theodore Singer; Mrs. Ralph Rosenbaum; Mrs. Henry Gorman, and Mrs. Norman Rosenberg.

Week Marks Service To U.S. Public

"167 years ago," says Newton's Mayor Monte G. Basbas in proclaiming March 1st-7th National Weights and Measures Week, "as recommended in the first annual message of President George Washington, the Congress of the United States enacted its first weights and measures law.

It cited the necessity of standards of weights and measures, the need of examing and trying weights measures devices, and the need of uniformity."

Concern for the enforcement of equity in commercial quantity determinations in Newton far antedates the concern of George Washington expressed in 1799.

On January 20th, 1681 the then "Town" meeting "VOTED that the Selectmen provide weights and measures for standards for the use of the inhabitants. John Spring was chosen Sealer of Weights and Measures."

Mayor Basbas' proclamation joins Newton with numerous other jurisidictions across the country in directing public attention to today's very significant value of local weights and measures administration within the community.

Foreign Students Guests In Newton

A field trip to the United States for 27 Brazilian medical students, arranged jointly by the Agency for International Development, Harvard and Tufts Medical Schools, and the Experiment in International Living, has experienced considerable cooperation in the Newton area.

Thirteen of the 27 visiting Brazilians are housed by Newton families. They arrived here on Feb. 10 and will leave on Saturday, March 5. They will leave for Brazil on March 7 after a visit to New York City.

While here the students are observing the medical training at Harvard and Tufts Universities.

Before coming to Boston the students spent three weeks at the Experiment's School of International Training in Brattleboro, Vt., for intensive language training.

The students represent the first graduating class from

2 Nabbed Here Face Grand Jury

Two alleged burglars, who were arrested at gunpoint in a Newton Centre men's clothing store last week, were bound over for the Grand Jury and held in bail totalling $18,000 by Judge Julian L. Yesley in Newton district court Monday.

Meanwhile, several robberies and thefts were reported in the city.

Thieves carried away seven bottles of expensive liquor worth an estimated $70 after breaking into the home of Samuel Dexter at 3 Ashton Ave., Newton Centre, on Monday. Three of the bottles taken contained champagne.

The burglars got into the Dexter home by breaking the glass in the front door.

Narcotics and money were taken by robbers who looted the Willy Drug Store at 32 Lincoln St., Newton Highlands.

The burglars took $150 from a money bag, $97 from the cash register and an undetermined amount of narcotics. They entered the drug store by first forcing a cellar door and then forcing an upstairs door.

Thieves, who got into Leonard's Lunch at 344 Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls, through an unlocked window, found $100 which was hidden in the kitchen oven in the restaurant.

Peter E. Aronson of 17 Prentice Rd., Newton Centre, reported to police that two wire hub caps valued at $80 were stolen from his automobile while it was parked on Beacon street in Newton Centre.

Eleanor Norton of 156 Charlesbank Rd., Newton, notified police that four hub caps were taken from her automobile while it was parked on Washington St., Newton.

Stolen Car Chase Nets Young Trio

Three teen-agers, an 18-year-old girl, a 16-year-old boy and a 15-year-old boy, all from Jamaica Plain, were arrested by Newton police following a stolen car chase early Sunday morning.

The chase began when Sergeant Neal R. Dwyer and Patrolman John I. Likely attempted to check on an automobile in a filling station at Washington and Thornton streets.

The trio drove off with police in pursuit. Police trapped the car at the dead end of Oakland street.

The two boys and the girl tried to escape on foot, but the girl and the 15-year-old boy were overtaken by the police officers. The 16-year-old boy, who allegedly had been driving the car, got away but was arrested later.

When the trio jumped out of the stolen car, it rolled back into the police cruiser, damaging its front fenders and grille.

Two autos were reported stolen in Newton, one owned by a Brighton man, the other by a Braintree resident.

A drill, a timing meter and a tachometer valued at $200 were taken from a car while it was parked in a garage at 1122 Chestnut St., Newton Upper Falls.

Grand Jury action now awaits the two men arrested by police in a Newton Centre store.

They are William S. McDaniels, 22, of 519 Park drive, Boston, who was held in $10,000 bail after he waived a hearing, and Paytent T. Simmons, 27, of 214 West Canton St., Boston, who was held in $8000 bail.

McDaniels and Simmons are charged with breaking into Jack Lane's store, 32 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, where they were arrested after police had been alerted that a burglar alarm in the store was sending signals.

Modern Math Here To Stay, It Seems

Teaching modern math in the Newton schools is here to stay, and in 10 years, with improvements in programs, it will no longer be called modern, the School Committee was told Monday night by the two men who have been responsible for directing all the work in the field of mathematics during the period in which traditional math has been displaced here.

An hour's discussion by Dr. J. Bernard Everett and Dr. Donald T. Welch of the division of instruction covered the subject from its inception in Newton and included a look at its present status and its future.

Their talk had an interested, if somewhat confused, audience, at times, an audience that included Mayor Monte G. Basbas. It was apparent from the latter's occasional comments and questions that the city's chief executive is much more familiar with the subject than the average layman.

It was brought out that teaching modern math to the very young doesn't involve the problems that go with weaning the older students away from traditional math and training them in the modern ways of adding, multiplying, etc. The small fry, and in Newton they include kindergarten pupils, do not present the problem of having to unlearn something.

Strangely enough, according to Drs. Everett and Welch, the major problem in imparting a knowledge of modern math to the younger element lies in the fact that it is more difficult to find elementary school teachers capable of training them.

Secondary school teachers have the advantage of a broader education that includes modern math, whereas in many instances the elementary teachers lack the necessary training and tend to shy away when exposed to it.

It was in 1959, the committee was told, that the Newton schools first became involved in modern math teaching. Over a period of three or four years committees and workshops were set up to work on the development of projects. Ever since then, new materials that have come along have been tested out.

Textbooks were lacking at that time. It was not until later that publishers be-

Mann's Bill Fights Abandoned Vehicles

"Automobiles abandoned on streets create traffic hazards and hamper snow removal," Rep. Theodore D. Mann (R) of Newton told the committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles on Monday afternoon.

To correct what he called "this too prevalent condition," Mann proposed adoption of his bill authorizing local authorities to remove vehicles abandoned" and "standing for more than seventy-two hours."

The bill (H1405) would apply to public and private ways, and to private property when the vehicle has been left there without permission of the owner or lessee.

Mann's proposal received approval at the hearing from the State department of Public Works, represented by Robert Brooks of the traffic engineering division.

Officials empowered to remove the abandoned vehicles, if the Mann proposal becomes law, will be the city or town superintendent of streets or other officer having charge of public ways, or a member of the state police.

James Farmer To Speak At Temple Shalom, March 10th

James Farmer, president of the Center for Community Action Education, Washington, D. C., will discuss the future of the civil rights movement in America at an open public lecture at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple Street, West Newton, on March 10th at 8 p.m., it was announced today.

The lecture is sponsored jointly by the Temple Shalom Committee on Adult Education and the Social Action Committee.

An invitation to church groups and other interested organizations and individuals has been extended by the General Chairman of the evening, Edwin M. Rossman.

The program will be held in the Temple auditorium. There is no charge for admisssion.

Farmer, former National Director of CORE, was educated as a minister but chose not to be ordained in a segregated church. He was CORE's first National Chairman, and has been National Director since 1961. The leader of the "Freedom Rides", and strategist for "sit-ins", "stand-ins" and "jail-ins", Mr. Farmer has been imprisoned, tear-gassed, firehosed and cattle-prodded for his convictions.

He recently wrote a book, "Freedom When". His talk will cover the same ground: What is the future of civil rights, in politics, in solving poverty, unemployment, and training problems? What does "integration" mean today?

What dangers do we face from Communist subversion? What remains useful in the philosophy of non-violence? Can CORE avoid the allure of black nationalism? What roles will the various civil rights organizations play in the fight for freedom? What friends do we need and what friends do we have?

Noted Pianist In Concert At Junior College

REALTY COURSE
All Classes Held At Newton Centre Woman's Club
Also At Motel 128, Needham
MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training available.
As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.
If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.
If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.
Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale.
So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Monday, March 7, at 8 p.m. at The Newton Center Women's Club, 1296 Centre St., Newton, or on Wednesday, March 9, at 8 p.m. at Motel 128, Exit 56E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. The entire course will be presented at each of the above locations on the indicated night.
THE LEE COURSE IS LICENSED AND APPROVED BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. For more information, you are welcome to call collect any time.

the medical school at the Federal University of Espirito Santo.

The visit to Boston and attendance at the two noted medical schools, Harvard and Tufts, will add much to the Brazilian educational pattern.

During their Boston program the students spend three days each week accompanyfourth-year medical students at Harvard and Tufts to their classes and become involved in all of their counterparts' activities. The balance of the weekly schedule comprises an intensive medical program designed by the Harvard and Tufts faculties.

Unlike the pattern in the U. S., Brazilian students go directly from high school into a six-year medical program. Since the university is federally supported, no tuition or fees are charged. Once a student passes the entrance examination, there is no drain on his family's pocketbook.

"We have come to see how your people live, to examine one of the most important medical centers in the world," Dr. Bianco said, "and to return to Brazil to continue the development of medical facilities and personnel in our country."

The students, 23 men and four women, spent three weeks at the School for International Training, a specialized training institution which prepares people to meet a new culture on its own terms. It is conducted by the Experiment in International Living, one of the world's largest and best known educational exchange organizations.

Dr. Bianco has been very pleased with the reception that has been given his students thus far. "After all," he said, "we have come not only to learn about medicine but to get to know your people as well."

The Newton families and the Brazilian students visiting them while participating in this program are as follows:

Dr. and Mrs. John Braasch, 149 Dorest Rd., Waban, host to Ubirajara Cesar Moreira de Araujo, 26 years (Cardiology).

Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Shoul, 9 Exmoor Rd., Newton, host to Celicilo Coutinho Barros, 23 years, (Parasitology and Microbiology).

Dr. and Mrs. Don W. Fawcett, Jr., 15 Wamesit Rd., Waban, host to Rubens Leuzinger Bianco, 22 years, (General Surgery).

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Simon, 47 Chatham Rd., Newton Highlands, host to Reginaldo Cardoso, 29 years. (Surgery).

Dr. and Mrs. W. Richard Burrack, 399 Waltham St., Newton, host to Ed Moreira Lima, 28 years. (Anesthesiology).

Mr. and Mrs. Alton G. Cherney, 6 Ferncroft Rd., Waban, host to Maria da Gloria Vieira Mercon, 23 years, (Pediatrics).

Dr. and Mrs. Albert O. Seeler, 170 Nehoiden Rd., Waban, host to Celso Murad, 22 years, (Pediatrics).

Dr. and Mrs. Norman Berkowitz, 37 Waldorf Rd., Newton, host to Antonio Luiz Prest, 26 years, (Pediatrics).

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Friedman, 29 Greenwood St., Newton, host to Herculles de Souza Ribeiro, 27 years, (Cardiology and Internal Medicine).

Mrs. Lorna Burtman, 24 Grant Ave., Newton, host to Marlia de Oliveira Ribeiro, 25 years, (Ophtamology).

Dr. and Mrs. Robert D. Blakeslee 372 Waban Ave., Waban, host to Evanilo Silva, 30 years, (Clinical Medicine and Gastroent).

Dr. and Mrs. Sylvie Lessa, 497 Chestnut St., Waban, host to Rogerio Coelho Vello, 27 years, (Pediatrics).

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyd, 25 Old Orchard Rd., Newton, host to Josenildo Zanadrea, 26 years, (Clinical Medicine and Gastroent).

Theodore Feldman of 105 Gordon Rd., Waban, a senior at Phillips Academy, Andover, has been initiated into the Cum Laude Society there.

PFC Walsh In German Tactics

Army PFC Michael J. Walsh, son of Tobert Walsh, 287-A Washington street, Newton, took part in Exercise Winter Arrow, a nine-day training maneuver of the 8th Infantry Division in Germany.

The weapons firing and tactical maneuvers were designated to maintain his unit's combat proficiency.

The 19-year-old soldier is an air compressor operator in Company D of the 8th Infantry's 12 Engineer Battalion near Dexheim.

Letter

Questions for Readers

Editor of The Graphic:

I should like to ask your readers some questions.

Suppose you lived near a large forest, and a fire broke out with a strong wind blowing. The fire department decides that the trees between your home and the forest must be cut down to save your home. Would you object?

If a riot breaks out at the bottom of your street, would you call the police, or would you wait until your home and your family are endangered?

Do you believe that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure?"

Shall we wait until the forces now destroying Europe, Africa, Asia, etc., come to the United States, or shall we do everything we can to keep these forces in other parts of the world?

Would we have been better off if World WarI and World War II had been fought in the U.S.A.?

Morever, do we, the average citizens, know more about preventing war from coming here than do our elected leaders who know just what is going on, and our military leaders who are in the midst of the trouble?

If we want the war to come to us, then demonstrate against the government. If you do not, then do something you can to back up your leaders. Encourage our soldiers who are doing our fighting and risking their lives for

To counteract propaganda against our government and our soldiers, write letters to the soldiers and civil leaders telling them you are all for them. It is up to us to give them all the encouragement we can. If you believe that, sit down right now and write, and enlist the support of your friends and neighbors.

Successful completion of the course will lead to certification as a Y.M.C.A. Junior or Senior Lifesaver.

No applicants will be accepted after the first class on Tuesday, March 15th. For further information, call the Newton Y.M.C.A. 244-6050.

To Discuss Need For High School

Principal Richard Mechem will discuss the need for a new Newton High School at the annual meeting of the Democratic City Committee Tuesday evening, Mar. 8, at 8 o'clock, in the Claflin School.

According to Herbert F. Regal, chairman of a committee comprising members of all the ward committees, a resolution to abolish capital punishment in Massachusetts will be proposed and debated.

Coffee will be served following the business session.

$800 Federal Grant For Hospital Nursing School

The nursing school at Newton-Wellesley Hospital is one of four in suburban Boston which received an $8,000 grant from the Federal government to finance a joint program aimed at upgrading faculty teaching skills and student learning experiences.

Believed the first awarded to a group of similar schools, the U. S. Public Health traineeship grant will pay for a series of workshops to be held during 1968.

In addition, the schools hope to apply for grants covering programs to be held in 1967 and 1968.

The schools are located within a 15-mile radius of one another and are conducted by community-owned general hospitals. The schools are at Newton - Wellesley Hospital, Newton Lower Falls; the Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain; Framingham Union Hospital, Framingham; and the Mount Auburn Hospital, Cambridge.

Each conducts a three-year diploma nursing school, accepts similar types of students, and has about the same number and kind of faculty members.

Together, their 55 full-time faculty members educate nearly 500 students, representing one-twelfth of the students and faculty found in Massachusetts diploma nursing schools.

Total enrollment of diploma schools in Massachusetts, where most of the Commonwealth's nurses presently are educated, is approximately 5,900.

The program and the application for a grant was conceived by faculty members of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing. In turn, endorsement was obtained from school directors and the administrations of the other participating hospitals.

The grant will underwrite a series of three-day workshops, to be held during April and October.

At the workshops, faculty members of the four schools will explore methods of providing richer and more meaningful educational experiences to students.

A nursing student learns while she provides care to a patient, under the supervision of a skilled instructor. Rapid progress in health care impels a student to learn more than rudiments of coping with physical illness. She must learn to cope with emotional, social, family and psychic needs as well.

The nursing instructor also must be adept, utilizing continually changing techniques of learning and applying them for the maximum educational benefit of each student. An instructor must be alert to select suitable learning situations for a student, as a breadth and depth of understanding and skill can be obtained.

As a result of the workshops, the schools hope to stimulate more and better student instruction, plus nurses better equipped for changing patterns in health care.

Workshops planned for 1966 will focus upon appropriate selection and use of clinical teaching experiences.

Objectives will include assessment of the learning process and its application in the clinical situation; definition of the relationship of clinical experience and objectives of nursing courses and curriculum; identification of sound clinical experiences and instruction; understanding of the relationship of nursing education and nursing service needs, and the selection of adequate experiences; and determination of criteria to permit selection and use of clinical experiences.

An educational psychologist, nurse educators, a clinical nurse specialist and a nursing administrator will conduct the workshops.

Workshops proposed for 1967 will focus upon heightened teaching skills through improved teaching methods. Evaluation of student performance in the clinical area will be the topic of workshops proposed during 1968.

Directing the project is Miss Elizabeth Ketchan, assistant director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing.

Provision of the grant was announced through the office of Miss Marion Ferguson, acting chief, Director of Nursing, United States Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The grant is furnished under Public Law 88-581, Section 821. The purpose of the Act is to increase the number of nurses prepared to teach in the various fields of nursing, including practical nursing, to serve in the supervisory capacities in nursing, or as professional nursing specialists.

Open House By Hub Retarded Children Group

Hosts at the third annual Legislative Open House of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children will include Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Sheingold, 156 Highland ave., Newtonville; Charles Donohue, 175 Mill st., Newtonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ravech, 61 Woodlawn dr., Chestnut Hill.

The affair is scheduled for the Golden Dome, 23 Beacon st., Boston, Tuesday, Mar. 8, from 10 a.m. through 1 p.m.

Mrs. Sheingold has charge of the open house. She is chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee.

The meeting will feature a pre-school retarded children's nursery, which is regularly housed at the Parish Street Health Unit in East Boston. The East Boston setting will be transferred to the Golden Dome Restaurant, and the youngsters will carry on their

Open House At Boston Center For Education

Of interest to many Newton residents is an announcement by the Boston Center for Adult Education that an open house will be held this (Thursday) evening, Mar. 3, from 6 to 9 o'clock at 5 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

A wide variety of classes will be open to visitors without charge on these "Come and See" night. They include modeling in clay, abacus, yoga, modern dance, Greek folk dancing, upholstering, handwrought jewelry, life drawing, and dressmaking.

Guests will have an opportunity to meet the faculty, see the Center in action and register for spring term, which begins the week of Mar. 22. Refreshments will be served.

Political Highlights

an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature.

There inevitably will be grumbling and complaints when the public begins paying a 3 per cent tax on many articles and items.

But most people realize that some new tax had to be enacted. The choice basically was between the limited sales tax and a big increase in the State income tax. Every test of public sentiment indicated that a majority of people preferred a limited sales tax to a substantial income tax boost.

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, who fought the sales tax every inch of the way, is the only Democratic candidate for Governor in a position to make it a campaign issue.

If Volpe and Donahue should be the opponents in next fall's election, the relative merits of a limited sales tax and an increase in the State income tax undoubtedly would be the subject of a great debate since an income tax hike was the keystone of the tax package Donahue supported.

Incidentally, if any tax question is placed on the ballot next November, it should give the voters a choice between a sales tax and a higher income tax.

Realistically, the State must have either one or the other. It would be silly to simply ask the people if they favor a sales tax since nobody really wants any taxes. They're just a necessary evil.

A referendum calling for an expression of public preference between a limited sales tax and a boost in the income tax would provide a guide line for the Legislature which next year must either vote to continue the sales tax beyond Dec. 31, 1967, or substitute some other tax for it.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, who is battling Donahue for the Democratic nomination for Governor, would not be able to make the sales tax an issue if he is Volpe's election adversary since he publicly urged the adoption of Volpe's tax program if no other tax plan could win legislative approval.

Any candidate for Governor, who does make the sales tax a campaign issue, must be prepared to tell the public what he would substitute for the sales tax. A simple attack on the sales tax would be nothing but sheer political demagoguery.

Even though he lost the sales tax battle, Senate President Donahue came out of the fight with a much better chance of gaining his party's nomination for Governor than he had before the long struggle began.

Donahue is far better known to the people of Massachusetts than he was a year ago.

He is certain to be a strong contender at the Democratic State Convention in June.

The sales tax presumably will be an issue at that convention since the tax which goes into effect April 1 will be only a temporary one and must be voted on again next year.

If the convention delegates adopt a platform plank opposing the sales tax, as they have done in recent years, it would be logical to expect that they would turn to Donahue as their candidate for Governor.

Democratic conventions and Democratic platforms, of course, are not noted for their logic. But if the delegates do oppose a sales tax, they'll leave themselves looking a little silly if they don't state what tax they favor in place of a sales tax.

The issues in an election campaign between Volpe and Donahue would be clearcut. Whether such a campaign will materialize remains to be seen.

One of the arguments advanced by Donahue and others in support of an increase in the State income tax was that it would place the tax burden on those best able to shoulder it. Actually, the limited sales tax will impose no burden on families in needy circumstances.

Persons in the low-income bracket will pay the sales tax when they buy things on which the tax is collected, but they will get rebates when they file a State income tax return even though they pay no income taxes.

Under the provisions of the bill, families with incomes of less than $5000 a year will receive refunds of $4 each for the husband and wife and $8 for each child.

Thus, a family with a husband, wife and two children and an income of under $5000 per year would get a $24 rebate. That would cover the sales taxes on $800 worth of purchases which is more than such a family would be likely to spend in an average year for articles subject to the sales tax.

The sales tax should be a boon for most of the cities and many of the towns of the Commonwealth which are struggling under the weight of onerous real estate tax rates.

Eventually, it should place Bay State cities in a better competitive position to attract new industries, and it will enable the poorer communities to spend more money for education and raise educational standards.

That doesn't mean that the man who goes to buy a new automobile or a television set isn't going to moan and groan when he realizes he must add a 3 per cent tax onto the purchase price.

Ted Is Leader But Not Dictator

Senator Edward M. Kennedy is discovering that in politics it's practically impossible to please everyone.

Some columnists have accused Ted of failing to give the Democratic party in Massachusetts the leadership it needs because he indicated in his address at the testimonial dinner for former Attorney General McCormack that he intends to be neutral in the various Democratic primary fights which will be waged next summer.

If Ted Kennedy did what certain of the political observers obviously believe he should do, he would leave himself open to the charge of attempting to set himself as a dictator within the Democratic party in his home State.

Ted must wonder at times exactly where the role of leader ends and that of political dictator begins.

Two years ago, Ted Kennedy drew some criticism because he endorsed ex-Governor Endicott Peabody in the primary against former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti.

His action was easily justified at that time since Peabody was an incumbent Governor, and his defeat in the primary aroused bitterness which set the stage for Governor Volpe's election.

Now Ted is being criticized in some quarters because he doesn't intend to try to dictate the selection of the entire Democratic State ticket.

A number of political columnists believe that Ted should take the stump for the candidates who receive the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention and then are opposed in the September primary.

It apparently doesn't occur to them that Ted couldn't swing enough votes to save Peabody from defeat in the 1964 primary and that the number of votes he or anybody else could shift in a primary is extremely limited.

The fact is that any candidate who can't win on his own in a primary, without looking to Ted Kennedy for help, probably hasn't must chance of achieving election in November. He shouldn't be running in the first place.

Democratic State Committee Chairman Gerard F. Doherty has announced that he will support the convention choices in the primary.

Doherty, however, is in a different position from Ted Kennedy since the committee bylaws specify that the committee will back the convention winners.

From where we sit it seems absurd to expect Ted Kennedy to mix into every state-wide Democratic primary fight.

Dems Should Change Convention Rules

Political observers are wondering if the delegates to next June's Democratic State Convention will profit from their mistake of two years ago and throw out the foolish rule which prohibits a candidate from seeking more than one office.

If that rule had not been in effect at the 1964 Democratic conclave in West Springfield, Francis X. Bellotti might have been persuaded to accept the nomination for Lieutenant Governor after he was defeated by Peabody for the convention's gubernatorial endorsement.

The rule prohibited the endorsement of Bellotti for any other office so that it wasn't possible to offer him second place on the Democratic State ticket in an effort to avert the bitter primary battle which subsequently developed.

After losing to Peabody at the convention, Bellotti had no choice but to run for some office in the primary if he wanted to stay in public life.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White has been mentioned at various times as a possible darkhorse contender for either Governor or Attorney General.

The likelihood is that White will stand for reelection. But under the 1964 rules, if he ran for Governor or Attorney General and lost at the convention, he then would be ineligible for endorsement for Secretary of State.

Ex-Governor Peabody seemingly is making a hopeless fight against Boston Mayor John F. Collins for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The 1964 rules would prevent Peabody from taking another spot on the convention-backed Democratic State ticket if he ran against Collins and lost.

It's a rule which doesn't make much sense.

Lee Loumos Says:

I see that we have invented a new term now called "crawling" inflation to supersede the "creeping" variety we have been experiencing. Like Asian 'Flu, there are many types. I suppose we will soon go thru "walking" then "running" and eventually end up with "galloping" inflation.

As far as we in Massachusetts are concerned, we are taking a giant step in that direction with our new sales tax. At least, let us hope that all the new monies raised will not be squandered, but will be put to good, honest use.

Considering our current sale, featuring the Magnavox Annual Sale, and the imminent sales tax, it is entirely possible that our prices will never be lower than they are right now. Wouldn't this be the best time for you to anticipate your home entertainment needs?

gan to put out books on the various modern programs that had been developed. That being the case, Newton had to deve'op its own program, and it created considerable interest all over the country. Newton was said to be 10 years ahead of its time.

Today, four programs are in effect in the schools of the city. They are the School Math Study Group program, the Greater Cleveland program, the Miquon program and the Addison-Wesley program. The results of their use are evaluated periodically with the view to adoption of an eventual program that has all the elements of perfection.

One of today's problems is the turnover of teachers at the elementary school level. Newer teachers need new training, and so the problem is a constant one.

Commented Dr. Charles E. Brown, at one point in the discussion, "In this age a person is going to have to know more about math than we did."

William Kreger, 38 Paul St., Newton Centre, was elected treasurer of the Fishermen's Club at Wentworth Institute, Boston.

Temple Shalom Host To 130 Overseas Students

Temple Shalom of Newton was recently host to 130 students from thirty-five different countries.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, Temple affiliated families invited students, many of them with their families, to their homes to partake of a traditional Sabbath Eve dinner, after which the families and their guests convened at the Temple for the prayer service.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, welcomed the guests.

During the service which Rabbi Rothman conducted, the symbols of the service and the sanctuary were interpreted for the visitors. A reception was held in their honor. This program was conducted in cooperation with the International Student Center in Cambridge and is part of the Temple Shalom Social Action program that is under the chairmanship of Eugene Brody. Frank Bronstein is president of the congregation.

Man's Equality To Be Science Subject Sunday

The absolute equality of all men in the sight of God is the theme of this week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Man," to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday. Bible references include Paul's interpretation of this fundamental spiritual premise: "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. . . There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians).

Parallel references from the denomination's textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include this statement: "Through spiritual sense you can discern the heart of divinity, and thus begin to comprehend in Science the generic term man."

GOP Workshops On Goverment

The first in a series of workshops on local, county and state governments, sponsored by the Newton Women's Republican Club, is scheduled for Tuesday morning, Mar. 8, at 9:30 o'clock in the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas will cover the local government topic. Mrs. Stanley Miller of West Newton will be moderator. Chairman of the series is Mrs. Stanley Epstein of Waban.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE

Woman's preoccupation with beauty is as old as mankind itself. The ancients of Israel, Egypt and Babylon weren't exactly strangers to the art of paint and makeup and countless attentions to their tresses. In fact, the notorious Queen Jezebel is generally conceded to have been a pretty racy number who relied on more artificialities than any female in history.

At any rate, we are going to look into the business of beauty in the weeks ahead. We will see how the search for beauty has progressed down through the centuries and take a quick look at some of the artful and not-so-artful dodges that have graced this popular feminine pursuit. We hope you will like our efforts.

We hope, too, that you ladies will think of our salon as your dependable source for all your beauty needs. We pride ourselves on giving just the right hair styling to bring out all your latent loveliness. Come once, come always to MR. GEORGE'S HAIR STYLISTS, 39A Lincoln street, Newton Highlands. Phone: 527-5185 . . . All Phases of Beauty Service . . . Permanents, Coloring, Cutting, Shaping, High Styling, Hair Straightening, Hair Conditioning. We sell and service (clean and set) wigs and wiglets of 100% Human Hair.

BARBARA SWANTON

B. Swanton, Jackson, '65, Will Be Married

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. John R. Swanton Jr., of 27 George street, Newton, and Westport Island, Me., makes known the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Jean Swanton, to Thomas J. Duffy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Duffy of Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Swanton was graduated from Newton High School and Jackson College, class of 1965, where she majored in Government.

Mr. Duffy is a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1965, where he majored in History. He is now associated with International Harvester, Columbus, Ohio.

An April 23 wedding is planned.

Newton Woman Observes 25th Year With Firm

Miss June King, 382 Brookline Street, Newton Centre, recently celebrated her twenty-fifth anniversary with the General Radio Company of West Concord.

A graduate of Simmons College, from which she received a Bachelor of Science degree, Miss King was employed as a secretary for a Boston law firm and for the Meteorology Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology before joining General Radio.

At General Radio, Miss King is a member of the Finished Parts Inventory Control Group in which she accumulates, evaluates, and organizes statistical data.

Miss Hailer - Mr. McKinnon Married in Waban Church

The granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florin J. Hailer of Waban, Miss Nancy Carroll Hailer and Donald Bruce McKinnon, were married here recently at St. Philip Neri Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florin J. Hailer Jr., of North Scituate. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Frederick A. Carroll of Cambridge. Mr. McKinnon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. McKinnon of Arlington.

The Rev. William A. Nolan celebrated the 11 o'clock nuptial Mass at which Frederick Carroll Hailer, brother of the bride, was altar boy.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in silk gros de Londres, appliqued at the neckline, sleeves and skirt with imported Belgian lace and fashioned with a detachable chapel-length train.

Matching lace styled her elbow length mantilla. She carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Mary Lee Hailer of North Scituate was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Miss Gail McKinnon and Miss Joan Eaton, both of Arlington. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Beth Hailer and Miss June Hailer, both of North Scituate.

Lt. Paul J. McKinnon Jr., USNR, of Arlington served as best man. Arthur Graham and Thomas Kenny, both of Arlington, as well as Florin J. Hailer 3rd, of North Scituate, Maurice Friedman of Chicago, Ill., James Leavitt of Ann Arbor, Mich., Robert Wilson of Dallas, Texas, and Lt. (j.g.) Lawrence Murphy, USN, of Norfolk, Va., were the ushers.

The bride attended Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart and Lesley College.

Mr. McKinnon, a graduate of Dartmouth College, is a member of the Boston Dartmouth Club.

After a trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, W. I., Mr. McKinnon and his bride plan to make their home in North Scituate.

Mason-Rice PTA Plans Important Panel Discussion

"Children's Activities: Over or Under Directed" will be the subject of a panel discussion sponsored by Mason-Rice PTA on Wednesday evening, Mar. 9, at 8:00 o'clock.

Questions of vital interest to parents will be explored, such as: Do we keep our children too busy with directed activities? Are their lives too organized? Should their time out of school be carefully structured? What can adults who work with children do to help them to be more resourceful in the use of their time?

Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent for Student Personnel Services, will be the moderator. Panelists will be Dr. William Stone, director of the Newton Mental Health Center; Wallace Fletcher, member of the Youth Advisory Board, Massachusetts Bay District Unitarian - Universalist Church; Mrs. Selma Miller, program services director, Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council, Inc.; Peter R. Scott, a Mason-Rice parent, and Miss Mary Horne, Mason - Rice fourth grade teacher.

Each panel member will have 10 minutes to present his views, after which questions from the audience will be discussed. A short business meeting will precede the panel discussion, and refreshments will be served afterwards.

Cake Decorating Classes Run For Six Weeks

A class in cake decorating, conducted by Ruth Lucas of Harvard street, Newtonville, begins today (Thursday, March 3) at the Community Center, 429 Cherry street, West Newton, and will run for six weeks..

The classes are held Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Lucas formerly of Schraffts of Boston, has many years experience specializing in birthday, wedding, and Bar Mitzvah cakes and is widely known for her creative "conversation type" cakes.

In commenting on the course, Mrs. Lucas stated that a homemaker with little or no experience can easily learn to decorate beautifully and professionally starting with the simple steps of cake decorating to Border Work, beautiful life-like flowers, lattice work, basket weaving, scenic and special cake arrangements.

She will continue, as in previous years, the practice of giving a decorated cake to one of the individuals present in the class. Mrs. Lucas will demonstrate by decorating the prize cake at the first session.

Applications for the class are available at the Community Center, or by phoning 244-2260.

First Church Plans Five Lenten Evening Services

During the month of March, and the Season of Lent, the First Church of Newton will conduct a series of five services on Wednesday evenings at 7:45 p.m. in the Brigham Chapel. Each meeting will be followed by a discussion period in the Boynton Room.

For the first service of March 2nd, Miss Elizabeth Gravador, from Manila, Philippine Islands was the speaker. Mr. Kenichiro Machizuki, an ecumenical scholar from Andover Newton Theological School, who shares in First Church Scholarship grants, was the special guest. The Theme for this evening was "Our Christian World Mission Committee Night".

On March 9th Rev. Frank M. Weiskel, minister of First Church, will show a film "The Parable" depicting a Christ figure. The film has been shown for the past two years at the New York Worlds Fair.

March 16th—One Great Hour of Sharing Night—With a color film portraying churches in action serving the needy of the world, "The Long March".

March 23rd—Dialogue Sermon: "The Uncomfortable Pulpit and the Comfortable Pew", between Mr. Burton S. Knight, sales manager of the Nashua Corporation and Rev. Frank M. Weiskel.

March 30th — Christian Social Relations Committee Night—The Speaker will be Rev. Charles Harper, "The Inner-City Ministry of the Church", with reference to the housing project in South Boston of five Newton Churches.

There will be a special meeting of the Congregation Sunday, the 13th of March at 11:30 a.m.

FRANCIS J. SAWYER

Franklin Pierce Names Prominent Waban Resident

Election of Francis J. Sawyer of Waban to the Board of Trustees of Franklin Pierce College, Rindge, N. H., has been announced by President Frank S. DiPietro.

He is to serve a four-year term at the co-educational, liberal arts college.

Founded three years ago with an enrollment of 86 students, the college now has 500.

Mr. Sawyer is president of the General Renting Company, Metropolitan Distributors, ABC Lease Company, Copley Motor Tours, and Deerfleet Lines, an interstate bus company.

Also, he is a past president of the American Sightseeing Company, a director of the Capitol Bank and Trust Company, a member of the advertising and policy committee of the Avis System and serves as a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Tourism.

First Church's Explorer Post Gives Awards

On Thursday, Feb. 10, Explorer Post 219, sponsored by The First Church in Newton, held a dinner for its committeemen, parents, and Post members. Approximately 70 people attended.

The program began with a spaghetti supper prepared by the members, followed by slides of Post activities over the past year, which included camping trips, socials, service activities, and vocational investigation.

The Post advisor, Robert Livingston, introduced the guests at the head table who included Mr. and Mrs. Larry H. Vroom, the associate advisor and his wife, Mrs. Livingston; the Post, officers President Stephen Emmanuel, Vice President Chip Blanchard; and Treasurer Paul Cronin; and the guest speaker, Robert Rose, scout executive of Norumbega Council, B.S.A., whose topic was "The Explorer Program."

First Aid merit badges were presented by the advisor to Karl Bissex, Chip Blanchard, Paul Cronin, Steve Cutler, Tom Elder, Steve Emmanuel, Luke Emmanuel, Pete Haffermehl, Steve Kazules, and Richard King. Uniform inspection awards were presented to Steve Emmanuel and Steve Cutler, and the next day — Scout Sunday — to Dave Dobler and Jim Spinks.

Explorer Post has been in operation for three years. Its membership is open to boys in the ninth grade through high school, and the Post meetings are held Monday nights at 7:30 at the First Church in Newton.

Cooking Class For Women Of Upper Falls

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, in a combined meeting, with the Emerson School Parent Teachers Association, will sponsor "Heritage Cooking" on Monday, March 7, in the all-purpose room of the Emerson School at 7:45 p.m.

Mrs. Jeanne Ambuter, of Jamaica Plain, and her daughter, Mrs. Robin Longstreet, will show the audience how to prepare aand serve gourmet dishes, while commenting on kitchen techniques and shopping tips. An appetizing menu will be presented in full view of the audience with a brightly lighted head mirror which allows everyone to observe the details of preparation from "grill to garnish."

Each member attending will receive a printed copy of all recipes used in the program and a cookbook of molasses recipes. Door prizes will include many attractive items as well as the dishes cooked at the demonstration.

Mrs. Ambuter is a food consultant and researcher for new food products. After many years as an advertising executive, during which she wrote about food for publications, instruction booklets, trade papers, radio, television, and commercial films, she chose to talk and demonstrate simple though interesting dishes for women with similar interests in food.

Mrs. Longstreet is also an accomplished cook, and her presence enhances the demonstration.

Mrs. George J. Eames will be Chairman for the program, and Mrs. Daniel MacKinnon hostess.

Pourers are Mrs. Reginald P. Holmes and Mrs. Joseph F. Matherwiez.

Meetings Set For Humanism Discussions

A series of four open meetings to discuss the nature of Ethical Humanism will be held by the Ethical Society, 5 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, beginning Friday evening, March 4 at 8 p.m. David L. Norton will lead the discussions.

Ethical Humanism is a universal religion and draws its members from all religious backgrounds, creeds and races. There is no dogma or ritual; the common bond among members is a mutual concern for the problems of mankind.

Regular talks and discussions are held each Sunday at 11 a.m. by speakers from such fields as education, politics and social welfare, to give members and the interested public an opportunity to consider more thoughtfully the quality of their personal relationships and the nature of their responsibilities to society.

For further information about the Society and its Sunday School, call the office at 267-3138 or contact Mrs. Jerry Davis of 4 Carthay circle, Newton Highlands, LA 7-5776.

Top Salesman Award Given To West Newtonite

Robert C. Pyle, a West Newton resident, was presented with the Distinguished Salesman Award for 1965, recently by the Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Greater Boston.

A sales representative of Robert Fawcett & Son Co., Inc., Pyle was selected for the award because of outstanding achievement in his first full year of oil and heating equipment sales.

According to Robert W. Fawcett, president of the Cambridge heating firm, "Bob outsold all our oil salesmen by at least 25%. He placed 3rd out of 12 in total heating equipment sales, made three suggestions which shaped and improved sales policies, and — most important — inspired all our salesmen to improve their efforts."

Before joining Fawcett, Pyle operated an employment agency which he himself founded in 1958.

A graduate of Concord High School, Pyle lives with his wife, Jane, and 16-month-old daughter, Dorice, at 16 Upham street, West Newton.

Stuart Guild Plans Wig Show, Shamrock Social

"The Ides of March" may be upon us but the "Eyes of March" will be on Wigs!

"To Wig or Not to Wig"—that is the question — to be answered for Janet Stuart Guild members and friends on Wednesday, March 9th in Chapel Hall—on the campus of Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

A Shamrock social will open the day's festivities at one o'clock.

At one-thirty, a leading Wig maker of Greater Boston will entertain and enlighten, demonstrating with models and answer questions on this fashion trend for Milady. At two-thirty, pivot bridge will be played.

Mrs. Charles Hurley of Cambridge, the general chairman appointed by Guild president, Mrs. William Madden of Belmont will be assisted by two co-chairmen, Mrs. Francis X. Walsh of West Roxbury and Mrs. Edmond Fanning of Waban as well as a large and busy committee.

In charge of general arrangements are, Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Charles Powell of Boston.

Reservations and admissions will be handled by past presidents, Mrs. Edward Burke of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Joseph Reilly of Jamaica Plain.

Mrs. Stephen Kuffler of Newton will direct the group of hostesses, namely, Mrs. Frank Clarke of Winchester and from Milton, Mrs. Ralph Dolan, Mrs. James Dineen, Mrs. James Moore. From Marblehead, Mrs. James Burke and Mrs. Norman Kennedy. Jamaica Plain hostesses are: Mrs. James Carr Jr., Mrs. William Lally, Mrs. James Langan and Mrs. Francis Kelley.

Others assisting Mrs. Kuffler are: Miss Margaret Foley of Boston, Mrs. Charles Boodro of Needham and Mrs. John McCarthy of Melrose and Mrs. Maria Navarra of Boston.

An attractive door prize has been selected by Mrs. Ernest Chute of Milton and will be presented by Mrs. Edward O'Neil of Milton. They also have assembled many attactive gifts which will be awarded by Mrs. Alexander Morgan and Mrs. Eugene McDonough of West Roxbury who are under the direction of Mrs. John McNamara of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Arthur Durkin of Melrose, co-chairmen. Mrs. Daniel Warren and Mrs. Timothy McInerney are on this committee also, representing Chestnut Hill.

Planning the table prizes for the Pivot Bridge are Mrs. Francis X. Walsh of West Roxbury aided by Mrs. Alfred Roy of Fall River and Mrs. John Hanrihan of Westwood.

During the Shamrock Social, co-chairmen Mrs. Edmund Fanning of Waban and Mrs. James Walsh of Chestnut Hill will be assisted by: Mrs. John McCarthy of Melrose, Mrs. Leonard Ricketson of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Robert Kelley of Lexington.

Proceeds are to benefit the Newton College of the Sacred Heart Expansion Fund.

Week's Accidents For The Most Part Result Of Storm

The majority, but not all, of the injuries in automobile accidents reported this past week could be attributed to the hazardous travel conditions that followed last Friday's fall of snow.

Patrolman Charles E. Duffey Jr., reported that a Dorchester man, James E. Anderson of 37 Straton St., who was bleeding badly, called on him for help after his car struck a pole at 303 Nahatan St., Newton, Centre. Transported to Newton-Wellesley hospital, the man was treated for face, head and chest cuts. While being towed away, the Anderson car was further damaged when a West Roxbury man's car struck the tow truck.

A two-car collision at Park and Washington Sts., Newton, caused minor injuries to a Bostonian who was a passenger in one of them. The cars were driven by a Hyde Park man and one from Gales Ferry, Conn.

Head and neck injuries to Henry E. Mittel, 20 Wetherell St., Newton Upper Falls, resulted when his car was in collision with two others on Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls. One driver was James R. Caruso, Oak St., Newton Upper Falls. The other driver was a Lexington man. Neither was hurt.

Richard E. Sullivan, 23 Maple Pk., Newton, told police that, at the height of the storm, his car backed into a hydrant. There was extensive damage to the car, but none to the hydrant.

A two-car collision at Commonwealth and Grant Aves., Newton Centre, damaged the cars, but no injuries were reported. One car was driven by Janice Lane, 1429 Commonwealth Ave., West Newton. The other driver was a Waterbury, Conn., woman.

Two cars came together at Route 9 under Parker St., Newton Centre, with no injuries resulting. The drivers were out-of-towners.

A Waltham man reported to police that he was blinded by oncoming lights, and his car was in collision with a city plow operated by Nicholas Colella, 92 Walker St., Newtonville.

Three persons required hospital treatment after a collision between two cars at Auburn St. and Commonwealth Ave., Sunday. Leonard C. Farrell, 10 Gilbert St., West Newton, suffered injuries to his chest, hip and stomach. Two 13-yeard-old girls, passengers in the other car, which was Brockton owned, had head and body injuries.

Injured was Thomas J. Galligan 3d, 1806 Beacon St., Waban, when his car was in collision Sunday with one operated by Susan R. Kastner, 92 Parker Ave., Newton Centre. It happened at Beacon St. and Lake Ave., Newton Centre.

Also on Sunday, a head injury was suffered by Carol Bloomer, 6, of Lincoln, when the car driven by her father was struck in the rear by one operated by Ronnie J. Hurwitz, 600 Dedham St., Oak Hill. This mishap was near 75 Meadowbrook Rd., Oak Hilll.

During last weekend, a city employe at work on a sanding machine was one of four victims of accident. Francis Higgins, 341 Linwood Ave., Newtonville hurt his right hand in removing a sander from a truck at the Craft St. yards.

Also taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital was Helen L. Condon, 53 Marshall St., Newton Centre, whose hip was injured in a fall at Chestnut Terr. and Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre.

Another fall victim was John Gallello, 11 Westwood St., West Newton. It occured at his home. His right arm was fractured.

Taken to the hospital Sunday was Aubrey Schuman, 61, of 1445 Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, whose head was injured in a fall on ice in his backyard.

Not snow-caused were accidents to a Newton woman, a Newton girl and a Newton student. Misfortune overtook them on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Irene P. Goldman, 37 Schofield Dr., Newtonville, hurt her right hand and arm when her car rolled as she stepped out of it in her garage. She was trapped between the car and the garage door. Police and firemen freed her.

Barbara C. Brown, 16, of 83 West St., Newton, suffered multiple bruises and cuts when her car struck a pole in Waltham early Tuesday morning. At Waltham Hospital it was found that she had a broken nose and a hand cut that required six stitches.

Sorority Members Present Check For Annual Charity

Representatives of Alpha Chapter of Iota Phi Sorority, comprising high school students in Newton, recently presented a check for $2500 to the Children's Hospital Medical Center.

William J. Brennan, director of public relations at the hospital, accepted the check at the presentation which took place at the sorority's recent annual Sweetheart Ball in the Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

Sorority members conduct fund raising activities each year on behalf of the hospital.

The contribution will be used to help finance a new out-patient building at the hospital.

The contribution will be used to help finance a new hospital.

Sorority members taking part in the presentation included, Joan Rice, president; Phyllis Geller, vice-president and chairman of the dance; Margie Gold, treasurer; Louise Kaplan, ticket committee chairman; Zella Silverman, ad book committee chairman; Sheila Chonin, publicity committee chairman; Debby Sones, decoration committee chairman; Patti Blum and Sharman Rosoff, hospitality committee chairmen.

Coast Guard Auxiliary To Offer Course

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 1-504 is offering a basic seamanship course, free to the public, starting Wednesday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. and continuing for eight consecutive Wednesdays. These instructions will teach how to operate a boat safely.

The lectures will be held aboard the "Lightship" that is anchored at the "L" Street Bridge on Summer Street, Boston, opposite the U.S. Army Base. These lessons are held below deck on this vessel. The subjects covered are aids to navigation, rules of the road, charts and compass, piloting, marlinspike seamanship, boating laws and safe boating operations.

When this course is completed the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary will award a certificate on "Basic Seamanship" to the graduates.

Effective demonstrations and hints on how to handle a boat correctly will be given. A good beginning is important in training on the proper way to handle a boat.

The instructors of Flotilla 1-504 are qualified and trained in the latest methods and are capable and experienced boatmen. Everyone is welcome to attend this free boating course.

Highlands Congregational Church Sets Agape Supper

During the Lenten season, The Newton Highlands Congregational Church, feeling that there is merit in fellowship and in the breaking of bread together in the tradition of the first century church, will meet each Thursday evening, beginning March 31st at 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. for an Agape supper, which will include the whole family — parents and children.

This will be followed, in the informal atmosphere of the table, by a talk from a guest minister of the week. This is a carry-in supper where each family brings either a casserole, or a salad or a dessert which will be served cafeteria style.

During the talk which follows the supper there will be nursery care for the youngest children if needed.

Following is the schedule of events throughout Lent: Thursday, March 3rd — 6:30-8 p.m. First Agape Supper, at which the Deaconesses will be hostesses. The guest minister will be the Rev. Robert W. Golledge of the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale.

On Thursday, March 10th, The Woman's Association will be the hostesses for the supper, and the guest minister will be Rev. Burton S. Smith of the United Presbyterian Church in Newton. The Men's Club of the church will be hosts at the third Agape Supper on March 17th, the guest minister that evening will be Rev. Russell E. Gundlach of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church.

Thursday evening, March 24th, the business and professional women, will be the hostesses and the speaker will be Rev. Boyd M. Johnson, Jr. of the Union Church in Waban. Thursday, March 31, the Martha-Dorcas Guild, will be hostesses and the Rev. John R. Lilly of the Newtonville Methodist Church will be guest speaker.

Late Donations To Heart Drive Being Received

Heavy slush and bad walking conditions failed to slow the efforts of many Newton Heart Neighbors in the house-to-house Heart Fund canvass last Sunday, Louis R. Perini, Massachusetts state chairman said this week.

"Some residents of the town were not reached, however, due to uncleared streets and dangerous walking conditions, Heart Neighbors will continue to clean up the campaign until every home in Newton is visited," he said.

"Vital information will be made available to citizens on heart disease and programs available to the cardiac through the Greater Boston Heart Association.

"Newton has maintained a high record of giving in past years and we hope that it will maintain its place of high support in the Heart Fund, hopefully surpassing last year's record of $41,149.69.

Drop-off station for late Heart Fund gifts was announced today by Howard Strum, treasurer of the local drive. It is: Newton-Waltham Bank, 808 Beacon Street, Newton Centre.

Women Voters Spring Fine Arts Sale Due March 30th

MRS. HOWARD FREEDMAN

The Newton League of Women Voters will present an exciting "first" in local League activities, a Spring Fine Arts Sale and Auction to be held on Wednesday, March 30 at the Newton Centre Women's Club. There will be an afternoon auction preview and companion sale at 1 p.m. and an evening auction at 7 p.m.

A large committee as well as the chairman, Mrs. Howard, Freedman, are working to obtain bric-a-brac, antiques art and other quality items.

This event will be a means of seeking financial support for continuation of the League's important work. Anyone wishing to aid by making an object donation may contact the collection chairman, Mrs. George Gerard at 969-7920 or Mrs. Paul Nation at 332-7793, and the Art chairman Mrs. Milton Cohen at 332-4970.

Depot stations have been set up to accept merchandise and the chairmen will arrange pick up service. A merchant's march headed by Mrs. Robert Kellner will approach local shop owners to help augment our donations.

Mr. George Wheaton of Newton Highlands, a well known licensed auctioneer has been working closely with the committee and will act as auctioneer that evening.

Some of the items that have been obained to date include a Hitchock rush chair, old gilt frames, violin, old clocks, bone china, silver, crystal, lithographs, water colors and works by well known artists.

The hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Daniel Ryter will maintain a coffee bar both afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Timothy Johnson is designing the eye catching silk screen posters that will be displayed in local shops within a few weeks.

Ticket chairmen, Mrs. S. Peter Klapper and Mrs. Eugene Bronstein anticipate a large turnout. For ticket information contact Mrs. Klapper at 354 Kendrick Street, Newton 58, 244-3325.

The least impressive thing about a Bekins moving man.

When we choose a moving man it isn't for his bulging biceps.

And it isn't for his brawny back.

Finding muscle-men is easy (look on almost any street corner). What isn't easy is finding muscle-men who have the other qualities that make an outstanding mover.

For example, we have a tough time getting men careful enough to meet our standards. Before anyone is accepted for a job with Bekins he must pass a performance test to determine his ability to handle delicate household possessions. If we see that he's inclined to drop things, we drop him.

And that's just part of what a man has to go through before he can become a Bekins mover. In fact, over half the men who apply for jobs with us are unable to make the grade. Of those who do, only half can make it through the first year of training.

At that time a man takes rigid tests to prove his ability. First comes a written examination on such things as packing, driving, and loading. Then a test where he performs all these skills properly in practice. After that, he must be approved by a board of review which includes other Bekins moving men (the toughest judges of all).

So, really, the most impressive thing about a Bekins moving man is that he is one.

Woman's Union Of Church Honors 95th Anniversary

Newton Feb.28 F. Colley

The March meeting of the Woman's Union of the First Baptist in Newton will be held in the church in Newton Centre Square on March 7th.

The meeting, at one-thirty, will be a celebration of the 95th anniversary of the founding of the Woman's Union. In February, 1871 a Woman's Missionary Society was formded by eleven members of the church "for the benefit of heathen lands." There was an American Women's Missionary Society previous to that date but this was the first local society.

These eleven women interested other Baptist churches and three months later a state society was formed at a meeting in the Clarendon St. Baptist Church. Mrs. Gardner Colby was the first president and she served for ten years.

The president, Mrs. P. Edward Eden, will review this history of the founding of the society. There will be a worship service conducted by Mrs. John Brush, followed by a musical program. Following this program there will be a tea honoring past presidents. Past Presidents are Mrs. John W. Brush, Mrs. James H. Burns, Mrs. Leroy A. Gould, Mrs. Frank C. Jennings, Mrs. F. Nelson Lane, Mrs. Winfield A. Lane, Mrs. Kirtley S. Mather, Mrs. Ralph A. Sherwood, Mrs. Russell C. Tuck, Miss Marion D. Wheeler. Most of these past presidents plan to be present and messages have been received from those who cannot be there.

Chinese Legend For Play To Be Held At School

"The Emperor's Nightingale," a dramatic adaptation of the Chinese legend, will be presented at the John Ward School on Saturday, March 12, at 2 p.m.

This season's final presentation of the Ward School P.T.A.'s Children's Entertainment Series will feature the Wellesley Children's Theatre company of eight adult actors.

Tickets and information may be obtained from Mrs. Robert Shuman, 36 Mandalay Road, Newton Centre, 332-4889.

Meet people who do things in Newton

Are you in a spot where you don't meet people . . . where nobody ever plans things, or does things? Well, perhaps you're not being fair to yourself. Get out, and catch up with what's going on in the world.

At the Telephone Company there are lots of active, interested people you'd enjoy meeting.

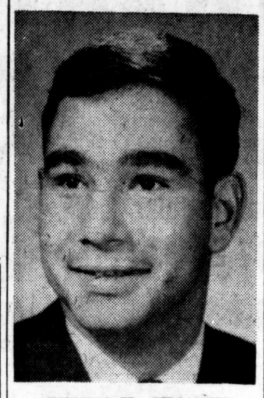

We have positions in our Newton office for friendly, poised people who have some college or business background, and yearn for an introduction to public contact work.

Wouldn't you like to meet some of these people who do things?

Arrange for an interview with

Gives Firemen Praise For Work At Brae Burn

R. Alan Cheseboro, manager of Brae Burn Country Club, found reason recently to note the efficiency of the firefighters of Newton, and has written as follows to Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr.:

"Please accept my sincere thanks to you and the men of your department who responded to the call at Brae Burn on Monday, Feb. 14, when we had a fire over the kitchen range.

"From personal observation I was able to appreciate what was accomplished with a minimum of damage, and I have been pleased to pass this along to anyone interested.

"I have always found our Newton Fire Department most cooperative and efficient. This was no exception.

"Many thanks to all for a wonderful job."

ORT Day Has LBJ Message For Its Theme

ORT Day 1966 will be observed by all chapters of Organization for Rehabilitation through Training in the Boston district, in which Newton is included, on Wednesday, Mar. 9.

Theme for the observation will be the recent statement of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President termed the ORT accomplishments "a laudable mission performed with distinction" and added that "your programs to aid refugees, displaced persons, and victims of other misfortunes have benefited not only the individuals for whom you have provided training, but have aided immeasurably in bringing about general social progress."

ORT Day 1966 activities will include a spring membership drive on Wednesday, March 9, at noon. This event will be held at New England Life Hall, 225 Clarendon street, Boston. Following a petite luncheon, a fashion show will be presented featuring ORT creations. A play will also be presented called "ORTist on the Roof."

All members and guests are invited. For information contact Mrs. Howard Priluck, 28 Littell road, Brookline, RE 4-2612.

Many Attend Cub Scouts Blue And Gold Dinner

The annual Blue & Gold Dinner of Cub Scout Pack 221 was held recently at Sacred Heart Hall in Newton Centre.

Some 200 mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and friends of the pack were in attendance.

Fr. John Corcoran gave the blessing and all were thrilled when Bishop Eric MacKenzie made an unexpected visit and gave a very interesting talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Milano, ably assisted by Gardner Oleson and William P. Milville presented the following boys with their Wolf Badges:

Billy Connors, James Cummings, Richard Delahanty, Paul DiCarlo, Paul DeFilippo, Robert Clark, Andrew Kimball and Thomas Melville.

Three Den Chiefs were awarded their Den Chief Braids: Peter Murphy, Mark Cummings and Leo Waters, and two boys were awarded their Denner Bars, Paul DiCarlo and Billy Connors.

The highlight of the evening was a letter read by Mr. Milano from Mrs. Marguerite Kelly who told the story of her son's accidental breaking of his leg; and how two of our Cub Scouts, Billy and Gary Smith, put their training to the true test, by helping her son Leo, notifying her at her home and staying with Leo until help arrived. Mrs. Marguerite Kelly is one of our Den Mothers and her son Leo, one of our Cub Scouts.

Sheldon A. Spector, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Spector, 124 Woodchester Dr., Chestnut Hill, attained the Dean's List at Bryant College, Providence, R. I. He is a graduate of Newton High School.

Newtonites Active In Region Camp Fire Girls' Conference

DR. ANNE FREIDUS

Traditional Boston and its western suburb of Newton, will welcome the Camp Fire Girls' Historic Region I First Biennial Conference, March 10, 11, and 12 to the Hotel Somerset, 400 Commonwealth Avenue.

Delegates will attend from the six New England States and New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. John Volpe, honorary president of the Greater Boston Council, will attend the opening session Thursday, March 10, at 8 p.m. Mrs. John Collins will bring greetings from the Mayor and City of Boston.

Outstanding men and women from the professions, education, business, and artistic fields who have geared their lives to the enrichment and education of youth will attend and participate in this three-day conference.

All women and men with a continuing interest in the Camp Fire program are invited to attend, all national, regional, council and district adult members with committee responsibilities and interests — all professional and administrative volunteers, particularly those involved in public relations — group organization — finance — training — program.

"Join Hands for Girls" is the timely theme and the purpose of the Conference is to: Discover New Dimensions of Region I — Conduct Regional Business — Grow in Knowledge and Understanding — Gain Insight, Inspiration and Enthusiasm.

Workshops will give emphasis to the importance of the Volunteer and professional adults working together towards growth — some "how to do its" in philosophy rather than mechanics. Camp Fire is most fortunate in having excellent resource people to coordinate these workshops.

Outstanding members of the professional staff from National Headquarters in New York and members of the National Board will participate in the Workshops and General Sessions. Miss Martha F. Allen, national director, Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will be guest speaker at the opening session on March 10; Miss Winifred Brown, Director of Personnel and Training in the United States; Dr. Anne Freidus, Regional Director, Region I National Division of Field Services; Mrs. Francis McIntyre, Vice President, National Board; Mr. Theodore Innes, Jr., National Board member.

From the Council for Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls will be Dean Myra Herrick of Jackson College, president of the Council; Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Bateson of Westwood — Mr. Bateson is past president of the Boston Council and Mrs. Bateson is General Chairman of the conference; Dr. Catherine L. Allen of Northeastern — Boston Bouve College Dept. of Recreation: Dean Elsbeth Melville, Boston University, Past President of the Boston Council; Miss Phyllis Kelley, Executive Director.

Newton members of the executive committee and leaders attending: Mrs. Peter Coogan, former chairman Newton district, Mrs. Lee A. Rowe, present chairman Newton district; Mrs. Eugene Hirshberg, Mrs. Lloyd Warshauer, Mrs. John Alman, Mrs. Arnold Shaw, Mrs. Lyman Ziegler, Mrs. Benjamin Loeb, Mrs. George Rautenberg, Mrs. Franklin Flaschner, Mrs. William D'Agastino.

Fraternal delegates who have accepted invitations to date are Mr. Arthur G. Miller, New England Camping Assoc., Inc.; Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, Girl Scouts of United States of America; Miss Dorothy G. Dissell, Massachusetts Assoc. of Women Deans & Counselor; Mr. Henry M. Leen, United Community Service of Metropolitan Boston; Mr. Richard R. Higgins, Massachusetts Bay United Fund; Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro, Catholic Youth Organization.

Mr. Lincoln Bateson will be host to an informal breakfast for men on March 11.

Medicare To Be Explained

An explanation of Medicare, health insurance for the 65 year old and older population is scheduled to be presented at Newton Community Center on Monday, Mar. 14, at 1:30 p.m. A representative from the Social Security Administration will outline the program and then be available for questions following the formal presentation.

This activity to be hosted by the Senior Citizens Club of the Newton Community Center is open to all interested in learning about the program.

Pro Coach Staff At Basketball School For Boys

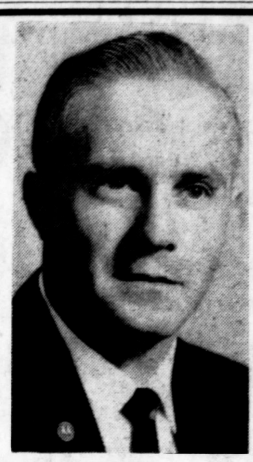

Red Auerbach, coach of the Camp Millbrook Basketball School in Marshfield for boys 13 to 19 years of age, announces that the camp's enrollment is being rapidly filled, and advises interested youngsters to get in touch with Jerry Volk, 5 Pickwick road, West Newton for information on joining.

The Celtics' boss also announces that Ben Carnevale of the U.S. Naval Academy is returning to the school for the sixth consecutive season, thus giving it three great professional coaches—Carnevale who has coached the midshipmen for 19 years; Auerbach and Alex Hannum of the San Francisco Warriors.

Carnevale has accepted a position as athletic director at New York University, and will warm up for the new job at Marshfield during the week of Aug. 28 through Sept. 4.

Do-It-Yourself Installation

Prefinished Paneling is easy to install. You can do it yourself. Being handy with tools helps, but you do not have to be an expert. A little time, a little patience, and the ability to follow clear, simple instructions are all that are needed. This was the suggestion of Mr. Morgan at the Plywood Center in Dedham. "If, however," he also stated: "you're all thumbs or if you can't or do not want to use a saw and rule, hammer and nails, or adhesive, he will be glad to recommend an installer who will do the job for you."

Mr. Morgan stated that Prefinished Paneling can be installed over existing walls, over furring or directly on studs or framing. The panels can be nailed, nailed & glued, or attached with adhesive which eliminates visible nailing.

Mr. Morgan also stated that easy to follow, illustrated directions are available at the Plywood Center in Dedham.

To make installation as easy as possible and to help you get professional results, the Plywood Center in Dedham can supply you with these Plywood Accessory Products.

Plywood Putty Sticks —used to fill nail holes, etc., made in comparable colors for almost every Prefinished Panel faces as well as grooves.

Plywood Panel Adhesive — Especially developed for easy, effective installation with no visible face nailing, is available at the Plywood Center in Dedham.

Unfinished Pine Trim — Made in the most needed shapes are also available at the Plywood Center along with trim already prefinished in shades compatible with your paneling.

Color Tones — This is the easiest way to finish unfinished mouldings, doors, cabinets, etc., that I know of says Mr. Morgan of Plywood Center.

This is the time of year to remodel your present kitchen.

"The importance of a well planned kitchen will reflect a difference in the attitude of the entire household," says Mr. Marchi of the Plywood Center in Dedham. The housewife will spend less time in trying to locate pots, pans and dishes if she has a sufficient and well planned unit of cabinets grouped in proper order to stove, refrigerator and sink locations. Planning drawers in proper locations can save much aggravation on part of housewife, individual drawers for silverware, bread and biscuits and also for keeping wrapping paper at her finger tips near her refrigerator and also close by a counter is extremely important in saving steps.

WELL PLANNED KITCHEN IS ROAD TO BETTER LIVING

"In a modern up to date and well planned kitchen," Mr. Marchi states, work is accomplished much swifter because it is easier to care for and more convenient to work in. With stainless steel sinks, you minimize steel wooling after every meal, garbage disposals eliminate trips for children and dad and keeps a healthy condition in the kitchen with new type of rolled counter top, eliminates black marks coming off on housedresses, when rubbed against it. It eliminates unsightly and unhealthy dirt from accumulating in joints. Wall cabinets when used wherever possible eliminates stooping and searching and helps to keep down grocery bills by not duplicating items that are already in the cupboard hidden way in back out of sight in some bottom cabinet. Wall ovens can also tend to eliminate unnecessary bending and lifting of pans because oven is set at eye level. Sufficient counter space is very important for all around preparation and sewing area plus storing of appliances that are used almost every day, for such appliances as toasters — elec. ovens — blenders, etc.

Most cabinets that are of old styling have been painted may times over are: very hard to keep clean even with endless scrubbing in comparison to today's modern cabinets that are mostly baked on finish that do not blister or crack. Even spatters that may get on the new finish are easily removed by many new products such as one called Panel Life sold by Plywood Center. Mr. Marchi stated that "every old kitchen should be remodeled — at once."

Newtonites At State House Advocate Billboard Home Rule

A delegation of Aldermen and other civic leaders, led by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, attended a hearing before the Legislative committee on Mercantile Affairs at the State House to support proposed legislation that would give cities and towns home rule on regulation of billboards and other outdoor advertising.

The delegation favored adoption of Senate 307 and House 823, under which billboard permits could be granted only with approval of the communities in which they would be located.

Mayor Basbas submitted several photographs of billboards recently approved by the Outdoor Advertising Authority over the objections of the City fathers; one in Auburndale, the other in the middle of Newton Highlands Square, Also submitted was a copy of the resolution recently adopted by the Board of Aldermen, supporting this legislation.

Mayor Basbas said that in the past few years, the Legislature has been deeply concerned that the local authorities have the necessary legislation to provide more adequate home rule for communities. The indiscriminate granting of permits for billboards by a State agency in any of the 351 cities and towns over the objections of the local officials can materially affect the valuation of property in these various communities, he said. In many communities, especially in Newton, the property owner is already taxed quite heavily, and to place these billboards in an area which might affect the valuation of their property is unfair to the community and to the residents involved.

He pointed out that the local authorities are in a much better position to determine the overall effect that these billboards would have on the community, and that in the past the Great and General Court in its wisdom has seen fit to leave zoning matters to each individual community of the Commonwealth. It was also indicated to the Committee on Mercantile Affairs that in view of the beautification program and highway beautification program presently being sponsored and being urged by the First Lady of the land, this is an opportune time for the State authority to return to the local communities the right, the power, and the obligation to maintain and improve the character of their communities.

Speaking in support of this legislation in addition to Mayor Basbas were Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, Alderman Andrew J. Magni, Alderman William Hopkins, Alderman Warren Sutherland, a delegation of Conservators led by Mrs. Helen Heyn, and garden clubs.

Also giving strong support to this legislation were Reps. Joseph G. Bradley and Theodore D. Mann.

Newt. Emblem Club Honors Thirteen Past Presidents

Thirteen past presidents were honored at the regular monthly meeting of Newton Emblem Club No. 8, at which President Frances Gigliotti presided.

They were: Mrs. Virginia Westland, state press corresspondent; Mrs. Florence McLaughlin, Mrs. Avis Arsenault, Louise Delaney, Mrs. Mary Dargon, Mrs. Katherine DiRusso, Mrs. Lillian Eschelback, Mrs. Julia Harrison, Mrs. Alice White, Mrs. Chyliss Guzzi, Mrs. Mary Santucci, Mrs. Ann Doucette and Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald.

Invitations to many forthcoming installations were read. It was also noted that the weekly card parties for Emblem charities have been extremely successful.

A donation was made to the State Emblem Club Scholarship Fund.

The president named Mrs. Barbara McLeod chairman for a whist party to which the public will be invited in the City Hall cafeteria March 21.

The name of Mrs. Katherine DiRusso was submitted for a Supreme office, and that of Mrs. Virginia Westland for a State office.

Officers for the following year were elected as follows: President, Helen Hart; junior past president, Frances Gigliotti; vice president, Dorothy Brennan; financial secretary, Virginia Westland; corresponding secretary, Katherine Desmond; marshall, Barbara McLeod; assistant marshalls, Wilthma Marucci and Grace Buggerio; organist, Mabel Byrne; press correspondent, Florence McLaughlin and chaplain, Eunice Cavicchi.

Others elected were: Chairman of the trustees, Pearl Sullivan; trustee for one year, Judith Carmel; for two years, Mary Chalmers; first guard, Virginia King; second guard, Ann Rondina.

The club was pleased to have its supreme president, Nadine Scott, from Seattle, Washington, accept an invitation to install the officers on Saturday, April 30.

Lillian Bryant

Services for Mrs. Lillian (Teed) Bryant, 83, of 885 Washington street, Newtonville, lifelong Newton resident were held Friday, Feb. 18, in a Newton funeral home. Mrs. Bryant died Feb. 16 in a Watertown nursing home where for several weeks she had been a patient.

She leaves two sons, Kenneth of Fresh Meadows, N. Y., and Leslie Bryant of Boston, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Meek of Los Angeles, Calif.

Burial was in Boothbay Harbor, Me.

Social Security Manager Tells How Earnings Affect Payment

If you work after you apply for social security benefits and earn $1500 or less in a year beginning Janary 1966, you will receive all your social security payments for the year, John J. Rynne, social security district manager in Cambridge, announced today.

Beginning in 1966, if you earn more than $1500 in a year, the general rule is that $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 of earnings over $1500 and up to $2700. If you earn over $2700 in a year, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 earned over $2700.

There are two exceptions to this general rule:

(1) If in any month you neither earn more than $125 working for someone else nor do substantial work in a business of your own, you will get your benefit for that month no matter how much you earn in the rest of the year.

(2) For months after you are 72 years of age, there will be no deductions from the benefits because of work after you reached 72.

If you work after applying for retirement benefits, your additional earnings may increase the amount of your monthly payments, Mr. Rynne continued.

The Social Security Administration will use its electronic computers to determine whether your recent earnings will increase your benefit amount. If so, the increase will be made automatically and you will not have to apply to have your benefit refigured.

Because of this change, you cannot lose by applying as soon as possible for any benefits due you even though you continue to work, he said.

The Cambridge District Office at 625 Mt. Auburn Street is open daily Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. For the convenience of those who are 65 and working, it is open every Tuesday also until 8:00 p.m.

Alexander H. Pratt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Pratt of 155 Waverly Ave., Newton, has been chosen as a participant in the Dartmouth-MIT Urban Studies Program. He is one of nine Dartmouth students selected to work along with 10 students from MIT. The program arranges for students to spend the spring term researching and studying urban renewal projects in Boston's South End. He is an English major.

HEARING NOTICE
FROM OFFICE OF CITY CLERK
NEWTON, MASS.

WHEREAS, Petition has been filed with the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton as defined in list attached hereto under the "Zoning Ordinance, Chapter 23," as amended, it is

ORDERED, That a hearing be had on Monday, March 14, 1966, at 7:45 P.M., at City Hall in said City of Newton, before the Committee on Claims and Rules of the Board of Aldermen, at which time and place all parties interested therein will be heard. It is further

ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given publication in the News Tribune, Newton Graphic and Newton Villager, on February 24, 1966 and March 3, 1966.

#210-65 Committee on Zoning recommending the following proposed amendments to Revised Ordinances, 1965:

1. Revise Section 25-1, "Definition," by adding after the definition of Corner lot therein, the following definition: Dormitory. A building, owned or controlled directly or indirectly by a school, college, hospital, religious, or like institution providing sleeping quarters for five or more persons.

2. Revise Section 25-15, "Height regulations and exceptions," by amending the phrase "Section 25-7" in the first line thereof to read, "Sections 25-7 and 25-17.1."

3. Add a new Section 25-17.1 "Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts," following Section 25-17, "Floor area restrictions in stories used for residential purposes," to read as follows:

Section 25-17.1 Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts.

In all residence districts where a dormitory is allowed by permission of the board of aldermen, the construction, alteration, enlargement, extension or reconstruction of a building or structure as, and the use of a building, structure or land for a dormitory providing sleeping quarters for 20 or more persons, shall be further subject to the procedures established in Section 25-22 and to the following condtions:

(a) Front yard setback — The front yard depth or the setback line from the nearest street line shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(b) Side and rear yards — The side and rear yard depths measured from the boundary lines of the lot on which the building is located shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(c) Building location — A dormitory shall not be closer to any other building on the same lot than 50 feet.

(d) Courts — Inner courts shall not be permitted. An outer court shall be open to the full extent of its width throughout and shall have a width at least equal to twice the average height of the surrounding walls and a depth no greater than its width.

(e) Building height--The height of any dormitory shall not exceed the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(f) Lot coverage — The maximum percentage of the lot area which may be covered by dormitory buildings, including accessory buildings or structures, shall not exceed the limits established in paragraph (i) of this section.

(g) Minimum open area — The minimum percentage of the lot area which shall be free from buildings or structures of all kinds, access streets, ways, parking areas, driveways, aisles walkways or other constructed approaches or service areas and also free from outdoor laundry incinerator or other building service areas shall not be less than the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(h) Off-street parking — Off-street parking space shall be provided in accordance with Section 25-20. In no case shall this parking space be located in the required front yard setback, side or rear yards, or in the required minimum open area, except that the board of aldermen may permit parking in these areas in connection with a church.

HEARING NOTICE
FROM OFFICE OF CITY CLERK
NEWTON, MASS.

WHERAS, Petitions have been filed with the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton as defined in list attached hereto under the "Zoning Ordinance, Chapter 23," as amended, it is

ORDERED, That a hearing be had on Monday, March 14, 1966, at 7:45 P.M., at City Hall in said City of Newton, before the Committee on Claims and Rules of the Board of Aldermen, at which time and place all parties interested therein will be heard. It is further

ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given publication in the News Tribune, Newton Graphic and Newton Villager, on February 24, 1966 and March 3, 1966.

#406-65 (1) City Planner recommending amending Section 25-1 Definitions of the Zoning Ordinance, City of Newton, 1965 relative to heliports, as follows:

1. Amend section 25-1 Definitions by inserting after the definition of Height therein the following:

Heliport — An area used by helicopters or other steep-gradient aircraft for the purpose of picking up or discharging passengers or cargo, but not including facilities for helicopter fuel, service, maintenance or overhaul or sale of products.

2. Amend section 25-8 — Use Regulations — Business AA Districts by inserting following subsection 25-8(b)(5) the following new subsection (5a):

(5a) Heliport, in accordance with the provisions of section 25-21A. The provisions of subsection (c) of this section shall not be applicable to heliports.

3. Amend section 25-9 — Use Regulations — Business A Districts by inserting the following subsection 25-9(b)(6), the following subsection (6a):

(6a) Heliport, in accordance with the provisions of section 25-21A.

4. Amend section 25-11 — Use Regulations — Limited Manufacturing Districts by inserting following subsection 25-11(d)(2) the following new subsection (2a):

(2a) Heliport, in accordance with the provisions of section 25-21A. The provisions of subsection (b) of this section shall not be applicable to heliports.

5. Amend section 25-12 — Use Regulations — Manufacturing Districts by inserting the following subsection 25-12(b)(5), the following new subsection (6):

(6) Heliport

6. Amend section 25-12 — Use Regulations — Manufacturing Districts by deleting the period at the end of subsection 25-12(c) and adding the following phrase:

"and the purpose listed in paragraph (6) thereof in accordance with the provisions of section 25-21A."

7. Add following section 25-21, a new section 25-21A, as follows:

25-21A — Permission for construction and operation of heliports.

In Business AA, Business A, Limited Manufacturing, and Manufacturing Districts, the board of aldermen may grant permission, in accordance with the procedure in section 25-22 and section 25-26, for the location, operation and utilization of heliports subject to the following conditions.

In addition to the information required under sections 25-22 and 25-26, there shall be submitted with each request for permission to construct, operate or utilize a heliport, a site plan showing the direction of the prevailing winds, the approach-departure pattern, and distances to surrounding residential areas or residential zoning districts. There shall be submitted an approach-departure profile which shall show it clear of all obstructions and in conformity with Federal Agency and Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission regulations and recommendations.

No portion of a heliport shall be nearer than 200 feet to a residence district. A heliport shall not be used for sales, repairs or servicing of any kind, and no advertising sign or material shall be located on the heliport or on the structures or fences thereon. No helicraft shall operate from a heliport between the hours of 11:00 P.M. and 6:00 A.M.

Heliport landing areas shall have a minimum area 100 feet by 100 feet which shall be completely paved and shall be kept free from loose material. The landing area shall be completely enclosed by a suitable wind deflection fence at least 4 feet in height.

Heliport landing areas shall be provided with means for the safe collection and disposition of fuel spilled in an emergency. Adequate fire protection and fire fighting equipment shall be provided in accordance with federal, state and local requirements, and shall be regularly inspected and tested.

Helicopter landing areas shall be provided with marking, lighting and wind direction indication in conformity with Federal Aviation Agency and Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission regulations and recommendations."

The board of aldermen may require evidence of certification and approval by the Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission, the Federal Aviation Agency, Civil Aeronautics Board or other appropriate agencies prior to the granting of permission for a heliport.

Attest:
Joseph H. Karlin, City Clerk

Notice is hereby given by the Planning Board that it will hold public hearing on the above petition as described in the foregoing notice and at the same time and place.

"The New Morality" To Be" Featured At College Talk

The Rev. Joseph Crawford Williamson will speak on "The New Morality" at the Newton Junior College All-College Convocation to be held at 10:30 a.m., Tuesday, March 8, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut Street in Newtonville.

Rev. Williamson, instructor in theology at Andover Newton Theological School, earned his S.T.M at the Andover Newton, and is currently a Ph.D. candidate at Harvard University.

Since joining the Andover Newton faculty in 1964, he has given numerous special lectures including the opening convocation address at the Lay School of Theology at Andover Newton, the midwinter meeting of the Andover Newton Alumni Association, and the Keynote address of the Conference on Ministry in 1965. He was also visiting professor at Boston College during the fall term of 1965.

Rev. Williamson brings to his subject considerable knowledge. He was a leader in the conference on "The New Morality," held recently at Harvard University, and last spring he delivered two lectures on this subject at Davidson College in North Carolina. This program is free of charge. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. MacDonald Parley Speaker

Dr. L. W. Macdonald, Newton optometrist, was featured speaker at the Southwest Congress of Optometry in Fort Worth, Texas, and the Southeast Congress of Optometry in Atlanta, Georgia.

The theme of Dr. Macdonald's presentation was, "Understanding How We See." No two people use their eyes in quite the same way. In many instances, the way in which they use their eyes will determine their efficiency on the job. The optometrist must consider how the patient sees what he sees when prescribing for his visual needs.

Dr. Macdonald discussed techniques for testing and training the visual function. The increased visual efficiency will allow the patient to read faster and comprehend more with less effort.

Tests Coming For Two City Posts In Newton

Two examinations of interest to Newton residents are announced by the director of civil service at the State House. Applicants will be notified later of the time and place of the tests.

One is for promotion to senior clerk-typist in the Newton school department. The minimum salary is $4300 and the maximum $5375. Application blanks may be obtained from James Laurits, assistant superintendent of schools, 430 Walnut st., Newtonville.

The other is for promotion to senior clerk-typist in the Newton Assessing Department. The salary is $3750. Application forms may be had from Carleton Merrill, civil service registration clerk, at Newton City Hall.

Lankford In Korea Exercise

Army PFC George A. Lankford, son of Mrs. Mildred H. Lankford, 15 Winter street, Newton, took part in FLYING TACKLE II, a one-week field training exercise conducted by I Corps in Korea that ended Feb. 12.

Lankford participated in weapons firing and tactical maneuvers designed to maintain the combat proficiency of his unit.

Assigned as a truck driver in Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the 7th Infantry Division's 32nd Infantry in Korea, Lankford arrived overseas in March 1965.

The 21-year-old soldier attended Newton Technical High School.

Robert P. Gilman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Gilman, 14 Nottingham St., Newton Centre, was named to the Dean's List at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa. A junior majoring in History in preparation for secondary school teaching, he is active in intramural sports, vice president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and a brother of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Number Of Faculty Changes Are Approved By School Committee

The retirement of Carl C. Peterson, Weeks Junior High School teacher, after 31 years and eight months of service in Newton, was accepted with regret by the School Committee Monday night.

It takes effect at mdnight, May 10.

It was voted that he be sent a letter of appreciation for his long and outstanding service by all members of the committee.

Also approved were the resignation of Mrs. Jody A. Johnson of the Ward School effective as of Feb. 19, and leaves of absence without compensation for Jonathan M. Daube, Newton High School, for the current school year, and Mrs. Joan T. Sheridan, Claflin School, effective Apr. 2.

Appointments for the balance of the school year, recommended by the superintendent of schools, were approved as follows:

Mrs. Katherine J. Landy of Newton, who has taught in nursery and kindergarten schools in recent years, and has been a substitute since last September, is assigned as a substitute to the Carr School.

Frank S. Lucente of Billerica, to teach industrial arts at the Peabody School as a part-time coordinating teacher for the Special Adjustment program

Mrs. Bette Mindich of Chestnut Hill, formerly of Bronx, N. Y., to Davis School Grade IV.

Mrs. Vivian B. Jameson of the Claflin and Horace Mann Schools to teach Reading as a substitute at Lincoln-Eliot School.

Mrs. Shirley P. Krasnigor to teach Reading, Grade I, at the Lincoln-Eliot School.

Mrs. Sherry M. Tuck as school psychologist at Lincoln-Eliot School.

An outstanding acquisition, in the opinion of Superintendent Brown, was that of James Sledd of Austin Texas, a Rhodes Scholar, member of Phi Beta Kappa and holder of a Guggenheim Fellowship. He will serve as a part-time consultant in English at Newton High School.

ILENE DEVORIN

Newton High Girl Winner Of Vet Prize

This year's Newton High recipient of the Jewish War Veterans Newton Post "Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" Brotherhood award was Ilene Devorin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Devorin, 45 Warren Rd., Waban.

The Newton South High winner was Robert Kaplan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Kaplan, 38 Hyde St., Newton Highlands.

They were honored at a recent breakfast in Cabot Physical Education Center at Northeastern University, sponsored by the Newton Post with cooperation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Whitmore To Discuss MDC For Sorority

Commissioner Howard Whitmore of the Metropolitan District Commission will bring members of Tau Beta Beta up-to-date on MDC operations at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, March 8, at 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, 293 Franklin street, Newton.

Mr. Whitmore will speak on "The MDC—Its Effect on Surrounding Communities."

Hospitality chairman of the day will be Mrs. John D. Fox, who will have the assistance of Mrs. Mannert L. Abele. Assisting on the Tea Committee will be Mrs. William A. Haskell and Mrs. George McCreery.

College Choir At Temple Here On March 11th

During the Sabbath Service of Friday March 11, which will be conducted by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom of Newton, the Brandeis University Choral Union will perform excerpts from "Israel in Egypt," an oratorio by Handel.

Under the direction of its conductor, Alvin Lucier, the chorus will perform from the pulpit in the fourth Adult Education Program of the 1965-66 series. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the 8:15 p. m. service.

The University chorus is composed of sixty singers selected by audition. They have received critical acclaim for performances at New York's Town Hall and in other cities and have appeared in the Boston area as part of the Winterfest, sponsored by the Cultural Foundation of Boston.

Alvin Lucier studied at Yale and at Brandeis and was the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship in composition at Rome. At Brandeis, he has conducted the Choral Union since 1963 and is director of the University's Electronic Music Studio.

Noted Author Paulist Fathers Series Speaker

Paul Horgan, distinguished American historian and Pulitzer Prize winning author, will be guest speaker in the Christian Culture Lecture Series at the Paulist Center, 5 Park street, Boston, on Wednesday, March 9, at 8:15 p.m., on the subject, "Maurice Baring and the Absurdity of Literary Fashion." Professor P. Albert Duhamel, chairman of the English Department, Boston College, will be the introductory speaker.

A noted educator, Mr. Horgan has served on the faculties of several institutions of higher learning. He is now director of the Wesleyan University Center for Advanced Studies, a graduate school for creative writing, research and development for scholars in the arts and sciences.

Mr. Horgan is the author of several best-selling novels, short fiction stories and historical books, including "A Distant Trumpet," "Give Me Possession" and Things As They Are," and contributes to many leading national magazines and journals. At present Mr. Horgan is working on a commentary and collected volume of the writings and poems of Maurice Baring, French poet and essayist whose works are currently receiving much attention in religious and literary circles.

Mrs. John T. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. White of Newton, and Mr. J. Joseph Callaghan of Chestnut Hill, are among the distinguished Patrons of the Paulist Fathers' annual lecture series.

Newtonites On Editorial Staff

Anthony J. Bibbo, executive director of the Newton Community Center, Inc., announces the appointment of Newtonites Mrs. William Bell of 55 South Gate Park and Mr. John Ansty of 105 Adena road as members of the Eastern Massachusetts Chapter National Association of Social Workers Newsletter Editorial staff.

The monthly publication has a circulation of over 1700 and also includes on its editorial staff Miss Elizabeth Decker, who is employed by the Family Counseling Service Region West, a number of Social Workers living within the Eastern Massachusetts area; Mr. Bibbo, who serves as committee chairman and publication editor; and Mrs. Berton Fliegel, Ex Officio, who resides at 618 Beacon street in Newton Centre. Mrs. Fliegel is the Chapter Executive Director.

Graphic Roundup Of Major News Happenings Of The Week

As a service to our readers we are printing in this edition a roundup of the major news events which have occurred since the shutdown last Sunday of the Boston daily newspapers.

Reform of the country's Electoral College was proposed by Senator Leverett Saltonstall Monday, testifying before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Under his plan, he said, the present method of electing the president and vice president would be changed by abolishing the office of elector to allow election by direct vote of the people. The number of electoral votes each state would receive would be the same as the number of senators and representatives the state has in Congress. In order to be elected, a candidate would have to receive at least 40% of the vote.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court turned down a bid by Sen. Joseph L. Murphy, D-Boston, to reopen an equity suit he brought against the father of former Governor Foster Furcolo and others. Murphy filed the suit in 1962 against Dr. Charles E. Furcolo; Springfield accountant Charles R. Carson; Hancock Raceway Inc. operators of Berkshire Downs and Samuel A. Rizzo, a contractor.

The cost of Boston's newspaper strike was estimated at $1 million a day by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce. Executive Vice President James C. Kelso said the figure represented a loss of $500,000 a day to the publishers and their 5,000 employees, plus an additional loss of $500,000 a day suffered by the business community.

A Billerica man was acquitted of manslaughter in the fatal beating of a Pasamaquoddy Indian. James Ellinwood, 26, was declared innocent in the death of Peter Francis, 58, by a Superior Court Jury in Machias, Maine.

A spokesman for the Boston & Maine Railroad testified Tuesday that the company wants to get out of the passenger business as a result of losing $178 million in the 20 years from 1945 through 1964. George F. Gallagher testified at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission examiner on proposals to eliminate three more passenger lines and the B & M's part of the New York to Montreal line through western Massachusetts. The peak loss, he said, came in 1954 when the road went $15 million into the red. Losses were reduced after that, he added, by closing stations and by dropping little-used passenger trains.

The personal art collection of impressionist painter Claude Monet has been unearthed and willed to the Academie des Beaux Arts in Paris. The collection includes some 60 of Monet's own works as well as paintings by Manet, Renoir, Degas, Delacroix, Moriset and

Cpl. Carven Dies In Viet Fighting

Newton has made another supreme contribution to the war in Vietnam, the life of a young Marine, Lance Cpl. Rupert S. Carven III.

The 24-year-old Marine was killed in action last Friday at Quang Ngai.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert S. Carven, Jr., 30 Beechcroft Rd. Cpl. Carven had previously sustained head wounds in earlier Vietnam fighting and was due to receive the Purple Heart.

The Newton youth had been a Marine for three years and was assigned to Company H, 2nd Battalion, Seventh Marine Division. He had been in Vietnam since last June.

His parents have been notified by the Marine Corps that their son's body probably would arrive here in about 10 days.

Cpl. Carven was born in Newton. He attended the Angier School and was graduated from St. Sebastian's Country Day School. He attended Fairfield University in Connecticut before joining the Marines. His father is a sales manager for Humble Oil and Refining Company's New England Division.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, John, a junior at Boston College; Paul, in his senior year at Catholic Memorial High School, West Roxbury; a sister, Mrs. Mary L. Allen, of San Francisco, Calif., former Dedham teacher, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. John J. Durant of Scituate.

Carmen Will Be Alderman Temporarily

Former Alderman William Carmen, who ran for Mayor in last fall's municipal election, is back on the Board of Aldermen serving temporarily as the Ward Alderman from Ward 7.

Carmen will continue to serve in that capacity until the Supreme Court decides whether the Alderman elected to succeed him is H. James Shea Jr., or Harry H. Crosby.

City Solicitor Matt B. Jones ruled that Carmen is the holdover Ward Alderman from Ward 7 until his duly elected successor is qualified and sworn in.

Carmen participated in Monday night's Aldermanic session as the Ward Alderman from Ward 7, voting on the various matters to come before the Board.

Members of the Newton League of Women Voters recently contacted Carmen, informed him they have studied the city charter and had concluded that he

Committees For May 30 Are Chosen

Past Commander Francis L. Howley of the Newton Post 48, American Legion, was re-elected adjutant general and Mrs. Jayne C. Driscoll, past commander of the Newton Post 410 was re-elected secretary of the annual Memorial Day Parade Committee at a recent organization meeting.

The committee voted to adopt the same route for the parade as last year. The column will form at Washington and Crafts streets, Newtonville and proceed west on Washington street to Walnut street, south on Walnut street to Commonwealth avenue, stopping at the War Memorial Flag Staff, near City Hall, where wreaths will be placed, then continue south on Walnut street to Newton Cemetery.

Following the ceremonies in the cemetery, the column will preceed out the main gate, north on Walnut street, west on Commonwealth avenue to the City Hall where the parade will pass in review before officials.

Other assignments made at the meeting were Joseph T. Fitzsimmons, commander Newton Post 48, American Legion, assistant adjutant; Commander Robert Champagne, Peter Percy and Rudy Lizotte of the Franco-American Post, transportation; Commander Carmen DiNuzio, Donald Ferreri and David Fletcher of the Carson Post 141 American Legion, bands; Joseph Fitzsimmons, Malcolm McVarish of Newton Post 48, American Legion, refreshments; Commander Thomas Medaglia, Charles Pollack and Rosario Guzzi of the Sgt. Eugene J. Daley Post

EUGENE A. TURNER JR.

Newton Man At Chicago YMCA Event

Eugene A. Turner Jr., of 20 Edgewater park, Auburndale took part in a National Consultation on YMCA Camping in Chicago, Ill. With responsibility for part of the program, he conducted a series of sessions on changing camp standards which took place from March 6-9.

This Consultation, which attracted several hundred camping leaders from across the country, gave special emphasis to the needs of YMCA camping as projected on the basis of population, social, and economic changes that will be taking place in the next 25 years.

Presently on the staff of the New England Area Council of YMCAs, Turner is a consultant on camping to the 130 YMCAs that make up the Council. He is giving part of his time as chairman of the National YMCA Camp Standards Revision Committee.

Horan Elected New Head Of Boys Club

Justin T. Horan, executive vice president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, is the new president of the Newton Boys Club.

Horan was elected at the recent 12th Annual Meeting of the Boys Club held at the quarters on Dalby street.

He succeeds W. Edward Wilson who has been at the helm of the club for the past two years.

Jr. College Head Against Merger Plan

Dr. Charles W. Dudley, president of the Newton Junior College, opposed any move of that institution toward joining the state college system at a recent meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Lorenz F. Muther, executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, appeared in behalf of the Taxpayers' Association.

Mr. Muther said that the Taxpayers' Association has taken the position that it would like to see the Newton Junior College phased into the Massachusetts state college system within the next five years.

P.O. Promotion For Newton Man

William Starr of 37 Waldorf Rd., Newton, was recently promoted by the Post Office Department and put in charge of the General Accounting Section of the Boston Post Office.

He will be in charge of 30 accountants who are responsible for the financial accountability of almost 100 branch offices in the district.

Mr. Starr was formerly in charge of the Work Measurement Standards Section of the Boston Post Office. He assumed his new position on March 1.

29 Local Students Win Scholarships

Twenty-nine students who are residents of Newton are among undergraduates of the year 1965-66 who have been awarded scholarships from a legislative appropriation of $400,000, according to a recent announcement by Gov. John A. Volpe.

The recipients, 1471 in all, were selected from more than 4400 applicants, an increase of 800 over the previous year.

Award recipients received full tuition scholarships if they were enrolled in State colleges. All others received awards not in excess of one-fourth of their tuition expenses.

Because the appropriation was not increased by the Legislature, despite the fact that a great many institutions found it necessary to raise their tuitions costs, there was a reduction this year in the scholarship awards.

The Governor said he

Third Elderly Housing Unit To Open March 22

The "Horace Mann Apartments," Newton's third housing development for elderly citizens will be ready for occupancy on March 22.

William Carmen, chairman of the Newton Housing Authority, announced the earlier date this week.

Originally planned for early spring completion, the 72-unit apartment house, directly across the street from the Horace Mann School, will be ready several weeks earlier.

In referring to the time table, Chairman Carmen stated, "In view of the long waiting list of eligible applicants, and the great need in the City of Newton for Public Housing, it gives us great satisfaction to have this development ready ahead of schedule.

Much credit goes to the contractor, Franchi Construction Company, the architects, William Nelson Jacobs Associates, the Clerk of the Works, Paul Mullen, the contracting officer, Edward T. Byrne, and to all the members of the Authority, John K. Bottomley, treasurer; Joseph G. Sneider, assistant treasurer, and Richard H. Lovell, member, for their united effort in this project."

The 72 apartments are located on the streets, Watertown, Walker and Brookside Avenue. In addition, there is a beautiful community building which is large enough for meetings to accommodate all the residents of all of Newton's Housing for the Elderly Developments, including the fourth row in the planning phase, plus an outside garden and sitting area.

PROF. PAUL SISKIND

Newton Man Law School Acting Dean

Prof. Paul M. Siskind of Newton has been appointed acting dean of the Boston University School of Law by President Harold C. Case and the Board of Trustees. He assumed his new duties March 1.

He replaces Dean Elwood H. Hattrick, who is now a judge of the Massachusetts Land Court.

The acting dean, a graduate of Dartmouth College and New York University School of Law, joined the University staff on a part-time basis in 1946, becoming a full-time faculty member in 1949. In

Four Solons Praised For Tax Support

Bertram A. Druker, president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week lauded the four of Newton's seven legislators who voted for the sales tax when the chips were down.

"Senator Leslie B. Cutler and Representative Edward M. Dickson, Irving Fishman and Theodore D. Mann fully deserve our real appreciation for their votes to shoulder responsibility for integrity in financing the progressive programs still needed in Massachusetts," Druker said.

"Educators, municipal officials, homeowners and bu-

Stores And Homes Goals Of Burglars

A dozen breaks were staged in Newton homes and business places during the past week.

In one instance two boys smashed two windows in a West Newton store and looted the store, taking three television sets, a tape recorder and a radio tube.

That break occurred at the Lee Loumos TV and Air Conditioning Store at 2306 Washington street, West Newton.

Three robberies occurred in an apartment building at 134 Waverley avenue, Newton.

The apartment of Mrs. Frank Cammarata at that address was ransacked. The loot taken by the burglars included a sterling silver service for 12, 73 silver dollars, $85 in bills and change from a jar in the master bed-

Missing Footbridge Sets Off Fireworks

A controversy, which has smoldered for some time over the lack of a footbridge over the Toll Road extension at Newton Centre, flared up again at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Without such a bridge, pedestrians are forced to travel an extra eight-tenths of a mile in order to cross the Turnpike to and from Centre street at Newton Corner.

Calling attention to the lack during his administration, Mayor Donald L. Gibbs had asserted that the late William F. Callahan had made him a verbal promise that the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority would construct the footbridge at no cost to the city, but when he put the matter up to John T. Driscoll, who succeeded Callahan as chairman of the Authority, the latter refused to do anything about it.

What rekindled the flame Monday night was Alderman Harry L. Walen's report of a matter not on the docket — a request by the Turnpike Authority for permission for the erection, at various points in the city, of "Trail Blazer" signs pointing the way to the Turnpike, the signs to be put up and maintained at the Authority's expense.

Lights For Traffic Set By April 1

Long-awaited traffic light equipment needed to control various streets in Newton is scheduled to arrive shortly.

This information was disclosed at a recent meeting of Newton city officials, and representatives of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

Chairman John Driscoll of the Authority said he felt sure that the traffic light equipment would be in place and functioning by April 1st.

Newton city officials led by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and officials of the Turnpike Authority have been engaged in a continuing series of conferences regarding the Au-

Name Local Men To University Council

Six Newton residents and one Waban man have been appointed charter directors of the National Council of Northeastern University.

They are Martin Brown of 200 Cotton St., Charles E. Dockser of 12 Drumlin Rd., Henry C. Jones of 34 Ruthven Rd., Matthew J. Murtha Jr. of 38 Manemet Rd., Julius C. Santis of 41 Huntington Rd., George S. Savin of 124 Parker Ave., all of Newton, and Frank L. Richardson of 245 Woodward St., Waban.

The National Council is an organization of prominent Northeastern alumni who are dedicating themselves to the university's progress in higher education.

Activities include fund-raising activities and admissions endeavors and the promotion of co-operative education, the workstudy plan for which N.U. is the international leader.

Northeastern, the largest university in New England and second largest private university in the nation, has a total enrollment of 29,500

Women Voters Discussions Feature Many Vital Topics

The League of Women Voters of Newton continues to carry out a major part of its program by means of the March 10th, and 11th discussion units on local program planning and the second round of national program planning.

Topics on the Leagues' agenda are those recommended by its membership, then voted upon, thus deriving the program for the following year.

Among topics being considered are those concerning the current problems of Newton. Suggestions for subjects to be studied on a local level are the evaluation of property values in Newton, development of a youth court, a charter revision and support of policies, program and practices to provide equality of opportunity for all citizens of Newton.

Also under discussion is a program recommended by the National League for national study. The proposed program consists of such subjects as water resources and the foreign policy item will be on China. Members are asked to consider these suggestions and any other ones of their choice for either local or national study.

Unit meetings are as follows: Newton; March 10, Thursday, 9:45-11:30 a.m., at the Newton Highland, Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands; March 10, Thursday, 8-9:45 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Leonard Albert, 92 Varick Road, Waban; Friday, March 11, 9:45-11:30 a.m., at the Newtonville Library, 345 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

sinessmen can be proud of these legislators who helped put the state in support of new advances with more than words, and by giving the municipalities and the property tax a slight breather," he stated.

"The result does not mean that we can relax our watchfulness over agencies which will still see tremendous desires unsatisfied no matter what their own income may grow to be," Druker cautioned.

N"However, the new broadening of the tax base will be beneficial to the state as a whole as well as its political subdivisions because it lays the foundation to put Massachusetts once again in a position to compete better for investment and jobs, to undertake social improvements and to regain its former reputation of responsibility facing up to the financial requirements of its needs and wishes," Druker concluded.

Noted Actor To Appear At College Here

Arnold Moss, well-known Shakespearian actor, will be heard in a program of dramatic readings, "The Four Seasons of Man," Wednesday evening, March 16, at eight o'clock at Lasell Junior College.

The program, to be held on the campus in Winslow Hall, is open to the public without charge. Mr. Moss's readings will range from passages of tragedy to those of comedy.

Currently co-starring with Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine in the suspense movie "Gambit," to be released this summer, Mr. Moss was chosen by the U. S. Government Cultural Exchange Program to take his program to Asia, Africa, and South America.

He has appeared in films, on television, in Broadway productions, and in the American Theatre at Stratford, Connecticut.

Mr. Moss's appearance at Lasell is part of the college's Lecture and Concert Series. Committee chairman of the series is Mrs. Charles Weden, Auburndale, a member of Lasell's English Department.

Housing

indicated that there are still many very worthy families which have urgent need for this housing.

The apartments have 3½ rooms, including living room, bedroom, dining area and kitchen. Rent which is based on income will average about $46.50 per month with almost all tenants paying the minimum rental of $45. per month, which includes all utilities.

Chairman Carmen wishes the public to know that applicants are always acceptable at the office of the Newton Housing Authority, 111 John F. Kennedy Circle, Newton 58, in person or by mail. Basic requirements are 15 eyars residency in Newton (the average has been about 37 years), maximum income for one person is $3,300. (The average has been about $1,700.) and for two persons $3,700., assets limits are in effect also and are reasonably generous.

room and between 60 and 70 stereo records.

The robbers got into the first floor apartment by forcing a bar across the back door and then breaking an inner door.

While investigating that burglary, police discovered that breaks had been made in two second-floor apartments in the same building.

Intruders had ransacked the apartment of Michael J. Vincuilla, emptying out bureau drawers and unplugging a television set. As far as could be determined, however, nothing was taken. Entrance was gained to the apartment by jimmying open the front door.

Also ransacked was the nearby apartment of Donald Maker on the same floor. The apartment was entered by smashing the front door knob and forcing the dor. Nothing was reported missing.

The home of Mrs. Alice Flood at 598 Walnut street, Newtonville, was broken into by thieves who gained entry to the dwelling through a cellar door and an inner door leading to the kitchen.

Two second-floor offices in the Rebecca Pomroy House at 24 Hovey street, Newton, were ransacked on Sunday and an undetermined amount of money taken.

The Bay State Market at 354 Elliot street, Newton, was looted last weekend. A television set, cigarettes and playing cards were carted away.

Ransacked by burglars were the home of Mrs. Ethel R. Dickinson at 48 Hull street, Newton, and the home of Morris Solomon at 5 Mague avenue, West Newton. Police were unable to ascertain what was taken from either dwelling.

Mrs. Dickinson has been in the hospital, and the break was reported to police by a neighbor, Earl Lowe of 60 Hull street.

The home of Joseph Coppelman of 107 Mary Ellen road, Waban, was broken into by burglars who ripped a screen on the rear porch door and then jimmied the kitchen door open with a screwdriver.

An attempt was made to break into the home of Janet Freedman at 11 Montrose street, Newton, but when a window in the rear door of the house was broken, it set off an alarm.

An automobile owned by Mrs. Josephine J. Kolow of 50 Chapin street, Newton Centre, was stolen from her driveway on Sunday.

Dr. Francis R. Kenney of 15 Lockwood road, West Newton, reported to police that a $1000 diamond ring was stolen from his home in February.

A $35 battery was stolen from an automobile parked at the rear of the Garber Aut School at 763 Washington street, Newtonville.

Club

was the principal speaker at the meeting. Mayor Basbas, long interested in the youth program of the club in this city, urged continued support not only for this outstanding youth organization but for all similar programs dedicated to youth betterment, so necessary in our society today.

Congratulations were extended to the officers of the Boys Club and to Executive Director Samuel Crocetti for his outstanding dedication to the club and its varied programs.

Other officers elected were first vice president, Adelaide B. Ball; second vice president, John B. Perkins, president of the Perkins Machinery Company; Louis A. Attardo, auditor of the Newton-Waltham Bank as treasurer; and Stafford E. Davis, re-elected secretary.

Newly elected to the Board of Directors were, T. Burke Doherty, treasurer, Service Stationery Company; Charles E. Dockser, president, Garden City Trust Company; Victor A. Nicolazzo, president, Bigelow Company; and Michael E. Flynn, assistant treasurer of the West Newton Co-Operative Bank.

Honorary Board members elected were Hon. Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of Newton, and Joseph E. Cronin, commissioner of the American Baseball League.

The meeting was called to order by W. Edward Wilson, retiring president of the club. Rev. Sylvio W. Barrette, pastor of St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church, gave the invocation.

A feature of the program was the presentation of a plaque to retiring president W. Edward Wilson, and the official gavel of his new office to President Horan.

Reports were given by W. Edward Wilson, president; Louis A. Attardo, treasurer; and Stafford E. Davis, secretary. Giles E. Mosher Jr., gave the report of the nominating committee. The annual report of Executive Director Samuel Crocetti was distributed to those in attendance.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served and a tour of the club conducted for those present.

United Church Women Hold Managers Meeting Mar. 18

Miss Marion Wheeler, newly elected president of the United Church Women of Newton, has announced that the Spring Board of Managers meeting will be held on Friday, March 18th, at 10 o'clock at the First Church in Newton Centre.

The Rev. Frank M. Weiskel, minister of the First Church, has invited the delegates from each church to participate in a special communion service following the business meeting.

The spring clothing collection for Church World Service will be April 18-22, the collection center for the United Church Women of Newton being the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church.

There will soon be a million refugees in Vietnam this year so an appeal is being made for fabric parcels as the women do not wear Western dress. There are also requests for light weight children's clothing and blankets. Gift parcels should contain cotton cloth in 3½ yard pieces plus sewing needles and suitable thread.

Mrs. Clarence A. Dauber, president of the United Church Women of Massachusetts, is issuing a call to all church women to participate in a two day conference and annual assembly of the United Church Women of Massachusetts.

The conference will be held on March 30-31 at the Second Church in West Newton. Mrs. Esther Hymer, the official United Church Women observer at the United Nations, and Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson, president of North American Area of World Federation of Methodist Women, will be featured speakers. Mrs. Hymers will deliver the keynote address while Mrs. Jackson will be the Bible study leader.

Walnut Park School Opens In September

The Walnut Park School will open its pre-school program to boys and girls, three, four, and five years of age in Setpember. Children of all faiths may attend. The school will integrate modern techniques with the Montessori Methodology.

The faculty will be composed of experienced teachers who have earned the Montessori Diploma in addition to A.B. and M.A. degrees. Sister M. Josephina, C.S.J., D.Ed., will act as major consultant to the program.

The patterns of the Montessori Method develop the abilities of each child through a planned learning curriculum. The child advances according to his own maturation and competence.

This system recognizes and stresses the tremendous power in the pre-school child's developing intelligence and considers the early years as the most important in leading the child into the great world of learning.

The Walnut Park School will carry out this program for the purpose of promoting the complete development of the young child.

For further information write or call: Walnut Park School, 71 Walnut Park, Newton. Tel. 527-1407.

Art Class For Women Who Know Not Where To Begin

The adult art workshop at Newton Community Center, an experiment this year, is planned for women who have always wanted to express themselves artistically, but who have known where to begin. They experiment with aplique, collage, sandcasting, mobiles, cardboard and masonite prints, monoprints—always trying to see what the medium had to offer.

The first workshop this past fall started in the sandbox. Carving into damp sand with knives and kitchen utensils the group experimented with planes and textures. The sand, surprisingly, provides a very strong mold and when the plaster dries and is picked out the result is a relief sculpture in plaster.

In another class the group rolled printers ink on weather-beaten planks and printed the grain, trying to see a landscape in its many markings. Then, by cutting and printing shapes from cardboard, they peopled the landscapes with animals—a woodpecker, ducks, a cat.

Another class was a study of the shapes we know so well that they have become trite: a heart for instance. They made collages from hearts that were stretched and pulled, cut up and rearranged until each piece no longer looked like a heart at all but a new and interesting shape in its own right.

The second art workshop starts Friday, March 18, from 10 to 11 a.m., and will run for eight weeks. Registrations are still being taken by the Center. No past experience is required. The purpose is to provide inspiration for beginners by encouraging them to look more carefully at the things of everyday life around them.

"It took a lot of courage to come to this class," one of the members said. "I have never attempted to do any art myself and didn't know much about it but I've always been interested ."

Another woman talked about putting on her "loose hat" for the class. "You have to learn to be loose to do projects like this because you have to start looking at things from a completely different point of view than you're used to." The classes are informal and some emphasis is put on trying to acquaint members of the group with the work of modern artists exhibiting currently in Boston and Cambridge galleries. Suggested art projects that families can do together are also discussed informally.

The Workshop teacher is Libby Conrad VanBuskirk, a Waban resident and director of Art at the Community Center, Mrs. VamBuskirk started out at a writer, winning the MADEMOISELLE Magazine College Board Contest when she graduated from Wheaton College in 1955.

Since then she has taught art at the Unitarian Church in Cambridge, Dance Circle in Boston and has organized conferences for the New England School Development Council for New England public school art supervisors. She now specializes in printmaking herself and enjoys art projects with her family as well as the children and adults she teaches at the Newton Community Center.

For information visit the Center at 429 Cherry street, West Newton, or call 244-2260.

LETTERS

Open Letter To School Committee Of Newton

Editor of The Graphic:

The following letter has been sent to the Newton School Committee:

"There seems to be a tendency on the part of the Newton School Committee to regard the people who elect it to office with disdain and consideration bordering on contempt.

"It seems that preserving and enhancing the national image of the Newton School System is to a great extent more important than considering the wishes of Newton's children and parents.

"The members of the Newton School Committee aided a great deal by apparent apathy and a feeling on the part of Newton parents that something must be wrong with their children, as nationally we are told how wonderful our school system is. One must reach the conclusion, therefore, that the only people not completely content with our school system seem to reside in Newton.

"Might it not be a good idea for the School Committee to climb down from its pedestal and mingle a bit with the parents of the children who have been the recipients of a wondrous and for the most part uncontrolled experimental school system?

"Perhaps the members would like to answer a few questions, such as:

"Why does a Newton child have to be two years behind grade level before getting remedial help?

"Why are our children put into uncontrolled experiments without parental consent?

"Why is there no remedial help for children who do not function in these experiments?

"We refuse to believe that our children are stupid, unmotivated psychological misfits or that there are so many problem homes. Of course, it can never be the fault of the Newton school system. After all, our children are privileged to the point of putting up with conditions which must be all right because the national magazines tell us so.

"In a school system which is supposed to be the finest in the country why are there so many unhappy parents and children? It would be nice if the School Committee bothered to find out.

"Not everyone in Newton stands in awe of our national image. Many wish we had less image and more old-fashioned education which would turn out students who could read, write, add and subtract.

"If this is accomplished in Newton now, it is with the help of tutoring, summer school and private school, all paid for by parents in addition to a higher tax rate going mostly for our school system.

We would like to ask the Newton School Committee why there is so much publicity concerning our experiments, but never any showing results of failures.

"Can the Newton School system be so perfect, or is it our public relations department that has achieved perfection?"

Economist Sees Dim Future For Older White-Collar Workers

A Northeastern University economist, who is a resident of Newton Highlands, sees some unhappy days on the horizon for older white-collar workers.

Dr. Erwin L. Herrnstadt, 61 Forest St., believes that automation may displace substantial numbers of white-collar employees, including professional, technical, administrative and clerical workers.

And, he adds, older white-collar workers may encounter serious difficulty in finding desirable new jobs.

Dr. Herrnstadt is a senior research associate in N.U.'s Bureau of Business and Economic Research, which is conducting continuing employment trend studies.

The economist predicts that automation will so materially reduce the need for some areas of performance of white collar workers that "sentimentality" will be eliminated as a factor in retaining them.

Older white-collar workers who are laid off may often experience difficulty in finding comparable employment because of continued—even increased—consciousness of age in hiring, he added.

The increased objections to hiring older workers in some areas of activity stems, he said, from these factors:

1. The concept that younger persons have more up-to-date education, qualities for promoting new ideas and don't have to be broken of no longer applicable methods.

2. Younger persons have more potential years of employment with the firm.

3. Seniority rights, personnel policies and various employment benefit clauses may make it undesirable to hire older workers in preference to younger ones.

Who is the older worker?

Usually, according to Dr. Herrnstadt, he is the person 45 or older. However, some employers frown on hiring persons as young as 30 or 35.

Contrastingly, other employers would not hesitate hiring a person over 45, particularly if the worker has a profession or skill in scarce supply.

Contrary to the "anti-age" trend, Dr. Herrnstadt noted a substantial trend toward hiring middle-age women in clerical and trade jobs to counteract the short stay characteristics of younger women.

But, generally speaking, Dr. Herrnstadt said, the older person seeking white-collar employment is increasingly confronted with the fact that most large employers have internal methods of progression.

"Usually," he said, "these employers don't pull in workers from the outside, unless they don't have internal sources of supply or are companies just starting up."

But the older worker has one trump card, says the professor, that some potential employers take into consideration: The applicant hired at age 45 is likely to remain with the company permanently whereas the fellow 25 years old is more apt to quit when he sees greener pastures elsewhere.

GOP Women To Hold Workshop On March 15

The Newton Women's Republican Club is planning several Tuesday morning workshops on local, county and state governments.

"There is a definite need to reach the many people who live in our city but who never had the time to acquaint themselves with their government and how it operates, and also the new residents who want to learn about their city," said Mrs. Robert Tennant, president of the club.

The workshops will be held at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus street, Newton Highlands from 9:30-11:30 A.M.

The next one is scheduuled for March 15 with Mr. Ralph Benz, director of Middlesex County, who will discuss the government of Middlesex County. It is good that local residents will come who, regardless of party affiliation, feel they would like to learn more about their government.

There will be a question period at the end of the morning. Coffee will be served by members of the club.

Science Church Lesson-Sermon On Substance

The true nature of "Substance" as defined first by Biblical prophets and later by Christ Jesus will be the Lesson-Sermon subject in all Christian Science services this Sunday. Related passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, will complete the readings.

The story of Peter's healing of the lame man at the gate of the temple called Beautiful (Acts 3) will be presented to illustrate the theme that real substance is spiritual. Peter's response to the man's plea for alms was: "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk." The account continues: "And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God."

Passages to be read from Science and Health include these lines: "When we come to have more faith in the truth of being than we have in error, more faith in spirit than in matter, more faith in living than in dying, more faith in God than in man, then no material suppositions can prevent us from healing the sick and destroying error.

Lee Loumos Says:

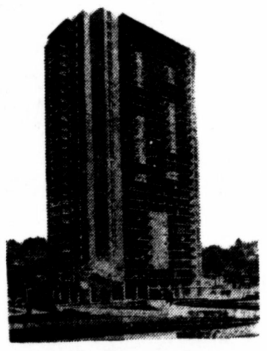

Even before the new Sales Tax Law goes into effect, we already have some confusion as to how it will be interpreted. It would seem proper to me that any bona-fide purchase made during March would not be subject to the tax even if delivery were made after April 1st, but within a reasonable time thereafter. But one of the state officials has stated that all purchases must be delivered before the 1st of April to escape the tax. I seriously question the legality of that opinion — but, in order to play it safe, I would advise all my customers to make their purchases of a substantial nature early enough to allow time for delivery and thus eliminate the risk of an unfavorable ruling.

Lechmere Sales Wins Certificate In Nat. Brand Name Competition

Lechmere Sales Company, of Dedham and Cambridge, was awarded a Certificate of Distinction in the Appliance—TV Stores category of the 18th Annual Brand Name Retailer - of - the - Year Awards Competition, sponsored by Brand Names Foundation, for outstanding Brand Name retail merchandising.

The announcement, made by Albert H. Messer, President of Brand Names Foundation of New York, on behalf of the judging panel, climaxed three days of intensive study into the presentations submitted by the 238 finalists selected in January.

The Judges' decision was based on the effectiveness shown by the retailers in their use of all available advertising and sales promotion tools, sales training methods, and the all important promotion of a basic brand policy.

Maurice H. Cohen, President, will accept the award at the Annual Banquet to be held at the Hilton Hotel in New York City, April 13, before an audience of business and civic leaders, anad top executives of Brand Names Foundation's member firms.

Beginning April 12, for two days, the award winning retailers, as members of Brand Names Foundation's Retail Adivsory Council will participate in the Foundation's annual National Meetings. The emphasis will be on the need to create business understanding among consumers, and the efforts Brand Names Foundation has undertaken to meet this challenge. These meetings are also a means for the Council to help formulate plans for the merchandising and trade programs for the coming year, and provide a chance for the retailers and manufacturers to meet in sessions designed to strengthen areas of mutual interest.

The climax of the two days will be at the Annual Banquet at which the keynote speaker will be John T. Connor, Secretary of Commerce.

In announcing the results of the Competition, Mr. Messer, spoke of the historic significance of this year's results.

He said, "During the eighteen years of the Retailer-of-the-Year Program, we have always been aware of the importance to the retail community of the continuity of these awards. In light of a five year period of ineligibility for first-place winners, the Judges' selections for this year, which includes two two-time plaque winners, and a precedent setting three-time plaque winner, gives added verification to this importance."

Sports Probram Is Underway In Highlands

Final standings in the recently completed basketball program of the Newton Highlands Athletic Association are:

Section A (5th and 6th Grades): 1, Yale; 2, Brown; 3, Harvard; 4, Dartmouth; 5, Cornell; 6, Princeton.

Section B (4th Grade): 1, Navy; 2, Army.

A basketball playoff is now in progress with Brown and Harvard reaching the finals.

The Newton Highlands A.A. is a non-profit organization sponsoring competitive sports programs for junior high school and grammar school boys in the Newton Highlands area. The Association runs an 11 week basketball program in the winter and a Little League baseball program in the spring .

Organization plans for baseball are now being formulated and the program will get underway in April. There will be two major league teams: Red Sox and Yankees; eight minor league teams: Bears, Bisons, Chiefs, Colonels, Marlins, Millers, Royals and Seals; and four farm teams.

Officers of the Newton Highlands Athletic Association for 1966 are: President, Daniel Schwartz, Selwyn road; senior vice president, Edward Cain, Carl street; vice president, Edward Aronson, Woodcliff road; secretary, Melvin Heymann, Selwyn road; treasurer, Robert Wyner, Bound Brook road; corresponding secretary, Morton Gondelman, Sagamore road.

Beverly J. Alpert, 34 Whittier Rd., Newtonville, class of '67, and Marsha A. Hurst, 8 Devon Terr., Newton Centre, class of '67, were named to the Dean's List at Pembroke College, Providence, R.I. Both are Newton High graduates. Laura J. Corwin '66, 11 Park Dr., Newton Highlands, and Deborah J. Glaser '67, 133 Woodcliff Rd., Newton Highlands, both Newton South High graduates, also attained the Dean's List.

Rev. Kingwill To Be Speaker At Garden Club

The Newtonville Garden Club will meet Thursday, March 17, at 10:45 a.m. at the Newtonville Library hall.

Mrs. George W. Hinman, president, will preside at the business meeting.

The program will feature a talk on "Iris" by the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville.

Rev. Kingwill, a resident of Newton for the past 16 years, has always been interested in gardening, especially iris and roses.

Merger

The increasing costs of operating a junior college, the PTA presidents were told, has made it an unnecessary burden for Newton taxpayers.

"The state system cannot guarantee as much to Newton as the present system," Dr. Dudley warned. With excellence in faculty and depth of subject matter, Newton can give its own youngsters opportunities that could not be available to them under a state system.

"The present Newton Junior College, under a state system, may not even be in Newton. The fact that 85 percent of the student enrollment must be Newton residents, he went on, shows that the Newton Junior College is serving its own community.

The present commitment, he said, is to the concept of a comprehensive community college. The Junior College has a full time enrollment of 500 students, 35 full time faculty, and 25 part time staff. The administration is under the Newton School Committee. In addition, there is a board of directors composed of 18 distinguished citizens, who recommend policy.

The Junior College offers a standard transfer program where, after two years of study, a graduate can transfer to a four-year college to complete his education. 130 different institutions throughout the country have accepted transfers from Newton Junior College.

Terminal programs leading to associate degrees are: electronic technology, electronic data-processing, and nursing. All graduates of the nursing program have passed state exams and are registered nurses. This summer, Dr. Dudley said, the college will be affiliated with the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Presently, the school occupies three buildings in Newtonville. It was accredited as a junior college in 1963.

Dr. Dudley stressed the importance of local control for a community college and for community orientation.

"Under state egress," he said, "Newton Junior College wouldl exist in a completely different form. It may not even remain in Newton. To suggest a merger with a state organization is to suggest phasing it out completely."

In other Council action, the following resolution was passed:

"The Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations approves with enthusiasm the action taken by the Newton School Committee on Feb. 14, 1966, in accepting the METCO program for cooperative education between urban and suburban schools.

"The enrollment of Boston Negro students in Newton schools under this program will clearly benefit Newton students as well as the Boston students by providing them with a broader range of social and educational experiences.

"The Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations expresses its particular appreciation to Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, for his leadership in connection with this program."

The meeting was held at the Division of Instruction, 88 Chestnut St., West Newton, and was presided over by Mrs. Thomas Burnap, president.

Winterscene Players Now In Rehearsal

"Miss Julie," Strindberg's dramatic masterpiece is now in rehearsal by the Winterscene Players of West Newton Square. It will feature Miss Jane Dengler of Weston, as Miss Julie; Cris Simmons of Arlington as Jean; and Miss Martha Castillo of Newton as Kristin.

Under the direction of John Adams of West Newton this new West Newton dramatic group will present this production March 25th and 26th at the Parish Hall of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton Square, 1329 Washington Street. Ticket information is available at 332-8366, Mrs. Marjorie Pittman, in charge.

Centre Women In Membership Meeting Friday

A general membership meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held tomorrow (Friday) afternoon in the clubhouse at 1280 Centre St.

It will begin with a 1 o'clock social hour at which the hostesses will be Mrs. Francis L. Maynard and Mrs. George S. Wattendorf.

The brief 2 o'clock business session will be presided over by Mrs. Stanton J. Ten-Broeck Jr., club president.

Mrs. Seaton M. Woodley Jr., will give the devotions, and Mrs. Frederick J. Wood, past president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs and present highway safety chairman, will speak to the members.

The program at 2:30, which is presented by courtesy of the Newton-Waltham Bank, and is an open meeting, will be introduced by Mrs. Daniel J. Sheehan, chairman of the program committee. The speaker will be Thomas Anastasia of Northeastern University, who will talk on "The Lure of Listening."

Receptionists for the day will be Mrs. Clarence W. Randlett and Mrs. Albert L. Sliker. In charge of decorations are Mrs. George F. Pfannenstiehl, Mrs. Francis D. Pitte, and Mrs. Walter D. Stewart.

thority's plans in Newton.

A recent meeting was attended by Mayor Basbas, City Solicitor Matt Jones, Public Works Commissioner Willard S. Pratt, City Engineer U. M. Schiavone, Chairman Driscoll and other Authority officials.

It was at this meeting that Chairman Driscoll revealed the information regarding long-awaited traffic light equipment.

Mayor Basbas, in announcing the results of the conference, said he was gratified that the equipment, so necessary for the health and safety of Newton residents, would be ready within the month.

The Mayor also stated that he hoped that the spirit of openness and fruitful inquiry which has characterized these conferences would continue in the future.

Newton GOP Ward Activity Continuing At High Level

Activity in the ward organizations of the Newton Republican City Committee continued at a high level with well attended meetings during the past week.

An unusually successful meeting took place in the Williams School in Auburndale where Louis I. Egelson, Jr., chairman of the Ward Four Committee, presided.

Fracis W. Sargent, Commissioner, State Dept. of Public Works, was the guest speaker. Introduced by Rep. Edward M. Dickson, Commissioner Sargent discussed the Departments problems and his goals in running the organization efficiently. Following his talk the Commissioner answered questions from the audience a number of them dealing with the local billboard problem.

Other participants in the evenings program included Senator Leslie B. Cutler, Rep. Edward M. Dickson, Rep. Theodore D. Mann, Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler, State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Amesbury, and William A. Lincoln, Newton Republican City Committee Chairman.

In other business of the meeting, the committee voted Henry Young and Barbara Hurwitz to membership in the organization. Elected to serve on the nominating committee of the group were Howard Branch, designated chairman; Roberta Selleck, and Warren A. Sutherland.

Among other activities of the GOP, there was the meeting of Ward One with Adelaide B. Ball, chairman, presiding. The meeting was devoted to organizational matters with the following present:

Herbert L. Shulman, vice-chairman; Walter E. Brown, recording secretary; and Kenneth L. Yukes, treasurer. Also: Charles E. G. Capon, Mrs. Dennis Myers, registration chairman; Franklin W. Dowling, William C. Hutchinson, Carleton P. Merrill; Bernardo Pescosoledo, Wendell Wilson, Mrs. Henry J. Zyfers.

Handcraft Show At Baptist Home, Chestnut Hill

A two-day exhibition of hobbies, handcrafts, treasures and curios will be held in the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, 66 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill, Friday and Saturday, Mar. 18 and 19.

The event will attract Baptist leaders from all parts of the state, and proceeds will be applied to the Home's arts and crafts program.

Working demonstrations will be given by several Home members, including 96-year-old Miss Florence Kieser of Newton, who is particularly skilled in ceramic work. Miss Jessie Ricard of Newton, who has charge of weaving, is among leaders who will supervise special crafts and tables.

students, including 11,000 18,500 students enrolled in part-time evening courses.

Brown is a graduate of Northeastern's College of Engineering, Class of 1921, and is president of the J. & M. Brown Co., Inc., Jamaica Plain.

Dockser, a 1930 graduate of the N.U. School of Law, is president and chairman of the board of the Garden City Trust Co. of Chestnut Hill. He is also president of the Newton Banker's Association, and director of the Newton High School Scholarship Fund.

Jones, a 1925 N.U. engineering graduate, is president and treasurer of the Arkwright Mutual Insurance Co. of Boston. He is also a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. In 1962 he was awarded an honorary degree from his alma mater.

Murtha, a graduate of the College of Engineering, Class of 1935, is assistant general manager of the Sanborn Co. of Waltham. He is also a member of the Waltham Chamber of Commerce and is president and director of the Cambridge Community Center.

Santis, who received his engineering degree in 1921, is president of J. C. Santis Associates Inc. of Newton. In addition he is chairman of the board of directors of the Belmont Union of Youthful Enterprises Inc. and a former trustee of the Federated Jewish Charities.

Savin, a 1918 graduate of the College of Business, is a self-employed investment broker.

Richardson, a graduate of Northeastern's School of Law in 1909, is honorary chairman of the board of the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Co., Waltham.

He is also a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. He received an honorary degree from N. U. in 1963.

Four of these appointees— Brown, Dockser, Jones and Richardson — are members of the Northeastern Corporation, the university's governing body.

Scouts Of Troop 219 Hold Honor Court, Give Awards

Troop 219, Norumbega Council, BSA, recently held a parent's night and Court of Honor at First Church in Newton, 1115 Centre St., Newton Centre.

Opening the meeting, Assistant Scoutmasters Kenneth Patterson and Clifton Dean presented each member of the troop with a new troop neckerchief. Scoutmaster Ronald Dean presented the two assistants their neckerchiefs, and senior patrol leader Nevi Scrimshaw gave one to the Scoutmaster. Then Scouts Laszlo and Gabor Lakner, Paul Manierre, and Jeff Dullea comprised a color guard who conducted the flag ceremony.

Following the opening ceremony, Norumbega Council Camping Promotion Chairman Charles Schuft showed slides concerning the Council's summer camp at Hidden Valley in Gilmanton, N. H.

He particularly stressed the advantages of camping there with the troop, as Troop 219 plans to do next summer, rather than as individuals.

Scoutmaster Dean then awarded prizes to the four top Scout salesmen in the annual troop Christmas wreath sale. Robert King, Bruce Guyon, Mark Houghton, and Albert Carpenter, Jr., chose their prizes from among the following: two lightweight hatchets; a hunting knife; and a trench shovel. The four boys together sold over half the troop total.

Assistant Scoutmaster Patterson, Troop advancement chairman, then opened the Court of Honor. Senior patrol Leader Nick Scrimshaw led a candle lighting ceremony.

Following the traditional opening of the court, Clifton Dean presented the Tenderfoot rank to Jeffrey Dullea. He emphasized that Tenderfoot, although the first rank in Scouting, is far from the least important rank in Scouting, since it is the time the Scout meets the troop leaders, learns a few basic Scout skills, and gains an understanding of the Scouting movement.

Philip Anastasia and Robert King then received Second Class from Troop Committeeman Albert Carpenter, who explained that in fulfilling Second Class, the boy delves into the basic Scout skills and learns more about Scouting.

Scout Bill Keeler was then awarded First Class rank by Assistant Scoutmaster Patterson. Mr. Patterson said that in earning First Class, the Scout finishes his basic skills and will next start in the merit badge program, where he specializes in subjects that interest him, while completing other requirements for Star, Life, and Eagle.

Following this, South District Advancement Chairman Charles Kantar presented Scout Albert Carpenter with five merit badges: coins, electricity, fingerprinting, firemanship, and pets. He pointed out that with only one required merit badge, Al will be ready for Star rank.

Ronald Dean then gave plaques to Scouts Doug Nee, Bruce Guyon, and Al Carpenter, who were the major contributors to the design chosen for the troop neckerchief. Each plaque had been hand painted by Ken Patterson in the same design as the neckerchief.

Senior Patrol Leader Scrimshaw then conducted a closing candle ceremony, Mr. Patterson declared the Court of Honor closed, and the color guard retrieved the flags. The meeting was dismissed.

High Schoolers To Hear Talk On Equal Rights

Hubert Jones, assistant director of the Roxbury- Multi-Service Center, wil lspeak on the topic, "Newton and Roxbury: Two Challenges to Youth", on Thursday, Mar. 17, at 7:30 p.m., at Newton Community Center, Cherry St., West Newton.

The meeting will be sponsored by Newton Youth for Equal Rights, a civil rights group of Newton high school students. Mr. Jones, a social worker formerly associated with the Judge Baker Guidance Center, has first-hand knowledge of the problems of both suburb and inner city. All high school students, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the meeting and participate in the informal discussion following the talk. Further information about Newton Youth for Equal Rights may be obtained from Co-Chairmen Judy Fleischman, 332-2025, or Marcia Bloomberg, 332-0465.

Marc N. Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Solomon, 244 Franklin St., Newton, a junior at Mount Hermon School, swims the 100-yard butterfly as a member of the varsity swimming team.

Miss Young - Mr. Castoldi Wed; Living in Auburndale

The marriage of Miss Cheryl Ann Young and Albert Guzzi Castoldi took place recently at St. Bridget's Church in Framingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Young of Lexington. Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Castoldi of Auburndale are the bridegroom's parents.

Celebrating the 12 o'clock noon nuptial mass was the Rev. J. Joseph Maynihan. A reception was held at the Maridore in Framingham.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a traditional white satin gown. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a semi-scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The bell-skirt terminated in a chapel-length train.

A becoming headpiece misted with jeweles, held in place her shoulder-length triple-tiered illusion veil. Her flowers were gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Lucia DePanphilis of Belmont was maid of honor. Miss Susan Riley of New Bedford, Miss Phyllis Corazzari of Duxbury, Miss Virginia Castoldi of Auburndale, sister of the bride, were her other attendants.

Carl Cioppa of Auburndale served as best man for his cousin. John Salemma and Richard Salemma, both of Auburndale, as well as Jack Castoldi of Auburndale, another brother of the groom, and John Young of Lexington, brother of the bride, were ushers.

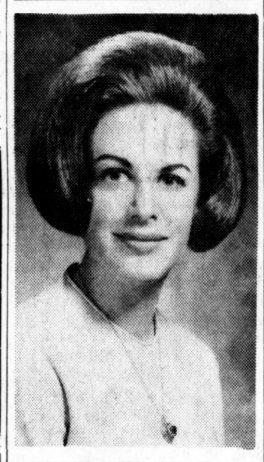

North Conway, N. H. was the honeymoon destination of Mr. Castoldi and his bride, who are now making their home in Auburndale.

The bride attended State College at Framingham.

Her husband, a building contractor, is associated with his father.

Pretty March Nuptials Unites Miss Van Keuren-Mr. Koenig

In the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Saurday, March 5, Miss Helen Gardner Van-Keuren became the bride of Myron Robert Koenig.

Mrs. James G. Lord of Newtonville and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koenig of Cincinnati, Ohio, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Robert J. Harding officiated at the 2:30 o'clock afternoon service, which was followed by a reception at the church.

Given in marriage by Mr. Arnold C. Black of Newtonville, the bride wore a gown fashioned of imported ivory satin. The bodice, embroidered with seed pearls, was designed with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. The full-skirt terminated in a cathedral-length train.

A crown of organge blossoms was fastened with her French illusion veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Frederic G. Kelly of Lexington, Va., was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Nathalie J. Smith of Long Island, N.Y., and Miss Roben M. O'Brien of West Medway were bridesmaids.

Richard E. Koenig of Cincinnati, served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Renolds E. Dodson of Mahopac, N.Y., William S. Hamilton of New Haven, Ct., and William Roe of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Koenigs plan to make their home in Cincinnati.

The bride was graduated from the University of Massachusetts.

Mr. Koenig is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati.

"No Tailoring or Fitting Problem too Complicated"

Miss Cynthia Hennrikus Wed To Lt. David Wesley Garner

At the Randolph Air Force Base Chapel, Texas, recently, Miss Cynthia Anne Hennrikus became the bride of Lt. David Wesley Garner, USA.

The bride is the daughter of Major George F. Hennrikus and Mrs. Hennrikus of Newton. Mrs. Virginia Garner and the late Colonel James R. Garner are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Joseph O'Brien officiated at the 5:30 o'clock nuptials ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of candlelight peau de soie. The fitted bodice, marked with jeweled motifs, was made with a silhouette neckline and braclet-length sleeves. The A-line skirt, misted at the hemline with similar jewels, terminated in a chapel-length train.

Lace and peau de soie leaves, sprinkled with pearls, fsahioned the becoming headpiece caught with her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and ivy.

Miss Deborah Jane Hennrikus was maid of honor, while Miss Barbara Ellen Hennrikus was the other attendant.

Nick L. Laird served as best man. Lt. Wendell F. Moseley, Lt. Dean L. Parker and Lt. William Joyce were the ushers.

A reception was held at the Officers' Club at Randolph Air Force Base.

Lt. Garner and his bride left on a trip to Mexico City. They plan to make their home in Killeen, Texas.

Silver Tea To Be Held Sunday

The Ways and Means Committee of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club will be hostesses at a silver tea to be held Sunday, March 13, at 3 o'clock at the Workshop, Columbus St., Newton Highlands.

Donations which are voluntary will benefit the scholastic fund.

Color slides of the Maritime Provinces will be shown by John F. Jenkins preceding the tea and social hour.

Special Class PTA Meeting Be Held Mar. 15

There will be a meeting of the Newton Special Class PTA on March 15 at 8 p.m. at the Peabody School.

Dr. Harold Sterling, professor and head of the Division of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Tufts University and director of the Rehabilitation Institute at the New England Medical Center Hospital, will be the guest speaker.

His subject will be "How To Get Help For Your Handicapped Child."

The meeting is open to the public. There will be a coffee hour following the meeting.

All Hearts Belonged To Daddys At Lasell

Hearts belong to Daddy at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, when 200 fathers arrived on campus to be entertained by their senior daughters. The occasion, March 4-6 was the traditional Father - Daughter Weekend at Lasell.

A talent show, performances by Lasell's Dance Club, Orpheans and Lamplighters kept the dads busy Friday night. Registration took place Saturday morning followed by a coffee hour. Formal greetings were extended to the fathers by Miss June Babcock, Dean and acting president of Lasell; Charles N. Sweetser, Chairman of Lasell's parents' Association, and Sharon LeVan, President of the College Government Association.

Skits and a Father-Daughter banquet preceded Saturday evening's costume dance, whose theme was "Around the World with Daddy". In the dress of many lands, fathers and daughters danced until midnight.

A special exhibit of work by senior art majors was on view.

Sunday, fathers attended many of the local churches with their daugters and a farewell luncheon was heid at noon.

Fathers attending from Newton were John Bagdonas, 30 Colbera road, West Newton; Stanley Benson, 212 Mill Street, Newtonville, and Melvin S. Berger, 180 Dedham Street, Newton Highlands.

Schools Head Joins Group To Control Smoking

Charles E. Brown, Superintendent of Schools for the City of Newton, has been named to the Massachusetts Educational Advisory Committee for Teaching (ME-ACT), an organization established to alert young people to the hazards of smoking and to help control the alarming rise of lung cancer through in-school education programs.

Mr. Brown's appointment was made by James F. Cleary of Boston, chairman of the 1966 Cancer Crusade in Massachusetts.

"The goal of ME-ACT," Cleary said, "is to help control, through public education, the alarming rise of lung cancer and to teach children the hazards of smoking. An expanded education program, sponsored by the local supervisory unions and the American Cancer Society, will further explain how young people can help prevent cancer in themselves and others.

"The advice of responsible educators such as Superintendent Charles E. Brown and his offer to help ME-ACT find the best methods of convincing children of the necessity of proper health habits, will go a long way in the development of effective administrative and teaching methods for presenting smoking and health programs to children of all ages," Cleary said. To date, more than 121 superintendents of schools in Massachusetts have offered their help and are serving as members of ME-ACT.

Munitions Specialist

Airman William Higgins, son of Mrs. Elaine E. Higgins, 2043 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, has been selected for training as an Air Force munitions specialist at Lowry AFB, Colo. A 1964 graduate of Newton High School, he attended Newton Junior College and Northeastern University.

Newton Man Is Speaker At Ad Course Meeting

Leo Barron, Newtonville resident and production manager of the Bresnick Co., Inc., in Boston, spoke on "Advertising Production" at the weekly ad course sponsored by the Advertising Club of Greater Boston at the Emerson College Union on Tuesday, March 8.

Barron, who has been with Bresnick for the past 15 years, discussed the procedures involved in bringing the finished art to final reproduction in the advertisement. Some 50 students are presently enrolled in the Ad Club's prize-winning course at the communications oriented college.

Barron lives with his wife and two children at 19 Fredette road, Newtonville. The Ad Club course, entitled "Advertising's Role in the Communications Mix," will be given each Tuesday at Emerson through May 24.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Gov. Volpe Serves Notice He is GOP Leader in State

Governor Volpe has quietly served notice that he is the head man of the Republican party in Massachusetts.

He did this by requesting that Attorney C. Henry Glovsky of Beverly consider becoming the GOP candidate for Attorney General.

That implied, of course, that Volpe can deliver the Republican Attorney General nomination to Glovsky if he is willing to accept it—which Volpe undoubtedly can do.

No one really doubts that Volpe is the GOP boss in the State or has challenged his position of leadership in his party.

But when Attorney General Edward W. Brooke announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate the day after Leverett Saltonstall had revealed his intention of retiring from that body at the end of this year, Brooke turned down a request by Volpe that he hold up his pronouncement until there had been a sitdown by Volpe, Brooke and Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson.

Volpe, who has proved himself a strong Governor during the past 14 months, is now moving to make certain that things don't get out of control again.

Brooke's top aide, Assistant Attorney General John S. Bottomly of Wellesley, head of the Criminal Division in the Attorney General's department, has been an active candidate for the post his boss is relinquishing to run for U.S. Senator.

Bottomly has been seeking to line up delegate support for the Attorney General nomination on the condition that Lieutenant Governor Richardson did not set his sights on the office. He probably would have the backing of the Brooke wing of the Republican party against any opponent except Richardson whom Bottomly himself would not challenge.

This did not deter Volpe from asking Glovsky to become a contender for Attorney General.

Whether Bottomly would back away from a convention fight with Glovsky in the event the latter agrees to run is uncertain.

However, Bottomly would have little chance in a convention contest in which the power of the Volpe organization was aligned behind Glovsky.

Lieutenant Governor Richardson was and is Volpe's first choice to be the Republican nominee for Attorney General.

Volpe believes — and most political experts agree — that Richardson, an outstanding Lieutenant Governor, would be the strongest candidate the GOP could put up for the important office Brooke is leaving.

But Richardson prefers to stand for reelection as Lieutenant Governor and has not been won over by the arguments urging him to seek the Attorney General nomination.

It's conceivable that Richardson still might be persuaded to change his mind if Glovsky doesn't run—but only if he were convinced that no other Republican could win election to the office.

Richardson at one point leaned toward the Attorney General race when it was being contended that he was the only Republican who could hold that office for the GOP.

Since then Republican leaders have reached the conclusion that the battle for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General will be a political blood bath and that the man who wins it will be softened up greatly for the November election.

This was one of the factors which caused Richardson to decide at least tentatively to seek a second term as Lieutenant Governor.

Whether that is an accurate appraisal is a question only time will answer. Democratic candidates at times have shown a faculty for binding their wounds after bitter primary conflicts and going on to win election.

Republican strategists, incidentally, expect that the Democratic nominee for Attorney General will be either ex-Governor Foster Furcolo, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti or former State Commerce Commissioner Lester S. Hyman.

Collins Moves Ahead In U. S. Senate Race

Boston Mayor John F. Collins appears to be moving steadily ahead in his drive for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

There is no indication that ex-Governor Endicott Peabody has been able to make any headway in his efforts to overtake the Boston Mayor.

Collins, of course, devotes a substantial portion of his time to running the affairs of the capital city.

But he is a tremendous campaigner, and he has been successfully buttoning up delegate votes nights and weekends.

Collins follows two themes in making his pitch to prospective delegates.

One is that he is the Democratic candidate who can win election in November.

While Collins does not mention Peabody by name, his politically-minded listeners are aware that Peabody has demonstrated a rare ability for losing political fights, and they get Collins' message.

Collins' second theme is that he has the experience and background to do a good job for the people of Massachusetts as their U. S. Senator, that after more than six years as Mayor of Boston he understands urban and metropolitan problems and knows what to do about them.

There can be no disputing the fact that this is so.

Mayor Collins harvested some political hay when he recently hosted the Democratic legislators at a breakfast held at the top of the Prudential.

At a testimonial dinner for Joseph McGuire, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, the ovation accorded Collins was second only to that given to McGuire, the guest of the evening.

While Attorney General Brooke is still rated the favorite to win Senator Leverett Saltonstall's seat, the indications are that Brooke's contest with Collins will turn out to be quite a battle before the votes are counted.

Congressman F. Bradford Morse of Lowell is still weighing the possibility of challenging Brooke for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate at the GOP State Convention in June.

The likelihood is that Morse will eventually abandon the idea, but he hasn't done so yet. He could muster substantial support as a candidate against Brooke at the June conclave.

Passage of Sales Tax Aids Donahue's Drive

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue's campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor has gained momentum since the enactment of the limited 3 per cent sales tax.

This is ironic since Donahue made a do-or-die stand against the sales tax, battled it inch by inch and was bested only after a terrific struggle.

Now it appears that Donahue is profiting politically from his own defeat.

What has happened is that the passage of the sales tax has crystallized it and pointed it up as a political issue.

And Donahue is the State's foremost foe of the sales tax.

Most political analysts believe that former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack is presently leading Donahue in the fight for support at the Democratic State Convention, with former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell, a poor third.

That is disputed by Donahue lieutenants who claim that the estimates of McCormack's strength are inflated.

Even if McCormack is now the front-runner, as he is considered to be, the picture could change next month.

It is inevitable that there will be grumbling, complaints and confusion when the sales tax goes into effect April 1.

Even those people who favored the sales tax bill will have second thoughts about it as they are adjusting to it.

The confusion and the complaints will come in the period just preceding the Democratic State Convention.

The big beneficiary of this situation is certain to be Senate President Donahue, the man who fought so hard to prevent the sales tax from going onto the statute books.

So it will not be at all surprising if there is an upsurge in Donahue's gubernatorial campaign next month.

By next November's election the people should have adjusted to the sales tax and accepted it.

Donahue's immediate target, however, is the June convention, not the November election, and he's not looking beyond the convention.

If he loses at the June conclave, he'll be running for reelection to the State Senate in November, not for the Governorship.

Paradoxically, the passage of the sales tax bill Donahue fought so furiously to defeat has greatly enhanced his gubernatorial prospects.

Minimum Liquor Prices Don't Protect Public

There is no justification whatever for using the increase in the State alcoholic beverages tax as an excuse for boosting so-called minimum prices at which liquor may be sold.

Actually, there is no reason whatever why any minimum prices should be fixed at all by the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission since it is nothing more than an attempt to stifle competition among the package liquor stores.

The lame explanation offered for setting the minimum price is that it provides possible price wars between the package stores.

That's absurd. If a package store operator wants to sell a bottle of whiskey to a customer at a bargain price, why should he be forbidden to do so?

If you observe the markup on liquor in some stores, you will learn how much the erroneously named Fair Trade Practices Law takes out of the pockets of customers.

In certain package stores you can buy a quart of good Canadian whiskey for $6.70. It used to be $6.50 before the tax was increased about 20 cents a quart.

But the package store operator can be prosecuted by the State ABC Commission for selling it to you at that price.

Why? Because the minimum price set by the ABC for that bottle of liquor is $7.85.

The package store owner can sell it to you for $6.70 and make a profit. The ABC says he should charge $7.85.

If that's protecting the public, we can do without such protection.

Now there are requests for an increase in minimum liquor prices as a result of the small hike in the alcoholic beverages tax. What nonsense!

New Term For Davoren As Speaker of House

That Speaker John F. X. Davoren has done an excellent job of running the House of Representatives for the past 14 months is reflected by the fact that he already has more than enough pledges to assure his reelection as Speaker next year.

Davoren is a gentlemanly person who runs the House firmly but fairly.

He has been criticized at times for not using the iron-fisted tactics employed by the late John F. Thompson.

These same critics blasted Thompson for riding roughshod over the House and now periodically find fault with Davoren for not doing what they said was wrong when Thompson did it.

Giving thanks always for all things—(Eph. 5:20)

A child can be taught to say "thank you," for what is done for him, but to learn to be truly thankful is a lesson of the heart, of the spirit, of the whole man. Praise, appreciation, gratitude, blessings can change and transform the heart, heal the body, erase old hurts, bring joy to us all and give real meaning and beauty to every day. Let your first awakening thought be, "Thank you, God."

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE

Because hair grows at the rate of about a half inch a month, permanent color demands regular retouching. If your hair is blond, for example, and the new growth dark, you will find it necessary to blend the roots every two or three weeks. Hair that is sharply lighter than natural, or has been colored by the two-process method seldom reacts kindly to do-it-yourself retouching. Only a professional can work with the exactitude required to do the job right, and often in the time allowed the amateur will find chemicals overlapping and areas of the hair becoming too porous and brittle.

Skilled hair coloring is but one of our specialties. Coloring done to perfection and careful retouching when needed will be handled with the utmost care at MR. Beautification For Newton Is Planned By Garden Club

Stimulated by President Johnson's Beautification Act, and with the first warm days of March urging them to action, members of the Newton Centre Garden Club are already making plans to find opportunities for beautification in the Newtons.

Mrs. Harold R. Keller, Civic Beautification chairman, is entertaining at lunch on Tuesday , March 15th, when her special guests will be Mrs. E. Sohier Welch, chairman of Massachusetts Roadside Council, and Mrs. Cyrus Brewer, former Chairman of Roadside Council's Anti Litter Program.

Other guests include representatives from Newton Garden clubs: Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Benjamin Fawcett, and Mrs. George M. Wile from Newton Centre Garden Club; Mrs. F. Leslie Ford, Auburndale Club; Mrs. Leo A. Handy, Newton Highlands Club; Mrs. George W. Hinman and Mrs. Donald T. Welch, Newtonville Club; Mrs. Richard A. Winslow, West Newton Club.

Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Brewer will share, with these garden officials, their wealth of knowledge and experience in how to improve ugly spaces as well as to preserve their communities' natural beauty and our historic heritage.

Women Voters Open Meeting Plans Are Set

Master Plan for Education: a survey of the needs and goals of public education in Massachusetts is the subject for the March 16 Open Meeting being held by the League of Women Voters of Newton at the Hamilton School, 545 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls at 8 P.M.

During the evening, the League will be discussing and evaluating some of the recommendations of the Willis Harrington Report, now Known as the Master Plan for Education.

Also, they will examine a few of the factors that provide excellence and quality in education such as: education for the special child; pupil-teacher ratios; guidance services; curriculum content; vocational education; libraries in the schools and school buildings.

Participation in the discussion by the audience will be part of the program.

Mrs. Robert Rediker of Newton Lower Falls is chairman of the evening.

Musical Will Feature Donor Dinner Mar. 16

Mrs. Murray Yodel, chairman of the Annual Donor Dinner of Sisterhood Temple Reyim to be held on Wednesday evening, March 16, at the Ordis Social Hall, announced that the feature of this year's event will be an original musical, "Hands Across the Table." Books and lyrics by Marilyn Stern and music by Saul Stern.

Members of the Sisterhood under the direction of Marilyn and Saul Stern have been rehearsing for several weeks in preparation for the show.

Those in the cast are: Charlotte Kirshner, Elizabeth Schwartz, Rosalie Dennis, Suzanne Wilson, Ida Cohen, Roslayn Geffen, Eileen Garber, Sally Green, Millie Marcus, Lorraine Gorfinkle, Jackie Salk, Rhea Roazen, Marilyn Rich, Leah Seltzer, Marilyn Klashman is production manager.

Newtonville Woman's Club Meets Tuesday

On Tuesday, March 15, at 12:30 p.m., the Education Committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club will once again hold its scholarship luncheon and bridge for members and their guests, at St. John's Parish House on Lowell avenue.

Mrs. Harry W. Abells, chairman, and Mrs. Edmund Miller, co-chairman, have planned an unusual party. Forsythia and jonquils, decorating the hall, will set the springtime theme, and the luncheon is guaranteed to please the most exacting gourmet.

An innovation this year is the attractive table prizes handmade by Mrs. Abells, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Samuel Melick, Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, Mrs. Henry W. Webster, under the direction of Mrs. Vaughan A. Richardson.

In addition there will be many door prizes contributed by the members and several local business friends interested in the work of the club.

The moral of the club is quite high this year, for the second consecutive year, they are awarding TWO scholarships instead of one as in previous years.

These scholarships go to deserving Newtonville girls graduating from senior high this year, to help further their education.

Other members of the committee helping serve this day are Mrs. John R. Clark, Mrs. John F. Farrington, Mrs. P. T. Livingston, Mrs. Edward Raphael, Mrs. Harold S. Rice, Mrs. Frank M. Simmons, and Mrs. Charles W. Tenney, Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, president of the club, will welcome all who come.

Newton College Of The Sacred Heart Father-Daughter Weekend

More than 300 Newton College of the Sacred Heart students will welcome their dads arriving on campus from 22 states Saturday, (Mar. 12), for the eleventh annual Father-Daughter Weekend.

Among the fathers registering for the two-day event will be William H. Sullivan, Jr., of Wellesley, president of the Boston Patriots and chairman of the Greater Boston Stadium Authority. He will be the guest of his daughter Mary Jean, a sophomore at Newton, and will be the main speaker at the Father-Daughter Communion Breakfast Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in Stuart House.

The visiting dads will join their daughters in a weekend of activities which will feature tours, receptions, classroom lectures, speeches, a banquet, a concert, and a dance.

Sponsored by the Newton College Father's Club, the weekend will get under way early Saturday afternoon with a tour of the 50-acre campus — where a new dormitory and student-faculty center have been completed during the past year, and a $1,500,000 library is now under construction. Open houses at all buildings and dormitories will be followed by a faculty reception for all fathers at 2:45 p.m. in the student center.

Fathers will attend classes with their daughters from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., and will participate in classroom discussions led by more than a dozen Newton faculty members.

Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., Newton president, will welcome all to the traditional Father-Daughter Banquet in the Stuart House dining room at 6 p.m. Informal talks will follow dinner and the Father's Club annual business meeting. Miss Joan S. Norton, assistant dean and director of placement at Newton, will speak on job opportunities for graduates.

Later in the evening, the fathers will listen to a "concertette" sung by Newton's glee club, and escort their daughters to a dance in Chapel Hall.

The Rev. Seavey Joyce, S.J., will celebrate a special Mass on campus Sunday morning at 9 in the Chapel of the Most Blessed Trinity. The subsequent Communion Breakfast will conclude the scheduled program.

Chairman of the weekend committee is William F. Lally, who is also president of the Father's Club. His sub-committee chairmen include Edmund Fanning and Walter J. Murphy, both of Waban. Edward Becherer of Newton is an officer of the Father's Club.

KAREN SECUNDA
(Bradford Bachrach)

Karen Secunda, Wellesley Alumna Is Future Bride

A June 20 wedding is planned by Miss Karen Lee Secunda of Cambridge and George David Levy of Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Lazarus Secunda of 145 Fuller street, West Newton, have announced their daughter's engagement to the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Levy of 12 Ferncroft road, Waban.

A graduate of Newton High School and Wellesley College, where she was a Wellesley College Scholar, Miss Secunda is attending the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Mr. Levy was graduated from Newton High School, the University of Vermont and the Cornell University Graduate School of Business. He belongs to the University Club as well as the Newton Squash and Tennis Club.

A June 20 wedding is planned.

More Room May Be Available For Jr. College

Provided Mayor Basbas approves the necessary funds, Newton Junior College will no longer have a shortage of space by early in April.

Under consideration is a plan to transfer the superintendent of schools and his staff from the Walnut Street quarters to the Stearns School, which is now empty.

Now that the Stearns pupils are in the enlarged Lincoln-Eliot School, there is room for Dr. Charles E. Brown and his staff at Stearns.

Estimates for adapting the old school to its new use run from $13,000 to $18,000.

Mrs. Dietz To Give Property Program Talk

"Behind the Scenes of the Poverty Programs" will be the topic of Mrs. Jean Dietz, wife of Alderman Ernest F. Dietz, when she addresses the Newton Visiting Nurse Association at its annual meeting Wednesday, Mar. 16.

Mrs. Dietz, mother of four children, is the Social Science writer for The Boston Globe. During the past year she has focussed attention on problems of public welfare, the Poverty Program and Mental Health.

A graduate of Wellesley College, she is a member of the executive board of the Newton Comunity Council and a former member of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association.

Spring Dinner Dance By Cedar Hill ORT Group

Plans are now being completed for a gala Spring Dinner-Dance, sponsored by the Cedar Hill Chapter of Women's American ORT.

The dance will take place Saturday, March 19, at Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton, starting with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. A full-course dinner and an evening of dancing to the Sidney Hill Orchestra will follow.

All members and friends are urged to make their table reservations at once by contacting Mrs. S. Berger at 449-1992.

Local Committee Assists In Laetare Sunday Plans

The annual Laetare Sunday Communion Breakfast sponsored by the Boston College Alumni Association will take place on Sunday, March 20.

Local residents who are serving on the committee are: Arthur E. Lohan, Charlemont St.; Daniel G. Holland, Elgin St.; E. Elmer Ross, Ipswich Rd.; William H. Harney, Windsor Rd., Waban; Audrey R. Brady, White Pine Rd.; John J. Curtin, Moulton St., Newton Lower Falls; A. William Kennedy, Hammond St., Chestnut Hill; Paula Fitzgerald, Day St., Auburndale; Catherine O'Toole, Washington St.; Elizabeth O'Toole, Washington St.

Speaker at the breakfast will be James J. Norris, assistant to the Executive Director of Catholic Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Mr. Norris was appointed by Pope Paul VI as the official Catholic Lay Auditor to the Second Vatican Council and was the only layman in history to present a resolution to one of the Ecumenical Councils of the Church.

Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh, S.J., president of Boston College, will celebrate the 9 a.m. Mass on Campus in Roberts Center, and the breakfast will follow immediately in McHugh Forum. Mr. Peter C. Quinn '32, of Westwood, Vice President of the Association is Chairman and Rt. Rev. Joseph P. Maguire '41, Master of Ceremonies, Archdiocese of Boston, will be the Toastmaster.

Tickets for the breakfast may be obtained at the Alumni Association office. All proceeds go to the Laetare Scholarship Fund.

Music Center Sponsors Borge

Several local residents, who are board members of the Boston Community Music Center, are supporting the latest project of the Center, the appearance of Victor Borge at Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, Mar. 27.

Committee members include Mrs. Winslow L. Webber, 120 Farlow Rd., Newton; John W. Calkins, 26 White Oak Rd., Waban, and Lewis F. Perry, 26 Old Orchard Rd., Chestnut Hill.

President of the Boston Community Music Center is Mrs. Lauriston Ward, Jr., Wellesley, the former Dorothy Lee Jones of Newton.

Tickets for the Victor Borge benefit may be reserved by calling the Center. KE 6-8796.

Some Local Clergy Set Viet Rally

More than 4000 Boston area clergymen, including those in Newton, have been invited to attend the initial meeting of the Metropolitan Boston affiliate of the National Emergency Committee of Clergy Concerned About Viet Nam, to be held in Valle's Steak House, Route 9, Monday morning, March 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

The affiliate has been formed, according to the Rev. Harold Fray Jr., minister of the Eliot Church in Newton and the group's chairman, "to be a channel of concern about this nation's involvement in Viet Nam."

Sponsors of the group, in addition to the Rev. Fray, are Rabbi Jerome K. Davidson, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Newton; the Rev. Fr. James F. Rafferty, St. Philip Neri Church; the Rev. Culbert G. Putenber, Newton Andover Theological School; Rabbi M. David Weiss, Temple Immanuel and the Rev. Joseph C. Williamson, Andover Newton Theological School.

Plan Sale For Peace Center

A planning meeting for a books and bibelots sale at the Newton Community Peace Center in April was held recently in the home of Mrs. Melvin I. Shoul, 9 Exmoor Rd., Newton Centre.

The sale will benefit the Voice of Women and the Peace Center in their efforts to promote awareness of the need and possibilities for peaceful solution of the world's problems.

Among those in attendance at the planning session were Mrs. Edmund C. Berkeley, Mrs. Leon Birnbaum, Mrs. James Harrison, Mrs. Irving Schwartz, Mrs. Edwin Gordy, Mrs. Douglas Reynolds and Mrs. Shoul.

DR. GREGORY COFFIN

Darien School Supt. Speaks Here Tonight

Dr. Gregory C. Coffin, Superintendent of Schools in Darien, Connecticut, will speak on, "The Darien Civil Rights Education Program" at a public meeting of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights on Thursday, March 10, at the Mason-Rice School at 8 p.m. He will be introduced by Dr. Charles Bonner.

Dr. Coffin will tell in detail of his program put into effect in Darien to bring a measure of integration to its all-white schools. This program included a student exchange with nearby school districts with Negro students, the hiring of Negro teachers and other school personnel and the encouragement of non-white doctors, government workers and other professionals to speak to Darien classes.

Dr. Coffin will explain why it is important in his opinion for all-white, middle class children, such as those in Darien, to become more aware of the realities of race and economic and social differences by actually experiencing Negro classmates. The Darien experiment has particular meaning for the citizens of Newton in view of the projected busing of some Negro children from Boston to this city which has been approved by the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Born in Meriden, Conn. in 1926, Dr. Coffin started teaching after graduation from Harvard in 1949. He taught English at various schools before advancing to the post of principal of Woodstock Academy. He has also served as Superintendent of Schools of the Narragansett Regional School District and of the North Reading Schools. He has also taught at the college level.

Dr. Coffin holds a master's degree from Boston University and a Ph.D. from the University of Connecticut. He is a member of a number of professional and community organizations and he has spoken and published widely. He is married and is the father of four children. The program chairman is Dr. Melvin A. Richmond.

Dr. Dulfano In AJC Program

Dr. Mauricio Dulfano of Waban, a former resident of Argentina and an authority on Latin-American affairs, will take part in a meeting sponsored by the Commission on International Affairs of N. E. Region, American Jewish Congress, Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:00 o'clock, in Longwood Towers, Brookline.

Topic of the gathering will be "Political Instability and Anti-Semitism in Latin America."

Carmen

was the holdover member of the Board of Aldermen.

Carmen, after the inquiry from the League, conferred with City Solicitor Jones and learned that the League of Women Voters was correct.

Aldermen Carmen declared yesterday that he will be pleased to continue serving as Ward Alderman and to give whatever assistance he can to the residents of Ward 7.

The outcome of the battle between Shea and Crosby hinges on the Supreme Court's ruling on several disputed ballots. Both Shea and Crosby have attended all the Aldermanic sessions since the start of the year but have sat with the spectators.

Two Major Fires Injure Firemen; 19 Persons Flee

Two firemen were injured and 19 persons were forced to flee as major fires this past week struck in two places.

A flash fire last Thursday afternoon left 16 persons homeless. Members of three families, they were occupants of the three-story wooden building at 19 Woodbine St., Auburndale.

Anthony DeMaio of 30 McCarthy Rd., Oak Hill, an employe of the city building department, saved the life of Mrs. Barbara Watson, who was asleep on the top floor. He discovered the blaze, and after helping the woman out, warned occupants of the other apartments.

The firefighters, Lt. Paul B. Jones, 61 Page Rd., Newtonville, and Fireman George J. Carlo, 45 Smith Ave., West Newton, were treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, the former for a burned hand and the latter for an eye injury.

Chief Perkins believed the fire started in a downstairs room and raced through partitions to the third floor of the 75-year-old house. He estimated the damage at $15,000 to $20,000.

Occupying the first floor were Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Chiavares and their 14-year-old daughter. The three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Shassah, second floor occupants, were said to be out of town at the time of the fire. On the third floor were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson and six of their seven children. No one was able to return inside Thursday night, and all stayed with relatives or friends.

Early Saturday, twin sisters and their brother escaped injury when they dropped from a second story window of their home at 30 Harrison St., Newton Highlands.

Damage to the three-story house was estimated at $10,000 by Asst. Chief Henry Murphy.

The twins, Marjorie M. and Mary A. McCarthy, are 20 years old. Owner of the house is Daniel F. McCarthy, who was away at the time. The girls and their brother stayed the remainder of the night with neighbors.

Hills And Falls School To Hold Corporation Meeting

The Hills and Falls Community Nursery School will hold its second corporation meeting of the school year next Wednesday evening, March 16, at 8:00 p.m. All Hills and Falls parents, fathers as well as mothers, are cordially invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Whiting, 29 Arlington Road, Wellesley, for this meeting.

Mr. Alton Reynolds, principal of the Perrin School in Wellesley, will speak on "New Math and Children". His talk deals specifically with preschool and kindergarten age youngsters. Mr. Reynolds came to the Perrin School in 1961.

He has always been interested in the new math and was one of several responsible for its introduction into the Wellesley elementary school system. Currently Mr. Reynolds is the Educational Consultant to the Laidlaw Publishing Company in the New England area. Laidlow is the basic math text used in the elementary schools.

Following the meeting refreshments will be served with Mrs. L. Renshaw Fortier, 57 Emerson Road, Wellesley, in charge. Chairman of the evening's program is Mrs. Gordon Rollert, 30 Garrison Road, Wellesley.

As the weather improves more outdoor activities are in order for the children at Hills and Falls, located at St. Mary's Church in Newton Lower Falls. Last week the children visited the Wellesley Hills Fire Station.

A trip to the Franklin Park Zoo is planned for the future. Mrs. James C. Boyd, II, 32 Emerson Rd., Wellesley, is in charge of transportation for these trips which are under the supervision of the teachers, Mrs. John Morganthay and Mrs. Leon Blum.

Assisting them are two student teachers from Wheelock College who began their duties at the school at the beginning of their second semester in February.

Admissions for the year 1966-67 school year are currently being considered. Parents of pre-school children interested in information about Hills and Falls may call the president, Mrs. John Whiting, at 235-1152, or the registrar, Mrs. Thomas Griffiths, at 237-1409.

kins proposed an amendment to Walen's motion for granting the request, setting up a condition that its granting would be allowed only if the Authority built the footbridge.

After considerable debate, in which objectors to the proposed amendment expressed concern over the likelihood that good relations between the city and the Authority might be endangered, and called attention to the fact that as yet, the Authority has not paid the cost of the new Newton Corner fire station that replaced the one the Authority took.

Debate was suddenly cut off for the duration of the meeting by Alderman Hopkins' making a charter objection.

Following that, Hopkins presented a resolution calling for erection of the footbridge at the city's expense. The resolution will appear on the docket for the March 21 meeting.

Emma Lazarus Chapter, AJC Meets March 16

Emma Lazarus Chapter, American Jewish Congress, will hold its March meeting Wednesday evening, March 16, at 8:15, at the New Highlands Women's Club. The subject of the meeting will be "The Middle East in Perspective," and a symposium of speakers will include Isabel Kogas, Bea Lewis, Susan Sebastyn and Daryl Stein. Gloria Rosenzweig will be moderator.

The symposium will review the conditions existing in the Middle East relating to Israel-Arab tensions and the problem of Arab refugees. The speakers will also give their prognosis for the future.

Mrs. Lawrnce Schnee is president of the chapter and will preside. The public is invited.

Registration To Day Camp Opens In Newton

Registration for Newton youngsters is now open for the coming summer season program at the George Lerman Day Camp in Westwood, according to an announcement by the Associated Jewish Community Centers-Greater Boston.

Howard Rubin, chairman of the A.J.C.C., said a full range of activities will be available at the camp, which is located at the 1,000-acre Hale Camping Reservation, in Westwood. All boys and girls from five years old to those completing the sixth grade who are center members are eligible to attend.

Scheduled activities will include swimming twice daily, outdoor sports, music, campcraft, drama, nature study, overnight camping trips, and Jewish cultural activities. Swimming instruction will be under the supervision of qualified Red Cross Water Safety Instructors at Powisett Pond, on the reservation.

A special expanded program, called "Tween Trips," will again be available for boys and girls who are presently in the seventh and eighth grades, according to Leonard Kaplan, chairman of the A.J.C.C. Day Camp Committee. This four-day a week activity is largely planned by the youngsters themselves, and includes beach days, sailing, theater and inter-city trips, work projects, cookouts and socials.

Brochures and registration information may be obtained at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, 50 Sutherland Rd., Brighton. The center is a member of the Associated Jewish Community Centers-Greater Boston, a constituent agency of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies.

Alderman Honored For Little League Service

Newton Alderman Edward Uehlein recently was presented a plaque by the Newton South Little League board of directors.

In making the presentation, John P. Alevizos, of Waban, league president, expressed appreciation for Alderman Uehlein's services on behalf of the league over the years and for his special efforts to improve Richardson Field, the home of Newton South Little League.

President Alevizos stated at the meeting that prospects for the coming season are quite optimistic with an excellent nucleus of returning diamond veterans in both the major and minor league systems.

Player-agent Edward Bartzak announced that player tryouts will be held on the first two Saturdays in April, on the 2nd and 9th at Cold Springs playgrounds in Newton Highlands.

Applications will be available at Hyde, Angier, Countryside, Sacred Heart, Beethoven, Weeks, Meadowbrook, Emerson and Hamilton schools now through tomorrow, Friday, Mar. 11th.

The board of directors also announced the election of the following officers for the 1966 season, in addition to President Alevizos.

Mickey Olem of Waban, treasurer; Ernest Neuhaus of Newton Highlands, secretary; and managers of the season, Sidney Liner of Waban Colts; Thomas Moore of the Highlands' Red Sox; Charles Chapman of the Upper Falls Giants; Keneth Vlass of the Lower Falls Tigers and Frank Hurley of the Waban Braves.

It is undoubtedly unnecessary for us to mention to you that any automobile is going to cost you more after April 1st. How much more, we, ourselves, do not know, but in any event, it will be considerable.

Fortunately, we, here at CLARK & WHITE, have an unusually large number of new Lincolns, Mercurys and Comets in stock ready for immediate delivery. In addition we have a number of one-owner Cadillacs which are hard to tell from brand new, as well as several well-cared for Lincoln Continentals which will be on sale at bargain prices during the remainder of March.

We suggest that you do not delay your visit to our heated Showroom where the above mentioned cars and over 100 others are on display.

Pissaro. It has been tentatively valued at over $5.5 million. When Monet died in 1926 the collection was left to a son, Michael, an African explorer. The younger Mr. Monet died Feb. 8 and his will bequeathed his father's collection to the academy. In doing so, it was a direct snub to the Louvre which, during Monet's lifetime, refused to hang some of his paintings.

The Vermont State Boxing Commission rejected a proposal that the Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell heavyweight championship bout be staged in Burlington March 29. All three commissioners joined in disapproving a preliminary application. Governor Philip H. Hoff declared that he would rely on the decision of the boxing commission. Hoff added that the commission's decision was based on "professional judgment" and not on Clay's "personality, color or religious beliefs."

Two high-ranking officials and their families splashed in the chilly Mediterranean waters off Palomares, Spain, in an effort to convince Spaniards that the waters were free of radioactivity. Manuel Fraga Iribarne, Spanish Minister of Information and Angier Biddle Duke, U. S. Ambassador to Spain, donned trunks to demonstrate their confidence that the waters are free of contamination following the crash of a U. S. jet bomber which dumped four hydrogen bombs in the area. Three of the unarmed bombs were recovered on land but the fourth is believed in the sea off Palomares.

Schools in the Plainview-Bethpage district of Long Island were forced to close down Tuesday, as two-thirds of the 613-teacher work force went on strike. In doing so, they defied a no-strike order by the New York state education commissioner. About 6,600 pupils have been sent home as a result of the strike. The teachers are requesting a two-year pay hike of $1,500 as well as a written contract and decision-making powers in school policy. The striking teachers were warned that their action may result in revocation of their licenses and dismissal from their teaching posts.

The American embassy in Jakarta was attacked by nearly 300 Indonesian students Tuesday who hurled stones and gasoline bombs through the embassy windows. The students, members of a communist-affiliated group, were protesting what they termed the U. S.'s "impertinence in Vietnam." A similar demonstration occurred the same day in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, where students attacked the U. S. embassy carrying signs saying, "Stop aggression in Vietnam."

Fifteen candy bars, warm clothing and singing of Sunday-school songs helped a South Dakota ranch family survive 60 hours in their trapped car as the Upper Midwest began digging out from three feet of snow. Many homes in Minnesota, Nebraska and the Dakotas have been without heat for a week as the blizzard downed power lines.

Blonde Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were found innocent of murder in a Florida courtroom Sunday after one of the longest and most lurid criminal trials in Florida history. The jury deliberated 16 hours and 33 minutes. Candy and her nephew had been charged with the murder of Candy's late husband, Jacques Mossler, 69, wealthy financier who was stabbed and bludgeoned to death on June 30, 1964.

Candy and her nephew, after leaving the courtroom, said they had no plans to marry. The 40-year-old Candy now assumes control of her late husband's $33 million business empire.

Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas warned Sunday of the growing peril of a war between the United States and Communist China. He announced that his Foreign Relations Committee would hold hearings this week on the danger of war with Red China in an attempt to reduce "the fatal expectancy." Fulbright said "it is the view of certain China experts in our government that the Chinese leaders themselves expect to be at war with the United States within a year, and it is clear that some of our own officials also expect a war with China." Fulbright emphasized that "the danger of war is real."

The U.S. Supreme Court on Monday unheld the legality of important sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act. An attack by the Deep South on the constitutionality of the law was dismissed by the nationi's highest court in a majority opinion written by Chief Justice Earl Warren. The court ruled that under the 15th Amendment to the Constitution, Congress has the power to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications and to auhorize the Attorney General to designate federal examiners to register voters in various sections of the nation.

Boston's five daily newspapers—the Herald, the Traveler, the Record American and the morning and evening Globe—suspended publication on Sunday as printers and mailers in those newspapers went on strike. William Davis Taylor, publisher of the Globe, charged that 75 pages of type set for future use had been smashed on the concrete floor of his newspaper's composing room prior to the strike vote. Eugene J. Samulski, president of the printers' local, denied that his union was responsible.

The Boston Celtics were knocked out of first place in the National Basketball League standing when they were defeated 113-110 by the Philadelphia 76ers before a capacity crowd at the Boston Garden Sunday afternoon. Coach Red Auerbach blasted the officiating in the game, charging Wilt Chamberlain was over-protected by the officials.

Senator Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, appearing on the TV show, "Meet the Press," urged immediate direct talks with the Viet Cong in an attempt to end the war in Vienam. He said he favored direct contacts with the Viet Cong, that he believed they would be helpful and constructive and that he would include them in any kind of negotiations in Vietnam. Kennedy declared that the Viet Cong should be given assurances that free elections will be held. He predicted that the Viet Cong would get from 20 to 25 per cent of the vote in such an election.

In the same TV interview Ted Kennedy asserted that he would support former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack if the latter is nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor. Ted Kennedy and McCormack were the opponents for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate in stiff convention and and primary fights in 1962.

The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals upheld the constitutionality of a law in that State which bans intermarriage between whites and Negroes, The case came before the court following the conviction of a 32-year-old white man and his 26-year-old wife, part Indian and part Negro, for violating the law prohibiting intermarriage.

A 32-year-old jail escapee was captured in a Cambridge motel and turned over to Boston police. James Dittman escaped Feb. 2 as he and two other prisoners, all handcuffed together, were being taken to court from the Suffolk County Jail. Police declared at the time that Dittman attacked he court officer in charge of the prisoners, got the keys to the handcuffs and made his getaway while the other two prisoners were wrestling with the officer. Dittman, a parolee from State Prison, is charged with the larceny of an automobile, clothing, camera and ski equipment from outside a Newton motel.

A Fitchburg schoolboy discovered the nude body of a man Monday, stuffed head-down in a sewer by the side of the Fitchburg Post Office. The victim was identified tentatively by police as John W. Hill, 67, of Fitchburg, who left his home Sunday night on a brief errand. The body was found at 8 a.m. by David Hinckley, a high school student, after it had been ignored by a postal employee who said he thought it was a mannequin.

Former Harvard student David Allen Reed, 19, of Randolph said Sunday he would return the ashes of his draft card to the Selective Service Board at Milton. Reed recently left Harvard to engage full-time in the anti-war activities of the New England Committee for Non-Violent Action. He and a companion burned his draft card on Feb. 25 and were questioned by the F.B.I.

Air Force fighter pilot Capt. P. V. McCallum was presented Saturday with the .50 calibre Viet Cong machine gun that downed his jet plane earlier in the week. McCallum dropped a load of antipersonnel bomblets over a machinegun crew killing all five Viet Cong manning it, but not before they had fired on and hit his plane. Troops found the machine gun nest following the raid and presented McCallum with the gun that downed him.

The home of Juan Bosch, former president of the Dominican Republic, was fired at Sunday, killing a guard stationed outside. Bosch, who was ousted from the presidency two years ago, was meeting with a group of supporters inside the residence when the shooting occurred. He is considered a top contender for the presidency in the nation's June 1 elections, representing liberal and leftist leanings in the country.

Fourteen armed Cuban exiles were arrested off the Miami coast Sunday by U. S. Customs and Coast Guard officers. The group was allegedly enroute to Cuba on a "commando mission." The men were identified as members of Alpha 66, a Miami-based organization. The abortive raid was the first known Cuban exile action of its type to take place this year.

A 79-year-old Brookline widow filed suit for damages amounting to $150,000 against the Boston Edison Co. Monday for injuries she allegedly suffered during the Northeast power failure last Nov. 9.

Mrs. Grace T. Kelley of 24 White Place, Brookline charged in a Suffolk Superior Court suit that she was preparing dinner for herself and a sister when the lights went out. In attempting to leave the kitchen, she alleges, she fell and broke her hip and was hospitalized for four weeks.

In a similar suit filed in Hampden Superior Court, Springfield, John F. Dembski of Chicopee is suing the Western Massachusetts Electric Co. for $100,000. Dembski, a West Springfield druggist, alleges he fell down the stairs during the blackout and suffered injuries that prevented him from working.

Braintree voters became the first Massachusetts voters to test a new polling method Monday, using IBM computer cards. Called the Votomatic Voting System, the modern polling device uses IBM cards on which the voter punches his selections using a metal stylus. After the polls closed at 8 p.m., Braintree voting officials simply fed the cards through an IBM computer with voting results becoming known almost immediately. More than 200 election officials watched the test which was telecast on closed circuit TV between Braintree Town Hall and the Data Processing Center of Sigma Instruments, Inc. which loaned its machines to the town for the tabulation. The Massachusetts legislature is currently considering a bill to authorize use of the Votomatic system in any city or town in the Commonwealth.

The United States Supreme Court was asked Monday to enter the hairy dispute over whether or not Georgie Porgie needs a haircut. Georgie Porgie is the stage-name of the teenaged South Attleboro folk singer George Leonard, ousted from high school in September, 1964, because his mane of unshorn locks were declared to be inconsistent with school decorum. He and his parents carried the fight unsuccessfully to the Massachusetts Supreme Court, which on Dec. 7 upheld a Superior Court decree siding with school authorities and which also declared that the "constitutional points cited by Georgie's counsel need no discussion." Atty. Edward M. Doyle has appealed to the top court of the nation, however, for a writ of certiorari that Georgie's constitutional rights to be adorned as he sees fit were violated.

Scituate Fire Chief Bartholomew A. Curran, 56, died Sunday at his home, the victim of an apparent heart attack. Curran had been the town's fire chief since 1949 and was past president of the New England Association of Fire Chiefs.

Three friends of a Massachusetts hunter charged with manslaughter took the stand today in Machias, Maine and testified that an Indian friend of dead Peter Francis provoked a fight the night of Francis' fatal beating. The three took the stand as the defense opened its case in the Superior Court trial of James Ellinwood, 26 of Billerica, accused of beating the 58-year-old Francis to death on the night of Nov. 4 at Passamaquoddy Indian reservation in Perry.

William Robbins of Billerica told the court that on that night he and three hunting companions were at the reservation home of Christopher Altvater when Altvater became argumentative. The four decided to leave, he said, and were met in front of the house by Ellinwood in his car. He said he did not see any scuffle between Ellinwood and Francis. The state contends that Francis was beaten with a nail-studded four-foot length of lumber found at the scene.

An honorary diploma was posthumously awarded Monday night to an East Haven, Conn. marine killed in Vietnam. Lance Cpl. Richard Wolcheski, 20, was honored at a solemn assembly of the pupils of the school, which he left in 1963 during his junior year. His father, East Haven patrolman George Wolcheski, accepted the diploma.

A Quincy cab driver was held up by two men Monday who hit him on the head with a gun and robbed him of $7 after forcing him to drive them to East Braintree. The victim, Augustine Salvaggio, 40, of Weymouth, said the two men fled in a waiting car driven by a third man. .

Providence, R. I. police said Monday they had no clues in the apparent gangland slaying of a West Warwick man. The body of Edgar P. Caycedo, 35, was found late Sunday beside his car. He had been shot six times. Police said that Caycedo had been charged with several narcotics violations in 1958 and theorized his slaying may have resulted from renewed activity in illega narcotics.

The Supreme Court today took under advisement the appeal of Leo J. Kleciak, 48, of Chicopee, sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1964 murder of his wife in Holyoke. Efrem A. Gordon, Kleciak's counsel, argued that the state had failed to produce direct evidence that Kleciak had fired the shots which killed his wife, that his rights had been violated when police took a statement from him and that the trial court in 1964 had allowed improper cross examination.

Chief state witness against Kleciak was truck driver Joseph Gagliardi, who testified that at 5:30 a.m. on June 13, 1964 he was sitting in the cab of his truck when a woman ran along the street shouting for help, pursued by a man holding a gun. Gagliardi testified the running pair turned up an alley and as he jumped out of his truck he heard four or five shots. Later he found the woman's body in the alley.

Governor John A. Volpe this week declared that Republicans may well capture the state Senate and make important gains in the House in next fall"s election due to the voter dissatisfaction with Democratic leadership occurring during the 14-month debate on the tax situation. Capturing the House would be practically impossible, he admitted, but said he believed the Republicans would gain at least 30 or 40 seats.

A possible candidate for the governorship was discounted Sunday when John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard professor and former Ambassador to India said there was "no chance" he would seek the nomination. He said he was "deeply touched" by the urgings of individuals and groups to seek the post, but added, "I can't believe Massachusetts Democrats are ready for such a drastic and possibly dangerous experiment."

REALTY COURSE

All Classes Held At Newton Centre Woman's Club
Also At Motel 128, Needham

MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training available.

As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.

If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.

If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.

Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale. So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Monday, March 14, at 7 P.M. at The Newton Centre Women's Club, 1280 Centre St., Newton, or on Wednesday, March 16, at 7 P.M. at Motel 128, Exit 56E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. If you decide, enroll and remain for the second lecture, which begins at 8 P.M. The entire course will be presented at both of these locations on the indicated nights.

THE LEE COURSE IS LICENSED AND APPROVED BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. For more information, you are welcome to call collect any time.

Newton Co-Op Bank First To Use On-Line Computer

The first bank in Newton to go "on-line" with its mortgage and deposit transactions is the Newton Co-operative Bank in Newtonville which completed installation in December. Over 18 months ago, the decision was made to put all home financing and deposit accounting records on a central computer system operating in conjunction with leading Boston banks.

The on-line system enables a medium-size bank to employ the most modern type of computer equipment, usually reserved for large banks only.

Within a matter of seconds, tellers operate the new console units to provide customers much faster and more accurate service. The open lines to the computer center enable each transaction to select the proper record from memory, check its accuracy, verify the record, record the transaction, add accrued interest if any and other pertinent data, compute the new balance, record the transaction again and print it in the pass book.

Over three million dollars was spent on developing the system by the 20 savings institutions comprising the Bankers Data Processing Corporation which is the first such hook-up of banks anywhere in the world. The funds were used for specially designed computer equipment, tested and installed over a period of several years.

In addition to providing the teller with information to handle the individual transaction, the system can also provide a complete, instantaneous record of the customer's account.

Walter A. Hood, president of Newton Co-operative Bank, and Robert B. Nickerson, treasurer, pointed out that Newton Co-operative Bank decided to pioneer in this area with computers because of the new types of management information that will become available for adding and improving services as well as provide account information to tellers in a fraction of the time previously required. As one immediate effect, the computers allow the staff to keep all their work current so that the time they spent at the end of the day on the books can now be spent "on the public" — by keeping the doors open daily until 4.

The 78-year-old Newtonville bank is one of the new Garden City institutions with a background to match the picturesque Mitchell Beech Tree which now spreads its branches over the bank's headquarters on Walnut St. By way of contrast, the bank with the newest computer system is associated with the oldest landmark. The tree which traces its lineage back to the administration of President James Madison, is a Newtonville landmark and may be seen when you park your car in the municipal area and approach the bank from that direction.

Admissions Counselor At Both High Schools

Miss Marion Emslie, admissions counselor for Cambridge School of Business and Cambridge School of Broadcasting, Boston, will visit Newton High and Newton South High on Tuesday, Mar. 22, to speak with students interested in furthering their education under a cooperative program.

Her schedule: Newton High, 8:30 a.m., and Newton South High, 10 a.m.

Prof. Jewell Is Guest Critic At Art Association

Professor William Jewell, chairman of the Fine Arts Department of the College of Liberal Arts at Boston University, will be the guest critic for the Newton Art Assn., Inc., on Thursday, March 17th at 7:30 p.m., at the Beethoven School, Waban.

Mr. Jewell's criticism is always welcome and very constructive. Members are asked to bring at least one picture.

Following this meeting and during refreshment hour, there will be a display of modern ceramics by Mrs. Joyce Goldstein of Newton and one of traditional ceramics and handmade pottery by Mr. Daniel Shea of Newtonville.

Both of these artists will answer questions and advise those interested in this craft.

Book Show On Display Here Until Mar. 19

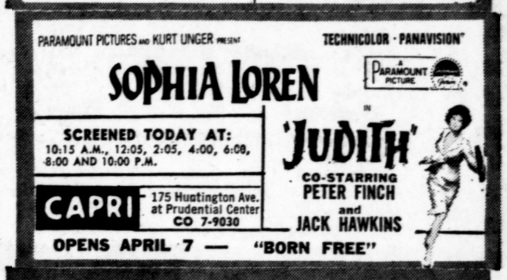

"The New England Book Show," an exhibit of books selected by the Bookbuilders of Boston is on display at the Newton Free Library March 7 to 19. These books represent excellence in book design format and printing.

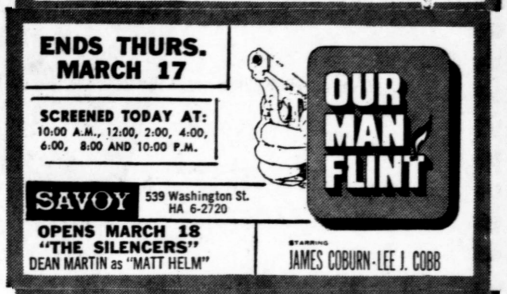

Thousands of books pour from our printing presses each year, yet it is probably safe to say that a very small percentage can qualify as "fine" books. It is interesting to know that efforts are being made to improve the quality of publishing.

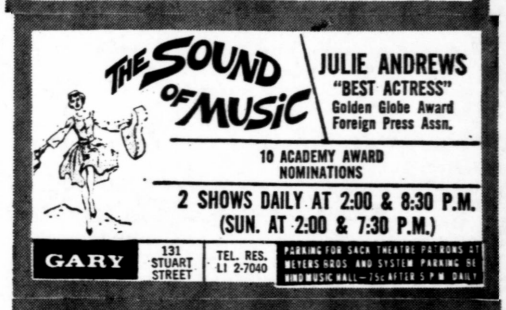

The Bookbuilders of Boston is an association for the improvement of book making. It is supported by the New England book publishers and suppliers.

LEGAL NOTICES

HEARING NOTICE
FROM OFFICE OF CITY CLERK
NEWTON, MASS.

WHEREAS, Petition has been filed with the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton as defined in list attached hereto under the "Zoning Ordinance, Chapter 23," as amended it is

ORDERED, That a hearing be had on Monday, April 11, 1966, at 7:45 p.m., at City Hall in said City of Newton, before the Committee on Claims and Rules of the Board of Aldermen, at which time and place all parties interested therein will be heard. It is further

ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given publication in the News Tribune, Newton Graphic and Newton Villager, on March 10, 1966 and March 17, 1966.

#210-65 Committee on Zoning recommending the following proposed amendments to Revised Ordinances, 1965:

1. Revise Section 25-1, "Definitions," by adding after the definition of Corner Lot therein, the following definition: Dormitory: A building, owned or controlled directly or indirectly by a school, college, hospital, religious, or like institution providing sleeping quarters for five or more persons.
2. Revise Section 25-15, "Height regulations and exceptions," by amending the phrase "Section 25-7" in the first line thereof to read, "Sections 25-7 and 25-17.1."
3. Add a new Section 25-17.1, "Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts," following Section 25-17, "Floor area restrictions in stories used for residential purposes," to read as follows:

Section 25-17.1 Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts.

In all residence districts where a dormitory is allowed by permission of the Board of Aldermen, the construction, alteration, enlargements, extension or reconstruction of a building or structure as, and the use of a building, structure or land for a dormitory providing sleeping quarters for 20 or more persons, shall be further subject to the procedures established in Section 25-22 and to the following conditions:

(a) Front yard setback — The front yard depth or the setback line from the nearest street line shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(b) Side and rear yards — The side and rear yard depths measured from the boundary lines of the lot on which the building is located shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(c) Building location — A dormitory shall not be closer to any other building on the same lot than 50 feet.

(d) Courts — An inner court shall have a minimum dimension at least equal to twice the average height of the surrounding walls and shall have an opening at ground level with a minimum height of 18 feet and a minimum width of 18 feet to permit access to service and emergency vehicles. An outer court shall be open to the full extend of its width throughout and shall have a width at least equal to one and one-half times the average height of the surrounding walls and a depth no greater than its width. The area of any court which exceeds 15 percent of the "Minimum open area" required herein shall not be included in the calculation of that "Minimum open area".

(e) Building height — The height of any dormitory measured to the roof plate line shall not exceed the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(f) Lot coverage — The maximum percentage of the lot area which may be covered by dormitory buildings, including accessory biuldings or structures, shall not exceed the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(g) Minimum open area — The minimum percentage of the lot area which shall be free from buildings or structures of all kinds, access streets, ways, parking areas, driveways, aisles, walkways, or other constructed aproaches or service areas and also free from outdoor laundry, incinerator or other building service areas shall not be less than the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(h) Off-street parking — Off-street parking space shall be provided in accordance with Section 25-20. In no case shall this parking space be located in the required front yard setback, side or rear yards, or in the required minimum open area, except that the board of aldermen may permit parking in these areas in connection with a church.

(i) Table of dimensional requirements

District	Min. Front Yard Setback in ft.	Min. Side & Rear Yards in ft.	Max. Building Heights in ft.	Max Lot Coverage in %	Min. Open Area in %
Single Res A	60	40	45	18	50
Single Res B	50	30	45	18	50
Single Res C	40	30	45	18	50
Priv Res	40	30	45	18	45
Res D	30	25	45	25	40
Res E	25	25	60	30	40

4. Revise Section 25-20, "Parking facility requirements for certain buildings," by inserting in subsection (g) thereof after item (13), a new item (14) as follows:

(14) One space for each five occupants of a dormitory.

Attest:
Joseph H. Karlin, City Clerk

Notice is hereby given by the Planning Board that it will hold public hearing on the above petition as described in the foregoing notice and at the same time and place.

Attest:
U. M. Schiavone, City Engineer
Clerk, Planning Board

Spring Clothing Sale March 16 Benefits School

Unusual values in nearly new toys and clothing of all sizes traditionally draw quality conscious shoppers to the Park School's Spring Clothing Sale.

Held in the new gym of the school at 25 Kennard road, just off Rte. 9 in Brookline Village, on Wednesday, March 16, this year's sale will run from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The afternoon hours feature a markdown on all items including the homemade casseroles and pastries and the Treasure table's silver, china and glassware.

Co-chairmen of the sale are Mrs. Joseph McNay of Newton and Mrs. Hooker Talcott, Jr., of Chestnut Hill. Assisting from Newton are Mrs. Albert C. Howell, Mrs. Albert Taber and Mrs. Arthur P. Hall, all of whom extend a cordial welcome to everyone in the community.

The proceeds of the sale are used each year for a project which will benefit the school. Last year's proceeds were used for improvements to the school's library, according to Mrs. Edwin Maynard III, president of the Parents Association which sponsors the sale. Other officers of the association are Mrs. Richard Leahy, Mrs. James Welch and Mrs. Taylor Smith.

Aldermen Favor 1 Appointment; Other Held Over

One of two appointments presented to the Board of Aldermen last Monday night by Mayor Monte G. Basbas was confirmed, and the other was held over.

Confirmed was the appointment of Charles E. Dockser, 12 Drumlin road, Newton Centre, as a member of the Planning Board to fill the unexpired term of George L. White. Mr. White's term expires on June 30.

The appointment held was that of Donald Ferreri, 19 Shute Path, Newton Centre, as a member of the Housing Authority to fill the vacancy created by the expired term of Mrs. Irene K. Thresher. The appointment was for five years beginning April 1.

Unianimously confirmed were the following reappointments: W. Cornell Appleton, 14 Kenmore street, Newton Centre, as a member of the Board of Appeals, Building Laws, for three years from May 1.

J. Joward Loughman, 6 Vaughan avenue, Newton Highlands, member of the Planninf Board for three years from May 1.

Richard H. Lovell, 234 Park street, Newton, member of the Housing Authority for five years from April 1.

Captain William F .Quinn, 1904 Washington street, Auburndale, Director of Animal Control until April 1, 1967.

Madison — More farmers own their own land in Wisconsin and Iowa than in any other of the states, it is claimed.

Counellors Here For Interviews

Admissions counselors from a group of colleges will interview interested students in Boston on March 9-10. High School seniors and juniors may meet with the admissions officers from one or more of the colleges listed below. In recent years, individuals and groups of students from both public and private schools have traveled great distances in order to take advantage of this opportunity for interviews.

Parents and guidance directors may also interview as many admissions officers as they wish. The colleges included in this cooperative plan cover a wide area of the country — California, D. C., Florida, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Wisconsin. This plan enables prospective applicants to learn more about colleges and universities from various parts of the country. Small, medium-sized, and large colleges are represented.

The admissions officers from the colleges listed below will be available for interviews on Wednesday, March 9, and Thursday, March 10, at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston. Students may make appointments in advance of the interview days by phoning Miss Jones at KI 7-6708. The colleges to be represented are:

Akron, University of, Akron, Ohio.
Belknap College, Center Harbor, New Hampshire.
Bryant College, Providence, Rhode Island.
Chapman College, Orange, California.
Christian College, Columbia, Missouri.
Florida College, Tampa, Florida.
Franklin College, Franklin, Indiana.
Franklin Pierce College, Rindge, New Hampshire.
George Washington University, Washington, D. C.
Lakeland College, Sheboygan, Wisconsin.
Nasson College, Springvale, Maine.
Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin.
Our Lady of the Elms College, Chicopee, Massachusetts.
Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pennsylvania.
St. Andrew's Presbyterian College, Laurinburg, North Carolina.
Sudbury College, Brandon, Vermont.

CAPE COD

We are now covering CAPE COD, in particular the lower Cape area of Chatham, Orleans, Harwich, Brewster, Eastham, Wellfleet & Truro. Our office in Orleans is located on Rtes. 6A & 28, next to the famous Goose Humock Sporting Goods Shop. This is just one-quarter of a mile from Rte. 6 at the Orleans Circle. We have come to realize that land is very valuable on the Cape and it appears to be going higher in price all the time so might we suggest that if you are contemplating buying either a house or a piece of land that you begin to look as soon as possible. We have a few lots available now which we think are priced very well. Why not take a ride down and drop into our office in Orleans and see "Joe Hertig." You can also call him at Orleans 255-3001 or write to Box 1103, Orleans.

For any further information call our West Roxbury office.

90 Percent Of Goal is Reached In Fund Drive

Gifts and pledges to the expansion drive of Newton-Wellesley Hospital have nudged the once-in-a-generation program to the 90 per cent mark, but time suddenly is a critical factor, campaign officials revealed today.

Seeking $3,500,000, to enlarge crowded departments and to add 100 additional adult beds, the drive has obtained $3,150,000.

"Within a month, we must instruct the architect to complete working drawings. Shall we plan for all of the space the hospital needs, or must we tell him to plan for 90 percent of what is needed," said Jarvis Farley of Wellesley, trustee president of the 80 year old teaching hospital.

Part of the answer, campaign leaders hope, will be provided at a report meeting, to be held next Wednesday evening, March 16th.

"We need all workers, trustees, doctors, and other interested parties at the round-up report. We hope additional gifts will have been rounded up to give the program a big shot in the arm," said Bernard D. Grossman of West Newton, Campaign General Chairman.

Richard H. Lovell, drive chairman in Newton, and Richard Wengren, chairman in Wellesley and surrounding towns, are urging workers to report as fully as possible.

The second phase of the drive opened late in January, seeking $700,000, or an amount needed to reach the $3,500,000 goal. During January, occupancy of medical-surgical beds at the hospital averaged 94.6 per cent.

The advent of Medicare is expected to bring additional demands.

DR. CYRUS H. GORDON

Dr. Gordon To Speak At Series Here

Dr. Cyrus H. Gordon, internationally known Biblical scholar, archeologist, linguist and author, will present a series of lectures at Temple Emanuel, Newton. They are open to the public.

The lectures on "Biblical Israel" will take place on Wednesday evenings, March 16th, 23rd, and 30th in the main sanctuary. They are sponsored by the Adult Education Committee.

Dr. Gordon is the Joseph Foster Professor of Near Eastern Studies and Chairman of the Department of Mediterranean Studies at Brandeis University.

He has attracted international attention for the solution he proposed for a 50-year old mystery that had baffled linguists and archeologists.

He identified the Minoan Linear Tablets from Crete as Semitic and offered a tentative reading.

Before coming to Brandeis, Dr. Gordon was Professor of Assyriology and Egyptology at Dropsie College in Philadelphia.

He has served on the faculties of the University of Pennsylvania, John Hopkins University and Smith College. He has also taught at Harvard University and the New School for Social Research.

Aldermen Recommend Moves To Provide College Space

A recommendation was made by the Board of Aldermen Monday night that Mayor Monte G. Basbas begin negotiations for the purchase of the property at 5 Park Place, Newtonville, to provide space needed by Newton Junior College.

Any necessary appropriation to cover the cost of purchase and conversion of the building, which occupies 3500 square feet, will come up for the Board's approval when and if the negotiations are completed and the costs determined.

In making a request for the purchase last January, the School Committee did not withdraw a previous request to consider leasing the property, but presented the alternative of buying it.

At the time, Charles E. Brown superintendent of schools, estimated that the cost of acquisition would be $16,500, not including unpaid interest, and that improvements would cost some $7000.

The Newton Junior College Redevelopment Trust took over the building three years ago for $25,000 with the expectation that public subscriptions would pay off a large mortgage, and provide renovation funds.

After failing to realize sufficient funds, the trustees urged the city to lease the building at $1 a year and take over renovation and maintenance costs.

In other action, the Board referred to Mayor Basbas for issuance of a possible proclamation calling to the two-week observance of National ORT Day, which begins Mar. 14. That reference constituted an alternative granting the request of the Organization for Rehabilitation through Training for permission to change the name of Newton Centre to ORT Centre during that period, by means of an "ORT CENTRE" sign at Beacon and Centre streets. Doubt was expressed as to the Board's authority for making such a change as was requested.

Unanimous approval was given to a request by Buildings Commissioner Vincent D. Burns to rescind the Board's previous action in appropriating $6000 from the proceeds of land sale for land acquisition and site development leading to the construction of the new Bigelow Junior High School. The recision was termed necessary in order that the appropriation could be made from surplus. Having voted for the change, the Board then approved a $200,000 bond issue for the new school's construction.

The Board adopted a resolution that had been arranged during his term by former Alderman David W. Jackson.

The resolution: "That the Board of Aldermen hereby requests a public hearing before the Outdoor Advertising Authority on the renewal of Permit No. 32370 to John H. Donnelly & Sons for lighted sign at 349 Auburn street, Auburndale, and prior to any consideration or action by the Authority, that the city solicitor's office be requested to represent the city at such hearing and to record the city through its elected officials as unalterably opposed to renewal of this permit; and further that all the following persons and organizations be given notice of such hearing as will permit them to be present: All members of the Board of Aldermen, the Auburndale Garden Club, the Auburndale Woman's Club, Centenary Methodist Church, and the petitioner (David W. Jackson)."

Barry Named As U.S. Bonds '66 Sales Chairman

Allen G. Barry of 23 Plymouth Road, Wellesley Hills, New England Telephone president, has been named chairman of the 1966 U. S. Savings Bonds silver anniversary drive in the Boston metropolitan area.

He was also appointed by Secretary of the Treasury Henery H. Fowler to the U.S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee. The committee is comprised of 27 business and industrial leaders. It is in charge of planning and leading the national effort to increase sales of U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

"Over the last 25 years", Mr. Barry said, "the U.S. Savings Bond has been one of the most effective means of helping to prevent inflation while promoting healthy economic growth - - all to the benefit of the individual as well as the government."

Clark Program Names Grodberg

Marcus G. Grodberg of 111 Hyde St., Newton Highlands, has been appointed an area chairman for the 1966 Clark University Fund program.

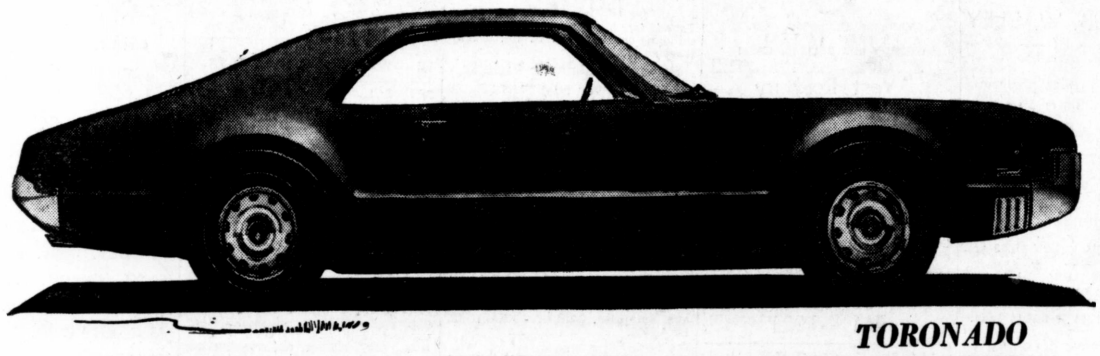

He was graduated from Clark in 1944, and is now director of research and development for Hoyt Pharmaceutical of Needham.

The program seeks a record $60,000 in gifts by June 30, to be used for current operations of the Worcester university.

News Roundup

As a service to our readers, we are printing in this edition a roundup of the major news events which have occurred during the past week while the Boston daily newspapers have been closed down. A schedule of the television programs for the next seven days also is published on an inside page.

A Charlestown longshoreman, apparently marked as gangland's latest victim, was shot twice and critically wounded outside the Malden home of his brother early Tuesday. Steven Hughes, 38, is on the danger list at the Malden Hospital.

Police believe the shooting was another outbreak in the gangland war which has taken 28 lives in Greater Boston during the past two years, but they think the gunman may have been waiting in ambush for Hughes' brother and that they shot the wrong man.

However, Hughes told the police who questioned him that he had been shot by one of three drinking companions who drove him to his brother's house. He did not identify his assailant. Hughes has a long police record and was paroled from the Walpole State Prison in 1962 after serving two years for assault with intent to kill.

Evidence was being presented to a Suffolk County Grand Jury by the Attorney General's office in a mystery case this week. State troopers closely guarded large quantities of documents and records taken in and out of the Grand Jury room. No inkling was given as to the nature of the case.

President Johnson on Tuesday signed into law a bill authorizing the expenditure of an additional $4.8 billion to finance the war in Vietnam. At the same time the President voiced an appeal to Peking and Hanoi to "abandon their hopeless attempts at conquest." Johnson interpreted the overwhelming margin by which Congress approved the bill as new evidence that the American people stand behind our fighting men in Vietnam.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke called for an end both to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and the "sweep and kill" missions in the jungles of South Vietnam. Brooke maintained that by halting these operations the United States "could demonstrate the moral superiority of our position to the world." Brooke said he did not advocate a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam but favored a "hold and contain" policy, It was the first policy statement on the Vietnamese war by Brooke, a candidate for the U.S. Senate. It was made by Brooke in an address before the Amherst College Faculty Club.

By a vote of 121 to 98, the Democratic-controlled Massachusetts House of Representatives killed a so-called strike benefits bills which leaders of organized labor had fought hard to have enacted. Under the terms of the measure, strikers would have been eligible for unemployment compensation benefits after a dispute had lasted six weeks and management had refused to submit the issue to arbitration. Also killed in the House was the perennial bill to abolish capital punishment in Massachusetts.

An jury in New York convicted three men of first-degree murder in the assassination of black nationalist leader Malcolm X. The trio found guilty of the murder were Talmadge Hayer, Norman 3X Butler and Thomas 15X Johnson. They will be sentenced April 14.

Vice President Humphrey asserted flatly that U.S. troops will remain in Vietnam "until genuinely free elections can be held.'" Humphrey in an interim Saigon Johnson administration will never allow the Communist Viet Cong to participate in an interim Saigon government before such a vote is taken. Humphrey said the administration had rejected both "massive escalation" and withdrawal to follow a course of "measured use of strength and perserverance."

"This government will not be a party to any settlement which amounts to a pre-election victory for the Communists which cannot be won at the ballot box," Humphrey said in his speech before the National Press Club in Washington.

A heated debate was waged in the Canadian House of Commons this week over the charges that Canadian Conservative Leader and former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker failed to act in a "sex-and-security" case involving a blonde German beauty and at least one of his Cabinet ministers.

There were growing indications in Ottawa that both political parties were prepared to stake their future on an investigation to be made by Supreme Court Justice W. F. Spence.

The charges were made by Justice Minister Lucien Cardin, who himself has been under fire for opposing Conservative demands for an investigation of a case involving a postal inspector in Vancouver, British Columbia, and two Soviet Embassy officials who were ordered out of Canada last year for espionage.

Donahue Makes Strong Spurt In Governor Nomination Bid

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack now appear to be battling neck and neck for the gubernatorial endorsement of the Democratic State Convention, with former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell far back in the running and seemingly out of the fight as far as the June conclave is concerned.

That appraisal is based on an up-to-date, broadly made poll of sentiment among members of Democratic ward and town committees across the State.

It's difficult to pinpoint the relative strength of McCormack and Donahue because between 15 and 20 percent of the persons who were delegates to the 1964 Democratic State Convention probably will be replaced by new delegates this year.

Some prospective delegates also decline is commit themselves and tell how they stand. Some say they haven't yet made up their minds whether they will vote for McCormack or Donahue.

But on the basis of the replies of a substantial

Bonus Given Viet Combat Vet Families

Newton's Housing Authority chairman, William Carmen, who is also president of a real estate management firm, has offered annual $500 bonuses to Vietnam combat veterans whose immediate families live in a 223-unit apartment complex his company manages in Springfield.

The offer was made "on 'impulse" at a Jewish War Veterans dinner in that city, according to Carmen, who declares that he meant every word of it.

The offer, he says, applies only to the Longhill apartments at present, and he adds, "we just might extend it to tenants in other apartments we manage."

Carmen is a Navy veteran of World War II and a former national commander of the Jewish War Veterans.

Speaker

William H. Sullivan Jr., of Wellesley, president of of the Boston Patriots and chairman of the Greater Boston Stadium Authority, was the speaker at 11th Annual Father-Daughter Communion Breakfast last Sunday at Newton College of the Sacred Heart. His daughter, Jean, is sophomore at the college.

Honors Awarded To 2 Newton Students

Two students at Newton College of the Sacred Heart are among the 1,408 college seniors throughout the United States and Canada named today as winners of 1966 Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships.

They are: Sr. M. Regina Dolores, S.M.S.M., Waltham, and Miss Mary Clarissa Donahue, Somerville.

The announcement of the new Wilson Fellows was made by Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Foundation, following the final week-long deliberations of university presidents, graduate deans, and professors who comprise the Foundation's Selection Committee.

An honorable mention in the annual competition went to Miss Margaret M. Silvestre, Somerset, also a senior at Newton College.

Woodrow Wilson Fellows receive from the Foundation tuition and fixed fees for one academic year of education at the graduate school of their choice, in addition to a $2,000 stipened for living expenses.

The graduate school they choose to attend gets an additional grant from the Foundation. Using funds provided by the Ford Foundation, the fellowship foundation will spend $5.7 million in 1966-67

REV. DONALD ABBOTT

Rhodesian Ouster To Be Related

The Rev. Donald K. Abbott, a United Church of Christ missionary who was ousted from Rhodesia this year for criticizing the policies of the white minority government, will speak at Eliot Church, 474 Centre St., Newton, on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Abbott, who has served in Rhodesia for 15 years, was deported in January of this year for writing letters to newspapers protesting the policies of the government headed by Prime Minister Ian Smith and for calling for economic sanctions against the government.

At a press conference in New York, following his deportation, he warned of "a remote but definite possibility of violence if a satisfactory solution is delayed too long."

One such solution, he said, would be direct rule by Great Britain through a governor and Council of Ministers with a crash program to train "the many capable Africans" to take part in the government.

Mr. Abbott went to Rhodesia in 1950 as an educational missionary for the American Board of Foreign

Same Auto Is Stolen Twice

For the second time in as many days, a $4,200 automobile was stolen from a parking lot of the Bellon-Hupfer Co. on Washington St. in Newtonville.

The unregistered 1965 car was first stolen Saturday and recovered a few hours later by Boston police. The same car, according to Michael Bellon, was stolen again from the lot some time between 11 a.m. Sunday and 7:45 a.m. Monday.

Patrolmen Peter J. Annese and Salvatore Arico are investigating the theft.

7 Homes Broken Into In Newton

Burglars broke into seven Newton homes over the past weekend.

In one case a thief made two different attempts before he succeeded in getting into a dwelling to ransack it.

Another would-be, robber got into a house on Melrose street in Auburndale and found that it was empty.

A burglar who broke into the home of Robert Rogers at 20 Washburn St., Newton, first tried to enter the dwelling by breaknig a 2-foot-by-3-foot window in a rear door. He was unable to gain entry by that means because the door was bolted.

Then he went in through the bulkhead and forced an inner cellar door.

Police declared that he ransacked the entire home, even ripping open letters which contained personal checks. He took $40 in bills and $30 in old coins from a master bedroom.

Jewelry, a wrist watch valued at $70 and $40 in cash were taken in a break at the home of John Zanco, 26 Rose Dr., West Newton. Entry was made to the Zanco dwelling by cutting the screen and plastic on a closed-in patio and then unlocking the storm door.

The home of Nathan Katz at 57 Fairmont Ave., Newton, was ransacked by thieves who departed with three bottles of Scotch and a lady's gold wrist watch with diamonds, valued at $125. That home was entered by breaking the lock in a side door leading into the kitchen.

A mink stole, a substantial amount of jewelry, a clock and $40 in cash were taken by burglars who looted the home of Gerald Shapiro at 132 Brookline St., Chestnut Hill, last Saturday night.

Also ransacked were the home of Dr. John H. Nesson on Judith Rd., Newton, and the home of Fred Bernhard at 774 Walnut St., Newtonville.

During their investigation of the break in the Nesson home police discovered that the Bernhard dwelling also had been entered.

When Arthur Levine of Wayland, a brother-in-law of Bernhard, went to the house to secure it, he found that a 1965 automobile had been stolen from the garage.

Entry was gained to the Nesson home by forcing a porch door.

MARILYN RICHMOND

(The Nourses)

19-Year-Old Beauty Wins Photo Crown

A slender, lovely Newton brunette, Marilyn Richmond, won the coveted crown of "Miss Massachusetts Photographer" at the State Convention of the Professional Photographers Association held at the King's Grant Motor Inn, Danvers, on Monday night.

The 19-year-old, 5 ft. 5½ inch, beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Richmond, 32 Littlefield Rd., Newton Centre.

Judged for charm, poise, personality, and, of course, beauty, by a panel of professional photographers from New England, New Jersey and New York, Miss Richmond emerged the winner over a field of twelve lovely finalists.

More than 200 young charmers had originally entered the contest from which Monday's darling dozen was picked. The Newton beauty queen will compete for the title of "Miss New England Photographer" at the Photographers Association of New England Convention at Lake Tarleton, N. H. in September. The six New England States finalists will compete in that contest.

Open Meeting Rules Sought By Committee

Monday night's meeting of the School Committee was termed a "work session" by Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools. Occupying a major portion of the evening was a resumption of a discussion of revised committee rules and regulations.

The discussion had its beginning during an executive session of the Board held last January, and it is likely to be continued at the meeting two weeks hence.

At the outset, two members expressed a desire for a clarification of the rules that govern open meetings and executive sessions.

Dr. Way Dong Woo, representing Ward 8, and pro-

Mayor Appoints New Dog Officer

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has appointed Patrolman Roy D. McLaughlin as the new dog officer in Newton.

He replaces Officer George L. Longbottom, who has been transferred from his post as dog officer to regular police duty.

Officer McLaughlin was appointed to the Newton Police Department on February 6, 1965. He resides at 25 Falmouth Rd., West Newton.

Newton Rabbi Is National Board Member

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom, Newton, has been named a member of the national Committee of Alumni Overseers of Hebrew Union College--Jewish Institute of Religion.

The announcement was made by Dr. Nelson Glueck, president. Rabbi Rothman, who was ordained in 1949, will represent the eastern Massachusetts region.

The Committee of Alumni Overseers serves as an advisory body to the president and the administration of the College-Institute.

It is America's oldest seminary with campuses in Cincinnati, New York, and Los Angeles, and a Biblical and Archaeological School in Jerusalem, Israel.

Dr. Julius Mark, senior rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of New York City, is national chairman of the Committee.

School Board OKs Personnel Changes

The school committee Monday night gave approval to a number of faculty and personnel changes in the local system. Changes approved were:

Retirement of two custodians, John J. Foran, Warren Junior High School, effective May 20, after 30 years, three months and 23 days of service in Newton, and James F. Quinlan, Newton High School, effective May 31, after 11 years, seven months and 20 days of service. It was voted to have prepared a written expression of the committee's appreciation of their lengthy and outstanding service, signed by all members of the board.

The following were approved for appointment for the balance of the present school year:

Mrs. Dorothea C. Overholt of Newtonville, formerly of Canton, Ohio, to the division of pupil personnel services and special education—career guidance resources project, effective as of Mar. 1.

Betty Ann Buie of Boston and Dos Palos, Calif., to Grade IV, Clafflin School, effective Mar. 28.

Mrs. Mary B. Werner of Cambridge, formerly of Millerstown, Pa., to science at Day Junior High School, effective as of Mar. 15.

Annual School Music Festival On March 23rd

The Annual Newton All-City Junior High School Music Festival will take place on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:00 p.m. at the Newton South High School.

The Festival will feature a wind ensemble, a mixed chorus, and an orchestra composed of selected students from the Bigelow, Day, Meadowbrook, Warren, and Weeks Junior High Schools.

Guest conductors for the festival will be — Mr. James Walker, director of the Harvard Band, who will conduct the wind ensemble; John Markarian, supervisor of music for the Westwood Public Schools, who will conduct the chorus; John Corley, music supervisor of the Brookline Public Schools and director of the M.I.T. Orchestra, who will conduct the orchestra.

The following music faculty members are responsible for producing this program:

Miss Julia Hubbard—Bigelow Junior High; David Arner—Day Junior High; Ivan Rosenblum, Melvyn Springer—Meadowbrook Junior High; Blaine Sprout, Donald Sullivan — Warren Junior High; Raymond Smith, Peter H. Cobb, Robert Giorgi, Vincent Marotto, George A. Napoli—Weeks Junior High.

Under the direction of James H. Remley, Supervisor of Music, Newton Public Schools.

fessor Harold Berman, the Ward 6 member, took the view that some matters discussed in private, or executive sessions, really belonged in open sessions because they would thus demonstrate the fact that the committee is interested in the opinions of, and possible advice from, parents.

The Ward 6 member declared that participation by the public in the meeting dealing with accepting Roxbury children in Newton classrooms had been of considerable help in arriving at a decision to bus the youngsters here.

Prior to taking up the resumed discussion, Dr. Brown told the members that he had been informed by Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent, that a program for training teachers of emotionally disturbed children at the Peabody School had been worked out with Tufts University.

Also early in the session, Dr. Brown read a communication from the Boston Edison Company relative to its proposed underground power line to Newton. The company would locate a portion of it beside the sidewalk on Dedham St., Newton Highlands, on land of the Countryside School.

The committee voted approval of the granting of an easement for the purpose.

DR. ALFRED B. MINYARD

Dr. Minyard To Be Speaker For Sunday Service

The Rev. Alfred B. Minyard, general secretary of the Lord's Day League of New England, will speak at the Newton Centre Methodist Church, 1210 Centre St., Sunday afternoon, March 20, at 5 o'clock.

He will discuss, "The Christian Mission and Message of Beacon Hill." Rev. Maynard's appearance here is sponsored by the Commission on Missions and Social Action.

A luncheon will be served with beverage furnished by the church. Those attending are asked to bring a sandwich. Nursery care will be provided. An invitation is extended to the public to attend the service.

The Rev. Seaton M. Woodley, Jr., pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist Church, will speak at the Sunday morning 11 o'clock service. His subject will be, "What About the New Morality?"

Special anthems will be sung by the Chancel Choir under the direction of William J .Clark.

A Bible study at 9:45 a.m. on the Book of "Acts" will be read by Dr. Sam Hedrick, professor of Practical Theology and Field Work at Boston University School of Theology.

Bowdoin Glee Club Concert At Lasell College Mar. 25

The famed Bowdoin College Glee Club will open its annual spring tour with a concert at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, on March 25.

The concert, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the auditorium in Winslow Hall on the Lasell compus, will be presented jointly with the Orphean Club, Lasell's glee club.

The public is cordially invited to attend and there will be no admission charge.

Professor Robert K. Beckwith, chairman of Bowdoin's Music Department, will direct the 52-voice Bowdoin Glee Club in a variety of classical popular, and college songs.

Included in the program will be "Rise Sons of Bowdoin" and a Bowdoin College Medley, plus works by Mendelssohn, Berger, Hindemith, Sibelius, Poulenc, Orff, Webbe and Cole Porter. Performing with the Glee Club will be Bowdoin's Chapel Choir and the Meddiebempsters, the latter under the direction of a Bowdoin senior, Jeffrey K. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor K. Rutherford of 21 Highland Ave., Lexington.

Other officers of the Glee Club include President Robert G. Cocks, Jr. '66, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Cocks of 15 Pond Brook Circle, Weston, and Vice President Roger R. Hinchliffe '66, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hinchliffe of 4 Washington St., Lexington.

B. U. Women In Benefit For Scholarships

Miss Helena J. Wilde, Perkins street, West Newton, and Dean Elsbeth Melville, dean of Women at B. U., Bonwood street, Newtonville, are members of the Boston University Women Graduates' Club which is presenting Paul Benzaquin with "Fiery Diary" at 8 p.m. on March 23, at Hayden Auditorium, Boston University.

For 16 years, this organization of Boston University alumnae has awarded from four to eight modest scholarships to young women studying at B. U. The public is invited to lend its support by attending the benefit.

members of the clergy in Newton in order that they may assist the members of their congregation.

This effort by Newton Community Council is part of a nation-wide campaign to encourage everyone 65 years of age or over, as of January 1, 1966, to enroll in the voluntary medical insurance program by the end of this month.

A 10 percent higher premium will be charged those who are eligible but do not sign up by this deadline. The next open enrollment period will not be until late 1967.

For those who are not yet 65, the first opportunity to enroll for medical insurance will come three months before they reach their 65 birthday.

A small premium of $3.00 monthly will be charged for this program with the Federal Government matching this amount. Medicare benefits will begin July 1.

Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches, now part of the United Church Board for World Ministries.

He served his first five years in Rhodesia as superintendent of 40 village schools supported by the denomination for the Chindau-speaking Vandau people. He then served one-year terms as principal of Mt. Silinda Institute at Mt. Silinda mission station and of the secondary school at Chikore mission statoin.

In recent years he was superintendent of the Chikore mission station, which includes 18,000 acres of farm land with 400 tenants, a 60 bed hospital and clinic and a primary school in addition to the secondary school.

A native of Worcester, he is a graduate of Drew University, Madison, N. J., Union Theological Seminary and Boston University. Mr. Abbott is married to the former Geraldine Louise Schacterle of Philadelphia, who was treasurer of the Chikore mission station. They have four children.

Invitations have been sent to all Congregational churches in Newton to hear this timely speaker. In view of the developing African situation recounted in the daily headlines, the meeting is open to anyone who is interested.

Legion To Hold Old-Time Night At City Hall

Commander Joe Fitzsimmons of Newton Post 48, American Legion, has called members' attention to Old Timers' Night, to be held in the City Hall cafeteria Thursday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m.

He expressed hope that every member would make a special effort to be there and bring a friend, especially one who is eligible for post membership.

In his reminder, he called attention to two matters, one being welcome news that the menu will be chicken or lobster, and the other a not-too-happy reminder that 11 members who answered the last roll call are no longer around, and that a build-up of post strength is needed.

Work Of Fire Fighters Lauded

The following letter from members of a grateful Auburndale family has been received by Fire Chief Fredrick A. Perkins Jr.

"We would like to address ourselves to all the firemen who were at Woodbine St. last Thursday, and since thanking you all personally would probably be impossible, please accept this note of our appreciation.

"Never have we heard of firemen that are so careful and concerned with saving possessions of occupants. We lost nothing in the fire, and consider ourselves most fortunate and grateful.

"So, in closing, we hope the two firemen who were hurt are feeling better, and thanks again to all of you in that 'brave occupation' of yours."

MIKE HOLOVAK

Mike Holovak to Speak at Junior College Conclave

"Professional Sports: 1966" will be discussed by Mike Holovak at the Newton Junior College All-College Convocation to be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 22, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut Street in Newtonville.

Mr. Holovak, manager of the Boston Patriots football team, has a distinguished name in amateur and professional athletics. While an undergraduate, he was a 60-minuate fullback on Frank Leahy's undefeated Boston College squad that won the national championship in the Sugar Bowl, January 1, 1941. He was also co-captain of the Boston College team in 1942.

After graduation from college, Mr. Holovak enlisted in the U.S. Navy — where he now retains his active reserve status as a Lieutenant-Commander.

Following separation from the Navy, Mr. Holovak played one season with the Los Angeles Rams and two seasons with the Chicago Bears. He returned to his Alma Mater after three years as a professional, first as a freshman tutor and then for nine years as head coach, the longest skein of a head coach in Boston College history.

As manager of the Boston Patriots Football Team, Mr. Holovak has given Boston professional athletics of the highest level. This program is free of charge and open to the public.

to encourage and support potential college teachers.

Both Newton College winners reside in Massachusetts. Sr. M. Regina Dolores lives at the convent of the Marist Missionary Sisters, 62 Newton street, Waltham. A history major and dean's list student, she is the daughter of Mrs. Regina Barron, 1207 North Fink avenue, Peoria, Ill.

Miss Donahue is the daughter of Somerville Schools Superintendent and Mrs. Leo C. Donahue, 12 Benton road, Somerville. A dean's honor list student majoring in sociology, she is treasurer of her class, and has served on the student government and her dormitory council. She has also been active in Newton's volunteer service organization.

Miss Silvestre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Silvestre, 11 Wamsutta road, Somerset, is one of 1,599 semi-finalists accorded honorable mention in the competition by the Foundation. Their names have already been sent to graduate deans and other fellowship gencies.

One-third of this year's Fellowship recipients, selected from more than 11,000 faculty-nominated college seniors, are women. The new Fellows come from 380 different colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Prompt Attention By Doctor Advised For Injuries To Eye

"When eye injuries occur, especially to children, seek medical help immediately," cautioned Dr. Cook, Commissioner of Health for the City of Newton. He explained that quick action by a doctor is the best way of preventing further trouble and complications.

"Young children are especially likely to suffer serious or permanent damage following injury. A minor injury could result in vision impairment or blindness. Some of the common causes are fireworks, B.B. guns, toy arrows and darts, and the child's playthings. Care in the selection of children's toys will help reduce the chances for eye injuries. However, if they do happen, call your doctor immediately, or rush the child to the emergency ward of the nearest hospital.

"Whether the victim is an adult or a child, the same general procedures apply in handling eye accidents. Do not attempt to remove anything from the injured eye, particularly if the skin around it has been cut or torn. In cases of burns to the eye, or areas close to it, get the quickeest medical help possible. Home treatment is not advised.

"Acids and alkalies present a slightly different problem. Acids do most of their damage within the first few minutes. Alkalies, such as household ammonia, lye or lime, continually and rapidly eat into flesh parts, doing their damage as long as they are present. Flushing with large quantities of water by pouring or squeezing it from a cloth directly onto the eye will aid in reducing the damage they cause. Always contact a doctor as soon as possible.

"Prolonged exposure to the sun, or careless use of a sunlamp, may produce eye injury. Within six to 10 hours the eyes may begin to smart. Later pain and swelling occur. A cool towel over the eyes may give relief until seen by a physician.

Annual School Music Festival On March 23rd

The Annual Newton All-City Junior High School Music Festival will take place on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:00 p.m. at the Newton South High School.

The Festival will feature a wind ensemble, a mixed chorus, and an orchestra composed of selected students from the Bigelow, Day, Meadowbrook, Warren, and Weeks Junior High Schools.

Guest conductors for the festival will be — Mr. James Walker, director of the Harvard Band, who will conduct the wind ensemble; John Markarian, supervisor of music for the Westwood Public Schools, who will conduct the chorus; John Corley, music supervisor of the Brookline Public Schools and director of the M.I.T. Orchestra, who will conduct the orchestra.

The following music faculty members are responsible for producing this program:

Miss Julia Hubbard—Bigelow Junior High; David Arner—Day Junior High; Ivan Rosenblum, Melvyn Springer—Meadowbrook Junior High; Blaine Sprout, Donald Sullivan — Warren Junior High; Raymond Smith, Peter H. Cobb, Robert Giorgi, Vincent Marotto, George A. Napoli—Weeks Junior High.

Under the direction of James H. Remley, Supervisor of Music, Newton Public Schools.

fessor Harold Berman, the Ward 6 member, took the view that some matters discussed in private, or executive sessions, really belonged in open sessions because they would thus demonstrate the fact that the committee is interested in the opinions of, and possible advice from, parents.

The Ward 6 member declared that participation by the public in the meeting dealing with accepting Roxbury children in Newton classrooms had been of considerable help in arriving at a decision to bus the youngsters here.

Prior to taking up the resumed discussion, Dr. Brown told the members that he had been informed by Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent, that a program for training teachers of emotionally disturbed children at the Peabody School had been worked out with Tufts University.

Also early in the session, Dr. Brown read a communication from the Boston Edison Company relative to its proposed underground power line to Newton. The company would locate a portion of it beside the sidewalk on Dedham St., Newton Highlands, on land of the Countryside School.

The committee voted approval of the granting of an easement for the purpose.

DR. ALFRED B. MINYARD

Dr. Minyard To Be Speaker For Sunday Service

The Rev. Alfred B. Minyard, general secretary of the Lord's Day League of New England, will speak at the Newton Centre Methodist Church, 1210 Centre St., Sunday afternoon, March 20, at 5 o'clock.

He will discuss, "The Christian Mission and Message of Beacon Hill." Rev. Maynard's appearance here is sponsored by the Commission on Missions and Social Action.

A luncheon will be served with beverage furnished by the church. Those attending are asked to bring a sandwich. Nursery care will be provided. An invitation is extended to the public to attend the service.

The Rev. Seaton M. Woodley, Jr., pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist Church, will speak at the Sunday morning 11 o'clock service. His subject will be, "What About the New Morality?"

Special anthems will be sung by the Chancel Choir under the direction of William J .Clark.

A Bible study at 9:45 a.m. on the Book of "Acts" will be read by Dr. Sam Hedrick, professor of Practical Theology and Field Work at Boston University School of Theology.

Bowdoin Glee Club Concert At Lasell College Mar. 25

The famed Bowdoin College Glee Club will open its annual spring tour with a concert at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, on March 25.

The concert, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the auditorium in Winslow Hall on the Lasell compus, will be presented jointly with the Orphean Club, Lasell's glee club.

The public is cordially invited to attend and there will be no admission charge.

Professor Robert K. Beckwith, chairman of Bowdoin's Music Department, will direct the 52-voice Bowdoin Glee Club in a variety of classical popular, and college songs.

Included in the program will be "Rise Sons of Bowdoin" and a Bowdoin College Medley, plus works by Mendelssohn, Berger, Hindemith, Sibelius, Poulenc, Orff, Webbe and Cole Porter. Performing with the Glee Club will be Bowdoin's Chapel Choir and the Meddiebempsters, the latter under the direction of a Bowdoin senior, Jeffrey K. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor K. Rutherford of 21 Highland Ave., Lexington.

Other officers of the Glee Club include President Robert G. Cocks, Jr. '66, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Cocks of 15 Pond Brook Circle, Weston, and Vice President Roger R. Hinchliffe '66, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hinchliffe of 4 Washington St., Lexington.

B. U. Women In Benefit For Scholarships

Miss Helena J. Wilde, Perkins street, West Newton, and Dean Elsbeth Melville, dean of Women at B. U., Bonwood street, Newtonville, are members of the Boston University Women Graduates' Club which is presenting Paul Benzaquin with "Fiery Diary" at 8 p.m. on March 23, at Hayden Auditorium, Boston University.

For 16 years, this organization of Boston University alumnae has awarded from four to eight modest scholarships to young women studying at B. U. The public is invited to lend its support by attending the benefit.

members of the clergy in Newton in order that they may assist the members of their congregation.

This effort by Newton Community Council is part of a nation-wide campaign to encourage everyone 65 years of age or over, as of January 1, 1966, to enroll in the voluntary medical insurance program by the end of this month.

A 10 percent higher premium will be charged those who are eligible but do not sign up by this deadline. The next open enrollment period will not be until late 1967.

For those who are not yet 65, the first opportunity to enroll for medical insurance will come three months before they reach their 65 birthday.

A small premium of $3.00 monthly will be charged for this program with the Federal Government matching this amount. Medicare benefits will begin July 1.

Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches, now part of the United Church Board for World Ministries.

He served his first five years in Rhodesia as superintendent of 40 village schools supported by the denomination for the Chindau-speaking Vandau people. He then served one-year terms as principal of Mt. Silinda Institute at Mt. Silinda mission station and of the secondary school at Chikore mission statoin.

In recent years he was superintendent of the Chikore mission station, which includes 18,000 acres of farm land with 400 tenants, a 60 bed hospital and clinic and a primary school in addition to the secondary school.

A native of Worcester, he is a graduate of Drew University, Madison, N. J., Union Theological Seminary and Boston University. Mr. Abbott is married to the former Geraldine Louise Schacterle of Philadelphia, who was treasurer of the Chikore mission station. They have four children.

Invitations have been sent to all Congregational churches in Newton to hear this timely speaker. In view of the developing African situation recounted in the daily headlines, the meeting is open to anyone who is interested.

Legion To Hold Old-Time Night At City Hall

Commander Joe Fitzsimmons of Newton Post 48, American Legion, has called members' attention to Old Timers' Night, to be held in the City Hall cafeteria Thursday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m.

He expressed hope that every member would make a special effort to be there and bring a friend, especially one who is eligible for post membership.

In his reminder, he called attention to two matters, one being welcome news that the menu will be chicken or lobster, and the other a not-too-happy reminder that 11 members who answered the last roll call are no longer around, and that a build-up of post strength is needed.

Work Of Fire Fighters Lauded

The following letter from members of a grateful Auburndale family has been received by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr.

"We would like to address ourselves to all the firemen who were at Woodbine St. last Thursday, and since thanking you all personally would probably be impossible, please accept this note of our appreciation.

"Never have we heard of firemen that are so careful and concerned with saving possessions of occupants. We lost nothing in the fire, and consider ourselves most fortunate and grateful.

"So, in closing, we hope the two firemen who were hurt are feeling better, and thanks again to all of you in that 'brave occupation' of yours."

MIKE HOLOVAK

Mike Holovak to Speak at Junior College Conclave

"Professional Sports: 1966" will be discussed by Mike Holovak at the Newton Junior College All-College Convocation to be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 22, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut Street in Newtonville.

Mr. Holovak, manager of the Boston Patriots football team, has a distinguished name in amateur and professional athletics. While an undergraduate, he was a 60-minuate fullback on Frank Leahy's undefeated Boston College squad that won the national championship in the Sugar Bowl, January 1, 1941. He was also co-captain of the Boston College team in 1942.

After graduation from college, Mr. Holovak enlisted in the U.S. Navy — where he now retains his active reserve status as a Lieutenant-Commander.

Following separation from the Navy, Mr. Holovak played one season with the Los Angeles Rams and two seasons with the Chicago Bears. He returned to his Alma Mater after three years as a professional, first as a freshman tutor and then for nine years as head coach, the longest skein of a head coach in Boston College history.

As manager of the Boston Patriots Football Team, Mr. Holovak has given Boston professional athletics of the highest level. This program is free of charge and open to the public.

to encourage and support potential college teachers.

Both Newton College winners reside in Massachusetts. Sr. M. Regina Dolores lives at the convent of the Marist Missionary Sisters, 62 Newton street, Waltham. A history major and dean's list student, she is the daughter of Mrs. Regina Barron, 1207 North Fink avenue, Peoria, Ill.

Miss Donahue is the daughter of Somerville Schools Superintendent and Mrs. Leo C. Donahue, 12 Benton road, Somerville. A dean's honor list student majoring in sociology, she is treasurer of her class, and has served on the student government and her dormitory council. She has also been active in Newton's volunteer service organization.

Miss Silvestre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Silvestre, 11 Wamsutta road, Somerset, is one of 1,599 semi-finalists accorded honorable mention in the competition by the Foundation. Their names have already been sent to graduate deans and other fellowship gencies.

One-third of this year's Fellowship recipients, selected from more than 11,000 faculty-nominated college seniors, are women. The new Fellows come from 380 different colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Prompt Attention By Doctor Advised For Injuries To Eye

"When eye injuries occur, especially to children, seek medical help immediately," cautioned Dr. Cook, Commissioner of Health for the City of Newton. He explained that quick action by a doctor is the best way of preventing further trouble and complications.

"Young children are especially likely to suffer serious or permanent damage following injury. A minor injury could result in vision impairment or blindness. Some of the common causes are fireworks, B.B. guns, toy arrows and darts, and the child's playthings. Care in the selection of children's toys will help reduce the chances for eye injuries. However, if they do happen, call your doctor immediately, or rush the child to the emergency ward of the nearest hospital.

"Whether the victim is an adult or a child, the same general procedures apply in handling eye accidents. Do not attempt to remove anything from the injured eye, particularly if the skin around it has been cut or torn. In cases of burns to the eye, or areas close to it, get the quickeest medical help possible. Home treatment is not advised.

"Acids and alkalies present a slightly different problem. Acids do most of their damage within the first few minutes. Alkalies, such as household ammonia, lye or lime, continually and rapidly eat into flesh parts, doing their damage as long as they are present. Flushing with large quantities of water by pouring or squeezing it from a cloth directly onto the eye will aid in reducing the damage they cause. Always contact a doctor as soon as possible.

"Prolonged exposure to the sun, or careless use of a sunlamp, may produce eye injury. Within six to 10 hours the eyes may begin to smart. Later pain and swelling occur. A cool towel over the eyes may give relief until seen by a physician.

We Can Help Prevent Crime

It is a sign of the times, albeit not an optimistic one, when an automobile association publishes a number of precautions we can take to prevent our cars from being stolen.

The Triple-A in a recent News-letter advised automobile owners of various mechanical items now on the market which should discourage the car thief.

That there is pressing need for this advice was documented by the startling news that more than 25,000 cars were stolen in Massachusetts last year.

Car thieves are recruited from a wide segment of the population, all the way from the nit-wit adolescent out for a joy-ride, which usually terminates in a smashed vehicle, to criminals who seek a get-away car which can be ditched in some remote area after a hold-up, or worse.

As Triple-A puts it, "It's up to you to protect your own car."

Heedless motorists who leave car doors unlocked, keys in the ignition, or clothing, bundles and items of value in plain view on car seats, even when the doors are locked, contribute to the mounting toll of stolen vehicles.

It is true that locked doors are not 100 percent proof against car thefts, but they certainly help.

Householders, also, could begin to comprehend the tone of the times in which we live and exercise precautions which might help lower the alarming increase in house breaks and burglaries.

The police forces in communities, large and small, are engaged in all all-out war against the lawless among us. However, in too many instances the men in blue are under-manned, under-paid and often unappreciated by some in the cities and towns they protect.

The increase in crime and violence in our time can in no way be attributed to police laxity. Our law enforcement agencies are engaged in a constant guerrila war against the forces of lawlessness. But the face of the enemy is not always known.

It is true that there are certain criminal forces familiar to police and usually kept in close surveillance. The identifying mark of the known hood is crystal clear to police investigators. However, there is the unexpected criminal, usually from the adolsecent ranks, These are often the unknowns, on the way to establishing a police record.

There is no logical reason for teen-age crime, no sense to much of the vandalism and violence perpetrated by them. In too many tragic cases, even the police can be surprised and shocked at the identity of some of these chaotic youngsters. All are not from slum areas, big cities or disadvantaged families

Neither are acts of crime and vandalism restricted to the male sex. Witness the several adolescent girls picked up in a Bay State town last week; they were part of an organized gang of thieves and shop-lifters. Crimes of a more violent nature also have been attributed to young ladies who are in what once was alluded to as the "sweet sixteen" bracket.

Contemporary Americans, however long-suffering, are restricted in any attempt to exercise personal judgement on our bold criminals. Unlike our forebears who tamed the old West, and who backed up the outnumbered law-men in the war on outlaws, we cannot carry our personal enforcer in a holster swinging on the hip.

But, we can recognize the facts of modern life and pull our heads out of the sand.

Law enforcement people recognize the kind of war they are in. They are aware of the addict, the thief, burglar, the strong-arm hood and the punk kid, the cocky adolescent looking for the action. They also know that crime can be planned professionally or erupt out of a rendezvous of bored, over-indulged youngsters.

Let's contemplate the statistics and do something about holding them in line. Use common sense where our home, car and valued and cherished possessions are concerned. Give the police a break; help them to protect us and be ever grateful that they are around.

Seeking Books For Brazil Use

A small Jesuit university in Brazil needs help—help in the form of books to replenish is flood-devastated library.

In attempting to help relieve the plight of the Brazilian educators, the Committee on Day-Student Affairs at Boston College is conducting a campaign to collect books needed at the Jesuit University of Rio Grande Do Sul.

Joseph P. Ryan, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, is general chairman of the campaign.

Types of books needed include general encyclopedias, dictionaries, periodicals on economics, law and sociology, books on sociology, economics, politics, labor, law, geography, world history, accounting, mathematics in the areas of algebra, geometry, trigonometry and calculus.

Persons interested in assisting in the campaign should write to: Books, Boston College, P.O. Box K-134, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Assisting Ryan in the campaign are the following Boston College students who are Newton residents:

Charles Artesani '66, 175 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill; Joseph A. Cappadonna, '67, 68 Erie Ave., Newton Highlands; Helen Carey, Evening School, 97 Montclair Ave., Newton Centre; Bob Cronin '68, 33 Brackett Rd., Newton; Charels Doherty '69, 26 Sterling St., West Newton; Jim Gilcreast '68, 143 Bridge St., Newton; Mary R. Hall, Evening School, 177 Franklin St., Newton; Howe McCarthy '67, 33 Manor House Rd., Newton Centre; Ellen McKendry '68, 30 Crescent St., West Newton; Cornelius C. Maher '69, 41 Calvin Rd., Newtonville, and Frances Messina, 1424 Centre St., Newton Centre.

LETTERS

Parent Answers

Editor of The Graphic:

It was with considerable interest that I read in The Graphic a letter regarding Newton school experimentation from a gentleman representing a Parents Protest Committee. My own reference is directed solely toward the so-called "continuous learning" experiment at Meadowbrook and I represent only the personal educational interests of my children.

I, as a parent, am expected to send to school each day a child who is reasonably disciplined, who is clean, respectably dressed, well-mannered, cooperative and receptive to the idea of learning. I don't consider this expectation to be unreasonable. On the other hand, I also have the right to expect the school to return to me each day a child who has been exposed to academic disciplines — one to whom teachers have assigned precise tasks in terms of substantial work volume, of specific time limits and of a defined work area. Certainly no group of teachers could be more capable of assigning and of reviewing these tasks than would be some of Meadowbrook's dedicated faculty.

A current school proposal states, "Philosophically, the Meadowbrook Junior High believes that it should develop each student's ability to: 1. Take responsibility for his own action. This involves purposeful, responsible decision-making behavior." I can think of many areas of child-rearing from which I could remove my specific instructions and in the Meadowbrook context, justify the removal as encouraging "decision-making behavior." The school, however, would label my inaction as "parent irresponsibility." This is how I regard the school's refusal to accept the charge of my child's direction and academic progress with fair, firm requirements. How can one look scornfully upon teacher-initiated action and academic disciplines during these formative years when "purposeful behavior" is learned through direction. This is, in truth, the way the student learns to make later decisions with maturity and with stability. In other words, the philosophy suggested by "continuous learning" is very appealing but totally impractical because it is not characteristic of the natural instincts of the average 12 to 14 year old.

From an issue of "Patterns," published monthly by the Newton Public Schools, I read: "Clearly, parental standards and parental supervision are prime factors in determining teen-age behavior." Why, then, are teacher-set standards unrelated to student educational achievement at the junior high level? We operate on a double standard as to what is expected of home and what is expected of school.

Not all changing ideas in this changing world are necessarily for the better although some consider it de rigueur to equate opposition to an academic change with opposition to world progress and social reform. There are, unfortunately, fads in education just as there are fads in other segments of society. It is regrettable that those who view "CL" as an educational threat—and there are some well-educated, progressive, intelligent people who do—are not going to have the option of a more conventional education for their children. So it is better now to face the fact that "CL" is going to complete its orbit as Newton learns and gradually returns to more traditional procedures (as it has, in fact, very slowly started to do.) Of course, many youngsters will continue to contribute an unfair share to experimentation and some will simply receive supplementary education after school hours.

Meanwhile, to the parents of the unusual student, of the academically aggressive, intellectually elite, I congratulate you upon the good fortune to be a part of "CL" where your child, because he persistently takes the initiative, may bloom and flourish with the care and the feeding of a prize June rose.

Political Highlights

number of delegates who were willing to express a preference between the three Democratic candidates for Governor, it seems evident that there has been a decided upsurge in support for Donahue.

Political experts believed that McCormack was running well ahead of Donahue when the big fund-raising dinner for the former Attorney General was held a few weeks ago.

That does not appear to be the case today. Donahue has staged a strong spurt this month and is now considered to be fighting McCormack on just about even terms.

If Donahue continues to gain ground, as he seemingly has been for the past two weeks, he will be in a powerful position for the final drive for the Democratic State Convention in June.

McCormack, of course, is still very much in the thick of the gubernatorial conflict and is still rated a favorite by some political observers.

But if Donahue's campaign continues to gain momentum, it will be difficult for McCormack to stop him.

A victory for Donahue at the June convention would mean a three-way struggle in the September primary between Donahue, McCormack and O'Donnell.

Donahue is the only one of the three who has declared that he will abide by the decision of the convention.

McCormack and O'Donnell both have asserted that they will carry their fights into the September primary regardless of what happens at the June conclave.

So if Donahue gains the convention nod, no one will be eliminated from the battle for the Democratic nomination for Governor until the Democratic voters return their verdict in the privacy of their polling places next September.

Passage of the sales tax, which Donahue fought so hard to block, is the major reason for the big pickup in delegate support by Donahue.

This is ironic but true. When Donahue finally was beaten in the 14-month clash over the sales tax, he may have lost the battle and won the war. If Donahue had been able to hold the line in the Senate against the sales tax, he would not be in the strong position he holds today.

Those who object to the philosophy of the limited sales tax have been rallying behind Donahue, a symbol of opposition to the tax.

An even greater upswing in support for Donahue may occur immediately after the sales tax goes into effect April 1 since there is certain to be widespread grumbling, complaints and confusion as the public adjusts to the new 3 per cent sales tax.

This will gradually subside, but Donahue may have the convention endorsement sewed up by the time it does.

Former Attorney General McCormack apparently has recognized the pickup in Donahue's campaing because he has attacked the sales tax as regressive, charging that it places an undue burden on those least able to afford it and blasting Governor Volpe.

But Donahu has established himself indelibly in the public mind as the foremost foe of the sales tax and no one is going to supplant him.

The fact, of course, is that a $200 million tax program was urgently needed, as both Donahue and McCormack agreed. The tax plan proposed by Governor Volpe, including a limited 3 per cent sales tax, was, in this writer's opinion, the best one advocated by anyone and certainly the only one which drew broad public and legislative support.

Time probably will show that the passage of the sales tax was a good thing for Massachsetts, its cities and towns and its citizens.

That, however, does not offset the fact that there are immediate political implications and complications and a public reaction when a new tax is enacted and, especially, when the public begins paying it.

Donahue is now benefiting from the implications and complications and reactions which have given a big lift to his drive for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Paradoxically, Donahue would have suffered a reverse reaction and might even have been knocked out of the Democratic gubernatorial race if the tax program he supported had been adopted instead of Volpe's.

But that's the way the political ball bounces, and Donahue, momentarily at least, is riding high as a result of his losing sales tax fight.

Volpe, Brooke Differ On Policy In Vietnam

Governor Volpe and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, who will head the GOP State ticket in Massachusetts next fall, have taken opposing stands on the war in Vietnam.

Volpe was included in a group of 38 Governors who unanimously endorsed the policies of the Johnson administration in Vietnam following a White House briefing.

Attorney General Brooke, on the other hand, in his first major statement on Vietnam, urged an end both to U. S. bombing of Vietnam and to the "sweep and kill" missions in the jungles of South Vietman.

Brooke maintained that by halting these military operations in Vietnam the United States "could demonstrate the moral superiority of our position to the world."

He declared that he did not advocate U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam but asserted that he favored "a hold and contain" policy.

Brooke's position, of course, follows rather closely that of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

With mounting public concern over casualty lists in Vietnam, the question of how the war there should be fought is virtually certain to be the overriding issue in the campaign Brooke and Boston Mayor John F. Collins are expected to wage next fall for Senator Leverett Saltonstall's seat on Washington's Capitol Hill.

While this is a matter on which there is a wide difference of public opinion, more people are likely to agree with Volpe's position than with Brooke's.

When there is a war such as that being fought in Vietnam, the American people, whatever their political beliefs or convictions, invariably rally pretty strongly behind their President and his policies.

What many people are likely to wonder is whether our casualty lists in Vietnam might not be even longer if we cease our bombings and "sweep and kill" missions and our troops wait for the Viet Cong to attack them in sneak onslaughts which would be inevitable as long as we stay in Vietnam.

McCarthy Probe Hearing To Be No Pier 9 Brawl

Beacon Hill political observers, who have been predicting a combination of a Roman Circus and a pier 9 brawl when a special State Senate committee holds public hearings on the action of State Administration Commissioner John J. McCarthy in increasing hospital rates twice within a year, are probably in for a surprise and a shock.

McCarthy, the top appointive official in Republican Governor Volpe's cabinet, is a controversial figure who shoots from the hip, and the committee conducting the hearings will be Democratic-controlled.

However, the committee chairman running the show will be State Senator John A. Kelly, Jr., of Oxford, and any riotous proceedings would be completely out of character with the capable, conscientious, hard-working Kelly.

Kelly intends to run fair and orderly hearings and to solicit information. He will tolerate no political brawling.

Whatever criticism is levelled at McCarthy will come from another Republican, Attorney General Brooke, not from the members of Kelly's committee.

The background to the controversy which will develop at the hearings conducted by Kelly is this:

McCarthy in January of last year increased the hospital rates which the State and its cities and towns can pay for needy persons.

Then in June of last year McCarthy allowed a second increase which cost an estimated $4.5 million a year.

Attorney General Brooke challenged the legality of the second increase on the ground that the law provides that the hospital rates may be raised only once during a year.

McCarthy granted a third increase in the hospital rates costing an estimated $12 to $15 million annually in January of this year.

Brooke challenged the legality of that hike, contending that it was illegal because it was based on projected rates rather than actual expenses.

Under those circumstances, it would not be at all surprising if Attorney General Brooke and Commissioner McCarthy, Governor Volpe's top department head, both had something critical to say about the other's judgment.

But whatever they have to say will be brought out in testimony at an orderly hearing.

Senator Kelly has appointed Attorney Berge Tashkian of Westboro, president of the Worcester County Bar Association, to serve as counsel for his committee. His present plan is to have Tashkian do all the interrogating of Brooke, McCarthy and any other witnesses.

Lee Loumos Says:

The F.C.C. has adopted a new standard for measuring picture tube sizes which is scheduled to go into effect this summer. Currently, most manufacturers measure the outside diagonal of the picture tube to delineate the size. The F.C.C. proposes to require either horizontal and vertical length or total square inches of viewable area. Any change will be confusing enough for both buyer and seller, so if there must be a change (although I personally don't see the need) I hope the total square inch system will be adopted. The Magnavox Co. has been using this method all along so at least we will have no confusion describing one manufacturer's product. For example a 19" diagonal measures 172 square inches, 23 equals 280 sq. in., 24 equals 330 sq. in. and 27 equals 400 sq. in

House Meetings On Vietnam To Be Held Locally

Newton residents will open their homes during the next month for a series of House Meetings on Vietnam under the sponsorship of the Newton Community Peace Center.

Mrs. Bernard M. Jacobson of the Advisory and Supporting Council, will act as chairman of this Vietnam House Meeting Program.

Assisting Mrs. Jacobson with the provision of literature and informational materials are Mrs. Irving Schartz and Mrs. Robert Peck of the Literature Committee of the Newton Community Peace Center. There will be speakers at each house meeting provided through the coordinated Speakers Service on Vietnam in Cambridge.

Hostesses for four open meetings may be called by those who are interested to attend any one of the meetings:

Mr. McLeod is the author of several scientific publications and is a member of the American Society of Physiology, the Scandinavian Society of Physiology, the Japan Society for Plant and Cell Biology, the New York Academy of Sciences, and Sigma Xi.

Korean Photos On Display At Local Library

Korea, "Land of the Morning Calm," is the subject of an outstanding collection of photographs now being shown at the Newton Free Library at 414 Centre Street. Taken by Mr. Ki Bok Choi, celebrated Korean photographer, they present a many-faceted picture of Korean life, customs, art and scenery.

During the Korean War, Mr. Ki was a war correspondent for the army. Since then he has worked for the Korean Daily News and various magazines.

After the war he also established an institute of photography, the first in the country. He has served as president of the Korean Photographer's Association and is currently permanent judge of all photographic contests in Korea.

The photographs, which came to the Newton Free Library directly from a showing at the Boston Public Library, will be on display here until March 29.

Officer Saves Boy And Dog In Icy Water

Patrolman George J. Longbottom, local animal control officer, not only rescued a dog last week that fell through the ice, but hauled ashore the boy who was trying to save the dog.

The lad was standing on the ice trying to get the dog out of the Charles River at Ware's Cove, but fell into the water himself.

Longbottom jumped into the water and got both out. The rescue was made 12 to 15 feet from shore, and the water there was 12 to 15 feet deep.

Safely ashore, the boy ran off, but the dog was turned over to its owner, Albert Caira, Bancliffe Cir., Newton.

Monitor Staff Member Speaks On March 21st

On Monday, March 21, the Boston Section National Council of Jewish Women presents George Merry, a member of the staff of the Christian Science Monitor, who will speak on "Real Issues of the Coming November State Elections."

The meeting will take place at Temple Sinai, Brookline, where coffee is to be served frm 12 noon to 1 p.m. followed by a business meeting. Mrs. William Z. Goodman (of Newton), president, will preside.

Mrs. Ernest Davidow (of Newton) is program chairman for the afternoon. The opening prayer will be given by Mrs. Raymond Rothstein and Mrs. Robert Bernstein will introduce the speaker.

For the past seventeen years Mr. Merry has covered various news beats. In 1962 he won a news writing award from the New England Association of Press Editors for an analysis and projection of the impact of the European Common Market on the New England economy.

In 1963 he was a winner of the Public Service Reporting Award, a nationwide competition sponsored by the American Political Science Association.

Prize Winning Books Now At Newton Library

The two highest awards in the children's book field—the Newbery and Caldecott Awards—were announced on March 14.

Elizabeth Borton de Trevino, author of books for adults, has been awarded the Newbery Medal for 1966 for her latest book: I, Juan de Pareja, a fictional account of life in 17th century Spain as seen through the eyes of Juan de Pareja, negro slave of the painter, Velasquez. Published by Farrar.

Nonny Hogrogian, illustrator of several children's books, has been awarded the Caldecott Medal for 1966 for her illustrations in the picture book, Always Room for One More, a Scottish folk song, rendered into modern English by Sorche Nic Leodhas. Published by Holt.

The Newbery Award, founded in 1921 by Frederic C. Melcher, publisher and former Newton resident, is given annually to the "author of the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children published during the preceding year."

The Caldecott Award, established by Mr. Melcher in 1938, is given each year to the artist of "the most distinguished picture book for children published in the United States during the preceding year."

Runners-up for the 1966 Newbery Medal are: The Black Cauldron, by Lloyd Alexander, published by Holt; The Animal Family, by Randall Jarrell, published by Pantheon; The Noonday Friends, by Mary Stolz, published by Harper.

Runners-up for the Caldecott Medal are: Hide and Seek Fog, illustrated by Roger Duvoisin, written by Alvin Tresselt, published by Lothrop; Just Me, written and illustrated by Marie Hall Ets, published by Viking; Tom Tit Tot, (an English folk tale), illustrated by Evaline Ness, published by Scribner.

The 1966 prize-winning books and runners-up will be on display at the Boys & Girls' Library at 126 Vernon Street, Newton, through March 21. The 1966 winners as well as those of previous years, are available through any branch of the Newton Free Library.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE

..If you are undecided between nylon and natural bristle brushes for your hair, it is safe to say you will never go wrong with the latter. Being hair, natural bristles are more compatible to your own. Then, too, their resiliency thwarts breakage and split ends, and they hold moisture better.

..A little more costly initially, natural bristles with proper care could very well last a lifetime. Wipe any bristles clean with a towel, remove loose hair from the tufts and make it a practice to wash your brush as regularly as you shampoo your hair.

..Make it a practice also to rely on us for pert, perky permanents certain to give your spirits a lift. In fact, make a date with new beauty today at MR. Women Voters' Discussion Units Continue Next Week

The League of Women Voters of Newton continues to carry out a major part of its program by means of the March 23, 24 and 25 discussion units on Public Education. Public Education is an investment by the people, not an expense. It is necessary to spend more money for education if we are to provide quality education. It is a fact that we have to spend more money each year if we are to avoid going backwards. How much does education cost? Where is the money going to come from? There will be a lively discussion and answer period to these any many other questions during the many discussion groups on public education.

Unit meetings will be as follows: March 23, Wednesday, 9:45-11:30 a.m., Auburndale Congregational Church, 64 Hancock Street, Auburndale, baby sitter in attendance; March 23, Wednesday, 1:15-3:00, at the home of Mrs. Allan Mann. 26 Merrill Road, Chestnut Hill: March 23, Wednesday, 8:00-9:45 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Norman Rosenberg, 131 Sargent Street, Newton; Thursday, March 24, 9:45-11:30 a.m., at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands; Thursday, March 24, 8-9:45 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Leonard Albert, 92 Varick Road, Waban; Friday, March 24, 9:45-11:30 a.m., at the Newtonville Library, 345 Walnut Street, Newtonville. For further information please contact Mrs. Robert Wofsey at 969-7668.

Former Resident, Barbara Brinser, Engaged To Wed

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and and Mrs. Myers Brinser of Ann Arbor, Mich., formerly of Chestnut Hill, which makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Brinser, to John Kenneth Maniha. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Assad Maniha of Houston, Texas.

The future bride, a graduate of the University of Colorado, received her master's degree from the University of Michigan School of Social Work. During the 1959-'60 season she made her debut in Boston and is a member of the Junior League of Boston.

A graduate of Beaver Country Day School, Miss Brisner is the granddaughter of Mrs. Thomas Mott Shaw of Boston and the late Mr. Sidney Waldo, as well as the late Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Brisner of Harrisburg, Pa.

A graduate of Tulane University, Mr. Maniha received his master's degree from the University of Michigan, where he is now a doctoral candidate in sociology.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter La-Boa of Houston and Mrs. Assad Maniha of Houston and the late Mr. Maniha.

Newton Centre Garden Club Meet On Tuesday

"Ornamental Pruning" was the subject of a lecture by Henry F. Davis at the Newton Centre Garden Club's meeting on Tuesday, March 15, at the Newton Centre Women's Club.

Mr. Davis has over 15 years experience in field work and is a graduate of the School of Arboriculture of the University of Massachusetts. He is a member of the International Shade Tree Conference and of the National Arborists Association.

Mr. Davis is also chairman of the Examining Board of Massachusetts Certified Arborists at the Waltham Field Station and acts in an advisory capacity to the Massachusetts Pesticide Board, Massachusetts Dept. of Public Health.

Mr. Davis spoke on the culture and preservation of shrubs and trees growing in the complicated environment of our modern suburbs and illustrated his lecture with slides. Mrs. Joe Warren Gerrity introduced Mr. Davis.

Pourers for the bouillon served at 10 o'clock were Mrs. William H. Brine and Mrs. Harvey F. Kazmier.

Hostesses for the morning were Mrs. W. Walker Cowles and Mrs. M. Duncan Harris. The program followed immediately after a brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Benjamin T. Fawcett, first vice-president.

Insurance Man Given Honors

Jules Meyers, CLU, of 57 Montvale Rd., Newton Centre, Boston general agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, was honored at the company's recent annual meeting for general agents in Boca Raton, Fla.

Mr. Meyers was awarded a Mutual Benefit President's Award, the highest company award, in recognition of his agency's outstanding all-round achievement. He also accepted for his agency a Stillman Duel Award for outstanding sales achievement in Mutual Benefit's annual sales campaign. The award is named for W. Paul Stillman, chairman of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Meyers was also cited for the fact that nine of his associates wrote one million or more of Ordinary Life Insurance.

Good Shepherd Parish Plans Easter Events

Coming events announced by the Parish of the Good Shepherd, 1671 Beacon St., Waban, include the following:

The Episcopal Church Women will meet on two Wednesday mornings, Mar. 23 and 30, at 9:30 o'clock, for a celebration of the Holy Communion. Coffee will be served at 10, with study and discussion led by the rector, the Rev. William E. Foley.

The four guilds of the ECW are combining for a tea on the afternoon of Mar. 30, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Choice Easter eggs and other small Easter gifts will be offered for sale.

The next regular ECW meeting will be on Apr. 13, the Wednesday after Easter. Luncheon hostesses will be Mrs. Neil W. Swinton, Mrs. Robert L. Gibson and Mrs. Charles R. Martell. The speaker will be an ECW member, Dr. Ruth Beuscher, a practising psychiatrist at McLean Hospital. Her topic will be: "Modern Psychiatry and Religion."

On Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 30 and 31, the United Church Women of Newton will hold their annual meeting at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton. Details may be had from Mrs. Swinton at 244-2996.

Flower Exhibitor

A corner for relaxing, including a stonewall, evergreens, shrubs, bulbs and perennials, is being presented at the New England Flower Show at Wonderland Park, Revere, by Jay M. Berkson Landscaping, Inc., of Newton.

DEMOCRATIC DINNER PLANNED — Herbert F. Regal, center, chairman of the Newton Democratic City Committee, buys first ticket to the organization's April 19th Friendship Dinner from Frank FitzPatrick, left, and Sideny T. Small, co-chairmen. Families will be the special guests at the event to be held at the Newton South High School.

Plan Dinner Meeting

Cornell Alumni groups from Newton will join others in and around the Boston area for a dinner meeting on Thursday evenin, March 24, at the M.I.T. Faculty Club. Guest speaker will be Edgar Tucker, 1941 graduate of the Department of Veterinary Medicine, associated with the Concord Medical Clinic, who will discuss "Foibles of Pets and Pet Lovers."

MAEVE O'REILLY FINLEY

Newtonite Is State Doubles Tennis Champ

Dr. Donald Manchester of 14 Hancock St., Auburndale, a top-ranking New England tennis player, won, with his partner, Larry Lewis of Boston, the first Massachusetts State Indoor Doubles Championships, played at the Suburban Indoor Tennis Center, Randolph, March 11-13.

They defeated Ted Hoehn of Winchester and his partner, Gerald Slobin of West Hartford, Conn., 6—4, 1—6, 6—4, giving them the first leg on the Poole Trophy of the Poole Silver Company, Taunton, Mass.

Earlier, the winning team had defeated William Power and Nick Sharry of Worcester and the team of Harry Kirsch, Medfield, and Harvey Harrison, Brookline.

Newton Teacher Authors Unique Book Of Verses

An interesting and unique book, containing 101 fun readings for boys and girls, published by Vantage Press, claims a Newton women as its author.

Maeve O'Reilly Finley, a fourth grade teacher at the Countryside School and a native of Ireland, has written a book of original verse, titled "Haiku For You."

The book in English invites every boy and girl to find outlets for restless imagination and to motivate new adventures with words.

Simply stated, Haiku is a complete three line nature poem of seventeen syllables using a Japanese writing format developed 800 years ago.

Now, "Haiku For You" updates the ancients with astronauts, TV and other contemporary symbols.

It is a new assist for teachers and parents in stimulating use of this format in a modern idiom.

Mrs. Finley sprinkles this book with the stardust pixie charm:

Living on the moon
Will not be much fun unless
My dog comes along.

She captures the apprehension that often plagues the young:

At night — eerie sounds
Start imaginary tales
Talking in my head.

Mrs. Finley points out that while writing Haiku is an ancient art, it is a pleasure to be shared by all ages in this modern world. Haiku can be light-hearted or profound, pious, whimsical, amusing, subtle or joyous. The Newton author feels that Haiku is everyone's art and suggests we try it.

Sisterhood In Tenth Annual Donor Dinner

A gala evening to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Congregation Beth El-Atereth Israel Congregation Sisterhood was held last evening, March 16. The donor dinner was held in the social hall of the newly-built synagogue at 561 Ward street, Newton Centre.

The committee included Mrs. Samuel H. Andelman, dinner chairman; Mrs. Louis Andler, co-chairman; Mrs. Nathan Finkelstein, president; Mrs. Irving Drucker, treasurer; Mrs. Irving Goldberg, advisor.

Other members are Mrs. William Andler, Mrs. Leonard Carp, Mrs. Burton Cone, Mrs. Barney Shuring, Mrs. Edmond Yoffe and Mrs. Morton Ross.

Entertainment was provided by Wilma Tannenholtz, vocalist, accompanied by Lee Daniels.

Local Women Attend Meeting Of College Club

"Antiques in the Home" was the topic of Milton Babcock, one of the nation's foremost authorities on antiques, when he spoke to embers of the Boston Wellesley College Club.

The informal lecture, illustrate with colored slides, was held at the Old South Church, 645 Boylston street, Boston, Wednesday, March 16.

Bouillon was served to club members and their guests at 9:45 a.m. in the Guild Room of the Parish House, and the meeting began at 10 a.m.

Mr. Babcock is president of the New England Antiques Association, and director of the Boston Antiques Show, recently held in the War Memorial Auditorium. For the past 15 years, he has taught adult education classes, held at MIT, for the Massachusetts State Department of Educatin and has been an auctioneer and appraiser of antiques during a lifetime spent in this field.

Among club members from Newton who attended this event are Mrs. Herbert Goldberger, club president; Mrs. Edward C. Uehlein, Mrs. Charles S. Lipson, Mrs. John E. Eaton, Mrs. Malcolm Green and Mrs. Frank Chambers.

West Newton Co-op Elects Edmond White

The West Newton Co-operative Bank announced the election of Edmond H. White Jr., vice president of Richard White Sons, Inc., of West Newton, to the bank's Board of Directors.

Mr. White is a product of the Newton School system and was graduated from Newton High with the Class of 1944. During World War II he enlisted in the U. S. Navy in December 1944 and served until September 1946. After the war, he continued his schooling at Newton Junior College and received his B.S. in Business Education at Boston College with the Class of 1952.

The new director is a lifelong resident of Newton and lives with his wife, the former Ruth Sikes of Auburndale at 79 Cleveland street, West Newton, with their four children Donald, 12; Cynthia, 10; Kenneth, 6, and William, 2. The Whites are members of Woodland Golf Club where Mr. White has been a member since 1947 and a director since 1964.

U of M Band Coming To Newton High School

Four Objectors To Helistops In The Newtons

Objectors to proposed helicopter stops in Newton cited noise, narrowness of landing areas and proximity to homes as their reasons for opposition at a public hearing held before the committee on Claims and Rules Monday night at City Hall.

It was expected that objectors would be present in great numbers, but there were only four, one of them former Alderman David W. Jackson.

The hearing was called by City Planner James A. Miller, in anticipation of several petitions for helicopter service to motels and industrial plants, especially those along Route 128.

Miller said that two sites had been proposed, Holiday Inn at Auburndale, and Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill.

George A. Frankenberger, a former Newton resident but now of Brighton, represented Massachusetts Helicopter Airlines, Inc., of Logan Airport. He gave a detailed description of the helicopter business, and said that "a helistop is no more than a bus stop."

Aumnae Forum To Give Look At China Of Today

The Alumnae Forum of Boston, scheduled for Saturday morning at 10:30 in the Sheraton-Plaza ballroom, Boston, is to be presented as a public service by the Boston Council of Club Presidents, and is sponsored by the Boston area alumnae clubs of 44 colleges.

Among members of the executive committee are Mrs. Herbert Goldberger, Edge Hill road, Chestnut Hill, president of the Wellesley Alumnae Association, and Miss Bernice Poutas, 230 Cabot street, Newtonville, director of alumnae affairs at Simmons College.

"Look at China Today" is the forum topic. The panelists will be Professors Ezra Vogel of Harvard and Paul Cohen of Wellesley College. Mrs. Betty Burch, associate professor of Government at Tufts, will be moderator.

Kohon Quartet Noted String Group Featured

A group of Newton residents is sponsoring the concert to be presented by the New England Jewish Music Forum Monday evening, Mar. 21, at 8:30 at Temple Israel Meeting House, Longwood avenue and Riverway, Boston.

Heading the committee are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Berk, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bleiwas, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Grodberg, and Cantor and Mrs. Alex Zimmer.

The concert, the Forum's third event of the season, will feature the Kohn String Quartet, quartet-in-residence at New York University.

Hailed by critics as outstanding musicians, the group was awarded the Grand Prix du Disque, Academie Charled Cros, in 1963.

A social hour will follow the program.

Grover Cronin Original Easter Bunny Parade To Be Seen Sunday

The Grover Cronin Original Easter Bunny Parade is the sure sign of spring's arrival for Greater Boston children. The Easter Bunny arrives this Sunday (March 20). With propellers whirling and crowds cheering, the Bunny 'copter, piloted by Boom Town Star Rex Trailer of WBZ-TV, will land at the Reece Corporation, Waltham, at 2:15 p. m. Mayor Richard Dacey and a corps of city and state officials will welcome the Bunny as he hops from the helicopter to a decorated float for the traditional Bunny Parade.

Bozo, the children's favorite clown and local star of WHDH-TV, will be on hand to wave hello to all his fans along the parade route. Rex Trailer will leap on his faithful horse, Goldrush, and join the fun.

The lively parade begins at Reece Corporation, 200 Prospect street at 2:30 p. m., winds down Main street to Elm, crosses Carter and climaxes on Moody street at the Grover Cronin store. All the old favorite clowns, fairyland characters, and stunt men will be back with new surprises and antics. And this year, Zippy of TV fame will join the march to greet all his followers.

The children's favorite friends in the parade include: Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Miss Muffett, Goofy, Old King Cole, plus Flower the Skunk. And straight out of the popular TV shows come characters inspired by the Addams Family, The Hill Billies, Chillerama, Yogi Bear and The Flintstones.

To Host Service For Patients At VA Hospital

The Community and Veterans Service Committees of Spirit Chapter and Lodge, B'nai B'rith, announce that they will join in hosting a reception at the religious services held for the patients at the Veteran's Hospital in Jamaica Plain, this (Thursday) evening, Mar. 17.

Mrs. Arthur Siegal of Chestnut Hill, past president of Spirit Chapter, will be present to donate a silver tray to the Hospital Chapel in memory of her uncle, Edward Leiberman, who was very active in veteran's affairs. Following the presentation, Mrs. Leiberman will take part in a candlelighting ceremony.

"Send Me No Flowers" Cast Has Been Set

Chuck Ganss, director, and Russ MacClure, drama chairman, have announced their selection of a cast for "Send Me No Flowers," the hilarious long-run Broadway hit that also became a highly successful film starring Doris Day and Rock Hudson.

The Auburndale Club production of Norman Barasch's and Carroll Moore's mirthful mix-up of an over zealous hypochondriac and his wife, has John and Sue Malloy cast as George and Judy Kimball, the confused couple of the play. George Michaels is seen as Bert Power, third side of an impromptu romantic triangle. Russ MacClure is seen as Arnold Nash; Jim Loder plays Dr. Ralph Morrisy; Carol Felopolus plays "a girl," Peter Felopolus is Vito; John Head is Mr. Atkins; Shirley Magaw is Miss Mason; Marnie MacClure and Allen Metcalf are cast as passerbys.

This, the third and final play of the current season, will be seen at the Auburndale Club, 283 Melrose street, Auburndale, on March 31, April 1 and 2. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Alice Morrison at HI 4-7657.

Mrs. Ford Waugh is assisting director Chuck Games in the staging of "Send Me No Flowers."

Sheldon Spiegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul S. Spiegel, 122 Withington Rd., Newtonville, has been appointed librarian of WERS, the 18,000-watt FM radio station at Emerson College, Boston. He is a junior majoring in Broadcasting.

Art Workshop At Community Cen. Starts Tomorrow

Activities at the Newton Community Center continue at a rapid pace. This month's activity will be highlighted by the start of spring adult activity and the Annual Father-Son; Mother-Daughter dinners.

Registrations are now underway for the Adult Golf School headed by the popular Dan Meany. There are still a limited number of openings for Tuesday morning and Friday evening. Private instruction is available on the latter night.

Mrs. Libby Van Buskirk returns to the Center to head the agencies Adult Art Workshop which begins on Friday morning March 18th. The adult workshop is planned for the woman who has always wanted to express herself artistically, but who has not been certain as to where to begin. The group will experiment with college, sandcasting, mobiles, cardboard, masonite prints, and monoprints, continually investigating what the medium has to offer.

Classes are held at the Center and start tomorrow, Friday, March 18th, from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. There are eight sessions.

Childrens program will be highlighted on Tuesday, March 22nd and Thursday, March 24th as the Father-Son, Mother-Daughter dinners will be held respectively. Programs are scheduled for the two gala affairs and a delicious spaghetti dinner will be served to all.

For information with regard to Center activities please phone the agency at 244-2260 or visit at 429 Cherry street in West Newton.

Colonial Wall Garden Wins Gold Medal at Flower Show

A "Colonial Wall Garden," recreated in just 680 square feet of space, demonstrated the versatility of modern landscaping techniques at the 95th annual New England Spring Flower Show, currently in progress at Wonderland Park in Revere. Designed and executed by Jay M. Berkson of the Oak Hill Nurseries in Westwood, the garden features a dry shalestone wall, as found on Colonial farmsteads in Central New England.

Mr. Berkson searched for months before finding just the wall he wanted on a secluded farm near Newport, Rhode Island. After purchasing the wall from the astonished owner, Berkson transported it to the Flower Show and rebuilt it stone-by-stone to form the focal point of what Berkson calls "an informal garden corner in a naturalistic setting." The Garden won a gold medal and 1st prize blue ribbon in its class for an exhibit of "exceptional merit," awarded by the Massachusetts Horticulture Society.

"I have always felt that the ambling low Colonial dry walls would bring much of their restful atmosphere to contemporary gardens" said Berkson recently as he supervised the rebuilding of the 18" high reverse-curve, wall. To provide a striking blend of textures, his "Colonial Wall Garden" utilizes a contemporary-style fiberglass and redwood panelled fence for privacy and a wood bench, hand hewn from a tree trunk, for quiet repose.

Shrubs in Oak Hill Nurseries' "Colonial Wall Garden" include a Japanese table pine (tanyosho pine), weeping mulberry, and an espaliered pear tree against the panelled fence. Carolina rhododendron and mountain laurel are in full flower and low growing narcissi lend visual harmony. Walks are of contrasting bank gravel, bench stone and lava-like, porous brick brought to Boston from upper New York State.

Volunteers Here In Heart Fund Earn Praise

General Chairman Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, has expressed sincere appreciation for an excellent job by Newton volunteers in the 1966 Heart Fund.

The results of the local drive, she said, are expected to top those of any year in the Heart Fund's 16-year history.

"The turnout of local Heart Neighbors exceeded any other year," the chairman said. "Residents were generous in both time and money.

"Massachusetts ranks fifth in the nation for per capita Heart Fund giving, and is the nation's foremost center of cardio - vascular research. Newton can be proud of its volunteers, who serve as silent partners to the scientist devoted to conquering mankind's foremost killer," she said.

Last Faculty Concert Of Season At School Sunday

The All Newton Music School invites its students, parents and friends to the last faculty concert of this season on Sunday, March 20th, at 3 o'clock, in the Egan-Fyffe Hall at the All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton. Miss June Fine, flute, and Miss Judith Geber, piano, are the performing artists.

They will start the program with an 18th century French suite by Antoine Dornel, a collection of dances dedicated to different ladies of the entourage of the composer.

The Beethoven variations which will follow are based on four themes which were "hit tunes" of his time. An Austrian, a Russian and two Scotch themes are the basis for the charmingly light-hearted variations, which Beethoven wrote as a commission.

The program ends with the Sonata for Flute and Piano by Hindemith, written in 1936.

Miss Fine, flute, in private life the wife of Burton Fine, solo viola with the Boston Symphony, is a native of Chicago, a graduate of Roosevelt University of that city. Before coming to the All Newton Music School she taught at the Cleveland Institute of Music and played at the Aspen Festival in Colorado. For a few years she was a member of the Virginia Symphony and toured with its chamber orchestra. Many solo recitals rounded out her work.

Miss Judith Geber, piano, the newest faculty member of the All Newton Music School and the wife of the youngest Boston Symphony member, Stephen Geber, cello (also teaching at the All Newton Music School), earned her B.A. and her Master degrees at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester. Besides teaching Miss Geber was staff pianist and celeste player for the Rochester Civic Orchestra and the Rochester Philharmonia. The concert is free to the public.

Executive With Cabot Company

Warren Jr. High Students Cited For Service

Warren Junior High School students were among the 6400 school and college youth to receive commendation for community service during the 10th annual Recognition Week of United Community Services' "Operation Kindneses."

Three students, Jill Bresleau, Enid Brody and Patricia Gold, did their work at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Maureen Kneeland and Ellen Nelson provided service at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

"Operation Kindness," cooperatively sponsored by United Community Services and the Massachusetts Division of Civic Education, is a program of youth service to meet the needs of 124 Greater Boston health and social welfare agencies.

Robert B. McCreech, UCS School and Volunteer Bureau director, has called the youth volunteer program "Greater Boston's domestic peace corps which displays a true image of American youth."

"It is heartening to find that young people are no longer a silent generation," McCreech holds. "By their volunteer service they show awareness of human needs. The schools and agencies working through "Operation Kindness" have not only helped alienated youth to return to the main stream of American life but have also enabled the more advantaged youth to accept a share of responsibility for improving the lot of all Americans."

Cardin declared that Mrs. Gerda Munsinger, 36, was involved with one or more of Diefenbaker's Cabinet ministers while she was working in Canada as a model, secretary and waitress. He claimed the woman engaged in espionage before going to Canada. Cardin alleged that Diefenbaker failed to hand the case over to government advisers when he learned about it.

Two members of Diefenbaker's Cabinet have admitted that they knew Mrs. Munsinger but have denied any improperties. Mrs. Munsinger, who was reported dead when the charges first exploded but who later was found to be living in Munich, West Germany, has denied she ever engaged in espionage.

Diefenbaker, who flew back from a fishing trip in British Columbia, to face his accusers, charged the Liberals with resorting to "smear, scuttlebut, slander and smut."

A former Harvard University lecturer in clinical pschology received one of the stiffest sentences in history for such an offence after being convicted of transporting marijuana from Mexico across the international border into the United States without paying a tax on it. In a Laredo, Texas, courtroom Timothy Leary, 45, was sentenced to the maximum 30 years in prison—20 years on the transportation charge and 10 years on the tax charge. Dr. Leary, an experimenter in hallucinogens and other mind-stimulating drugs, also was fined a total of $30,000. His 18-year-old daughter, Susan, also was found guilty of failing to pay the tax and was given an undeterminate sentence in a federal correctional institution. Newsmen in Laredo expressed astonishment at the severity of the sentences which were appealed by Dr. Leary and his daughter.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, one of the most famous trainers in horse racing history, died last Friday in Miami at the age of 87. Funeral services were held for him Tuesday in his native Brooklyn. In his 78 years in the horse racing world, where he started as an errand boy and general helper, Sunny Jim saddled the winners of 2275 races, with the purses totalling $13,082,911. He trained such horses as Gallant Fox, Omaha and Nashua.

Rabbi Morris Adler died last Friday in Detroit, not quite one month after he had been shot in the head by a member of his congregation during Synagogue services. Rabbi Adler had been unconscious since shortly after he was shot and had undergone two operations, Robert Wishnetsky, who mortally wounded Rabbi Adler, took his own life seconds later.

Amid a hail of Viet Cong fire a daredevil Air Force fighter pilot landed on an airstrip outside the A Shau Special Forces camp and rescued a fellow airman who had crash-landed on the field minutes before. Hero in what was termed the most daring rescue of the Vietnamese War was Maj. Bernard Fisher of Kuna, Idaho. The man he pulled back from the jaws of death was Maj. Stafford W. Myers of Newport, Wash., his wingman.

Myers jumped out of the flaming cockpit of his plane after crashing and raced for a ditch. Communists soldiers were all around him. Two fighter planes overhead roared down to strafe the Viet Cong troops advancing on Myers. Then Fisher swooped down to land in the middle of the battleground. Myers leaped out of the ditch and ran for Fisher's plane, diving into the cockpit. Fisher immediately taxied his plane down a runway, gunned his engine and made his getaway.

One Communist soldier got within 20 feet of Fisher's plane before he was cut down by gunfire from one of the two U.S. planes flying at treetop level to provide cover for Fisher and Myers. Pilots of the two planes which provided the cover were Air Force Captains Dennis B. Hague, 28, of Kellogg, Idaho, and John Lucas, 28, of Steubenville, Ohio.

Banks throughout the United States have increased their prime lending rates from 5 to 5½ per cent. The boost resulted from a continuing huge demand for credit at a time when bank lending rates were below bond and other comparable money market rates.

Thirteen persons were killed, one of them a policeman who was beaten to death, in Calcutta and surrounding areas as rioting mobs battled with police and troops in a protest by Leftist-led demonstrators against India's food shortage. An estimated 5000 rioters fought soldiers in the heart of Calcutta. Police cars and rail stations were set afire by the rioting mobs.

Officials of the Food and Drug Administration testified in Washington that thousands of "human guinea pigs" had been tested with a "wonder drug" gone awry. The drug, DMSO, is designed as a relief for arthritis and other diseases. They claimed that despite the fact several drug companies were warned that tests with DMSO on animals caused scarring of the eye lens, the companies nevertheless continued to sponsor human tests for as long as 14 months.

President Johnson authorized a relaxation in travel regulations to permit scholars to visit Communist China and other areas barred to ordinary tourists. Informed officials said the new government would permit travel by scholars to China, Cuba, Albania, North Korea and North Vietnam. It would still be up to the nations themselves, however, to decide if they wanted to admit the scholars by granting them visas.

Viet Cong guerillas smashed through the defenses of an isolated United States Army Camp near the Laotian border last week, with heavy casualties among the U.S. soldiers and mountain tribesmen defending the outpost. The number of casualties was not immediately known.

A 52-page brief prepared by the State Department has been presented to the Senate Foreign Relations Department arguing that the Unted States is justified under international law, the U.N. charter and the Constitution, in sending military forces to fight in Vietnam. It is intended as a rebuttal to those who have challenged the legality of U.S. involvement in the war.

The Director of the Institute of Marxist Studies in New York was barred from speaking at the University of North Carolina. Dr. Herbert Aptheker, a leading American Communist, made a speech to about 2,000 students a few yards off the college campus following the refusal by college officials to permit him use the university's facilities.

White House spokesmen contended that public opinion polls showing a drop in support for President Johnson's policy in Vietnam occur because people do not think he is pressing the war hard enough. Any relaxation of military pressure by the U.S. in Vietnam causes a drop in support of the President's stand, they stated.

An American Special Forces camp at Ashau near the Laotian border was overrun by North Vietnam and Cong troops last Thursday after a 36-hour siege. Approximately 2000 Communist troops attacked the earth-and-log fortress with mortar and small arms fire, finally breaking through the barbed wire perimeter.

Heavy casualties were reported among the Montagnard tribesmen and South Vietnam soldiers who had guarded the camp as well as among the Green Berets—American Special Services soldiers assigned to watch Communist supply lines in southeastern Laos.

Heroic rescues were performed during and after the fierce fighting at the camp, where the defenders battled gallantly against overwhelming odds.

Thirty-two Americans, including eight Air Force Personnel and 12 Marines downed during the fighting and rescue operations, were flown to safety along with 172 Montagnard tribesmen, Vietnam soldiers and Chinese Nung defenders of the camp.

Lost during the battle for the camp were three Marine rescue helicopters, a Marine skyhawk jet, a Skyraider and a cargo plane.

Bad weather contributed to the loss of the lonely outpost as it hampered operations of American aircraft. Weather also may be a factor in future developments in Vietnam. With South Vietnam's monsoon season due in May, there was speculation by military experts that the Viet Cong may launch a major offensive during the period when heavy rains dampen air power and bog down ground equipment used by U.S. and Vietnamese forces.

In a military take-over in Indonesia, army leaders under Lt. Gen. Suharto assumed control of the government and promptly banned the Communist party.

Stripped of all his authority was Indonesian President Achmed Sukarno who had ruled the nation since two days after the surrender of the Japanese in World War II and who three years ago proclaimed himself President for life.

Sukarno, who at various times has played the role of emperor, politician, armed forces commander and playboy, is now 64 years old and ailing.

The last few years of his regime have been marked by a Communist drift which the military leaders now running the country are determined to reverse.

The army's success in crushing a Communist coup last October helped to set the stage for the military take-over. Military leaders stood by at that time as mobs and politicians slaughtered more than 100,000 Communists.

While Washington officials were cautious in their statements, they were considered to be pleased by the latest developments in Indonesia which were regarded as dealing a severe blow to Red China's prestige and probably signalling the end of Indonesia's Peking-oriented Communist party.

The history-making space flight of the Gemini 8 Astronauts was postponed until Wednesday after leaks were discovered in an Atlas rocket and in a spacesuit circuit of the spacecraft. Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott used the extra time to review flight plan which includes a rendezvous and a space walk. Scott is to make the walk in space, becoming virtually a human satellite for almost two and a half hours.

Damage estimated at $500,000 was caused at exclusive, 100-year-old St. Mark's School in Southboro by fire which broke out early Monday morning, driving 210 sleepy pupils from their beds and dormitories. The blaze heavily damaged a classroom wing of the school and caused smoke damage to the dormitories. The pupils who had been scheduled to begin a vacation Tuesday, started a day early.

The chief federal mediator in Boston's newspaper strike declared that the negotiators were "depressed and pessimistic" as the strike entered its second week. He asserted that no progress had been made during the first week of negotiations, adding that the strike could last longer than the 114-day 1962 newspaper strike in New York.

A general strike tied up Da Nang for five hours Sunday as students and soldiers protested the ouster of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi fom Vietnam's ruling Junta. Markets, stores and shops closed, and waterfront activity was halted. Gen. Thi himself urged an end to the strike because he was fearful that the country would be split if they continued.

President Johnson and former Vice President Nixon discussed international problems for about an hour at the White House on Sunday. Nixon's recent trip to Europe was one of the matters about which they talked. Mrs. Johnson was present part of the time.

Thirty-eight Governors, including Governor Volpe, unanimously endorsed U.S. policies in Vietnam after a White House briefing on the Vietnamese war.

A Lowell woman was charged with murder Tuesday in the shooting Monday night of her husband in Billerica. Mrs. Linda P. Rogovsky, 24, was arrested and held without bail at the Billerica Police Headquarters for the shooting of her husband Meir, 28. Police said the man's body was found near the Concord River on Route 3. He had been shot four times. Police said the Rogovsky's were in the process of separating and were returning from New York, where they had been living, to Mrs. Rogovsky's home in Lowell when the shooting occurred.

A general strike paralyzed the city of Da Nang this week following the ouster by Vietnam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of his foremost rival, General Nguyen Chanh Thi, from command of the army's 1st Corps. More than 3,000 demonstrators, mostly Buddhists, called for national elections to displace the present junta and also demanded the resignation of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a Catholic lieutenant general, and the restoration of several generals who led the coup against the Catholic Diem regime three years ago.

A 32-year-old Dorchester man was kidnapped early Tuesday by three armed men who robbed him of $30. Richard Carl told police his car was stopped at Washington St. and Haywood Pl. when three men with pistols and a straight razor jumped into his car. Police said the bandits forced Carl to drive around for more than an hour before he escaped.

A Pine Bluff, Arkansas man, on trial for the murder of a 19-year-old girl, was shot four times outside the court room where his case is being tried. Authorities are holding the father of the dead girl in the shooting. James Miller, 26, was shot as he stood in a crowded corridor during a recess in his trial. Police arrested Chancie Williams, 38, as he ran down the back steps of the courthouse. Miller is being tried for the murder last October of Williams' 19-year-old daughter Dorothy.

A jury of 13 men and 3 women was empaneled Tuesday in Brockton to hear the murder trial of a New Hampshire handyman charged with the sex slaying of 5-year-old Ellen Gamache of Middleboro. The state contends that Paul Smith, 33, of Woodsville, N.H., lured the girl away from a Middleboro playground last July and killed her. Her body was found 10 days later in a blueberry patch.

The Viet Cong forces holding the fallen Special Forces camp evacuated last week by the United States, have apparently been routed by American war planes. Bomber pilots pounded the camp over the weekend and reported that most of the Viet Cong who had been in the area have returend to nearby Laos, U. S. spokesmen said that indications were that the Viet Cong lost the better part of a regiment during last week's battle over the outpost.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield suggested this week that the U.S. should consider trimming some of its European defense forces and obligations "in view of our commitments in Vietnam." Mansfield made the statement during a speech on President de Gaulle's intention to withdraw from NATO's military command, close NATO's French based military headquarters and force the removal of American troops in France. The White House did not comment on Mansfield's suggestion. They restated however, that the U.S. must mantain its defense commitments in Europe and added that NATO can survive any French defection.

An Air Force pilot forced to bail out of his fighter jet in the Alaska wilderness was rescued this week after spending two days in 45-degree below zero weatheer. Capt. Ray MacDonald, who parachuted from his plane after it collided in mid-air with a jet trainer, said his only fear was his ability to keep calm until rescue. MacDonald burrowed a place in the snow to keep out the wind and relied on the parachute survival kit for food, bedding and radio signal device. After his rescue, he was described by an Air Force flight surgeon as being in "beautiful shape."

A 35-year-old Chinese millionaire businessman, convicted of war profiteering in the black market, was executed early Monday morning by a 10-man Vietnamese army firing squad in Saigon's central market place, Ta Vinh had been convicted of price speculation, hoarding and bribery by a special court set up to stamp out corruption.

His wife, eight children and three other women, believed, to be close relatives, wailed as Vinh was shot. Crying and screaming, they tried to break through barbed wire barricades a half hour before the portly businessman, dressed in a dark business suit and a dark tie, was shot. National police forcibly restrained them, and they were unable to get closer than a block from the execution scene in front of Siagon's National Railway Building.

While advertised as a public execution, the crowds which gathered to witness the grim spectacle were kept two blocks away behind barbed wire and wooden barricades. A battalion of airborne troops and dozens of national policemen patrolled the area.

Pressure on the Johnson administration to authorize the bombing of Haiphong, the main harbor of North Vietnam, was renewed this week by the Joint Chiefs of Staff after Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor had publicly advocated the mining of the port while testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Gen. Taylor, former Ambassador to South Vietnam and before that Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, is now a consultant to President Johnson on Vietnam policy. The military chiefs seized on the opportunity created by his statement to reiterate their convictions that selected targets in Haiphong should be bombed by U. S. planes. President Johnson and Secretary of Defense McNamara have opposed such bombings.

President Johnson declared in Washington that it may be necessary for him to ask Congress for still more money to meet the expense of fighting the war in Vietnam. He emphasized the difficulty of estimating the costs of the war very far ahead. "We cannot foresee how many planes we are going to lose, how many shells we are going to fire, how many losses we are going to suffer, but as near as we can anticipate them we have provided for them in the budget," the President asserted.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins sharply criticized the action of Roxbury residents, who dumped garbage on the steps of Boston City Hall, terming it "a rude and vulgar exhibition." The Mayor ordered an investigation by police in an attempt to ascertain the identity of the persons who took part in the incident. Meanwhile, leaflets demanding improved municipal services in Roxbury, including two garbage collections a week, were distributed in downtown Boston.

A recount was started Monday of a vote taken in Maine Feb. 21 to determine whether the sale of liquor should be allowed on Sunday in the Pine Tree State. A tabulation of the original vote, reported Saturday by Secretary of State Kenneth M. Curtis, showed that Maine had voted "dry" by a margin of 1306 ballots.

The State Supreme Court set aside the conviction of a former Revere building inspector who had been found guilty last year on charges of attempted larceny of $12,000. The court held that there was no evidence to prove the attempted larceny charge against Michael Ancillo who had been convicted in a case allegedly involving an attempt to get zoning laws changes in Revere in order to permit the erection of an apartment building.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins announced that he will file a bill with the State Legislature asking for the creation of a three-member commission which would take over much of the authority now held by the Boston School Committee. The proposed new board would plan, program, design, construct and equip the Hub's schools. The School Committee, according to Collins, probably would retain the responsibility for managing the schools once they were completed.

Six persons were killed in an earthquake which rocked Formosa and Okinawa. Close to 40 buildings were either wrecked or damaged by the earthquake which was equal in intensity to one which killed 107 persons and wrecked 11,000 homes on Formosa in January, 1964. Damage estimated at $22,500 was caused to a government-owned brewery in Taipei, Formosa, when the earthquake shook open vats containing the equivalent of 60,000 large bottles of beer.

Vice President Humphrey hinted Sunday that the United States has softened slightly its hitherto uncompromising line toward Red China. Humphrey said the new policy might be called "containment of aggressive militancy" by China "but containment without isolation." He observed while appearing on the TV show, "Meet the Press," that President Johnson has relaxed the ban on U. S. travel to Communist China to the degree that some scholars, medical men and journalists may travel there. So far, however, the Chinese have refused to issue any entry visas.

A noted British medical publication has reported evidence that the viruses causing hepatitus are also responsible for the births of Mongoloid babies. The evidence, collected by a doctor and a psychologist in Australia, puts the liver infection in the same category as German measles in that infection of a woman early in her pregnancy produces the defective baby monthts later. Queried about the report, Dr. Virginia Apgar, director of research on birth defects for the National Foundation, said she found the figures in the report "highly significant."

A 26-page Kremlin report on the strange death of Sheffield book salesman Newcomb Mott has been presented to U. S. embassy officials in Moscow. The embassy refused to divulge contents of the report, but it is believed it does not differ from the original Soviet allegation that Mott died after he slashed his own throat aboard a Siberian-bound prison train in January. Mott was headed for a Russian labor camp to serve an 18 month term for crossing the Soviet-Norwegian border last September without a visa.

A third tour of the United States will be made in August-September by the Beatles a spokesman announced last week. Among the cities to be included in the tour are New York, Chicago and San Francisco with perhaps an appearance in Washington.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. predicted at an Australian news conference Monday that the U.S. would beat Russia in landing a man on the moon . . . and before 1970. He and astronaut Frank Borman were in Sydney during an Australian tour.

The wedding of Crown Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands and Claus Von Amsberg, a former German diplomat, soldier and Hitler youth member took place last week amid hostility and anti-German demonstrations. The marriage of 28-year-old Beatrix, Holland's future queen, evoked widespread criticism from many Dutchmen and particularly Dutch Jews. More than 100,000 of them mostly from Amsterdam, died in Nazi concentration camps during World War II.

In a television statement following the wedding, Von Amsberg, who became a Dutch prince through the marriage, appealed to the people to "give us a chance to build a new future together with you all." With the title of prince, Von Amsberg also received an annual income of $80,000. More than half the Amsterdam City Council refused to attend the wedding, as did the rabbis of the principal Jewish congregations in the city.

Over 300 demonstrators burned flares before the palace where the reception was held and threw smoke bombs at the golden coach that carried the Princess and her husband to the ceremony. They will receive about $168,000 a year from the state treasury for living expenses.

The American Jewish Congress appealed to Secretary of State Dean Rusk to repudiate what they called the "ugly practice" of excluding Jews from diplomatic posts in Arab countries. Dr. Joachim Prinz, president of the congress, cited a letter by Assistant Secretary of State Douglas MacArthur stating that while religion is not normally a factor in assigning employees for duty abroad, "this is regrettably a factor which cannot be ignored in case of certain countries whose policies in this respect we cannot control, however much we disagree with them."

Dr. Prinz expressed dismay at the letter and charged that once "we concede the right of foreign governments to exclude an American representative solely because of his religion, then ultimately only a certain kind of moral, political and ethnic neuter will be eligible for diplomatic assignment."

A Superior Court jury in Brockton found Arthur M. Leate, 29, of that city guilty of second degree murder in the death of a Puerto Rican cranberry bog worker last August. The jury delivered its verdict after 10 hours of deliberation. Judge James L. Vallely of Newton sentenced Leate to life imprisonment at the Massachusetts Correctional Institute at Walpole. Leate was charged with stabbing to death Reimondo Colon, 31, of Carver, in a scuffle in the bog workers' camp.

The son of a dean at Colby College was killed early Saturday when a three-alarm fire roared through an apartment block at 27 Glenville Ave., Brighton. Dead was George Thomas Nickerson, 27. Fifty other persons were driven to the street by the blaze which destroyed the top two floors of the four-story structure.

The April draft call will amount to 21,700 men, according to the Defense Department. The figure, they stated, represents an eight-month low reflecting a pattern of rising Army enlistments which hit a 10-year high in January.

A Long Island, New York woman was delivered of twin girls Sunday while relaying instructions over the phone from her sister-in-law . . .. a registered nurse . . . to the distraught father. Following the phone instructions, Roy M. Platz Jr. delivered the first baby, while police brought in the second, which had not been expected.

Yale University's governing body is exploring the possibility of admitting women to the college. After a meeting of the corporation on Saturday, Yale president Kingman Brewster Jr. said, "We think we ought to make a further study to see whether we could not serve women more than just in our graduate and professional schools. We want to know what kind of co-education makes sense."

The university qualified its interest in admitting woman by emphasizing it would not be in favor of any plan which would mean reducing the number of men at Yale and that the additon of women would have to be underwritten by sufficient funds to maintain the quality of the university.

Irish short story writer Frank O'Connor died last week in Dublin at the age of 63. O'Connor began writing in the 1930's. His real name was Michael O'Donovan.

A South Boston youngster disappeared last week between her home and a neighborhood store. Six-year-old Cheryl Killin was sent to the store for groceries before going to school. When she failed to return, her mother, Mrs. Margaret Killin contacted police who ordered a hunt for the missing child.

A second cache of paintings by the French impressionist Claude Monet has been discovered and an estimated value of $2 million placed on the find. The discovery of the 46 paintings, all by Monet himself, is in addition to the unearthing of his private collection which included works by Delacroix, Degas, Manet, Renoir and Pissaro. The first hoard, worth $5.5 million was discovered in the home of the painter's son Michael who died Feb. 8. The second was found during an inventory of the house in Normandy where the painter died in 1926. Both finds were bequethed to the Academic des Beaux Arts in Paris by the younger Monet.

President Johnson's request for over $13 billion in emergency funds was approved last week by the House Appropriations Committee. All but $415 million of the funds is earmarked for direct military programs in Vietnam. The $415 million includes $275 million for economic programs in Vietnam; $25 million for the Dominican Republic; $7.5 million each for Laos and Thailand and $100 million for the President's emergency foreign aid fund. The balance of money will go for increases in military and civilian personnel in Vietnam; production of aircraft, ordnance, ammunition and other hardware and construction of additional military facilities. About $1.8 billion of the total $7 billion alloted for military procurement would be used to replace aircraft lost in Vietnam.

Officials of Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield testified at a State Insurance Division hearing that a special program has been developed to protect Massachusetts residents over 65 against expenses not covered

LUNCHEON PLANNERS — Mrs. Lawrence Phillips, left, and Mrs. Murray Schoem, both of Newton, are reservations chairmen for the annual luncheon of the Women's Scholarship Association May 4th at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

Artists Contribute Works To Help Luncheon Success

The increasing number of reservations being received at this time for the annual luncheon of the Women's Scholarship Association indicates a complete success for the fund-raising event.

Mrs. Lawrence Phillips and Mrs. Murray Schoem, reservations chairmen, both of Newton, stated this week that the event, to be held at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel on May 4th, will draw a capacity attendance.

A luncheon was held recently at the home of Mrs. Earle Groper in Newton to honor the more than 80 hostesses who will participate in in luncheon.

The May social event will display fashions by Fiandaca of Boston and the Patty Ann Shop of Salem.

Also featured will be drawings for paintings by Newton artists Charlotte Rockwood and Ruth Golub, and of Edna Hibel of Boston.

Mrs. Jack Smookler is Association persident; Mrs. Joseph Yanofsky, also of Newton, is luncheon chairman.

Proceeds of the annual luncheon of the Association help provide scholarships for young women students to area colleges.

Chief Purcell To Speak At NU's Police Seminar

Northeastern University's second annual national police seminar scheduled for May 5 to 7 in Boston's Statler Hilton, will have an impressive array of speakers, including Philip Purcell, Newton's chief of police, who is also president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Other speakers include Governor John A. Volpe, Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, Police Chiefs Stanley Shroetel of Cincinnati and Thomas J. Cahill of San Francisco, and Mayors John F. Collins of Boston and Samuel W. Horty of Los Angeles.

The seminar, "The Police Challenge; 1966," will direct its attention to the problems of providing protection while maintaining individual rights.

Newton Men On Panel For Tufts Assembly

Four residents of Newton will be among 80 invited participants attending the eighth annual assembly on Massachusetts Government on the Tufts University campus Mar. 22-23.

The conference will explore the subject "The Public Servant," non-elective government service.

The local participants will be John Ahern, vice president of the New England Electric System; George Goodwin Jr., 38 Balcarres Rd., West Newton; Robert M. Segal, 74 Sylvan Ave., West Newton, and Theodore J. Hoppe, 73 Glen Ave., Newton Centre.

Color Movie To Be Shown At Carr School

The Creative Arts Committees of Carr and Horace Mann Schools will sponsor a quality movie program at the Carr School, 225 Nevada street, Newtonville, on Saturday, March 19.

The major feature is based on the book "A Dog of Flanders." It was filmed in color in Holland and Belgium. There will be a Dr. Seuss cartoon on the same program.

Tickets for the two showings, 12:30 to 2:15 and 2:30 to 4:15, may be purchased at the door.

Those who have charge of the program are Mrs. Lootfi Gayzagian, Mrs. Daniel Kunitz, Mrs. Marlow Sigal and Mrs. Harry Tarlin.

Lesson-Sermon On Matter At Science Church

Continuing a study of the spiritual versus material concepts of substance, Christian Science churches this week will present a lesson-sermon on "Matter."

Jesus' parable of the tares and the wheat (Matt. 13) will be used for the responsive reading. Another of the Bible references to be considered is from II Timothy: "In a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honor, and some to dishonor. If a man, therefore, purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work."

A corresponding passage is from the Christian Science textbook: "The suppositional warfare between truth and error is only the mental conflict between the evidence of the spiritual senses and the testimony of the material senses, and this warfare between the Spirit and flesh will settle all questions through faith in and the understanding of divine Love" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Sloan Fellowship For MIT Faculty Man Of Newton

Dr. William C. Luth of 42 Charlesbank Rd., Newton, a member of the faculty at M.I.T., has received a Sloan Research fellowship from the Alfred Sloan Foundation as a part of its Program for Basic Research in the Physical Sciences.

His professional interests center around studies of silicate-water systems.

Candidates for Sloan Basic Research fellowships are nominated by department heads or other scientists from their universities who are familiar with their research and potential. A committee composed of leading scientists from a number of American universities reviews the nominations and makes the final selections.

The selection process has been very successful in identifying promising and creative young scientists and giving them support at an early stage in their careers.

The unique feature of this particular program is that the Fellows are free to choose the scientific problems which they wish to investigate, and they are also free to change or modify their researches. Before his recent death, Mr. Sloan said of this program, "We believe that anyone engaged in basic research needs such freedom because creative thinking cannot be charted in advance or put on a schedule."

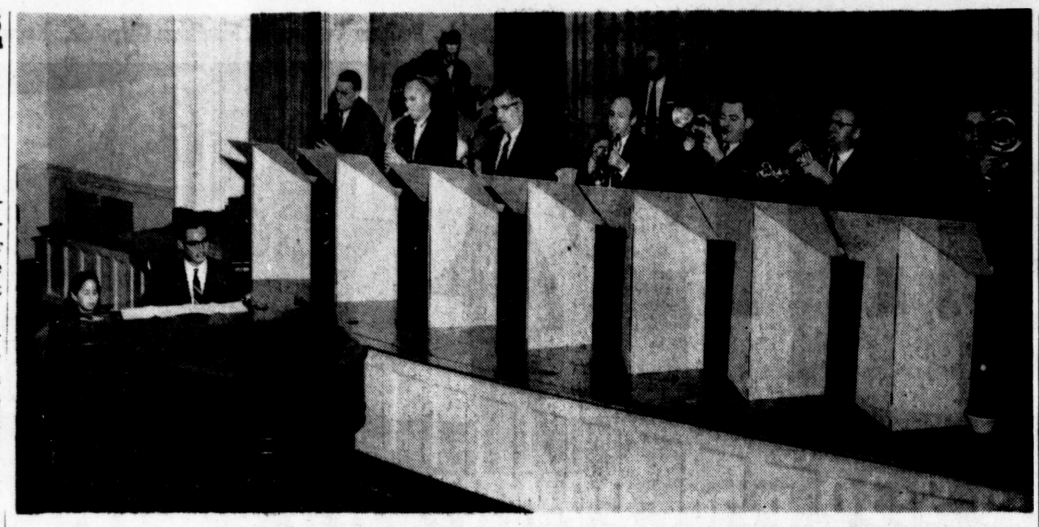

Africa Revolt Topic For 2nd Church Series

"Our Christian Responsibility in the African Revolution" was the topic for Rev. William K. DuVal at the Newtonville Methodist Church on March 13.

This was the second session of the University of Life series sponsored by Newton Methodist and Newtonville Methodist Churches. The first session on March 6 attracted an attendance of 240, a new high for recent years.

Mr. DuVal is secretary of African and European affairs for the Presbyterian Church. Previously he was in charge of services to refugees for the World Council of Churches. His talk, which is open to the public, will be from 6:40 to 7:40 p.m.

Folk music and worship was the program for the youth division, with the Rev. John F. Smith, Boston University Chaplain. Mr. Tony Seeger of Harvard University led the children's division in "Fun With Music."

Business Men Relax With Music At Local 'Y'

With Spring in the air, the "Busy Men's Band" at the YMCA in Newton, purveyors of the popular music of the 30's and 40's is preparing itself for some presentations in and around the area, but they are also looking for more hidden talents.

As Donald Keddy of West Newton, chairman for the group, stated "with over 250,000 people in the area surrounding the Y, there certainly must be more men who would enjoy reviving their talents."

Pop's Band, Business and Professional Men's Band, Working Men's Band, or Busy Men's Band—whatever its name, is fun. It's work of a different sort, a change of pace that can have meaning and accomplishment. In general, it is a gathering of men who during the day of labor at many different jobs from healing the sick to decorating a house with paint.

Since October of '65, some of the 15 to 20 men have gathered every Tuesday night to try out and practice instruments and talent that they put away some years ago.

The gang get together along about 7:30 p.m. and jams till about 8:00 p.m., when all that are coming have arrived, and then they get down to a more serious bit of music.

Members of the "Y" whose normal interests are only squash, basketball, weight lifting, etc. in a physical way, now stop in the lobby to listen and comment favorably on the group's rendition of music of the 30' and 40's. Even these uninitiated recognize the pieces played by statements such as "Gee, that's Glen Miller's 'Moonlight Serenade,' or "Wasn't that Hoagy Carmichael's 'Star Dust'?". And it was, too.

These men are amateurs and like it that way. They are looking for some more people who would be interested in reviving their own talents, too, and especially if they play any of the following instruments: trombones, all tones of saxophones, trumpets, drums, and a slap bass player or two for the rhythm section.

Orchestrations for over thirty selections have come in to the group's library. To date, men from the area surrounding the "Y" who have participated are: Anthony Rondilone, of Allston; Frank Engel, of Belmont; Thomas Mapelsden, of Norwell; Edward Reed and Lucas Taddeo, of Waltham; plus the following from the Newtons — Charles Blauer, Robert Boyer, Lawrence Davis, Robert Gilfillan, Ronald Graumont, David Greene, Donald Keddy, Curtis Muller, Wilfred Rounseville, Arnold Tompkins, and John Weaver.

Any man with get-up and go, and hidden past talents can wander in and join the group, but if you're skeptical and want assurance, just call Leonard Garfield at the Y—the number is BI 4-6050.

Adult Sewing Classes Taking Applicants Now

Registration for the Newton Community Center Adult Sewing Classes are now underway. The course which will run for an 8 week period and will meet each Thursday morning. Classes start at 9:30 a.m. and end at noon.

Instruction is geared for the beginner as well as the advanced. This is dependent upon the individual. Included in the course are: adults and children's clothing, use of machines, and pattern cutting. The Bishop Method with no basting will also be presented.

Mrs. Marie Riccio, director of sewing at the Community Center possesses a wealth of experience with an outstanding foundation of formal training.

Registrations will be taken at the agency 429 Cherry street in West Newton or by phoning 244-2260. Hours of registration are Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday mornings 9:30 a.m. to noon. Class enrollment is limited therefore, interested individuals are urged to register immediately to insure a place in the class.

Carolyn R. Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving S. Bloom, 11 Tennyson Rd., West Newton, is cast as the Salvation Army lassie in an Oberlin College production of the Damon Runyan classic, "Guys and Dolls." She is a conservatory freshman at the Ohio college.

Brainwashing To Be Explained By Mark Finley

A demonstration in brainwashing and how it is being used to switch American attitudes toward Communism through Red strategy in manipulating U.S. newspapers, television, and radio, will be presented at a meeting of the Boston College Knights of Columbus Council at Bapst Library, Boston College on Wednesday, Mar. 23, at 8 p.m.

The speaker will be Lt. Col. Mark Finley, promotion director of the Boston Record American-Sunday Advertiser and the title of his talk is "Pink Shoelaces and Three Chipmunks".

An officer in U.S. Army Reserve Psychological Warfare, Col. Finley served 46 months in Europe in World War II and holds the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, and the Croix de Guerre decorations.

The committee includes James Gilbert, 143 Bridge street, Newton, and Richard Reinhard , 257 Cabot street, and Andrew Nicoletts, 17 Farquhar road, both Newtonville.

ADA Will Meet On Platform

Newton members of ADA will meet Sunday evening, Mar. 20, at 8 o'clock, in the home of Rep. and Mrs. Irving Fishman, 1457 Beacon St., Waban, to discuss revision and up-dating of its platform in preparation for the state convention of Americans for Democratic Action.

Specialists in each area will clarify and explain issues. A coffee hour will precede the meeting.

Anyone interested in joining ADA may call Mrs. Milton D. Rubin at DE 2-9617.

Retired Persons On Panel With Newton Group

Representatives from the Needham Senior Adult Center will join with members of Newton Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons in a panel discussion of work for the expanded program for the retired.

It will be held at the regular meeting of the local group on Monday afternoon, Mar. 21, at 1:30 o'clock, in the parish hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1135 Walnut St., Newton Highlands.

A business session and program of community singing will precede the meeting, and refreshments will be served after it by the following committee: Mrs. Lemuel Mansfield, Miss Flora C. Hubbard, Mrs. Viola Jepson, Mrs. Lucia Locka and Miss Dorothy Seaward.

The chapter meetings are open to anyone 55 or more years old. To join the chapter one must be a member in good standing of either NRTA or AARP. Many services that stretch retirement income are offered to members. For details, get in contact with the president, C. E. Gould Capon, 58 Channing Rd., Newton Centre.

Susan A. Blair, 31 Sewall St., West Newton, and Susan E. Jacobs, 31 Alban Rd., Waban, were named to the Dean's List at Cazenovia College, N. Y.

Traffic Lights On Their Way Pike Tells Mayor

Chairman John T. Driscoll has informed the Mayor and other city officials that the Massachusetts Turnpike long-awaited traffic light equipment needed to control travel on various Newton streets would arrive shortly.

The statement was made at a recent conference with Driscoll that was attended by Mayor Basbas, City Solicitor Matt B. Jones and Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt.

Following the conference, one of a series on the Authority's plans in Newton, the Mayor said he was gratified that the equipment, so necessary for the safety of Newton residents, would be ready within the month.

He also stated that he hoped that the spirit of openness and fruitful inquiry in this and previous parleys would continue in the future.

Christine N. Jones, 79A Norwood avenue, Newton Centre, a student at St. Anne's School, and Sherri Role, 63 Old Farm road, Newton Centre, Newton South High, have been selected as talented high school students for free tuition in a Boston Museum School survey course in Art.

Annual Club Caravan To Be Sunday Temple Event

Temple Emanuel Couples Club, 385 Ward St., Newton Centre, has announced that their annual Club Caravan will take place on Sunday evening, March 20, at 7:45 o'clock.

Once again Club Caravan will be featuring the Vocalaires in a new and exciting program. There will be dancing with music supplied by Lee Daniels and His Orchestra. Many fabulous door prizes and raffles will be drawn, and to complete the evening a late supper will be served.

Chairmen of this event are Joe and Arlene Weisberg. Members of the committee are: Al and Naomi Greene, reservations; Ira and Eunice Bluestein, raffles; Julian and Ruth Pactovis, publicity; Irwin and Judy Goldstein and Marvin and Bernice Berkowitz, decorations.

Also assisting in the event are Max and Pearl Schertzer, presidents; victor and Estelle Mitchell, vice presidents; Leonard and Selma Freed, Melvin and Gail Norris, Jack and Esther Resnik, Joe and Ann Furman, and Arnold and Harriet Phillips.

Dr. John Bennett To Be Paulist Series Lecturer

The Rev. Dr. John C. Bennett, president of Union Theological Seminary, New York, co-editor of the liberal Protestant Journal, Christianity and Crisis, will be guest speaker for the Christian Culture Lecture at the Paulist Center, 5 Park street, Boston, Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:15.

His topic will be: The Cold War and After; a Christian View."

The Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., Boston College Law School Dean, will be program chairman.

Dr. Bennett, a widely-known educator and ecumenist, has long been active in civil rights and peace movements, and lectures and writes extensively in the cause of social justice. He has written many books on social ethics and contemporary sociological problems and challenges.

Newton patrons of the series include Mrs. John T. Burns, J. Joseph Callahan and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. White.

Teachers Get Fellowships For Special Projects

Ten Newton teachers who have done some creative thinking in new dimensions of teaching content and materials have been awarded Fellowships for the purpose of further development of their ideas and materials.

The Fellowship program sponsored jointly by the Newton Teachers Association and the Newton School Department, provides a limited number of teachers an opportunity to receive from one to five days of released time from classroom responsibilities to pursue in-depth special projects related to teaching.

The seven projects selected for Fellowship grants this year were among 22 submitted for evaluation to the Professional Development Committee of the Newton Teachers Association. The projects represent both individual and group work and focus upon a wide range of professional interests.

They include the creation of materials entitled "The Developmental Tasks of the Adolescent," for use with High School seniors in a psychology course; the making of tapes for "The Development of Auditory Discrimination," for children in a beginning reading program; the preparation of tapes in language arts aimed at "individualization" for elementary grades; a revision of the Home Economics program, "Focus: Living" for junior high school; the production of two units for intermediate grades one, "A Comparative Study of the History of Ghana and the Union of South Africa;" the other, "Exploring Problems in Human Relation;" and an "Evaluation and Projection of Existing First Grade Linguistic Program."

The recipients of the Fellowships are: Charles F. C. Henderson, South High; Judith Davidson, Horace Mann; Barbara Kelley and Sara Pettinelli, Bigelow Junior High; Cornell R. Rohde, Countryside; Priscilla Newell, Horace Mann; Paula Endo, Bowen; Dorothy Mattson, Nancy Kelly, and Christine Kamp, Franklin.

The recipients were selected by the Professional Development Committee of the Newton Teachers Association. The members are: Miss Virginia Joyce, chairman; Dr. Charles E. Brown, Dr. James Laurits, T. John Bizios, Mrs. Ave Bond, Miss Ruth Chadwick, Dr. J. Bernard Everett, Robert Hurlbut, Dr. Edward Landy, William Lorenz, Joseph Clancy and Harold Beattle.

Lands In Top Group Of Car Salesmen

A 100-Club award will be formally presented this spring to George H. Miller of Bellon-Hurfer Lincoln-Mercury, Lnc. Newtonville, for his sales proficiency that place him in the top third of all Lincoln-Mercury salesmen.

The club's membership, that now goes to him, is a nationwide recognition of outstanding salesmen.

ROBERT SANTINO

Branch Offices Are Opened By Insurance Agency

Robert Santino, who recently opened his own insurance agency in Boston, has announced the establishment of branch offices in Springfield and Revere as part of a statewide expansion program.

Santino, whose headquarters are at 18 Tremont street, is serving both the accident and health and life fields as regional manager for Massachusetts Life Insurance Company and a general agent for Hearthstone Insurance Company of Massachusetts. He formerly was regional manager for Hearthstone, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Combined Insurance Company of America.

A resident of 80 Cedar Lane, Westwood, Santino has a twelve-year background in the insurance business, beginning as a sales trainee for Hearthstone Insurance Company in 1954. Eighteen months later he was promoted to field sales manager in charge of half the state of Massachusetts. Four years later he was promoted to regional manager for the entire state and Connecticut as well.

Sports Roundup

The defending champion Boston Celtics are in serious danger of losing the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association to the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Celtics routed the Baltimore Bullets 129-98 at the Boston Garden last Sunday, but the 76ers, trailing at one stage by 12 points, came from behind to defeat the New York Knicks 115-113.

This left the 76ers a full game ahead of the Celtics. Each team has three games left to place.

Coach Red Auerbach predicted his Celtics will win their three remaining games with Detroit Thursday, New York Saturday and Cincinnati at the Boston Garden Sunday but pointed out that somebody will have to beat the 76ers in order for the Celtics to finish in a tie for first place.

Philadelphia's remaining games are with New York, Cincinati and Baltimore, and Auerbach is hoping the 76ers will run into trouble on Baltimore's home court on Sunday.

Should the Celtics and 76ers finish in a deadlock for first place in the Eastern Division, the tie-breaking game would be played in Philadelphia's Convention Hall since the 76ers hold a 6-4 advantage over the Celtics in the season's series.

If the Celtics lose the Eastern Division title to the 76ers, their hopes for a ninth NBA championship would fade.

It would mean that the Celtics would meet the Cincinnati Royals in a best 4-out-of-7 game series. If they won, as it is expected they would, they then would face the rested 76ers. The Celtics defeated the Cincinnati Royals 124-120 last Thursday night.

The Boston Red Sox lost their first fixe exhibition games in spring training, being defeated successively by the Chicago White Sox, the Pittsburgh Pirates, twice by the Kansas City A's and on Monday by the New York Yankees.

Poor defensive play was largely responsible for the first four losses. The Red Sox committed nine errors in those games and yielded 22 runs. Manager Billy Herman's charges played errorless ball against the Yankees Monday, but the Yankees scored a run in the ninth inning on Bobby Richardson's single to win 5-4.

There have been both bright and dark spots in the Red Sox training camp. George Scott, triple-crown winner and most valuable player in the Eastern League last year is making a strong bid for the third base top which Joe Foy, minor league player of the year in 1965, was supposed to have tied up.

Scott has looked so well both at bat and in the field that Herman is trying out Foy at second base.

Pete Charton is making a big bid for a place on the Sox pitching staff. Charton hurled three perfect innings against the Pirates last Friday as the Red Sox bowed 5-2, retiring nine men in a row, and on Monday limited the Yankees to two hits and one run in four innings as he struck out four.

Big Dick Radatz was blasted out of the box in the second inning as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Red Sox 8-4 Sunday in the first game played at the new stadium in Winter Haven, Fla. The Athletics scored seven runs off Radatz in one and two-thirds innings. Second Baseman George Smith, obtained from Detroit for his fielding, opened the floodgates with an error, but Radatz was far from a puzzle to the A's as he yielded six hits and two walks. Tony Horton and Dalton Jones also committed errors.

Scott hit a 450-foot home run and a single in Sunday's game. Horton had three singles and Jones a pair of singles. The Red Sox outhit the A's 10-8, but the three Sox errors were costly.

In their opening exhibition game last Thursday the Red Sox lost 4-3 to the White Sox at Sarasota as the White Sox stole three bases and picked two Boston runners off base. Boston outhit Chicago 11-8. Radatz pitched two scoreless innings in that game.

The Red Sox bowed to the Pirates 5-2 last Friday, lost to Kansas City 5-4 on Saturday and to Kansas City again 8-4 on Sunday.

The Boston Bruins lost to Detroit 8-4 before a crowd of 13,049 at the Boston Garden Sunday. The Bruins are now headed for their sixth straight last position in the National Hockey League.

Harvard won an unprecedented third straight Heptagonal Track Championship last Saturday as it edged Army 57-56 at Ithaca.

Cassius Clay and George Chuvalo are to meet in a dizzy, on - again - off - again heavyweight champion s h i p bout in Toronto on March 29. Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association titleholder, originally was scheduled to fight Clay but withdrew after a contract row.

Since Chuvalo is considered to have practically no chance of beating Clay the fight looms as a financial bust. Sam Silverman, however, announced that a closed circuit telecast of the bout will be shown at the Boston Arena. Silverman ignored a request by the State Boxing Commission that the fight not be telecast in Massachusetts.

The Boston College basketball team defeated Louisville in the opening game of the National Invitation Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden, but it took three overtime periods for the Eagles to chalk up the thrilling triumph.

Louisville led 74-72 with seconds to go in the regulation game. B. C. Captain Ed Hockenbury tossed in a hook shot at the buzzer to deadlock the count at 74-74 and send the game into overtime. Boston College pulled ahead in the final overtime period.

The Red Sox game this Sunday (March 20) with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa will be televised over WHDH-TV. A game Saturday with Detroit at Winter Haven will be broadcast over radio station WHDH.

The World Boxing Association dropped Cassius Clay as its No. 1 heavyweight contender and replaced him with Zora Zolley who agreed to fight Ernie Terrell in New Orleans on May 16. The W.B.A. recognizes Terrell, not Clay, as the heavyweight champion.

No member of the Boston Celtics was named to the NBA all-star team, picked by the players for the Sporting News.

Felix Mantilla, who insists he is going to play somewhere with the Red Sox this year, has been working out at first base. Mantilla, who apparently is not counted on by Billy Herman as one of his starters, was the leading Red Sox RBI man last season when he drove in 96 runs.

Auburndale Girls' Choir Interprets Lenten Story

A Rhythmic Choir of teenage girls will interpret the Lenten Story at services at the Auburndale Congregational Church on March 20.

The choir will portray the story of Jesus' betrayal in the Garden of Gethsemene through the Crufixion with a combination of pantomime and sacred dance.

The choir recently did a portion of this interpretation on the Massachusetts Council of Churches hour long program on "The Churches and the Fine Arts" on Channel 38 TV.

Although the idea of sacred dance has been handed down through the centuries from pre-Christian time (dance as worship is mentioned several times in the Old Testament), the idea of Rhythmic Choir is relatively new.

The Auburndale church has felt it is an excellent medium for engaging its teenage girls in the life and service of the church.

This choir under the direction of Mrs. Martin E. Gibbs, wife of the church's assistant minister, and Mrs. Edward Harris is regularly included in the church's Sunday worship service, interpreting hymns, Scripture readings, Psalms, and creeds.

For the Christmas Eve service the girls formed a candlelight processional. On Palm Sunday they will process carrying palm branches. The girls wear simple white robes and various colored scarves to denote the religious season or to help set the mood for their interpretation.

When the girls were asked what they felt they have gained from being in the Rhythmic Choir, the most common response was that of being an active participant in worship and serving to lead others in worship. One girl very seriously referred to it as "devotion in motion."

The girls practice weekly under the guidance of Mrs. Gibbs, 87 Grove St. Mrs. Gibbs is assisted by Mrs. Edward Harris, 167 Woodland Rd.

Rhythmic Choir members, all of Auburndale, are Tina Takayanagi, 12 Oakwood Rd.; Sally Rodd, 40 Groveland St.; Cheryl Fraser, 29 Fern St.; Susan Tunstall, 256 Woodland Rd.; Julia Thurber, 12 Maple St.; Laura Lohman, 22 Lake Ave.; Betsy Brooks, 50 Woodland Rd.; Marilyn Mack, 346 Auburndale Ave.; Judy Carmichael, 43 Central St.; Lee Sherman, 329 Central St.; and Betsy Harrer, 366 Central St.

All services of the Auburndale Congregational Church are open to the public. Sunday morning worship begins at 10:45 o'clock.

Old Col. Group At Antique Show

Mrs. Fred A. Lightbourn of 14 Larkspur Rd., Waban, is a member of the committee of Old Colony Chapter, Historical Society of Early American Decoration, which is scheduled as an exhibitor at the Boston City Club antique show at 39 Beacon St., Boston, Mar. 22, 23 and 24.

The Society, formed in memory of Esther Stevens Brazier, is observing its 20th anniversary this year. Mrs. Brazier taught and researched early American decorative styles and techniques in the Boston area. Many of her former pupils are charter members of Old Colony Chapter.

GOP Ward Six Committee In Spring Plans

The Republican Ward Six Committee met this past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell R. Freeman of Homer Street, Newton Centre, to plan its forthcoming Annual Spring event.

In preparation, the Nominating Committee which is to bring in a slate of Ward Officers at that time, was appointed with the following membership: Mrs. William Lane Bruce, Chairman; Wendell R. Freeman, William P. Ripley, Mrs. Malvin White.

Mrs. Arthur J. Taylor of Waban Hill Road was elected to membership in the Ward Committee.

Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe was appointed Chairman of Arrangements for the Spring Annual Meeting of the Ward.

A special report on plans for the Salute to Saltonstall Dinner to be held April 19 under the auspices of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee was given by Theodore Green, Ward Six Finance Chairman.

Among those attending the Ward meeting were: William L. Bruce, Chairman; State Committeewoman Mrs. William L. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Citron, Wendell R. Freeman, Theodore Green, David A. Lurensky, Mrs. Ren Marcou, William P. Ripley, Mrs. Herman L. Smerling, Mrs. Arthur J. Taylor, Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Edward A. Winsor.

Kiwanis Head Explains Club's Freedom Work

The Hon. Tom C. Clark, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and president of the National Conference on Citizenship, has strongly endorsed the principles of the new Kiwanis-sponsored Freedon Leadership program, according to Robert L. Tennant, president of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Clark has long been active in efforts to strengthen the American heritage of freedom through explaining and demonstrating it to the people, Tennant explains.

The program, he adds, which is being undertaken this year and afterwards by many of the 5400 Kiwanis clubs, has substantially the same ends.

"Basically," he says, "the Freedom Leadership program will be an effort by Kiwanis to bring the freedom guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and America's jurisprudence system to the attention of their fellow citizens of all ages."

Bank Announces Dividend Policy Payment Changes

A change in the dividend payment policy of the Newton National Bank was announced today by Louis G. LeBlanc, president.

Effective in 1966, dividends will be paid on the first business day of April, July, and October 1966 and January 1967.

At a recent meeting the directors declared a dividend payable to stockholders of record March 9, 1966 at the rate of 15 cents regular and 20 cents extra which will be paid on April 1, 1966. On an annual basis, this would amount to an increase of 10 cents per share.

At the same meeting it was also voted to continue the payment of 4% per annum on savings accounts. Interest is computed to April 1 and October 1. Deposits made by customers prior to the 10th day of each month will draw interest from the first day of that month.

by Medicare. Henry Jones, executive director of Blue Cross, told the hearing that predictions show Medicare will cover about 50% of the health care costs of the aged and that the new Blue Cross plan would fill the gaps not covered by Medicare. Jones said Medicare participants who are Blue Cross-Blue Shield members up to June 30 and have notified Blue Cross they are 65, automatically will be converted to the Medicare Extension plan. Medicare participants not Blue Cross members will be given a chance to apply for a Medicare Extension plan starting April 1.

Two masked gunmen last week held up a restaurant on School Street in Watertown and held a cook and two waitresses captive before escaping with $4,700. Watertown police said one of the robbers wore a Halloween mask and the other a mask and false beard. A customer, John White, was struck on the head by one of the men with a pistol when he laughed because he thought the men were playing a joke.

The son of U.S. Ambassador to India Chester Bowles last week refused to sign the state teachers' loyalty oath at Harvard University. Samuel S. Bowles, 26, an economics instructor at Harvard said he has no intention of signing the oath, adding, "I believe the requirement of an affirmation of loyalty represents a political interference with a private university and an interference with freedom of speech." Bowles joined the Harvard faculty in September and according to Sargent Kennedy, secretary of the Harvard corporation, Bowles would have until March 31 to sign the oath; otherwise the corporation would have to dismiss him.

First it was Alcoholics Anonymous, then Narcotics Anonymous and Gamblers Anonymous. Now a new organization has been formed called Neurotics Anonymous. More than 250 neurotics, ranging from teen-agers to elderly ladies, filled a New York church to overflowing Sunday for the first meeting in that city. Most of the troubled persons attending the meeting shielded their faces with their hands or programs when photographers tried to take their pictures.

A survivor of the Special Forces camp near the Laotian border overwhelmed last week by the Viet Cong, charged that many of the Vietnamese defenders of the outpost went over to the Viet Cong and turned their guns on his men.

Camp Commander Capt. John D. Blair was one of the last three Americans to be flown out by helicopter from the camp. He had spent more than 36 hours dodging the Viet Cong in nearby jungles. Near tears, and choking from emotion, Blair charged that the CIDG (Vietnamese Civilian Indigenous Defense Group) "were really Viet Cong." Blair had only high praise, however, for the Nungs, Vietnamese-born Chinese whom the Americans rate as top-notch fighters.

The camp was manned by several hundred CIDG and Nungs as well as 19 American Special Forces men. Blair said a handful of Americans made a last-ditch stand at the fort, "But the CIDG went over to the Viet Cong and turned their guns on us."

A Special Forces liason officer who met Blair as he stepped out of the copter tried to quiet him but Blair was too emotional to be calmed. His charges were supported by the Americans who came out of the jungle with him on the last helicopter evacuating the camp.

A $3 million anti-trust damage suit was filed against the General Electric Company, accusing the company of attempting to monopolize the college-graduate market. The action was filed by Information Science Inc., a firm which makes inventories of skills and talents of the labor force and matches them with opportunities in government and industry. G.E. recently received a contract from the College Placement Council to establish with the use of its computers, a pool of college students listed by career aptitudes. A spokesman for Information Science Inc. charged the contract would give G.E. the first opportunity as "the cream of the college youth."

Governor Volpe was slightly more optimistic after conferring for almost an hour with State and federal mediators at his State House office. "We hope it may be settled in the not-too-distant future," declared Volpe. The Governor said, however, that he had nothing new to report.

A former deacon of a Lynn church, who has protested his innocence since he was convicted in January, 1964, for the armed robbery of a Saugus loan company, will be eligible for parole from prison in May.

Samuel G. Donnell, Jr., who has claimed that he was a victim of a case of mistaken identity at his trial, originally was sentenced to life imprisonment. The Governor's Council by a 7-1 vote commuted his sentence to 8 to 12 years.

Donnell's pastor and scores of his friends joined in a long fight to get him his freedom. Members of his church have pledged to pay $1800 he has incurred in legal fees.

His minister said two jobs will be waiting for him when he is released from prison.

The Pentagon released figures showing that two out of every nine American enlisted men killed in Vietnam last year were Negro. The Defense Department attributed these figures to "the valor of the Negro in combat."

America's top-ranking military man in the nation differed with both President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey in their contentions that the tide of battle in Vietnam has turned in U.S. favor. General Earle Wheeler, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he felt it was "too soon to say" whether the U.S. had reached a turning point in the war. He told newsman, however, that U.S. and Allied forces were beginning to successfully flush out Viet Cong troops and prevent their escape.

Over 300 law officers joined the search for a crazed killer who stabbed 7-year-old Wendy Wolin to death in Elizabeth, New Jersey, last week. The youngster was playing on the sidewalk less than a block from her home when an unidentified man struck her in the right side with a knife and fled on foot. She died about an hour later. So intensive is the search for the killer that not even a $68,000 bank robbery in Elizabeth the next day could draw police from the manhunt for Wendy's killer. The robbery was immediately turned over to the FBI by local police.

Cuban exiles living in the Miami area last week picketed Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth after he arrived there to begin a charity fund raising tour of the United States and Canada. The Cubans marched in front of Philip's hotel carrying signs reading, "England is trading in blood when it trades with Castro," and " England helps Castro stay in power." Asked by newsman if he favors trade with Vietnam or Cuba, Philip answered, "That has nothing to do with me."

Some 20,000 acres of South Vietnam croplands have been sprayed with defolating chemicals to deny their harvests to the Viet Cong, the State Department revealed. In addition, defoliants have also been sprayed on guerilla ambush sites, base areas and trail routes to rob the Viet Cong of their natural foliage cover. The Department said the chemicals are non-toxic and not dangerous to man or animal life and do not affect the area for future use. Meanwhile, in New York, a 46-year-old architect continued a hunger strike to protest U.S. defoliation practices in Vietnam. Robert B. Nichols said he did not believe State Department contentions that only 20,000 acres were involved in the spraying.

A pervert who fatally knifed a pregnant Newark woman and her husband and slashed their 12-year-old son, whom he had sexually abused earlier, was killed in a 90-minute gun battle with police. Samuel Adams Stout, 47, killed one policeman before being shot down himself in a barricaded Orange, New Jersey home. Earlier he had slain David DeVose and his wife Hildegard, when they confronted him for abusing their son Maurice 12. Mrs. DeVose, due to give birth in two weeks, was delivered of her 11th child after the stabbing but the infant died 15 minutes later.

A retired freight agent for the New Haven Railroad who died Feb. 1 at age of 90, has left an estate of $5 million. Edward W. Winslow of Myrick, a small town near Taunton, retired in 1941 from his $40-a-week job with the New Haven. According to his lawyer, Lindsey I. Phillips, Winslow made the fortune "from shrewd investments made in common stocks over the past 60 years." No one in the tiny town of Myrick where Winslow's will was filed for probate, knew that his personal holdings had made him a multimillionaire.

About 10,000 anti-Communist Indonesian students occupied the Education Building in Jakarta last week and later 3,000 more students stormed into Parliment and demanded that Communists be purged from the government.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant reportedly has received word that the North Vietnamese government is appreciative of his peace-making efforts even though it remains noncommittal on his request for negotiations to end the Vietnam war.

Seven American scientists have been appointed to a U.S.-Soviet editorial board which will supervise publication of information of space biology and medicine obtained both by this country and the Soviet Union.

Attorney for Novel-prize willing chemist Dr. Limus Pauling charged in New York State Supreme Court last week that articles in the National Review intimated that because Pauling "seeks peace he is serving Soviet policy." The magazine's editor, William Buckley, insisted that the magazine was entitled to comment on Pauling's political pronouncements.

France declared Wednesday that it now considers it desirable for Britain to enter the European Common Market. The French vetoed such a proposal two years ago. Britain, however, responded with the statement that France's withdrawal from NATO would be an obstacle to British participation in the six-nation trading bloc.

A 17-year-old boy was arrested Wednesday on a charge of suspicion of murder during the Los Angeles riot. He was being held in connection with the killing of Lawrence Gomez, 30, a white driver and the father of five children, who was shot to death as he pounded on doors seeking haven from the rioting Negro mobs.

Cambridge officials announced they will go to Washington to battle the route selected by State Public Works Commissioner Francis W. Sargent for the proposed new Inner Belt Highway. Sargent said the route chosen along Brookline and Elm streets would displace 1235 families and cause a loss of 2116 jobs but that it would "cause the least permanent damage" on Cambridge.

In a radio-television interview over the Canadian Broadcasting Co. Tuesday night, blonde divorcee Mrs. Gerda Munsinger denied she had ever been a spy and insisted her relationship with two former Canadian Cabinet ministers had been purely social. Mrs. Munsinger, who now lives in West Germany, resided in Canada from 1956 to 1961. Canada's liberal Government has charged that the 36-year-old woman's contacts with high officials of the previous Conservative Government may have endangered national security. Mrs. Munsinger said she was a "close friend" of former Associate Defense Minister Pierre Sevigny and an acquaintance of former Trade Minister George Hees.

The 18-month jail sentence imposed on a former Internal Revenue Service supervisor convicted of bribery was left standing this week by U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford. Lawrence W. Chandler, 53, of Winchester pleaded guilty earlier this year to receiving a $1,500 bribe to write off back taxes owed by a Brookline restaurant.

A Springfield father was arraigned in District Court of that city this week, charged with murder in the fatal beating of his 5-week-old daughter. William Saczawa, 18, has been undergoing observation at Northampton State Mental Hospital.

Orren R. Beck Jr., 34, Lyndonville, Vt., was convicted of dangerous driving in Cambridge District Court this week in connection with a fatal accident in February on the Concord Turnpike. Police said Beck was operating an empty truck which slammed into the car of Richard Clark, 31, of Somerville, who later died. Beck who pleaded innocent, said he will appeal the conviction and $200 fine.

Boston & Maine officials said there were no injuries when 13 cars of two eastbound freight trains were derailed early Wednesday in Lunenburg. They explained that a train enroute from New York to Boston ran into four cars of a train waiting on the mainline track to start for Boston. Several hundred feet of track were torn up in the collision.

The National House will take under consideration this week a bill to erect "a modest" $750,000 house for the Vice President. Seeking to sooth the bill's critics, the sponsor, Congressman Kenneth J. Gray (D), Illinoiss, assured the House Rules Committee Tuesday, "A modest home, a small home, that's what it is, not a mansion." Cong. Howard W. Smith (D) Virginia took issue with Gray that a $750,000 house would be a small home. Thhe bill proposes construction of the house on a 10-acre site on the Naval Observatory Grounds in the chic Embassy Row section.

Gray said he envisions a building "about half the size of the White House with three stories. The first floor would contain rooms for official entertaining, the second would have six bedrooms and the third would be devoted to servants 'quarters and storage. Gray said he thought the structure itself could be built for between $600,000 to $650,000 with the balance being used to pay for furnishings.

An 11-month-old infant in Brooklyn, New York, suffering from pneumonia, was sent on a wild goose chase by ambulance through Brooklyn due to the faulty information supplied by a computer. The machine was installed ten days ago to compute available bedspace information from nine Brooklyn hospitals. The computer furnished inaccurate information that a bed was available at two hospitals before the child was finally settled in at a third pediatric ward. Combined traveling time to both hospitals took an hour, according to the child's doctor, who said the trips had in no way harmed the infant.

A former Harvard professor said Tuesday he would appeal, on religious grounds, his conviction in Texas last week of having illegally transported marijuana. Dr. Timothy Leary was sentenced in Laredo to 30 years in jail and a $30,000 fine. His daughter Susan, 18, was convicted of the latter charge and received an indeterminate sentence. They are both free on $2,500 bail each.

Leary, who is widely known for his experiments with hallucinatory plants and chemicals, told newsmen that marijuana and other hallucinatory drugs are "keys" for opening up religious experience. He said that in 1963 he was initiated into a Hindu sect in India and that he is a "visionary prophet." Leary said he uses marijuana frequently for religious and scientific purposes.

In 1963 Leary was dropped from the Harvard University faculty in a furor over his experiments. Both Leary and his daughter have been ordered to prepare for an extended stay in a Federal psychiatric hospital by the Texas judge who sentenced them.

The double launching Wednesday of an unmanned Agena rocket, followed by a two-man Gemini 8 spacecraft, got off to a perfect start in Cape Kennedy. An hour and a half after the rocket was launched at 10 a.m. astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott blasted off in their Titan II rocket to chase the Agena and link up with it 185 miles above the earth. The rendezvous was to take place about 6:11 p.m. Wednesday evening. Astronaut Scott planned to take a two-and-a-half hour walk in space outside the capsule sometime Thursday with the craft traveling at an estimated speed of 17,500 miles per hour.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, urged the eight unions engaged in the years biggest set of labor negotiations, to push for larger gains without worrying about President Johnson's wage-price guide posts. The unions have not estimated the cost of their demands, but they far exceed the Administration's mapping of non-inflationary settlements. In prodding the unions to ignore Johnson's guideposts, Meany told the president in private meetings that organized labor holds no animosity toward him and that the president could count on their support.

Inmates at the Stateville Penitentiary near Chicago have voluntarily been infected with strains of resistant malaria from Vietnam and South America in attempt to test a new antimalarial drug. The research program at the prison was begun in 1944 by the University of Chicago Army Medical Research Project. The current studies have been termed vital due to the fact that new strains of malaria, that resist presently used drugs, are plaguing American troops in Vietnam.

Sixty persons were arrested Wednesday in the Watts section of Los Angeles following the eruption of rioting in which two men were killed, four seriously injured and 20 treated for minor injuries.

Forty students attending the exclusive St. Mark's School in Southboro were questioned Wednesday by police, fire and school officials concerning the $500,000 fire at the school earlier this week. Fire officials said the blaze was definitely the work of arsonists. The 40 students were detained at the school even though their classmates were released for the start of the annual spring holidays.

Twe men were killed in Negro rioting Tuesday in the Watts area of southeast Los Angeles. One was a white truck driver, the father of five children, who was killed by a snipers bullet as he was seeking refuge from the Negro mobs. The other was a Negro who was caught in the crossfire between police and rioters. The rioting began when police attempted to arrest a juvenile for throwing rocks at automobiles. Thirty-four persons were killed, hundreds injured and $45 million in property damage caused during riots in the same section last August.

In sports developments Tuesday the Boston College basketball team was defeated 86-85 by Villanova in a squeaker at the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden, New York. The Red Sox lost their sixth straight exhibition game of the spring training season to the Phillies at Clearwater. Bill White hit three consecutive home runs for the Phillies, and a home run by Doug Clemens in the ninth won the game for Philadelphia. Two of White's homers were hit off Dave Morehead, the other off Earl Wilson. Rico Petrocelli hit a home run for the Red Sox. Needham won the State high school hockey champion by defeating Melrose 2-0 at the Boston Garden.

Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is expected to report to his draft board in Louisburg, Kentucky, this week and request deferment of his 1-A classification on the grounds of dependency. Draft board officials say they believe Clay will plead dependency of his mother who lives with Clay's father, and also dependency on the grounds of $177,500 a year alimony Clay is required to pay his ex-wife following a divorce suit last year.

The owner of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team died Monday night in Chicago, victim of a heart attack. Abe Saperstein, 63, organized the team in 1927 and shaped it into the busiest, funniest and most astonishing basketball team in the country. The team, which combines clowning with straight basketball wizardry, was featured in a 1954 film, "Go, Man, Go," which depicted its rise under Saperstein.

A Mississippi Democrat, stripped of his seniority on the Federal Commerce Committee for having openly supported Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential election, demanded full restoration of his rights this week. Congressman John Bell Williams demanded that House Democrats oust the present Chairman of the Commerce Committee next year and put himself in the post. Williams said his 18 years in the House gives him seniority over everybody else. On orders of the Democratic caucus last year, Williams was reduced to the committee's bottom spot, below a number of members serving their first terms in Congress.

Staff members of the Harvard Crimson have abandoned their efforts to turn out a general newspaper during the Boston newspaper strike. After publishing five editions of the "Boston Crimson," editors said the staff had no time to go to class, to study or to write school papers. In addition, they explained, working 20 hours a day was leading to flu and sniffles.

An assistant professor at Yale University is suing the Secretary of State for return of his passport, cancelled last December following his unauthorized trip to North Viet Nam. Staughton Lynd demanded reinstatement of the passport so he may fulfill speaking engagements in England and Norway in April. The Yale pacifist made a highly publicized "fact-finding" trip to North Viet Nam for which the State Department cancelled his passport under a regulation that permits this whenever a person's activities abroad would be "prejudicial to the orderly conduct of foreign affairs."

The controversial experimental drug DMSO will probably be used within a year to help save victims of serious heart attack, according to the medical team researching the drug. Experiments on animals indicate the chemical can help the heart muscle soak up the oxygen it needs to survive the attack. Use of DMSO in humans was banned by the Food and Drug Administration last fall following disclosure that it had adverse effects on the eyes of test animals. Only patients who seemed virtually at the point of death from massive heart attacks would be given the experimental drug at first.

Valid drivers licenses are held by 27 blind persons in Hawaii under an archaic law that licenses auto drivers for life. Hawaii is the only state that does not require periodic renewal. State Senate president Kazuhisa Abe said recently that bills requiring license renewal are not expected to pass the Legislature.

The Massachusetts House has suspended rules to admit a late-filed bill by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin; Sen. Stanley J. Zarod, (D) Springfield and Rep. Robert Mahan, (D) Leominster to require photographs of licensees on motor vehicles licenses.

It is expected that the long-rumored merger of three New York newspapers will be announced within a month. Under the supposed plan, the N. Y. Journal-American and the N. Y. World Telegram and Sun would merge to form a single afternoon paper, while the Journal-American and morning N. Y. Herald-Tribune would combine their Sunday editions. The move would leave Manhattan with five dailies . . . the morning Daily News, Times and Herald Tribune and the afternoon Post and the combined paper. The three newspapers together had an estimated $10 million loss last year. Suburban newspapers have lured some readers away from all six Manhattan dailies over the years, while the 114-day printers strike of 1962-63 resulted in many New Yorkers losing the newspaper habit.

While scientists at Cape Kennedy prepared for the flight of Gemini 8 Wednesday, a group of American space scientists met at a Washington symposium to predict the space age in 2001. Among their predictions: a college of astrophysics to be located on the moon; shuttle flights to Mars costing $70,000 for the well-heeled traveler; a six-day round-trip excursion to the moon costing $10,000 per person in 35-passenger air "clipper" ships.

The 17th annual National Books Awards were announced Tuesday with the top award in the category of fiction going to Katherine Anne Porter for "The Collected Stories of Katherine Anne Porter." The award provoked some criticism inasmuch as NBA rules stipulate that it should be presented for a new work of fiction of the previous year. Miss Porter's book contained only four previously unpublished stories. In the area of History and Biography, the award went to Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. for "A Thousand Days," and the poetry award was made to James Dickey for his book of verse, "Buckdancer's Choice." The final award, in Arts and Letters, went to Janet Flanner for "Paris Journal (1944-1964)." Miss Flanner has been Paris correspondent for the New Yorker since 1924.

David J. Miller, 23, who publicly destroyed his draft card last October, was given a three year suspended sentence by a Federal court in New York and put on two years probation with orders to carry a draft card at all times and to obey his draft board.

Following sentencing, however, Miller told newsmen he did not intend to abide by the probation conditions, which could result in the revocation of his suspension of sentence. Miller not only burned his draft card during pacifist demonstrations last year, but has also refused to fill out the conscientious objector form requested by his draft board in Syracuse because of his objections to any cooperation with the draft system.

A bolder brand of foreign policy in dealing with Russia, Red China and North Viet Nam has been urged by the Republican Congressional Committee. Flaying the "purely defensive" attitude of President Johnson, the Republican group called for a hard-line policy including: the military use of outer space if necessary; U. S.-aided invasion of Red China by Chinese Nationalists if there is Red Chinese intervention in Viet Nam and a message to North Viet Nam that unless it ceases further aggression, its own existence may be at stake.

The State Legislature honored House Speaker John W. McCormack Wednesday when he appeared before a joint convention of the House and Senate. A resolution was passed declaring March 16 as Speaker John W. McCormack Day in recognition of his years of public service. Earlier in the day, McCormack was feted at a luncheon at the Sheraton-Boston given by Speaker John F. X. Davoren of Milford and attended by Mayor John Collins, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Democratic members of Congress.

Governor Volpe, Senator Edward M. Kennedy and Boston Mayor John F. Collins conferred Wednesday with the chief federal mediator in the Boston newspaper strike, now nearing the end of its second week, in an attempt to determine whether they could help bring an end to the dispute.

The stock market continued to slide Tuesday, as the Dow Jones Industrial Averages moved down 6.01 points to 911.8, its lowest point since September 7.

New England has been warned to gird for a fifth year of drought in a report released by the Federal Water Resources Council. The report urges all levels of government in the drought-ridden area, which covers 100,000 square miles and 13 states, to continue to conserve water and plan new water supply systems. The council found that moisture accumulation through rain and snow since Jan. 1 has been encouraging but it is not yet sufficient to insure there will be no water shortage during the period from July through October.

Holy Cross College in Worcester will break ground shortly for a new $4 million campus center. The center, which will be completed next year, will be named after Henry M. Hogan, a retired vice president and general counsel of General Motors Corp., who headed a Holy Cross development drive begun in 1962.

The Mass. Legislature's Joint Committee on Education is currently considering four bills which would raise the minimum starting salaries of public school teachers. The bills would boost the present $5,000 minimum starting pay to either $5,500 or $6,000. In addition they would set the minimum pay after 10 years of teaching at $8,500. In backing the pay hike bill, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue called the raises "imperative" in order for teachers "to live in dignity, to plan for the future and to remain in the classroom." The bills would involve an additional expenditure of about $20 million.

The majority of non-Communist governments support the United States' role in Vietnam, according to Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Speaking at a Founders' Day banquet at the Boston University School of Public Communications, Rusk said the facts about the cause and nature of the struggle in Vietnam, and the vital stakes involved, are increasingly realized throughout the free world. He said nearly all non-Communist governments and some Communist regimes understand that the U. S. has made persistent efforts to obtain a peaceful settlement in Vietnam and that it is Hanoi and Peking which have barred the road to peace. During Rusk's talk, about 150 college-age pickets marched outside carrying signs protesting U.S. policies in Vietnam.

The Vatican has refused permission for a nun studying at the University of Detroit to appear in a campus theatre production. Sister Bernadette, 23, majoring in drama at the Jesuit school, had earlier received permission to appear in the play from the Archbishop of Detroit.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy said this week he favors Red China's participation in Vietnam peace talks but continues to oppose its admission to the United Nations. Kennedy made the statement in Detroit Monday where he spoke to the 15th annual meeting of the National Council on the Aging.

HEARING NOTICE
FROM OFFICE OF CITY CLERK
NEWTON, MASS.

WHEREAS, Petition has been filed with the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton as defined in list attached hereto under the "Zoning Ordinance, Chapter 23," as amended it is

ORDERED, That a hearing be had on Monday, April 11, 1966, at 7:45 p.m., at City Hall in said City of Newton, before the Committee on Claims and Rules of the Board of Aldermen, at which time and place all parties interested therein will be heard. It is further

ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given publication in the News Tribune, Newton Graphic and Newton Villager, on March 10, 1966 and March 17, 1966.

#210-65 Committee on Zoning recommending the following proposed amendments to Revised Ordinances, 1965:

1. Revise Section 25-1, "Definitions," by adding after the definition of Corner Lot therein, the following definition: Dormitory: A building, owned or controlled directly or indirectly by a school, college, hospital, religious, or like institution providing sleeping quarters for five or more persons.
2. Revise Section 25-15, "Height regulations and exceptions," by amending the phrase "Section 25-7" in the first line thereof to read, "Sections 25-7 and 25-17.1."
3. Add a new Section 25-17.1, "Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts," following Section 25-17, "Floor area restrictions in stories used for residential purposes," to read as follows:

Section 25-17.1 Dimensional requirements for dormitories in residence districts.

In all residence districts where a dormitory is allowed by permission of the Board of Aldermen, the construction, alteration, enlargements, extension or reconstruction of a building or structure as, and the use of a building, structure or land for a dormitory providing sleeping quarters for 20 or more persons, shall be further subject to the procedures established in Section 25-22 and to the following conditions:

(a) Front yard setback — The front yard depth or the setback line from the nearest street line shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(b) Side and rear yards — The side and rear yard depths measured from the boundary lines of the lot on which the building is located shall not be less than the distances established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(c) Building location — A dormitory shall not be closer to any other building on the same lot than 50 feet.

(d) Courts — An inner court shall have a minimum dimension at least equal to twice the average height of the surrounding walls and shall have an opening at ground level with a minimum height of 18 feet and a minimum width of 18 feet to permit access to service and emergency vehicles. An outer court shall be open to the full extend of its width throughout and shall have a width at least equal to one and one-half times the average height of the surrounding walls and a depth no greater than its width. The area of any court which exceeds 15 percent of the "Minimum open area" required herein shall not be included in the calculation of that "Minimum open area".

(e) Building height — The height of any dormitory measured to the roof plate line shall not exceed the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(f) Lot coverage — The maximum percentage of the lot area which may be covered by dormitory buildings, including accessory biuldings or structures, shall not exceed the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(g) Minimum open area — The minimum percentage of the lot area which shall be free from buildings or structures of all kinds, access streets, ways, parking areas, driveways, aisles, walkways, or other constructed aproaches or service areas and also free from outdoor laundry, incinerator or other building service areas shall not be less than the limits established in the "Table of dimensional requirements" in paragraph (i) of this section.

(h) Off-street parking — Off-street parking space shall be provided in accordance with Section 25-20. In no case shall this parking space be located in the required front yard setback, side or rear yards, or in the required minimum open area, except that the board of aldermen may permit parking in these areas in connection with a church.

(i) Table of dimensional requirements

District	Min. Front Yard Setback in ft.	Min. Side & Rear Yards in ft.	Max. Building Heights in ft.	Max Lot Coverage in %	Min. Open Area in %
Single Res A	60	40	45	18	50
Single Res B	50	30	45	18	50

Priv Res	40	30	45	18	45
Res D	30	25	45	25	40
Res E	25	25	60	30	40

4. Revise Section 25-20, "Parking facility requirements for certain buildings," by inserting in subsection (g) thereof after item (13), a new item (14) as follows: (14) One space for each five occupants of a dormitory.

Attest:
Joseph H. Karlin, City Clerk

Notice is hereby given by the Planning Board that it will hold public hearing on the above petition as described in the foregoing notice and at the same time and place.

Attest:
U. M. Schiavone, City Engineer
Clerk, Planning Board

Newton Specialists Show Space Age Money Pays Off

The billions of taxpayers' dollars invested in space age research are beginning to pay handsome dividends back on earth, according to Leon Jaffe, manager of Northeastern Communications Corp., Newton communication systems specialists.

Recently returned from a 2-day electronic engineering conference in Philadelphia, Pa., Jaffe told a Graphic reporter that "American people won't have to depend on a moon landing for a payoff on their investment, because practical benefits already are being realized in everyday life."

Crediting space-inspired advances in solid-state electronics, Jaffe cited the development of "Servo-communications" for schools as a major dividend.

This new concept, he said, incorporates for the first time in a single system the control of clocks, classroom break signals, intercoms, closed circuit automatic telephones, radio and recorded broadcast distribution, vandalism protection, fire evacuation voice instruction, electric power, heating and other utilities, and a number of devices to protect children and ease the growing burden of school administration.

Servo-communications is the invention of DuKane Corporation, St. Charles, Illinois, an electronics manufacturing firm which, in addition to being a major producer of school sound systems and language laboratories, also produces electronic components for the U.S. army, navy, air force and space administrations.

Called "Servo-com" for short, the name was derived from two basic engineering functions, servo-mechanisms and communications, which the company has combined.

All services are installed through consolidations in a single conduit; use several mutual "solid-state" components; require only one panel to house clocks, speakers and vandalism control in individual rooms; and reduce duplication of hardware to a minimum. Since the conduit contains all basic wiring for all services, the addition of future functions, or expansion of the building, can be achieved without costly re-wiring.

These properties, say DuKane engineers, should represent considerable savings to the schools and eliminate the "tower of babble" of uncoordinated systems with separate bidding and duplicate or conflicting construction and maintenance work.

Heart of the Servo-com is a master clock of unique design, controlled by a patented mylar plastic "peg tape" on which can be programmed instructions to people and machines alike, for any minute of the day or for a whole school year. One of the features of the program device is its ability to be quickly scheduled or rescheduled at will by authorized administrative personnel.

Prior systems often required calling in outside clock and electronic experts to make complicated adjustments. The heavy mylar tape is said to be virtually indestructible and may be used over and over again indefinitely.

Beside controlling, correcting and synchronizing all clocks and classroom break signals, the master clock is capable of issuing on and off impulses to heating, ventilating, cooling, pumping, illumination and similar utilities according to prearranged plan. As a dual-coded system, the Servo-com utility control also innovates with a positive built-in instantaneous readback which reports whether or not instructions to remote machinery and equipment have been carried out. Lock-out safety switches, operated with keys by authorized personnel, at utilities and machines, permit safe inspection and repair through overriding of programmed orders from the administrative control center.

To overcome dangers to children inherent in some types of equipment used in shops and laboratories, such as metal-working machinery, electric saws and high voltage instruments, the "peg tape" can be used to shut down circuits during unsupervised hours and to turn them back on during scheduled class periods. Here, also, lock-out remote key-operated switches provide further protection. In addition, the system can provide off-hour shut down of electricity and gas to domestic arts classrooms, kitchens and similar areas.

The public address system, in addition to furnishing direct voice instruction for fire evacuations, a capacity not available in conventional fire alarm systems, also is equipped with emergency executive "red" telephones located

Women's Committee Credited For Brandeis Library Growth

The Brandeis University Library, which began in 1948 with 1000 books on the shelves, passed a milestone last week with the acquisition of its 400,000th volume.

Responsible for the rapid and continuing growth of the library is the 75,000-member Brandeis University National Women's Committee which has also made possible the library's 2068 periodicals with bound back issues, a complete micro-filmed record of The New York Times, an extensive microfilm collection of early American and British literary journals, 4469 recordings, 430 tapes of speeches and lectures, and 65 films.

Organized in 121 chapters in 39 states, the Women's Committee, which is solely responsible for the support of Brandeis' Goldfarb Library and the University's recently opened 250,000-volume capacity Gerstenzang Library of Science, is the largest friends-of-a-library group in the world.

Last year, the Committee contributed the equivalent of the annual income on a $12.8 million endowment to meet the library's budget. This year, their commitment will be increased more than 25 percent.

The women have been responsible for bringing many special and rare book collections to the University. Their activities in their local communities, which stretch from coast to coast, have informed a large number of people about Brandeis' growth and interested many prospective students in attending the University.

Commenting on the 400,000-volume milestone, Brandeis Trustee Mrs. Leon Margolis of Newton Centre, national president of the Women's Committee, said, "It is the result of the calibre of the women involved, coupled with the unique and exciting appeal of Brandeis and the opportunity to make a real contribution in the local community."

She explained that initially, all financial contributions were raised through the annual and life membership dues of the Committee. Now, she said, about one-half of the annual contribution is raised through membership dues. The remainder is received through local chapter "New Books for Old" sales and enrollment in such special programs as the "Named Endowment Program," "Special and Major Book Collections" program, and "Learned Journal Patrons" program.

This year, the Women's Committee is concentrationg on major collections in the sciences, Mrs. Margolis said. Members' $375 contributions are augmented by a $125 donation from the Ford Foundation, under terms of the second Ford Foundation Matching Grant which was awarded to the University in 1964.

The results of the Committee's efforts on behalf of the library are seen annually by representatives of the local chapters and seven regions which convene on the campus for a national conference each year at Commencement.

On Monday, March 7th the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company held a special dinner meeting for its entire staff to honor 23 members of a new Club — "The Vanguards".

The Vanguards is comprised of the above named men and women who have been associated with this bank for the past twenty-five years or more.

While presenting awards to each member of this new Club, President Nathan I. Greene congratulated them all for their length of service to the bank and for their invaluable contributions which have helped the Newton-Waltham Bank reach its present position of prominence in suburban Boston.

Congratulations and best wishes to our Vanguards.

Gen. Taylor, Dr. White Due At Dean Symposia

The general public is invited to participate in three of the most rewarding days in the recent history of Dean Junior College, Franklin, as detailed plans for Dean's Academic Symposium, March 24-26, near completion.

With the introduction of General Maxwell D. Taylor as keynote speaker for the entire symposia on Thursday, March 24, at 8 p.m., a widely diversified program featuring some of the best known figures in public life today will begin. The symposia will not only offer intellectual stimulation through the presentation of noted experts in various fields and the opportunity for the audiences to ask questions, it will also offer outstanding presentations in the realms of music, drama, and art.

General Taylor, incidentally, will appear on the platform of the Louis A. R. Pieri Gymnasium. His subject, as keynote speaker, will be "Decade of Decision."

On Friday, March 25, a panel of distinguished guests headed by the renowned heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White as keynote speaker, will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the Pieri Gymnasium. Entitled "Cakes and Ale or the Hair Shirt," this panel will include Dr. Ashley Montagu, renowned anthropologist; Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of the Harvard Divinity School; Dr. Charles H. Townes, Nobel prize-winning physicist from M. I. T.; and Miss Jo Coudert, authoress and specialist in the humanities.

A number of individual seminars with all of the members of the morning panels as leaders, will be held at various locations on the Dean campus, beginning at 2 p.m. on March 25. Coffee will be served at these seminars and the public is invited to attend them and meet the celebrated gussts informally.

Opra will take center stage at the symposia on Friday evening, March 25, beginning at 8:30 p.m., in the Pieri Gymnasium. Frederic Popper, pianist and commentator, will discuss "Modern Trends in Opera." Following this, opera impressario Boris Goldovsky will present Carlo Menotti's "The Telephone" with a professional cast.

On Saturday, March 26, at 9:30 a.m., "Decade of Revolution," featuring a second panel f noted scholars will be presof noted scholars, will be presented. This panel, which will also be produced in the Pieri Gymnasium, will include keynote speaker Dr. Nils Wessell, president of Tufts University; Dr. Louis Kronenberger, Professor of Theatre Arts at Brandeis University; Dr. Gerald Hawkins, internationally known astronomer and physicist; and Mr. Richard Johnston, top New York Times newsman and foreign correspondent.

In the same manner as on the previous day, individual seminars with all members of the morning panel as leaders will be held beginning at 2 p.m. on Friday. Again the general public is invited to tend these informal sessions.

Also on Saturday, from 11:30 a|m|2 p.m., and from 3:30-8:00 p.m., an art exhibit will be held in the William C. Garner Student Center. The exhibit will consist of the works of Albert Alcalay. Mr. Alcalay will deliver a gallery talk at the student Center, beginning t 6:15 p.m.

Later Saturday evening the focus of interest will shift back to the Pieri Gymnasium, where at 7:30 p.m. Alan Schneider, Artistic Director of the Ithaca Festival will lecture on "The Theatre in Transition." Following Mr. Schneider's remarks Edward Albee's "The Zoo Story," and Samuel Beckett's "Krapp's Last Tape," two short plays, will be staged with professional casts appearing in both productions. This evening of drama will officially wind up Dean's Academic Symposia for 1966.

The general public is welcome to attend the entire Symposia free of charge. Interested persons will be admitted without tickets to all of the attractions of the Symposia with the exception of General Maxwell D. Taylor's appearance on Thursday. Only a limited number of tickets will be available for the General's appearance and they will be distributed on a "first come-first serve" basis. For tickets or for further information contact the Development Office, Dean Junior College, Franklin, Massachusetts. Telephone 528-9100, Extension 23.

Hockey Greats To Teach Arena's All-Star Classes

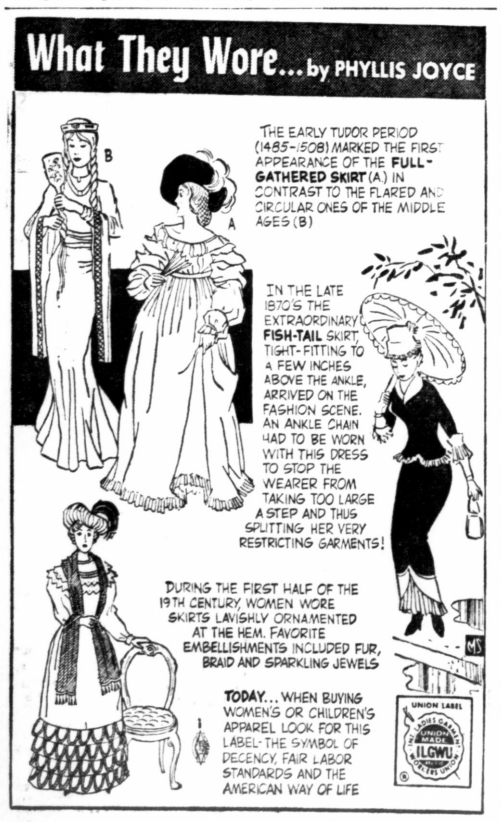

Larry Kish, Johnny Aiken, and Brendan Walsh have been added to the growing list of guest instructors for the August classes of the All-Star Hockey School. The school, directed by Doug Mohns of the Chicago Black Hawks and Don McKenney of the Detroit Red Wings, will be conducted at the Four Seasons Arena in Walpole for boys 11 through 18 years of age.

Kish and Walsh are high school hockey coaches with excellent playing backgrounds, the former a 1964 All-America defenseman for Providence College who coaches Cumberland (R.I.) Regional High School, the latter a Merrimack College goalkeeper who coaches Salem High School.

Aiken, an All-America goalkeeper at Boston University, was the Boston Bruins' practice goalkeeper and National Hockey League standby goalkeeper at Boston Garden until this season.

The newcomers join an All-Star faculty headed by Mohns and McKenney with Ed Johnston of the Bruins as special instructor. Other guest instructors will include Coaches Eddie Barry of Boston State College, Zellio Toppazzini of Providence College, and Bill Quackenbush of Northeastern University, and Ed Sandford, Bob Barry, Buddy LeRoux, Johnny Peirson and Ferny Flaman.

The All-Star program provides individual instruction for boys 14 through 18 in four classes of 11 sessions each, with special classes for boys 11, 12 and 13. Further details and illustrated brochures may be obtained by writing All-Star Hockey School, 685 Union street, Braintree; calling the school at 843-3843, or writing Johnston at Boston Garden.

Health For All

Counting Your Coughs

"Do you cough too much?" It's a question often asked in modern health literature. Your answer might be, "How much is too much?"

To shed some light on the average frequency of coughing, a doctor at the University of Texas sat in on medical lectures for an hour a week over a period of three years and actually counted the coughs of each person present. He came up with a "normal" cough rate of approximately three per person every two hours.

So far so good. But there's another question. How long can a person go on coughing before it's considered "too much?" Doctors already have an answer to that one. According to the American Thoracic Society (the medical section of the National Tuberculosis Association) a cough that persists for a month or more is a chronic cough — one that calls for a doctor's attention.

That's trrue even if the chronic cougher has several cough-free hours each day. It's true if the cough is "just a cigarette cough," or "only in the morning," or "just when I lie down," or only in the winter." The test of a chronic cough is how long it persists — or, if it goes away, how regularly it comes back.

A chronic cough can signify the presence of asthma, chronic bronchitis, enphysema, tuberculosis, or some other serious respiratory Disease (RD). Such diseases can be treated if found early enough — and that's why it's important to see your doctor if you keep coughing, ask your Norfolk County TB and Health Association, 10 Chestnut street, Quincy, Massachusetts.

Seek Support In Area For 'March Of Life Brigade'

The New England Chapter of The National Hemophilia Foundation has formally opened its annual campaign for funds.

Joseph E. Cicone, president, said that volunteers are being recruited now for the house-to-house appeal known as the "March of the Life Brigade."

Mr. Cicone stated that there are tens of thousands of victims of hemophilia in the United States that require intensive treatments. Research into a cure or control of the bleeders disease is another purpose of the fund drive.

In urging the men and women of this area to volunteer their time, the hemophilia spokesman pointed out that they would be helping those who have received little or no assistance at all in the past, and that it will be a gratifying reward.

Hemophilia is a disease of the blood which causes abnormally delayed clotting. Hemorrhages can result, internally or externally, from a cut or bruise, or it can start by itself.

Volunteers may enlist by phoning 762-7525 or by visiting the organization's office at 354 Washington street, Braintree.

"Some speakers need no introduction. They need conclusions."

WE NEED YOU For Permanent Growth Positions

We manufacture cable and cable assemblies for the Government and the missile and space industries. During the past ten years we have become a leader in our field, concentrating on an ultra-high-reliability quality product.

(MALE)

CABLE MAKERS

Set up and run Planetary Cablers; 16-32 carrier automatic braiders, cable winders, etc.

MACHINE OPERATORS

Set up and run automatic wire stripping machines, semi-automatic braiders; various special wire and cable processing machines.

MOLDERS

Work with aluminum and stell cavities molding transitions and junctions to cable assemblies, use hydraulic presses, special ovens; Material: polyurethane, polyvinyl, polyethylene, silicone, neoprene, adripene, etc.

QUALITY CONTROL

Inspect all stages of production for compliances with Government and customer specifications. Knowledge of basic electricity required, circuit theory desired. Work with automatic circuit analyzers, digital voltmeters, etc. Mantain records per MIL-Q-9858.

These are permanent positions leading to management responsibilities—we desire men who have genuine interest in their work and who have the ability to build a quality product while meeting exacting schedules.

(FEMALE)

SOLDERERS

Work with wires down to 26AWG and a variety of multi-pin connectors.

ASSEMBLERS

Prepare cable for soldering; assemble connectors to cables; work with screws, nuts, etc.

FINISHERS

Clean molded cable assemblies; touch up various delicate areas; apply marker bands; artistic ability an asset.

HARNESS MAKERS

Hand lace or spot tie wiring harnesses.

QUALITY CONTROL

Inspect for electrical and mechanical attributes; record data; maintain records.

Our continued growth has created these positions. We desire alert women and girls who are prepared to build a career in this unique and expanding field.

Come in for interview between 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. or 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.

Community Help By Lasell College Students Praised

At a recent all-college assembly members of Lasell's Community Club were presented with Operation Kindness certificates in appreciation of services rendered to the community.

Robert B. McCreech, School Bureau Director of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, a Red Feather agency, presented the certificates.

He expressed gratitude for the volunteer services of the Lasell students and stressed the ever-growing need for volunteers, even though there are 7000 college students in the Greater Boston area already serving as volunteers.

Work in the community by Lasell students has included many hours at Newton-Wellesley Hospital; assistance with Girl Scout troops in West Newton and Auburndale; entertainment for hospitalized veterans; aid for nursing home patients; and in addition, many on-campus projects to raise funds to aid in the support of a girl in Greece.

Also appearing at Lasell's assembly with greetings and thanks from their respective organizations were: Mrs. Cornelius Roggevee, chairman, Volunteers, Newton - Wellesley Hospital; Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Newton Community Center, and Peter DeFoggio, Administrator of the Braeburn Nursing Home.

In addition to the certificates, four girls received special awards from the Lasell Community Club for their outstanding loyalty and service as volunteers.

Peggy Ann Rowell, club president, made the presentation to: Freshman, Janice Kepner, West Newton; and to Seniors June Breault, Framingham; Matilda Embree, Wellesley; Susan Caldwell, Buffalo, N. Y.; and Barbara Rich, Stamford, Conn.

Newton girls receiving certificates were Donna Garrow, Carol DiVito, West Newton; Judy Shea, Auburndale.

Other Massachusetts girls honored were: Pamela Colpitts, Beverly Weldon, Lexington; Susan Harris, Hingham; Lois Bartula, Ward Hill; Pamela Hitchcock, Billerica; Marjorie Yoffa, Lynnfield; Jane Cutting, South Barre; Lynda Chenney, Attleboro.

Girls from out-of-state honored at Lasell's Community Club assembly were: Gretchen Diller, Marion Wheeler, Barbara Bidwell, Sue Roberts, Lauri Arcari, Linda Hohweiler, Connecticut.

Rita Walis, Sue Koegler, Marjorie Kaiser, New York.

Sandra Parlini, Eileen Allen, Sue Farnsworth, Kathleen Ryan, Betsy Edwards, New Jersey.

Rhana Choklad, Illinois; Barbara Blywise, California; Marilyn Bloomberg, Ohio; Chloris Morgan, Pamela Fenhagen, Maryland; and Barbara Titus, New Hampshire.

Mrs. Walter T. Tower, West Newton, is faculty adviser to the Lasell Community Club. She is a member of the college's Physical Education Department.

"The Emotional Life of The Child" is the general theme of a lecture series which began on March 10. These lectures, which are being given by specialists in psychiatry, psychology, and social work, are sponsored by the Newton Mental Health Center and Action for Mental Health in Newton in conjunction with the Newton Junior College.

All lectures — with question and answer periods — will be held on Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. in Room 404 of College Hall on Washington Park.

Registration is for the entire lecture series; include name, address, phone number and check payable to Newton Junior College and mail to Adult Education, Newton Junior College, Newtonville, Massachusetts.

Registration may be made in person Monday - Thursday, 7:15-9:15 p.m., Room 103, Claflin Hall. Call 969-9571 for additional information.

The lectures are as follows: March 17 — The Adopted Child: William E. Stone, M.D., Director, Newton Mental Health Center. The special position of the adopted child and his problems in relation to family and society.

March 24 — The Use and Misuse of Psychological Testing: Haskel Cohen, Ph.D., Chief Psychologist, Newton Mental Health Center. What the tests try to measure, how the psychologist interprets them, and what limitations are inherent in the tests.

March 31 — The Parent and Child Discipline: Sylvia G. Krakow, D.S.W., Head Psychiatric Social Worker, Newton Mental Health Center. The stages of child development and the appropriateness of disciplinary methods for the various ages.

April 14 — Understanding Children's Play: Carol Kaye, Ph.D., Staff Psychologist, Newton Mental Health Center. The characteristics of play and its relation to school, home and community.

April 21 — The Psychology of the Physically Ill Child: William H. Eger, M.D., Assistant Professor, Boston University School of Medicine; Clinical Director, Boston University - Boston City Hospital Guidance Center. Physical illness as a stress to child and parent, its factors and reactions.

May 5 — Adolescence: Bedlam or Bliss: Albert Sinofsky, M.S.S.W., Supervising Social Worker, Foster Home and Youth Service Department, Jewish and Children Service of Boston. The impact and expectations of adolescence.

AMHIN's Education Committee with Mr. Donald Daniels as its chairman and Mr. George Martins of the Newton Junior College are responsible for planning this interesting lecture series to which the public is invited. The members of the Education Committee are Rabbi Bernard Bloomstone, Rev. John Corcoran, Rev. Thomas Lehman, Dr. Joseph Sabbath and Mrs. William Scheft.

Lecture For Science Versed High Schoolers

Ten superior science students have been selected by the science departments of various local high schools to attend a lecture tomorrow (Friday) in Boston's Museum of Science.

The Science Frontiers lecture is fourth in a new series that was inaugurated last November by the museum to give outstanding high school students an opportunity to hear world-renowned scientists speak on their chosen field.

Tomorrow's speaker will be Edward Offenhartz, deputy director of operational space systems at the Research and Advanced Developments Division of Avco Corporation. He will speak on the Apollo space program, relating it to the earlier Mercury and Gemini programs.

The Newton students who will hear him speak are: Richard Bargar, 5 Sharpe Rd., Newton Centre, Roxbury Latin School; Theodore Maslowski, 22 Jefferson St., Newton, Our Lady's High School; John Rahall, 25 Thaxter Rd., Newtonville, Our Lady's High; Mary Margaret Galvagno, 53 Falmouth Rd., West Newton, St. Bernard's High; Giles Kelleher, 25 Chestnut Terr., Newton Centre, Sacred Heart High; Michael Ford, 37 Chase St., Newton Centre, Sacred Heart High; Martin Shapiro, 1462 Centre St., Newton Highlands, Newton South High; Richard Wasserman, 8 Tocci Path, Newton Centre, South High; Warren Sadow, 15 Sharpe Rd., South High, and Victor Lerish, 5 Longmeadow Rd., South High.

Speaker Sunday For Methodists

The Right Rev. Francis J. Lally, editor of "The Pilot," will speak on "The Changing Churches" at the Newtonville Methodist Church at 6:40 p.m. March 20.

This will be the third session of the University of Life series, sponsored by the Newton Corner and Newtonville Methodist Churches.. Monsignor Lally is one of Boston's foremost civic and religious leaders.

He is chairman of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, and a member of several boards of directors, such as the Metropolitan Boston Arts Center.

He is the author of the book "The Catholic Church in a Changing America." A Boston College alumnus, he is the holder of advanced degrees, both earned and honorary.

In the youth division of the Life session, Mrs. Joshua Singer will lead a workshop on the religious dance. The children's division will enjoy a movie, "White Mane," about a boy's frendship with a white stallion.

Public Hearing On Bilboards March 22 and 23

Area residents interested in billboard legislation may attend a two-day public hearing March 22 and 23 conducted by the U. S. Department of Commerce Bureau of Public Roads at the State Department of Public Works building, fourth floor auditorium, 100 Nashua street, Boston. Hearings on both days begin at 9:30 a.m.

The Highway Beautification Act requires the Department of Commerce to hold a series of public hearings throughout the United States to gather information at the grass roots level on which to base standards for outdoor advertising along primary and interstate highway systems.

Michael H. Murray of 7 Commonwealth Pk., Newton Centre, was named to the Dean's List at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt., for the first half of the year. He prepared for college at B. C. High School.

Help Plan State Office Building Use Of Space

Two Newton specialists in space planning are members of Bernard Soep Associates of Boston, the firm retained by the Commonwealth to do the planning required to keep costs in line and to promote efficient use of the half-million square feet of space in the State Office Building, a unit of Boston's new government center.

They are Bernard Soep, 994 Walnut St., Newton Highlands, the firm's president, and Mrs. Minna C. Silver, 145 Washington St., Newton, its coordinator.

With many thousands of visitors expected each week a complex traffic problem could occur. Careful planning was necessary to prevent confusion. Special symbols were designed for each department and incorporated in a directory and control system so visitors can follow signs to reach the proper office. For example, the symbol for the Division of Fisheries and Game is a pheasant and a fish. By following signs which show that symbol the caller who wants to see that Division will be led directly to it. Waiting areas and other facilities also had to be planned for the convenience of those who have business with the Commonwealth.

Graphic Roundup Of Major News Happenings Of The Week

As a service to our readers, we are printing in this edition, a roundup of the major news events which have occurred during the past week while the Boston daily newspapers have been closed down. Also printed on inside pages are a schedule of the television programs for the next week and a roundup of the major sports news of the past week.

Ten marines were killed Tuesday when a helicopter carrying them crashed in South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, fierce fighting raged in Vietnam's northern provinces where marines killed more than 250 Communists.

U. S. jet pilots dealt heavy blows to North Vietnam trucking and shipping, blowing up more than half of a 50-vehicle truck convoy in a mountain pass and destroying or damaging five gunboats.

An A4 Skyhawk on a bombing run in support of the marines crashed, but the pilot was rescued.

Military officials said they were extremely pleased with the results of Monday's bombing raids by Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers. An Air Force needle-nosed RF101 Voodoo reconnassance jet was shot down northeast of Vinh during the raids. The pilot was reported as missing.

Viet Cong guerilla forces attacked the airport at Dalat before dawn Tuesday, damaging several planes. Approximately 50 Reds penetrated the airport grounds after a mortar barrage.

The Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury arrived in Rome Tuesday for historic Christian unity talks with Pope Paul VI. Two British ministers, who had called the Archbishop a "traitor" at the London Airport and then had boarded the same plane with him and had flown to Rome, were denied entry to Italy.

Five militant antii-Catholics staged a demonstration at the London Airport as the Archbishop of Canterbury was leaving there for Rome. They included four ministers and a Belfast City Councillor. "You traitor," they shouted at the Archbishop, as he stood on the steps of the plane talking to newsmen.

When two of the ministers arrived at the Rome Airport, police were waiting with written instructions from the Italian Interior Minister to turn them back.

Boston's newspaper strike, which has closed the Globe, Herald, Traveler and Record American, is now near the end of its third week, but there were indications that a settlement may soon be reached in the dispute. The head of the striking printers' union said the dispute could be resolved in time for the papers to publish on Sunday.

Newton Tax Rate Seen Rising $4 Above 1965

Newton's tax rate this year probably will rise about $4 over last year's figure of $70.40.

That was the opinion of most municipal officials after the Board of Aldermen approved a record-high municipal and school budget totalling $29,177,393.

The budget given the Aldermanic okay is $1,469,428 greater than that of last year.

However, $1,168,288 of the increase is in School Committee appropriations which neither the Mayor nor the Aldermen have any power to cut.

Alderman John P. Nixon, chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, which trimmed $245,835 from the budget submitted by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, observed that the rise in school costs will be principally responsible for the hike in the city's tax rate.

Nixon declared that the big increase in the school budget "is the sole responsibility of the school department."

While Newton will receive some new tax revenue this year from the receipts from the limited 3 percent sales tax, the sum will not be large enough to prevent a rise in the tax rate.

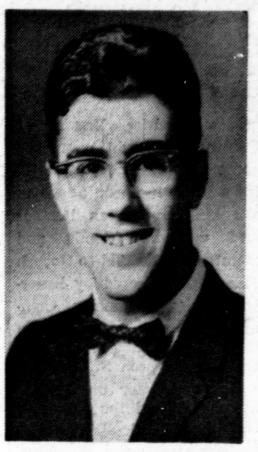

Apart from the jump of $1,469,238 in the municipal and school budget, which in itself would cause a boost of more than $4 in the tax rate, Mayor Basbas must raise the money to meet other increased costs which are beyond his control.

For example, Newton's portion of the deficit will be nearly twice as great this year as in 1965. This is because the city paid the deficit for only a 7-month period last year and for five years, starting this year, must pay a 13-months deficit to make up for the five months it didn't pay last year.

Mayor Basbas, who slashed $1,719,710 from the recommendations of his department heads, left little room for the Aldermen to do their customary paring. However, the Aldermen managed to cut another $245,835.

Basbas, in response to

Local Students To Be Symphony Stars

Two former Newton High School music students, John H. Harutunian and Walter Wagenknecht, will be featured with their original compositions at the Youth Concerts at Boston Symphony Hall on Saturday mornings, March 26 and April 2nd at 11 o'clock.

Annually, Harry Ellis Dickson, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra Youth Concerts series, has invited high school students in New England to submit original scores for evaluation and subsequent performance. For several years Newton High has won the laurels.

This year Mr. Dickson has selected "Fantasy Gavotte for Piano and Orchestra" by John H. Harutunian with the composer as soloist, and "Study for Orchestra" by Walter Wagenknecht.

Both pieces were created and orchestrated by the youthful composers, members of the Class of 1965. They will be featured along-

Hearing Airs Land Taking On April 6

Responding to a request by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, the Board of Aldermen voted Monday night to schedule a public hearing for taking by eminent domain land at Nonantum Pl. and Harmon Terr., Newton, intended for use as a playground area.

The Mayor asked that a hearing be assigned at the first possible opportunity, and it was set for the night of Wednesday, Apr. 6, which is the date of the Board's next regular meeting, the Monday, Apr. 4 meeting having been advanced because of the observation of Passover.

The request was made in a letter to the Board, and was, in part, as follows:

"During the past few years there has been extensive discussion and evident discontent on the part of residents of the Charlesbank Rd. area over their relative inaccessibility to public recreation areas, and the dangers encountered by children of the

Ferreri New Labor Agent On Authority

Mayor Basbas' appointment of Donald Ferreri, 19 Shute Path, Newton Centre, as the organized labor representative on the Newton Housing Authority, filling a vacancy created by the expired term of Mrs. Irene K. Thresher, was confirmed Monday night by the Board of Aldermen on a second ballot vote of 15 to 3.

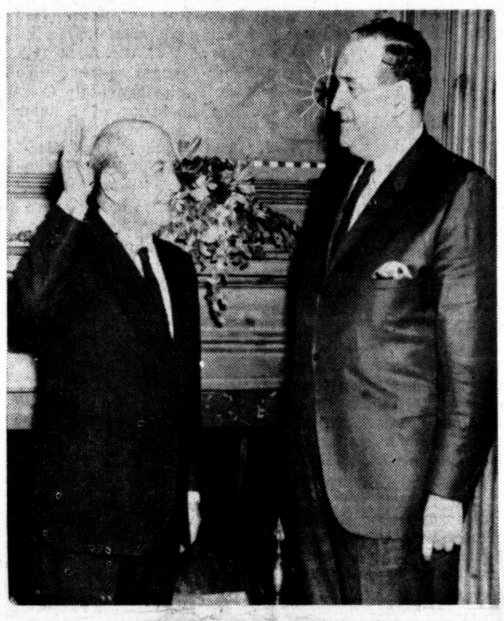

The appointment had been on the docket for the meeting two weeks ago, but was held for further consideration of the question of the appointee's position in the labor field.

Monday's confirmation followed a lengthy period of debate, in which Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell acted as spokesman for the forces opposed to Ferreri, and Alderman Warren A. Sutherland spoke in his favor.

On the return of the members to the chamber from an executive session held in an anteroom, Sutherland presented Ferreri's name for consideration, saying that he was a member of Bricklayers' Local No. 32, and a duly elected health and welfare trustee for the union over a long period of years.

McDonnell then spoke at considerable length, saying

Police Chase Ends In Four Car Crack-Up

A spectacular police chase that touched speeds of 100 miles an hour ended in the crash of four cars Monday night on Washington street, near the Woodlawn MBTA station in Newton Lower Falls. Four persons were hurt, including three Wellesley police officers.

Police arrested Robert F. Brophy, 27, of 146 Clifton street, Malden, and Robert P. Elkins, 19, of 10 Carlisle street, Cambridge. Police said Brophy was operating a car which had been reported stolen and bore Pennsylvania registration plates.

Wellesley police gave chase to the car after Framingham police radioed that a vehicle answering the description was involved in a robbery of Masciarelli Jewelers, 43 Hollis street, Framingham.

Newton officers, Edward F. Ceurvels and William C. Olds joined the pursuit shortly before the stolen car struck a tree. Two Wellesley cruisers cracked up on a nearby lawn and the car of an innocent motorist caught up in the melee was damaged.

Police said they found several watches and rings in the stolen vehicle. They were later identified as the property of Masciarelli Jewelers.

Thieves Get $7000 Loot During Week

Burglars and thieves netted over $7,000 in loot in housebreaks and robberies in Newton during the past week.

The largest single burglary was in the home of Mrs. Gloria Stone, 704 Walnut St., Newtonville, where a full-length mink coat valued at $5,000 was taken from a hall closet, and a white mink jacket, valued at $1,500 was taken from a rear bedroom.

Mrs. Stone reported to Sgt. William C. Nally that her home was entered between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday. She said she found the side door ajar.

Sgt. Nally said there were no signs of forced entry.

A large amount of furs, jewelry and silverware was taken in a break at the home of Jay I. Moskow, 170 Evelyn Rd., Waban, on Sunday night. Police said entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in the rear cellar door.

Marine Viet Hero's Body On Way Home

The body of Marine Sgt. Enrico Pagnano, Jr., 26, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Pagnano, 227 Adams St., Newton, is expected to be returned home for burial within two weeks.

His parents were notified Friday by a Marine captain, that their son was killed in Viet Nam action Thursday night, Mar. 17.

A member of the 3d Engineer Battalion of the 3d Marine Division, he returned for his second tour of duty in Viet Nam shortly after passing a two-week furlough with his father and mother, and he had hoped to return home again this coming fall.

When he returned from overseas he was to have married Miss Linda Planowski, daughter of a Marine officer and a student nurse in a Marine Corps professional training program in Peterburg, Va.

Soon after being graduated from Newton High School in 1960, the sergeant enlisted, and planned to make the Marine Corps his career. He played football

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

2 Political Fence - Jumpers Seeking Saltonstall's Seat

A unique aspect to the battle for Senator Leverett Saltonstall's seat on Washington's Capitol Hill is that Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, who is expected to be the Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, is a former Democrat, and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody, seeking the Democratic nomination for the same office, is a former Republican.

The only candidate in the Senate fight who has never shifted from one party to the other is Boston Mayor John F. Collins who has been a Democrat since he was old enough to vote.

Brooke ran for the Massachusetts House of Representatives in the Ward 12 section of Roxbury as a Democrat 1950 and was defeated.

The first time Collins and Peabody were on apposite sides in an election campaign was in 1946. Collins

Several Local Musicians Members Of Jr. Orchestra

Talented young Newton musicians will be numbered among the 94-member Junior Youth Symphony Orchestra which will perform at the Pentucket Regional School in West Newbury, Mass., Sunday afternoon, March 27, starting at 3 o'clock.

The concert, originally scheduled for January 30, was postponed because of the severe snowstorm.

The group recently appeared with the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra in Symphony Hall, Boston.

Junior Youth Symphony Orchestra members from Newton are:

David Dornbusch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Dornbusch, 27 Cotter Rd., Waban. He is a seventh grade student at Weeks and plays the cello.

Aid To Speech Drama Program On Wednesday

Mrs. Maurice Young of Chestnut Hill will open her home in Wednesday, Mar. 30, for a petite luncheon at which she will preside as hostess and welcome friends and members of the Aid to Speech Therapy, sponsored by Emerson College Women's Committee, which sponsors the Robbins Speech and Hearing Clinic on Beacon St., Boston.

The committee on arangements included the following Newton women: Mrs. Herbert Margolis, Mrs. Murray Bernstein and Mrs. Paul Abramson.

The occasion will feature the return of a theater personality and Emerson alumnae, Mrs. Kermit Greene of Newton Centre, who will give dramatic interpretations.

Mass. Women's Hospital Elects Beane President

Paul L. Beane, 47 Dudley road, Newton Centre, president of Paul L. Beane Company, has been elected president of the Massachusetts Women's Hospital, Parker Hill Medical Centre, Boston.

He serves as a trustee of Emerson College and as president of the Commonwealth Importing Corporation.

A past president of the Brokers Association and the Nazareth Food Club of Massachusetts, he is a director of Debbis Chicken Products Corporation, August, Ill., and of the Grocery Manufacturing Representatives of New England.

Aldermen Vote On Variety Of Meeting Items

The following items were among those acted on by the Board of Aldermen at Monday night's meeting:

A request by the street commissioner for an appropriation of $5000 for installation of a flashing pedestrian-controlled signal at California and Jesset sts., Newton, was approved. The installation had been given state public works approval.

Lacking the required majority vote, a request by the city solicitor for an additional payment of $2500 for land damages in connection with construction of the new Burr School was defeated. The roll-call vote on the item was 11 in favor, eight opposed, with five absent.

An offer of $4000 by Frank Demarco for approximately 30,000 square feet of land near the Watertown line on Ivanhoe Ave., Newton, was approved for acceptance.

Sent back to the committee on Public Buildings for clarification was the question of whether the owner of premises at 89 Wiswall road, William E. Marchant, had made any effort to secure the premises in a matter acceptable to the Public Buildings Department.

The Street Traffic Committee's recommendation for denial of N. A. Andersen's petition for installation of parking meters on Auburn street, Auburndale, from Melrose street to Lexington street on the north side, was accepted.

Approved was the Mayor's request for $300 to allow certain employees of the executive department to attend public relations seminars conducted by Newton Junior College and the Chamber of Commerce.

Approved was a request by the Public Buildings Commissioner for a $265,000 bond issue authorization, subject to the approval of the State Emergency Finance Board, with maturity up to 20 years, for the Hyde School addition. The bond issue would cover construction and site work.

make their concert debut with Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Chapel of the Most Blessed Trinity. The second half of their concert, which will highlight the music of "West Side Story," will be sung in Chapel Hall.

A Japanese art film, Mizoguchi's "The Bailiff," will be shown at 6:30 Sunday evening in Chapel Hall. Paul Albert Lee, assistant professor of philosophy and religion at M.I.T., will introduce the film and speak on cinema in the modern society.

On Monday, Newton College's Modern Dancers will present their interpretation of modern dance theory, and then illustrate the techniques of Martha Graham at 8 p.m. in Chapel Hall.

An art sale of works by Newton students will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 29, in the Student Center. Artist Biganess Livingstone will give a gallery talk at 8 o'clock that evening in the East Lounge of Stuart House. The artist's own works will be on exhibit in the East Lounge throughout Arts Week.

William Alfred, Harvard professor of English and author of the current off-Broadway hit, "Hogan's Goat," will read from his tragedy, "Agamemnon," Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Chapel Hill.

Also scheduled for an off-Broadway production in the near future, Alfred's "Agamemnon" is a play about life's moral limits and the cost of violating them.

On Thursday evening, Mar. 31, at 8 o'clock, organ virtuoso Anthony Newman of Cambridge, will play an all-Bach recital in the Chapel of the Most Blessed Trinity.

Also on Thursday, and again on Friday, at 7:30 p.m., Newton's dramatic club will stage Lillian Hellman's Broadway success, "The Little Foxes" in the Quonset Playhouse. Frank Dolan, of Framingham, will direct.

Chairman of Arts Week at Newton College this year is Miss Lucille Fortin, a senior from Springfield, Mass.

TB Group Head Gives Warning On Cigarettes

Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has issued a reminder to everyone that the federal statute known as the Cigarette Labeling Act went into effect the first of this year and, in doing so, gives the following advice:

"Next time the 'Hazardous to Health' label meets your eye, think of the things suffered by all the people whose case histories finally led to enactment of the law."

Under the terms of the law to which Miss Hope refers, every pack of cigarettes must now bear this printed message: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May be Hazardous to Your Health."

"Does everyone agree?" Miss Hope asks, "Practically everyone, including the U.S. Public Health Service, National Tuberculosis Association, American Thoracic Society, American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, American Health Association, American School Health Association and about a dozen other public and private health agencies that believe there is a link between cigarette smoking and certain diseases of the lungs and other organs."

GOP Here In Move To Aid 'Salty' Fete

Republicans of Newton are organizing a special program in support of the April 19th Dinner sponsored by the Mass. Republican State Committee in honor of Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

The "Salute to Saltonstall" event will be held in the Commonwealth Armory, Boston, and is actively supported by the top State officials including Governor John A. Volpe, Lt. Governor Elliott L. Richardson, and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke.

The Newton Republican Finance Committee headed by William R. Horner has already initiated its program to obtain subscriptions for the event.

Assisting Horner are John Hughes, Ward 1; Dover Wooten, Ward 2; Julius Masow, Ward 3, George Shapiro, Ward 4; Charles Bucuvalas, Ward 5; Theodore Green, Ward 6; Dr. William Seeglitz, Ward 7; and Melvin B. Clayton, Ward 7.

Supplementing the efforts of the committee, there will be a communication sent out to Newton Republicans extending invitations to the dinner with a special message from City Committee Chairman, William A. Lincoln.

The 1966 Republican Dinner Committee sponsoring the event is headed by former Governor Christian A. Herter, Honorary Chairman and by Harcourt Wood, dinner chairman.

Appointed By Local Company

David W. Stapleton, chairman of the board and president of S. W. Industries, Inc., has announced two important appointments.

Ralph A. Hess, who has been with Stowe-Woodward, Newton Upper Falls, since 1962, and joined the firm as senior chemist in the Product Development and Engineering Department, was promoted to serve as that department's manager.

Benjamin Hodges, Jr., a veteran of 14 years in the industry who has served as plant manager and engineer, was appointed as the company's manufacturing coordinator.

Newton Native Appointed To Hospital Post

George O'Leary has been appointed Director of Food Services at St. Luke's Hospital Center, New York City and is responsible for all dietary activities at the 735 bed institution, according to Charles W. Davidson, executive director of the Hospital Center.

A native of Newton, Mr. O'Leary attended Northeastern University and Rutgers University. He has been associated with the food service management firm of Crotty Brothers, Inc., since 1951.

Among his assignments have been the supervision of food services at Central Maine General Hospital, Lewiston, Maine; Perth Amboy General Hospital, Perth Amboy, New Jersey; and Christ Hospital, Jersey City New Jersey.

A leader in the Boy Scouting movement and a participant in many community activities, he lives with his wife, the former Bernadette Dacier and their three children in Fords, New Jersey.

Mr. O'Leary succeeds Miss E. Alliene Mosso, who retired this month with nearly forty years service to the Hospital Center.

Urges School Board Accept Account Idea

City-wide adoption of functional accounting, including the school department, was urged by the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week.

The city side of Newton's government has used such accounting very successfully after it was adopted at the association's urging, it was stated, and both elected and appointed officials are more than pleased with its ready informational detail as a basis for decision making.

To finish the job on the city side it remains to bring the Department of Public Health into the procedure and reclassify some accounts, and the men who would do it are ready, the report went on.

Extension of functional accounting to the school side will not only aid the decision makers there, but also "provide a basic alphabet for common understanding of the financial operations of both sides of Newton's government," it said.

"Functional accounting does not substitute for policy making, substitute for administration, substitute for not finding out," the statement continued.

"It works only in so far as it is used. But good use can make good decisions better. It has done so on the city side: it can do so on the school side. It should be completely adopted city-wide starting now," the Taxpayers bulletin concluded.

Winning Basket Ball Shooters Are Announced

The city-wide annual basketball shooting contest was run off Tuesday afternoon in two elementary school gymnasiums. The sixth grade boys met in the Emerson School and the sixth grade girls in the Franklin School.

Preliminary basketball shooting contests were run off in the 22 elementary schools to determine the four winners (2 boys and 2 girls) to represent their respective schools in finals. The contest consisted of two events—foul shooting and number of baskets per minute. Eighty-eight sixth grade boys and girls participated.

In the finals for the foul contest the boys' best score out of the combined two turns of 10 times each determined the winner. For the girls it was the best score out of two turns of 10 times each.

Winners were: Foul shooting — Linda Nicolas from Davis School (7 out of 10); and Kenneth Lourie from Bowen School (15 out of 20); goals per minute—Diane Washburn from Franklin School (11 baskets in one minute);; and Mark Krentzman from the Ward School (15 baskets in one minute). Trophies were awarded to these winners.

Runners-up in both events were: Dawn Jutras (Franklin); Joan Carey (Peirce); Teresa Wyman (Davis); and John Martell (Angier).

The contest, which climaxed the Basketball Instructional Program and Saturday Morning Clinics for the elementary schools, was directed by Miss Helene Breivogel, supervisor of girls' physical education, and Mrs. Priscilla White, Physical Education and Ronald DiVincenzo, Physical Education teacher at Emerson School.

Assistance was given by the staff of the Elementary Physical Education Department.

area in their normal play routines.

"The inaccessibility of this area to Farlow Park and Burr Playground was further intensified by the construction of the Toll Road, with the result that the area has become essentially an island on which the children are often forced to play in the street.

"The Community Renewal Program noted that any renewal planning for this area should include the provisions of adequate recreation and open space areas. The time lag following the preparation of the C.R.P. has done nothing to improve the apprehension and concern of the area's residents not only for the provisions of recreation areas, but for the future development of the entire area.

"With only minor exceptions, this entire area, bounded by Centre St., the Toll Road and the Watertown town line, is almost totally built up and offers little possibilty for development of recreaton areas short of the acquisition of land and buildings, already a most sensitive point at issue with the residents. With the exception of the relatively inaccessibility of MDC reservations abutting the river, there are no publicly owned tracts suitable for recreational purposes.

"The parcel recommended for use as a play area has a combined area slightly over 30,464 square feet and a combined assessed value of approximately $5800. It it presently vacant and grass-covered and reasonably free of accumulated rubbish.

There is a small wooded area at the rear of the percel, and the Nonantum Pl. frontage is supported by a four-foot fieldstone and mortar retaining wall. It would appear that a minimum amount of site preparation would be required."

Jack Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veronica Doherty and the late Neil Doherty of Newton, a business major, has been named a co-captain of the hockey team at Providence College, R. I. He is a junior forward on the team.

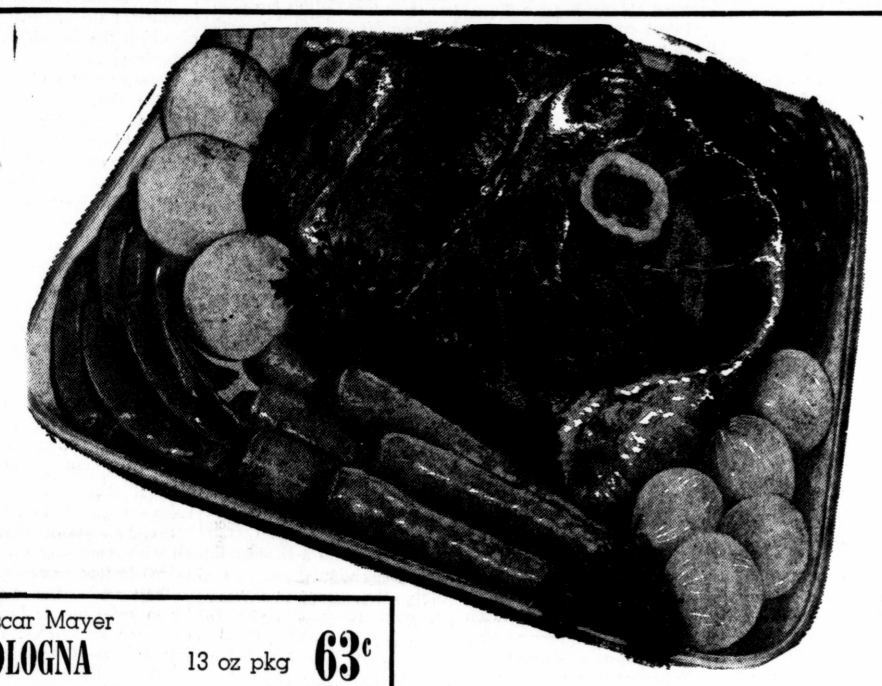

Richard Novakoff, 33 Alderwood Rd., Newton Centre, and Randall Radkay, 25 Wilde Rd., Waban, have parts in "The Madwoman of Chaillot," scheduled for production at Curry College, Milton.

Indian Dancers Featured At Cub Blue-Gold Dinner

The famous Order of the Arrow Indian Dancers will be the featured entertainment at the annual Blue and Gold dinner of Cub Scout Pack 250, Oak Hill Park, on March 31.

The dancers, all Boy Scouts, have won numerous national scouting championships for their outstanding interpretations of American Indian tribal dances. They will appear in the full regalia of several Indian tribes, complete with colorful feather headdress.

Over 225 Cub Scouts, parents, families and friends are expected to attend the dinner which will be held at 6:30 p.m., March 31, in the cafeteria of Meadow Brook Junior High School, Newton Centre.

Shocking Exposé of Animal Cruelties

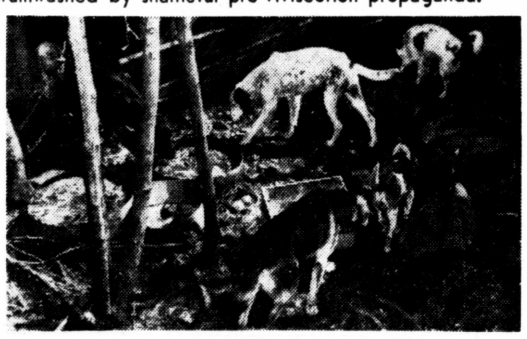

Have you read the illustrated article in Life magazine of February 4th last entitled "Your Dog Is In Cruel Danger"?

The pictures of the many dogs found by a humane society's representative and the police at an unspeakably filthy canine "concentration camp" at White Hall, Maryland, fill one with horror. The brutal owner was a collector of dogs for sale to experimental laboratories.

Dogs are photographed confined in small dirty cages, chained to wooden boxes, horribly emaciated by a starvation diet largely of frozen entrails, cruelly exposed to the weather without proper shelter — in one case frozen to death.

The operator of this outrage was arrested on twenty-nine charges of cruelty.

This revolting article tells the grim story of some of the black evils connected with vivisection and should convert many who have been brainwashed by shameful pro-vivisection propaganda.

Authentic photograph taken at the chicken farm at Franklin, Massachusetts

Some years ago we had a worse case here in Massachusetts — worse because it entailed vivisected dogs. The owner of the chicken farm in Franklin was convicted of and sentenced for cruelty in the care of dogs boarded by him for a thoracic laboratory in Brookline after being experimented upon. The experimenter was also found guilty and sentenced for the cruel transportation of one of his victims.

Eleven emaciated dogs were found on the ramshackle farm, some with serious experimental wounds. The evidence showed that one dog was too weak to stand and was suffering from a festering incision in its side and some of the other dogs were walking over it. We will not go any further into the unspeakable details but the condition of the dogs was horrifying.

To return to the Life article, it was stated that the laboratories need almost two million dogs a year and that the Humane Society of the United States estimates that fifty per cent of all missing pets have been stolen by dognappers, who in turn sell them to the dealers as in the Maryland case.

ONCE AGAIN WE WARN PEOPLE TO LOOK AFTER THEIR DOGS.

Those which stray may be picked up and end in the hands of merciless experimenters. And be sure your dog wears a collar with its license number and your name and address.

Vietnam Opinion

Editor of The Graphic:

I would like to reply to the letter of Ernest H. Robinson which you printed recently. In this letter he asks a number of questions like "If a riot broke out, would you call the police?', etc. Then he argues that we should believe our elected leaders, back them up, and encourage our soldiers in Viet Nam.

Mr. Robinson seems to be unaware of the fallacies of logic and the errors of fact, which his letter contains.

Logically, the argument from analogy is very often false. If one situation is "like" another situation, to assert that what is true in the first case must be true in the second, is regularly false — is only accidentally true. For example, to liken the war in Viet Nam to a "riot" is wrong.

Mr. Robinson seems to be unaware that the people of Viet Nam have been fighting foreign forces in their country since 1942; first, the Japanese 1942-45; then the French, 1945-54; and now the Americans, 1960 to date. The United States has no legal right to support the succession of some eight dictators from Ngo Dinh Diem down to General Ky, who have seized power in South VietNam.

These dictators ask us for help, and cry "communists" about their opponents, and our government is taken in. The fact of the matter is that the people of Viet Nam have been fighting for their independence for years against foreigners and collaborationists.

Mr. Robinson seems to be unaware that over and over again leaders of governments and military generals have been wrong. For example, the United States government was wrong when it stated in May 1960 that there had been no U 2 plane flights over Russia; and the United States government was wrong when it stated that the United States was not involved in the attempted invasion of Cuba by "Cuban exiles (the Bay of Pigs affair) in April 1961. And the United States government was wrong when it asserted in Feb. 1965 aggression from North Viet Nam, because what was going on up to that time in South Viet Nam was more than 99 per cent a civil war among South Viet Namese.

Even now, there are no Chinese and no Russians fighting in South Viet Nam. I suggest Mr. Robinson read for example "The Making of a Quagmire" by Robert Halberstam, Pulitzer-Prize winning reporter of the "New York Times," published by Random House.

The best encouragement we can give our soldiers is to bring them home from the corrupt quagmire in South Vietnam. The best thing we can do for our great country is to insist on an end to misinformation and falsification emanating from our government about Viet Nam. The best thing we can do for Viet Nam is to let the Viet-Namese settle their affairs for themselves.

Yours incerely,
Edward C. Berkeley,

Parent Problem

Eidtor of The Graphic:

For many years I, too, was bothered by the problems facing the members of the Parents Protest Committee, but never was able to solve them. However, they are real and will have to be solved ultimately.

Two immediate and very successful solutions, that have been applied by friends, unfortunately are too limited in their utility. These are, of course, to move out of Newton, or still better, never come here at all.

Moving to the realm of what is practical, the first step is for the Parents Protest Committee to realize that Newton is run by strongly organized minoriti ly organized minorities which by their interactions control the city. Therefore, I suggest that they regain control of the P.T.A. organization. When this has been done, the P.T.A. will become a voice of the parents in dealing with the School Committee. Now the chief concern of most P.T.A. groups seems to be "Liberal" causes such as Mental Health, Fluoridation, Life Adjustment instead of discipline, and great concern with the need for student smoking lounges in the high schools, not to mention larger student parking lots.

Secondly, you will have to involve yourself in political action. This is just another name for electing the type of school committee members who are responsive to the wishes of parents and taxpayers. In addition to the educational defects in the school system, there is the further unpleasant fact that Newton, for sometime, has been involved in a race between school committee spending and a confiscatory tax-rate.

A city which is spending more than 50 cents of every tax dollar on a faddish school system, and which will not spend enough money on its police department so that the citizens can be safe in their homes, is certainly a City which needs a thorough reform.

If all else fails, why not determine whether the City Charter provides for a recall election. In that case, get a whole new school committee.

Yours truly,
Samuel A. Balkan
736 Chestnut St. Waban.

Speaker Is Feted

Ward 7 Problem

Editor of The Graphic:

Because of the controversy and numerous letters to the editor regarding the position of Ward Alderman from Ward 7, I feel compelled to make three points clear. They are:

1. Mr. William Carmen's resumption of duties as Ward Alderman is both legal and proper.

2. Mr. Carmen, chairman of the Newton Housing Authority and participant in numerous civic and charitable activities, is conferring a benefit upon this city in shouldering the additional duties of representing this Ward. This accommodation on his part requires a certain amount of courage because there is obvious controversy over exactly who is entitled to the seat.

3. I think that since the Supreme Judicial Court will soon decide who will assume the duties of Ward Alderman, the proper forum for further discussion of the merits of this case is certainly in the courts of the Commonweatlh and not in the letter to the Editor columns.

Applauds Singer

Editor of The Graphic:

I applaud Mr. Singer's "Open Letter to School Committee of Newton" published in the March 10th issue of the Newton Graphic.

As the parent of an eighth grader I am emphatically against the past and present mode of "educational experimentation," and am thankful my two older children were never involved in any such project. I am appalled at the thought of my youngest child being "thrown" indiscriminately into an experimental curriculum which has no foundation in proven worth.

My children entered Newton in mid-semester from another school system and were bored at having to repeat work they had already completed.

I was recently informed by a college dean, and former resident of Newton, that something should be done about the Newton English Department. Newton students are entering college poorly equipped in this area. A minority of students, fortunate enough to be taught by a minority of teachers still advocating the classical method of teaching, have received the basic fundamentals of English.

The Newton "image" is a mere hollow shell. I have in my possession a "Bulletin to All Teachers" issued by a former principal of a Newton high school in reference to an Open House for parents. Here I quote from number 10 on the list of directives:

10. At the risk of insulting your intelligence, may I ask you to avoid any comment which might suggest to the parents that you think certain classes are made up of "slow" children. You may indicate the curriculum of a particular class, but it is very easy for parents to misinterpret as derogatory any remarks made about their children. Be extremely careful of remarks which may be misinterpreted as criticism of the previous preparation of any student.—Unquote.

What is wrong with a class of "slow" children IF extra help and attention are to be available to them? We are not a population of geniuses and do not profess to be.

If anyone is interested in this bulletin please get in touch with me and I will be happy to make a copy available.

If there must be a Newton "Image" let it be an image Newton parents will be proud to acclaim. Perhaps there would then be no need for a public relations department.

- Political Highlights -

was out stumping for the re-election of the late Maurice J. Tobin as Governor. Peabody, then a Republican, was working hard for Robert F. Bradford who defeated Tobin as a GOP tidal wave rocked the entire nation because of public discontent with post-war rationing.

Brooke shifted from the Democratic party to the Republican party in the 1950s, and Peabody made the reverse switch from the GOP to the Democratic party.

While there have been periodic rumblings that Brooke might encounter opposition within his own party, the Attorney General actually appears to be well on his way to locking up the endorsement of the Republican State Convention.

Governor Volpe's coyness at his press conference about his political intentions and his refusal to say that he will be a candidate for reelection have been interpreted by some political observers as an indication that he might run for the U.S. Senate. There is no basis for any such assumption.

Volpe in all probability will stand for another term as Governor. He just isn't ready yet to say so and make himself an official candidate. There may be a very remote possibility that Volpe might decide to retire from public life, but it's so remote as to be almost nonexistent.

However slim that possibility may be, it is even less likely that Volpe will step into a convention and primary fight with Brooke.

Meanwhile, Mayor Collins appears to be moving steadily toward a victory at the Democratic State Convention in his fight with ex-Governor Peabody for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

Checks of sentiment in Democratic ward and town committees show that Collins has been building his delegate strength week by week.

Peabody has substantial built-in support because of favors he did and appointments he made during his two years as Governor. But surveys indicate that he does not have Collins' balanced strength.

A factor which is influencing many prospective delegates in Collins' favor, according to the soundings made by the writer, is that they feel he would have a much better chance of defeating Attorney General Brooke than would Peabody.

While people think of Collins in terms of his service as Mayor of Boston and the job he has done in administering the affairs of the State's capital city for the past six years, the fact is that Collins is no stranger to a Democratic State Convention.

After serving in the House of Representatives and two terms as State Senator, Collins won the Democratic nomination for Attorney General in 1954.

He lost to the late George Fingold, but Collins gave Fingold the stiffest fight he had in any of his three runs for the Attorney Generalship, and he did it when Fingold was at the peak of his political strength.

As a campaigner back in 1954, Collins looked like a potential candidate for Governor. But in 1955, when he was attempting a political comeback as a candidate for the Boston City Council, he was felled by polio.

From that day until he was elected Mayor of Boston in a tremendous upset in 1959, the road back was long and hard and uphill all the way. But Collins climbed it.

Collins has been the underdog in every major election fight he has waged except when he won reelection as Mayor in 1963 over City Councillor Gabriel F. Piemonte of West Roxbury.

That undoubtedly is one of the reasons Collins is undisturbed that he has again been cast in the role of underdog in the battle he is expected to wage with Attorney General Brooke next autumn.

Dem. Atty. Gen. Race May Be Long and Bitter

A long, drawn-out struggle for the endorsement for Attorney General is virtually inevitable at the coming Democed which the Republicans ordinarily use.

Those delegates who remember the time-consuming, tedious fight waged for hour after hour and ballot after ballot for the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor at the Democratic conclave in West Springfield two years ago certainly should be anxious to avoid a repetition of that senseless spectacle.

That was an endurance contest, not a political battle, and before it was finally concluded many delegates gave up from sheer exhaustion and went home.

The same thing could happen this year in the clash for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Attorney General unless some sensible rules are adopted to prevent it.

Six well-known candidates, all with some support, are involved in that scramble.

They are ex-Governor Foster Furcolo, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, former State Commerce Commissioner Lester S. Hymans, Representative Michael Dukakis of Brookline, Robert DiGiacomo, and former State Public Safety Commissioner and ex-State Senator Richard S. Caples.

It is possible that one of the six might win on the first ballot, but it's highly improbable because of the way the vote will be split.

That struggle could continue for ballot after ballot at the Democratic State Convention if all six remain in the contest.

The Republicans usually adopt a rule providing that the low man on each ballot is eliminated from the contention if no candidate polls a majority of the votes. It would be only sensible for the Democrats to adopt a similar rule, and no one could have any legitimate objection to it.

The candidate who finishes sixth on the first ballot in a six-man fight isn't likely to wind up the winner unless the supporters of the other contenders get tired and go home.

Hyman at this point appears to have more potential delegate strength than any of his opponents. Whether he will be able to hold his lead in the weeks before the convention is something only time will determine.

He got a jump on the other Democratic Attorney General candidates by launching an eary drive for delegate support,, and he built up a commanding advantage last year when it was assumed Senator Saltonstall would run again and that Attorney General Brooke would be a candidate for reelection.

Furcolo, Bellotti and Dukakis, who piled into the race after Saltonstall disclosed he would retire from public life at the end of this year and Brooke announced himself a candidate for the U. S. Senate, all have attracted some backing

A check by the writer indicated that Dukakis has more delegate strength than is generally supposed. He apparently is cutting into Hyman and this has slowed down the latter's drive since Hyman and Dukakis draw from much the same elements in the Democratic party.

Caples seems to be running fifth in this race and DiGiacomo sixth. Surveys disclose that Caples and DiGiamoco do not have as much delegate backing as any of the other four contenders.

Both Furcolo and Bellotti as well as DiGiacomo intend to carry their fights on into the September primary regardless of the outcome of the June convention.

Disclosures that Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson presently plans to stand for reelection and not set his sights on the Attorney Generalship has made the Democratic nomination for that office even more attractive and has increased the tempo of the campaigning for it.

The Democratic politicos who hope to become Attorney General have a healthy respect for Richardson and recognize that he would be a tough adversary in next November's election. They believe that anyone else the GOP could put up would be an easier opponent.

That's one of the reasons the fight for the Democratic State Convention's endorsement for Attorney General looms as a bitter battle, and it's one of the reasons rules should be adopted to prevent it from lasting so long it became a farce.

Steven Cline of Newton and William Roberts of Waban have parts in the coming Rivers Country Day School Dramatic Society production of "Moby Dick—Rehearsed," a two-act Orson Welles adaptation, for the most part in blank verse—of the Herman Melville noval.

Frederic Hopengarten, a junior from Waban, was moderator of a debate at Colby College, Waterville, Me., on a resolution that student draft deferments should be abolished.

Girl Scout Troops Usher In National "Week" Here

Seventeen troops from the Westdale Neighborhood Girl Scouts ushered in National Girl Scout Week with their annual Girl Scout Breakfast held at Warren Junior High, and also special observances in the various churches.

About 400 girls, leaders and chaperones from West Newton and Auburndale attended the breakfast which was also attended by honored guests from the five school districts in this neighborhood —Davis, Franklin, St. Bernard's, Williams and Burr-Murray Rd. Mrs. Charles Levy of Auburndale, organizer for Williams and Mrs. David Kendall of West Newton, organizer from Davis were Co-Chairman for the affair.

Cadet Troop No. 596 under the leadership of Mrs. Thomas Hayden of West Newton, conducted gametime for early comers (whose numbers seem to increase steadily!). The morning's activities began with the Flag Ceremony presented by specially invited Senior Scouts who live in the Westdale Neighborhood —Carolyn Hayden and Lynne Cavanaugh of West Newton, and Sharon Rooney and Jacqueline Tom of Auburndale.

Following the solemn color ceremony, girls marched to dining room to their own accompaniment of a mass singing of "This Old Man." They were seated in reserved troop sections at tables festively decorated with centerpieces made by their troops. The head table decoration was done by Troop No. 618 under the leadership of Mrs. Francis Maloney of Auburndale.

Mrs. William Uldrick of West Newton, program chairman, led the girls in the singing of the "Norfolk Chimes Grace" which when sung truly resembles the ringing of chimes. Mrs. Gustave Harrer of Auburndale, was in charge of the cadet and junior scout hostesses, with the assistance of Mrs. William Kunkel of Auburndale.

Under Mrs. Harrer's direction, two scouts from each troop were selected to prepare the dining tables and serve the adult guests which was another score for their hostessing badge work. Yearly fare of juice, cereals, milk, coffee and donuts was served without incident!

Mrs. Newton Teixeira of West Newton, neighborhood chairman, introduced the head table. Presented were the five school representatives: Mr. Merton C. Tefft, Principal of Williams School; Miss Charlotte Fourgeron, Principal of the Burr-Murray Schools; the Rev. Father Minnegan from St. Bernard's School; Mr. Edward Cronin representing Principal Lund from the Franklin School who was unable to attend due to illness; and Miss Henrietta Brebbia representing the Davis School principal who was unable to attend.

Also head table guests were Miss Sharon Rooney and Miss Jacqueline Tom both of whom represented the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout District at this past year's International Girl Scout Round-Up held out in the Mid-West.

Each girl spoke briefly about the rewards and satisfactions to be found in pursuing girl scouting to the upper levels, with always the hope of attending the annual international gathering of girls from all over the world.

Others at the head table were Mrs. Frederick Casey of Auburndale, in charge of the Juliette Low presentation and Mrs. Ralph Alsmeyer, the past Neighborhood Chairman who was specially honored and presented with her five-year pin. Also receiving a special five-year pin was Mrs. H. Clinton Shannon of West Newton, leader of Troop No. 804.

Also honored at the head table were members of the Neighborhood Team: Mrs. Richard Livingston of West Newton, organizer from Franklin; Mrs. J. L. Reed of West Newton, Junior Troop Consultant; and Mr. Jack Crosby of Auburndale, Community Resource (and first-class traffic consultant!).

Scouts' Program in auditorium led by Mrs. Ulrick had a songfest followed with the Juliette Low Presentation of monies presented by a representative from each troop. Mrs. Casey "pinned" each presentee with daisy commemorations and over $40 was presented for the fund.

Skits and songs were presented by five troops. Junior Troop No. 620, under leadership of Mrs. Harrer sang an original number written by two members of her troop satirizing the Cookie Sale entitled "500 Miles" and sung to the tune of the pop-song of the same name. Troop No. 543 sang "The Brownie Hiking Song"; gestures and all. Brownie Troop No. 1014 performed an unusual and charming English Country Dance to "Greensleeves" with intricate maneuverings developing the turning out of the "sleeves."

Mrs. Kendall assisted leader, Mrs. Shannon, in training the girls for the presentation.

Junior Troop No. 614 performed and led a joyful "Kee-Chee" song which they had learned from a troop of girls in Chinatown, which they had visited with in Boston. Junior Troop No. 563 under the leadership of Mrs. Vincent Galvagno of West Newton exhibited their folk dancing talents to the tune of "Klumpakajas", a Lithuanian folk dance.

The morning's events were ended with the solemn recital of the Brownie and Girl Scout Promises led by the Juliette Low girls, Janice Carey, Judy Maloney, Cindy Kunkel, Cynthia Hayden, Audrey Halloran, Susan Gallant, Mary Plate, Denice Bergin, Greta Austin, Maureen Murphy, Susan Kell, Sally Leist, Beth Mosher, Julia Livingston, Cheryl Bennett, Susan Gentile and Naomi Goldstein, all from West Newton and Auburndale.

The Westdale Neighborhood has approximately 425 registered girl scouts and attendance of about 360 girls at their annual event is a heart-warming result for the many mothers involved in the year-round programs and training of their girls. Biggest thrill of all to the girls is being honored by their school principals as evidenced by the rounds of cheers they receive when introduced.

PLAN FOR BLOOD BANK—Discussing final plans for the annual Blood Bank sponsored by the Temple Emanuel of Newton Brotherhood are, left to right, Aaron Cohen, Blood Bank chairman. Blood Bank will be held in conjunction with the Newton Chapter, Red Cross, on Wednesday, March 30th, in the Benjamin Vestry from 12:30 p. m. to 6:45 p. m.

Local Men On Committee To Honor Fertel

DAVID STERN

Newton residents are among the more than fifty leaders of Jewish Memorial Hospital who have accepted invitations to serve on the committee for the dinner honoring Murray Fertel, executive director of the hospital.

The dinner, in recognition of Fertel's twenty years of outstanding leadership in administration at the hospital, will be held Saturday evening, April 2nd at 6:30 p.m., in Sidney Hill Country Club, Newton.

David Stern, Newton, honorary president of the hospital and general chairman of the dinner committee, with assistance of Melvin B. Miller, Newton, co-chairman, has named 21 leaders of hospital's board and auxiliaries to serve as the honorary committee.

David L. Rosenberg, Newton, hospital president, is general chairman of the honorary committee, assisted by Louis E. Hellmann, Newton, and Frank L. Kozol, Brookline, both honorary presidents of the hospital, as co-chairmen.

Others on the honorary committee include Frank Altman, W. Roxbury; Samuel Barron Jr., Brookline; Mrs. Ida Borofsky, Dorchester; Benjamin Gargill, West Roxbury; Joseph S. Ginsburg, Newton; Louis Goldman, Newton; Kivie Kaplan, Newton; Max Karol, Brookline; James Krigman, Brookline; Mrs. Ada Lipsitz, Brookline; Mrs. Harry Pearlstein, Winthrop.

Also Mrs. Sylvan Rosoff, Newton; Mrs. Ann Sampson, Chelsea; Mrs. Michael J. Seidenberg, Brookline; Miss Mollye Shuster, Newton; Mrs. Maxwell Smith, Newton; Mrs. Michael Weinbaum, Newton; and Mrs. Harry Zimmerman, Newton.

Serving on the general committee for the dinner are Mrs. Sarah Abrams, West Roxbury; Mrs. Samuel Andelman, Newton; Mrs. David Appleberg, Brookline; Dr. Henry Baker, Brookline; Arthur Basch, Newton; Nathan Challant, Swampscott; Mrs. Samuel G. Cohen, Chelsea; Mrs. Leo Cole, Newton; Miss Bess Duban, Brighton; Louis Epstein, Brighton; Miss Ida Feldman, Brookline.

Jay L. Fialkow, Newton; Mrs. Max Gass, Winthrop; Benjamin Goldman, Brookline; Israel Grossman, Newton; Mrs. Samuel Harris, Malden; Mrs. Abraham Klayman, Newton; Mrs. Harold Levine, Newton; Mrs. Lottie Lipper, Brighton; Benjamin E. Maltz, Newton; Mrs. Jack Mesnick, Swampscott; Mrs. Abraham Olanoff, Swampscott; Gale L. Raphael, West Newton; George L. Roberts, Newton; Dr. Irving Shauffer, Newton; Julius R. Teich, Newton; Nathan Tuck, Brookline; Miss Eileen Warsofsky, Milton; Moses Weinman, Newton; and Mrs. Harold H. Yoffa, Brookline.

More than 500 friends of the hospital are expected to turn out to pay tribute to Mr. Fertel on his 20th anniversary of association with the 256-bed chronic disease hospital and for his devoted leadership in helping make the hospital one of the leaders in the field of chronic diseases and rehabilitation.

Since becoming executive director two decades ago, the hospital has expanded from 85 to 256 beds as a result of four construction programs including the erection of a nurses' dormitory to attract qualified nurses for the hospital's medical and rehabilitation care.

Lasell Junior College To Present Bowdoin Glee Club

The Bowdoin College Glee Club will open its spring tour with a concert at Lasell Junior College, Friday evening, March 25, at 8 o'clock, on the Auburndale campus. A combined chorus of more than 100 voices will be heard, and the concert is open to the public without charge.

Directing the singers will be Robert K. Beckwith, chairman of Bowdoin's Music Department, and James H. Remley, West Newton, director of Lasell's Orpheans.

Bowdoin's famed Meddiebempsters, under the direction of Bowdoin senior Jeffrey K. Rutherford, Lexington, Mass., will also be heard, as will Lasell's octet, the Lamplighters. Jeanne Orsi, Lasell senior, will present several folksongs.

Bowdoin's tenor soloists are Robert G. Cocks, '66, of Weston, Mass., and Robert Hinchliffe, '66, of Lexington, Mass., President and Vice President respectively of Bowdoin's Glee Club.

Frank Taylor, Newton, chairman of Lasell's Music Department, will accompany the Orpheans, whose advisor is student counselor, Mrs. Frank Kneisel of Wellesley.

Newton students at Lasell who will take part in the concert are: Ellen Davison, West Newton; Beverly Marr, Paula Druker, Kathy Morgan, and Gail Macey, Newton.

Honors Awarded For Four High School Students

Nearly 150 Newton residents saw four High School students honored recently at the First Unitarian Church in West Newton.

The students who were honored at the Annual Brotherhood Dinner of the church are: Ellen M. Garfinkle, 68 Greenlawn Ave., Newton Centre; Charles M. Grabau, 37 Anthony Rd., Newtonville; Rosemary Ednas, 20 Fox Lane, Newton Centre, and Joseph Durocher Jr., 8 Selden Rd., Waban. The first two students are from Newton High while the latter are from Newton South High.

They were selected for showing outstanding characteristics of understanding consideration, and tolerance of other people.

Prof. Howard Zinn of Boston University was the dinner speaker. He will speak on "Brotherhood—With Limits."

The Rev. Robert Harding of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville gave the invocation, and the Rt. Rev. John L. Parsons, St. Philip Neri Church, Waban, gave the benediction. Rabbi Harvey Fields of Temple Israel, Boston, was a special guest.

John J. Gurry, 67 Hunnewell Ave., Newton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Church, presented the awards, and Newton Teixeira, 92 Webster Park, West Newton, will be master of ceremonies.

School Clerk-Typist

The director of civil service has provided Dr. Charles E. Brown, Newton superintendent of Schools, with a list of three women from which to fill a vacancy for a permanent clerk-typist. The pay is $2450 to $4200 per year, depending on training and experience.

Board -

He is a director of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, and of the Newton Boys' Club. He was also special gifts chairman for Action for Mental Health in Newton.

For many years Mr. Dockser has served his alma mater, Northeastern, as chairman of special gifts for the School of Law and presently as a member of the Corporation. He has been of service to Brandeis University in a variety of capacities, most recently as a Fellow of the University.

In addition, Mr. Dockser is the vice president and a trustee of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for the Aged, a trustee of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, and is on the executive board of the New England Region Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

At the swearing-in ceremony Mayor Basbas stated it "was a great personal pleasure for him to be able to appoint such a competent, active and concerned Newton citizen to a board which is of such critical importance to the development of Newton as a city."

Gay Nineties Night Set At Emerson School

"Gay Nineties Night" will be presented on Thursday, April 14, at the Emerson School in Newton Upper Falls as the 15th annual scholarship benefit sponsored by the Emerson School P.T.A. and the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club.

The program will consist of The Newton-Wellesley Barber Shoppers under the direction of Richard Gallivan, The Boston Criers, a Woman's Barber Shop Quartet, and a short fashion, showing the clothes of that era.

An old fashion country store will be open during the evening to sell penny candy, pickles, cheese, crackers, root beer, remnants and a few gift items.

Tickets can be purchased by calling Mrs. Alfred Carroll 244-5352, Mrs. Nathan Richman, 332-4915, Mrs. Alden Macchi 969-8697, Mrs. Charles DeLorie 332-0859, Mrs. Irving Rosenthal 332-1453, and Mrs. Robert Proctor 449-1727.

Committee members for the affair are as follows: Mrs. George E. Eames, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Prescott, Mrs. Donald E. Dolph, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Vlass, Charles Hopkinson, Mrs. Robert Davenport, Mrs. Edward Costa, Mrs. Joseph Mathewiez, Mrs. Stephen J. Walker, Mrs. Alfred S. Carroll, Mrs. Nathan Richman, Mrs. William E. Hogan, Mrs. Edward M. Sisterhood Of Temple Reyim Lunch Mar. 30th

On Wednesday afternoon, March 30, at 12:45 p. m. Sisterhood Temple Reyim will hold its annual Mothers and Daughters Petite Luncheon.

In honor of mothers and mothers-in-law, and by request, the donor dinner show "Hands Across the Table" an original musical written and directed by Marilyn and Saul Stern, will have a repeat performance.

With the approach of Passover, as an added attraction, a musical parody "A Shtikel of Matzoh" will be presented. A petite luncheon will precede the program.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be the membership committee, Mrs. Sidney Kirshner, chairman. The luncheon will be prepared by Mrs. Sumner Marcus and her hospitality committee. The opening prayer will be given by Mrs. Sara Kieval. Mrs. Saul Stern is program chairman. Mrs. Irving Berman, president, will preside.

Sacred Heart College Fetes Dads Recently

MRS. JAMES GODINO

Parker Wahn, Waban; Edward Becherer, Newton; F. Preston Herring, Newton Centre; Edmund Fanning, Waban; and G. C. Fagan, Newtonville, were among the more than 300 fathers from 22 states attending the recent eleventh annual Father - Daughter Weekend at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The visiting dads joined their daughters in a round of activities including tours, receptions, classroom lectures, speeches, a concert, a banquet and a dance.

Main speaker at the traditional Father-Daughter Breakfast was William H. Sullivan, Jr., president of the Boston Patriots professional football team and chairman of the Greater Boston Stadium Authority. His daughter, Mary Jean, is a sophomore at Newton College.

Also on campus was William E. Miller, 1964 Republican vice presidential candidate, who addressed the political science students and their fathers on Satuday. He was the weekend guest of his daughter, Mary Karen, a Newton freshman.

Mr. Wahn's daughter, Elizabeth, is a senior at Newton; Mr. Bechere's daughter, Elizabeth, Mr. Herring's daughter, Mary, Mr. Fanning's daughte, Paula, and Mr. Murphy's daughter, Constance, are all juniors; Mr. Fagan's daughter, Constance, is a sophomore.

Rainbow Girls Conduct Auction

Newton Assembly, No. 60, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, sponsored a Johnny Appleseed auction on Saturday, March 19th at the Masonic Hall, Newtonville sq.

Cindy Morgan, Worthy Advisor, and her officers and members, planned the auction.

The girls collected many items, including antiques, furniture, and bric-a-brac for the auction. Entertainment and refreshments also were included on the evening's program.

Monterey Ball To Aid Education Of The Deaf

Proceeds from a Monterey ball, scheduled for Apr. 15 in the main ballroom of the Sheraton-Boston, will help make it possible for the Speech and Hearing Foundation to continue its program of adult education of the deaf.

For this affair, the ballroom will be transformed into a bit of Monterey, and in the cocktail lounge there will be a fishing platform, nets and little bistres which are gathering places for members of the art colony.

As a contrast, the ballroom will reflect the elegance of the 19th Century Monterey, and there will be found the twin spirits of California—fun and culture—all for the benefit of the Speech and Hearing Foundation.

On hand early to greet guests will be officials of the Foundation, including Mr. and Mrs. James Godino of 442 Chestnut St., Waban, chairmen of the sponsors.

Courses taught in the Boylston St. headquarters of the Speech and Hearing Foundation of Massachusetts offer vocational training as well as continuing education in many subjects.

Newtonites In Wheaton Drive

Mrs. William E. Ginsburg of 46 Alderwood road, Newton Centre, has accepted the special gifts chairmanship in this area for Wheaton College's $6,100,000 drive to provide funds for consolidation of the college's achievements of the past 10 years.

Assisting her as committee members will be the following Wheaton alumnae: Miss Elizabeth Burnham and Miss Ruth N. Eddy of Waban, Mrs. Newell B. Kurson and Mrs. Stephen P. Endler of Newtonville, Mrs. Edward Dangell of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Theodore Libby of Newton.

Infantidings

A daughter, Eileen Rita, was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Shanly of 21 Lodge Rd., West Newton, at St. Margaret's Hospital in Dorchester.

Women Voters Art Sale To Offer Varied Items

The Art committee of the Newton League of Women Voters has amassed a large collection of art items which will be displayed and sold at the Fine Art Sale and Auction on Wednesday, March 30, at the Newton Centre Women's Club, 1280 Centre street, Newton.

There will be an afternoon auction preview and companion sale at 1 p.m. and an evening auction at 7 p. m. George Wheaton of Newton Highlands will act as appraiser and auctioneer.

Mrs. Milton Cohen and Mrs. Norman Krim are chairing the art committee and they are being assisted by Mrs. Norman Waks.

Contributing artists include many professionals and local talent. They are represented by paintings, sculpture, sketches, ceramic placques, mosaics, silk screen and water colors.

On the list of artists are David Holleman, Lawrence Kupferman, David Berger, Edna Hibel, George Aarons, Charlotte Lockwood, Sophina and Sam Coty, Ruth Golub, Diane Feinsig, Nathaniel Jacobson, Rosiland Smith, Toni Roberts, Carolyn Bernhardt, Blanche Josephson, Estelle Silverman, Shirley Gainsborg, Gloria Gordon, Beverly Myers, Betty Jacobson, Emanuel Gerard, Marjorie Swartz and Polly Egelson.

Donations of art as well as antiques and bric-a-brac are still being accepted by collection chairman Mrs. George Gerard at 969-7920 and Mrs. Paul Nation at 332-7793.

Some recent items received are cut crystal glasses, linens, child's desk and chair, oriental rug, country colonial furniture by Louis Caterine, silver pieces, tin and brass sconces and chandeliers.

The hospitality committee will serve coffee and doughnuts throughout the sale. Mrs. Daniel Ryter heads the committee and is assisted by Mrs. Louis Caterine, Mrs. Melvin Clayton, Mrs. S. Berest, Mrs. Ralph Alsmeyer and Mrs. Edward Morrison.

Ticket information may be obtained from Mrs. S. Peter Klapper at 244-3325.

Public View For Housing Here Sunday

The new Horace Mann Apartments, latest Housing for the Elderly development in Newton, will be available to public view at an open house to be held this Sunday, March 27th from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

William Carmen, chairman of the Newton Housing Authority, builders of the project, said today that several model apartments and the community building will be open for inspection.

There are 72 apartments in seven buildings plus the community building. This includes an assembly hall, office, kitchen, laundry, storage and heating facilities.

The Horace Mann Apartments are located on Watertown St., Walker St., and Brookside Ave., opposite the new Horace Mann School, in Newtonville.

The 72 families have already started to move in and the buildings will be completely occupied by April 1st.

The Newton Housing Authority now has 169 units completed for elderly Newton families of low income and 56 much needed additional apartments are being planned.

Dr. Rollins Is Sunday Speaker

Dr. Wayne G. Rollins, assistant professor of Biblical History at Wellesley College, will present "Theological Perspective of Our New Generation" in dialogue with Wellesley student Jean Bowers of Brookline, at Newtonville Methodist Church next Sunday, March 27, at 6:40 p.m. Dr. Rollins is the author of "The Gospels: Portrait of Christ," published in 1964, and "Christology of Colossians" to be published shortly.

In the youth division Mrs. H. Wilson Yates will conduct a "Religious Drama Workshop." Mrs. Virginia Tashjian of the Newton Children's Library will lead the children's division in "The Wonderful World of Stories."

Sunday School Contest Going At Church Here

Second Baptist Church of Newton, Lower Falls, is in the third week of its March Sunday School attendance contest, which has as its theme A Race In Space.

The membership has been divided into two teams, the "Apollos" and the "Geminis," captained by Mr. Clancy Burns and Mr. Wm. Sperr, respectively. The goal is to "reach the moon" with peak attendance.

There will be two first prizes for those persons having the most points, two second prizes, and a prize for the members of the winning team. Team members receive points for Sunday School and church attendance, bringing Bible, doing lesson, and bringing guests and visitors.

The team captains have given colorful presentations to their teams. Every week Mr. Burns, dressed in astronaut fashion, encouraged his team with his jokes. Mr. Sperr, captain of the Geminis, has presented an original song as well as preparing a simulated space lift-off.

Legion Women's Party

Newton Women's Post 410, American Legion, will hold a bridge whist party Tuesday evening, Mar. 29, at 8, in City Hall cafeteria.

Refreshments will be served, and the public is invited. Tickets may be bought at the door.

Aspinwall ORT Chapter Show Next Thursday

Aspinwall Chapter of Eastern Massachusetts Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through training) cordially invites Newton women to attend a Spring Fashion Show at the Chestnut Hill Country Club on Thursday, March 31, at 8 p.m.

Fashions will be furnished by Sylvia Lee of Brookline. Mrs. Henry Abbott, chairman, and Mrs. Arthur Frieder, co-chairman, announce that all proceeds are to benefit the school building fund.

Models for the evening's program will include Mrs. Lewis Chandler, Mrs. Marvin Cohen, Mrs. Norman Jacobs, Mrs. Harold Kaplan, Mrs. Sherman Katz, Mrs. Howard Priluck, Mrs. Edward Schlar, Mrs. Arnold Stewart, Mrs. Barry Sulkin and Mrs. Martin Tollins. For further information please contact Mrs. Harold Williams, 982-9715.

Ort is a program for rebuilding lives through vocational education. ORT is the world's largest non-governmental training agency. Its students include the poverty-stricken inhabitants of underveloped countries, refugees and immigrants seeking a new life, and youngsters trying to build secure futures for themselves and their families.

Fashions Show, Tea By Mission Club On Sunday

"Fashions by Touraine" is the theme of the annual Tea and Fashion Show sponsored by the Boston Oblate Mission Club at Boston College High School auditorium on Sunday afternoon, March 27th at three o'clock.

Miss Claire Ann Blaney and Miss Cecelia Gibbons have arranged a program of fun, prizes and refreshments as well as the exciting spring fashions being modeled by club members.

Among the many hostesses is Mrs. Herbert Reinhard of 256 Cabot street, Newtonville. Tickets may be obtained by calling her at 527-1441. No tickets will be sold at the door.

DISCUSS "THE DISCOTHEQUE"—Committee members of the Young Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies planning April 2nd "Discotheque" are, seated, left to right, Mrs. William Sapers, Brookline, and Mrs. David Alberts, Waltham; Mrs. Charles Lipson, Newton; Mrs. Harvey Plonsker, Brookline; Mrs. Jeffrey Wisnia, Newton; and Mrs. Herbert Gorfinkle, Braintree.

Jewish Women's College Club's Concert Sunday

Mrs. Sarley Feldman of 117 Westchester Road, Newton, functions chairman of The Jewish Women's College Club, has announced that Ammon Levy will be the guest artist at the club's annual fund-raising concert on Sunday evening, March 27, at 8:15 at the New England Conservatory of Music Recital Hall.

Mr. Levy is a violinist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He is a native of Tel Aviv and is a graduate of the Jerusalem Conservatory of Music and the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia where he studied under Ivan Galamian. He has appeared as soloist with orchestras throughout the U. S. and has given a number of recitals.

All proceeds of this concert will be used to provide scholarships for college girls of Greater Boston in local colleges and universities.

"Discotheque" To Help Raise Funds For Cause

Mrs. Joseph Michelson of Newton is co-chairman of "The Discotheque" being planned by the Young Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies as this year's fund raising function.

It will be held on Saturday, April 2, at 6:30 p.m. at the Harvard Club in Boston. Mrs. William Sapers of Brookline is co-chairman.

A cocktail hour will preceed dinner and dancing at which the Harvard University "Icemen" will provide the music. Two instructors will demonstrate the latest dance steps.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Mr. Zvi Kolitz, author and executive producer of Israel's first major motion picture, "Hill 24 Doesn't Answer." He was also co-producer of the controversial play "The Deputy."

Other committee members include: Mrs. David Alberts of Waltham, Mrs. Herbert Gorfinkle of Braintree, Mrs. Charles Lipson of Newton, Mrs. Harvey Plonsker of Brookline and Mrs. Jeffry Wisnia of Newton.

The Young Women's Division was started five years ago as a separate branch of the Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies. This year for the first time its fund raising venture will include Needham as well as Brookline and Newton.

Government Of College Names Local Students

Miss Mary H. Gambrill, 39 Crescent street, Weston and Miss Elaine Woo, 70 Burdean road, Newton Centre have been elected officers of the College Government at Wellesley College.

Officers of student organizations at Wellesley generally serve a one-year term, beginning in April after the spring recess.

Miss Gambrill, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gambrill Jr. and has been elected Chief Justice of the College Government Court. She was a member of the Genera l Court in her sophomore year and has participated in the Chapel Organization, dramatics, the crew and Junior Show.

Miss Woo, also a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Way Dong Woo and has been elected Winter Weekend Chairman. In this capacity next year, Miss Woo will plan a round of events for the week-end to which students invite dates from nearby men's colleges. Generally included are concerts, a formal dance and informal parties in the dormitories. A chemistry major, Miss Woo, this year was editor of the Freshman Portrait Directory.

Frances Willard Homes Auxiliary Meets On Monday

The April meeting of the Newton Auxiliary of the Frances Willard Homes will be held on Monday, March 28 at Eliot Church in Newton.

The January meeting being cancelled because of a blizzard, this will be the guest meeting for 1966. The members of the Arlington auxiliary will be invited.

Chairmen for the luncheon are, Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy, Mrs. F. Hopewell Underhill, Mrs. V. Stoddard Bigelow.

They will be assisted by: Mrs. Ralph D. Thompson, Mrs. George W. McCreery, Mrs. D. Hardwick Bigelow, Mrs. Donald L. Gibbs, Mrs. Howard L. Rich, Mrs. E. Morris Burdsall.

Fortunately Joel A. Goldthwait is available to give his program, which was to have been the program in January. He will be introduced by Miss Dorothy L. Simpson, program chairman. His subject, "One Hundred Thousand Welcomes to Ireland."

His 2500-mile journey is filled with wild and beautiful scenery from Connemara through the Yeats country to the cliffs and beaches of Donegal.

In addition to her work at the All Newton Music School, she teaches at the Lexington School of Modern Dance, at the New England Conservatory Dance Department, and at Radcliffe.

She is a member of Donald McKayle's Company and Jack Moore's Company, and has in the past performed with the Dancemakers at the Boston Arts Festival.

Good Buys At Weeks Jr. High

Spring cleaning time is here! Closets will yield treasures of outgrown clothing which the Weeks Junior High Clothing Exchange will be glad to sell for you and to you. All articles (up to 15 per person) which are clean, up-to-date and in good condition will be put on sale, with 80% of the selling price going to the original owner, and 20% to the Weeks PTA.

The Exchange is staffed by volunteer workers, and is open for selling each Wednesday that school is in session, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Appraisals are made from 10 a.m. to 12 noon only. It is located in a basement room, in the back of the school at the parking lot, 7 Hereward Rd., Newton Centre, and like its counterpart, that famous Bargain Basement Store, offers fabulous buys.

Some people aren't happy with a Bulova...

So they own a few!

No wonder!
Bulova makes more kinds of watches, in more styles, than anyone else in the world! It's almost impossible to select only one watch. There's a different watch for every person — and occasion. For instance, would you prefer a round, square or oblong watch? A diamond watch? A self-winder that's waterproof,* too? A calendar watch? An alarm watch? Bulova makes all of these and more! 14kt gold, platinum and stainless steel watches for everything from deep-sea fishing to a debutante ball.
You need a wardrobe of watches? Fine, we have them. See our extensive Bulova Collection of fine watches.

DIANE L. HAHN

Nuptials in June for Diane Hahn, Marvin Glick

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hahn of 31 Cotter road, Waban, make known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Diane L. Hahn, to Marvin M. Glick. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Glick of 203 Winslow road, Waban.

Miss Hahn attended Northeastern University. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Sara E. Stone of Brighton.

Mr. Glick is a member of the class of 1967 at the University of Massachusetts, where his fraternity is Alpha Epsilon Pi. He is the grandson of Mrs. Anna Keesan of Dorchester.

A June 19 wedding is planned.

Miss Ruth Leslie Halperin Weds Mr. Steven Rosenthal

Miss Ruth Leslie Halperin and Steven Rosenthal were married on Saturday, March 19, at 6:30 o'clock at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Halperin of 72 Sharpe road, Newton Centre. Dr. and Mrs. William Rosenthal of the Bronx, N. Y., are the bridegroom's parents.

Rabbi Albert I. Gordon and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg officiated at the double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the hotel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Cyreld original gown of traditional white French lace. The matching lace jacket had long sleeves and the full-length skirt was A-line.

Similar lace fashioned the becoming headpiece which held in place her bouffant shoulder-length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of traditional white flowers.

Miss Ellen Sue Davis of Brookline was her cousin's honor maid. Miss Leslie Garber and Miss Beth Gellis, both of Newton, joined Mrs. Bernard Laub of Waltham, Mrs. Gerald Lewis of Framingham, Miss Helaine Morris of Newton and Miss Marjorie Rosenthal of the Bronx, sister of the groom.

Stephen Porter of Chicago served as best man. The ushers were Mark Gaurill, cousin of the groom, Marvin Lesser and Gary Rosenthal, cousin of the groom, all of New York, as well as Richard Halperin and Robert Halperin, both of Newton, brothers of the bride, and Gerald Lewis of Framingham.

Atfer a trip to St. Croix and St. Thomas, the couple will live in Waltham.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and Boston University.

Mr. Rosenthal is a graduate of Tufts University.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE

If you are undecided between nylon and natural bristle brushes for your hair, it is safe to say you will never go wrong with the latter. Being hair, natural bristles are more compatible to your own. Then, too, their resiliency thwarts breakage and split ends, and they hold moisture.

A little more costly initially, natural bristles with proper care could very well last a lifetime. Wipe bristles clean with a towel, remove loose hair from the tufts and make it a practice to wash your brush as regularly as you shampoo your hair.

Make it a practice also to rely on us for pert, perky permanents certain to give your spirits a lift. In fact, make your appointment today at MR. Lewis-Leo Golding and Bride Living in Newton Highlands

The marriage of Miss Linda Jean Lyons to Lewis-Leo Golding Jr., took place recently at St. John's Church in Wellesley Hills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Lyons of Wellesley Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis-Leo Golding of Newton Highlands are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Bernard Keenan celebrated the 10 o'clock nuptial mass which was followed by a reception at Hiberian Hall in Watertown.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a traditional white satin gown bodiced with brocade. Her shoulder-length illusion veil fell from a seed pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses.

Miss Barbara Lodi of Wellesley was honor maid. Miss Susan Allen of Newton and Miss Karen Baker of Hudson, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Young Karen Fitzpatrick of Framingham was flower girl.

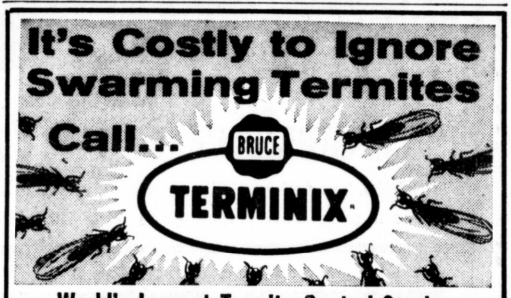

Fraser Grouchy of Newton served as best man. The ushers included Thomas Gallant of Needham, Thomas Hannon, Pohn Frirree and Gerald Boudreau, all of Newton.

New York City was the honeymoon destination of the couple, who are now living in Newton Highlands.

A graduate of Wellesley High School, the bride is attending Mansfield Academy.

Mr. Golding, a graduate of Newton South High School, served with the Air Force.

"Miss Julie" Is Ready For First Curt'n Tomorrow

West Newton's John Adams is putting his Winterscene players through their final rehearsals of Strindberg's passionate and powerful play "Miss Julie," It is due for two performances at the First Unitarian Society Parish Hall in West Newton Square on March 25 and 26 at 8:30 p.m.

The production will be performed in a theater-in-the round setting with special seating provided for this event. Mr. Adams feels this masterpiece has the same vitality and power today as it had when written in the late 1880's.

It is symbolic of the 20th Century which also began with great humanitarian goals and has succumbed, as did Julie, to embrace the cruel, the mean and the vulgar. Jane Dengler of Weston is portraying the role of the decaying aristocrat, "Miss Julie," and Cris Simmons of Arlington is the tempestuous lover and social-climbing lackey "Jean." Martha Castillo of Weston completes the tragic trio with the playing of "Kristin," the faithless cook.

Director Adams also conducts an experimental class in theatre for the West Newton First Unitarian Society Church School. A talented group from this class will also appear in the drama.

Mr. Adams has studied method acting under Alan Leavitt and George Bolton at the Actor's Workshop in Boston. He has appeared in several productions of Lincoln's DeCordova Drama Workshop with warm acclaim for his portrayal of Mr. Frank in "The Diary of Anne Frank," and subsequent productions of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "The Miracle Worker," Pirandellos "Enrico IV," Shaw's "Ceasar and Cleopatra" and Shakespeare's "The Winters Tale.'

Seating will be limited and ticket information is available by calling Mrs. Pittman at 332-8366.

Pops Program For Program Of Histadrut

Kupat Holim, Israel Histadrut's medical program, will receive the proceeds of the 38th annual Pops Concert which will be sponsored by the Greater Boston Israel Histadrut Committee, Thursday evening, June 9, in Symphony Hall.

Yiddish and Israeli music will be presented at this affair, a highlight of which will be a Salute to the State of Israel on its 18th anniversary.

The Histadrut is Israel's major national institution, whose humanitarian programs are aided by funds raised in this country by the Israel Histadrut Campaign.

The Communist government of Poland and the Roman Catholic Church appear to have cleared up one of the many points of friction that has produced an immense chasm between church and state.

The Church invited German bishops to Warsaw for the millenium of Poland as a state and as a Christian nation but the state opposed it on grounds the Church could not forgive and forget Nazi cruelties of World War II.

Soviet Amb. Valerian Zorin said in Paris that Moscow is ready to conclude a treaty of alliance or non-aggression with France at any time such a treaty is acceptable to President Charles de Gaulle.

The New York Stock Exchange, hub of the world's financial transactions, has cancelled plans to construct a new exchange in New York City and sent study teams outside New York State to find another site.

The Exchange decided to halt engineering and architectural work on the proposed new building as a protest against proposed new taxes on stock transactions by the new Republican Administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Republican Congressional leaders have accused the Johnson administration of "playing cruelly cynical politics" on unemployment statistics.

They said figures showing a new low in joblessness were partly due to Viet Nam military induction.

"Is this bright economic picture due to real prosperity as the Administration claims or is it, rather, due to the bloody facts of war in Viet Nam?" asked House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, of Michigan.

Police said Calvin Cuff, 33, resident of the Central Apartment Hotel at 250 W. 88th st., got into a violent argument with Doben in the lobby. Suddenly he pulled a hatchet from a paper bag and attacked the manager. Harold Decker, 73, a clerk, attempted to aid Doben and suffered head and neck injuries.

Two women residents of the hotel called police. When they arrived, Cuff was standing meekly in front of the hotel. He was spattered with blood.

Newton Group Urges Exodus Week Support

A group of Dudley street, Roxbury, merchants have offered a percentage of the sales for the week of March 28 through April 2d to Operation Exodus.

Newton Citizens for Operation Exodus at a meeting this week urged the people of Newton to support the Exodus week by going to the Dudley street area and making purchases at the stores which display the Exodus signs.

Operation Exodus is a cooperative project of the Roxbury-North Dorchester Parent Association to provide a better education for their children by bussing them out of overcrowded Roxbury areas, under the open enrollment plan.

This effort does not receive any public funds and is supported by voluntary contributions of Roxbury parents and their friends. For additional information write to Newton Citizens for Operation Exodus Box 93, Newton Centre 02159.

BE HOST TO A FOREIGN STUDENT

Want an interesting and enjoyable experience? Have a foreign student in your home. You can choose a young lady or gentleman who you will find congenial and appreciative.

They come from Latin-American and European countries, are fully vouched for, and have excellent references.

Some of these young people need accommodations while taking summer courses, however, most of them will register for the 1966-67 school year beginning in September.

If you have space in your home — possibly as a result of your own youngsters going off to college or the armed forces — fill it with one of these earnest respectful visitors. They will, of course, pay reasonable compensation for room, any meals, laundry, etc. For information call 267-1426 between 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

U. S. forces in Vietnam total 220,000, it was announced Wednesday by Dep. Sec. of Defense Cyrus R. Vance. This is 5,000 more than the total listed by Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara three weeks ago.

Vance, the Pentagon's second-ranking official, also disclosed there are 111 confirmed battalions of North Vietnamese army regulars and hard-core Viet Cong veterans in South Vietnam, totaling some 75,000 men.

A Roman Catholic theologian Wednesday predicted the ordination of women in the Church. The Rev. Bernard Haring, of Germany, said he believed it feasible "to ordain women as deaconesses."

After that the question could be raised whether they "can be called to the priesthood," he said. "I would not say yes, but I would not close the door to it."

The diaconate is a level of holy orders prior to the priesthood that involves ordination.

Gov. Volpe has urged cities and towns to think before they spend funds made available through the sales tax. In a statement Wednesday, the Governor called upon the cities and towns to be judicious in their spending proposals and not look upon the new income as a means for buying of everything the community has wanted for years.

Volpe called on the state's communities to use the sales tax funds to lower real estate property taxes and relieve the burden upon the home owner.

Volpe warned that the receipts from the sales tax will not be as great this year as in subsequent years because the levy will only be collected nine months.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke Tuesday upheld the 1966 rates set by Adm. Commissioner John J. McCarthy for hospital care of Massachusetts welfare patients.

The rates affect some 140 hospitals that care for welfare patients and the increase brings the total government payments to the hospitals for such costs to about $45 million for the current year.

Last month Brooke ruled that the rates, which increase payments by $13 million, were illegal because they were based on estimated costs.

But in his ruling issued Tuesday, Brooke said there is no contradiction in the two rulings.

The latest opinion marks a victory for McCarthy who has maintained that he has the power to set "reasonable" rates even if he has to estimate current costs of ward care.

The continuing controversy over the hospital rates has triggered a senate committee investigation of McCarthy's actions in setting the rates.

President Johnson has not yet decided whether to propose a tax increase, he told a hurriedly called news conference Tuesday where he carefully avoided mention of the inflationary signals that have generated increasing talk of an early move to raise taxes.

He said he is checking the economic situation every day but does not want "to put on the brakes too fast."

"We don't want to act prematurely," the President said as he called attention to some recent economic readings that are on the non-inflationary side.

"We will watch the situation very closely and see what happens in these unemployment markets, in retail sales, in housing and in the money market, and then take whatever action is indicated," he declared.

In a speech Wednesday which was broadcast nationwide, President Johnson reacted to the threat of Gen. Charles de Gaulle to withdraw French forces and support from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President told several hundred members of the Foreign Service Institute at the State Department that the United States is determined to join with 13 of her other allies in preserving and strengthing NATO.

"No one today can doubt the necessity of deterring war," the President said, "and it is our position that NATO will contribute to that posture."

The President pointed out that NATO has been a force for peace since 1945 and that it has been the instrument of stability for the North Atlantic community.

War has been deterred not only through our combined military power," the President asserted, "but also through our political alliances."

"The mightiest arsenal in tre world will deter no aggressor if he finds it is divided," Johnson warned.

The president ended his speech by hoping "no member will long remain withdrawn from NATO" 'and said "we await and welcome anyone' who wishes to return.

Three teenage Viet Cong were found chained to their weapons after their .50 cal. machinegun nest was overrun during fighting in War Zone D, Vietnam, a jungle area 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

The youths, estimated to be 15 or 16 years old, were chained to the 75-pound mount of the heavy weapon, presumably to prevent them from fleeing the battlefield. The heavy chains were attached to shackles around their necks.

Paratroopers reported seeing the body of a 14-year-old boy tied to the base of a tree in a defensive position about 200 yards outside the American perimeter. He apparently was left there to help cover the Viet Cong retreat.

The Justice Department Tuesday filed a lawsuit to prevent Alabama from prolonging the terms of local white officials in a county where Negro voter registration has caught up with white registration.

The suit, filed in United States District Court in Montgomery, Ala., seeks to invalidate a state law that would delay the next Bullock County Commissioners' election until 1968.

It was the first suit the department has filed under the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that requires states covered by the act to clear any change in election procedure with either the Attorney General or the Federal court in the District of Columbia.

The Air Force has been finally forced to investigate the rash of Unidentified Flying Object reports emanating from Michigan. Even a Michigan Congressman, Weston E. Vivian, of Ann Arbor, has called for a Defense Department probe.

The latest sighting was Tuesday by a Civil Defense director and 87 Michigan College coeds. The girls and William Van Horn asserted they all saw a football shaped object near Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Mich. They said they saw a glowing object over a college dormitory and hover just above a swamp for hours.

It was a day after an Ann Arbor farmer and his son gave a close-up description of a UFO that apparently had landed.

The Air Force denied, as usual, that anything unusual had been seen on radar screens in the area at the time of the sightings, which have been reported by scores of citizens and at least a dozen police officers, in Michigan and northern Indiana.

Van Horn said the object spotted in Hillsdale emitted wavering orange, red and white lights and appeared to hover just above the swamp some 1000 to 1500 yards from the dormitory.

"'It was definitely some kind of vehicle," he declared. He said it changed from orange to red, perhaps with a rotating light of some kind, and had a white light at one end.

Anti-American overtones were heard for the first time Wednesday in demonstrations in South Vietnam. Some persons in the throng of about 10,000 which milled about the City Hall in Hue carried banners attacking the United States for supporting the military rule of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. One group, however, carried a banner which read: "We thank our American friends for helping us fight the Viet Cong."

The new anti-government demonstrations erupted in Hue and Da Nang as the dispute between Premier Ky's military regime and the Buddhist leadership was intensified.

Two small town career girls were found murdered in Quincy, Ill., Tuesday not far from the apartment they shared. Both had been stabbed repeatedly and both bodies bore shotgun wounds.

The body of Judith Ann Greening, 22, of Monroe City, Mo., was found in a roadside ditch near Quincy. After an all-day search the body of Donetta Pickens, 21, of Plainville, Ill., was found in the trunk of her car parked about a half-mile from where her roommate's body was discovered.

Both girls were secretaries employed by a propane gas firm in Quincy.

A coroner said a search of the girls' apartment had not turned up any clue. The girls were last seen by friends about 7 p.m. Monday.

Police said they were aware that a former Quincy man had escaped from a mental hospital at Jacksonville, Ill., last week but didn't connect him with the slayings.

The body of Miss Pickins, a 5-foot-5 brunette, was fully clothed. The body of Miss Greening was clad in rain-soaked black leotards and a white blouse.

Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois proposed an amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would permit prayer in public schools across the nation. Dirksen declared that such an amendment would clarify a "vexing problem" before interpretations of the Supreme Court's 1963 and 1964 decisions on school prayers are carried to "ridiculous extremes."

By a 197-184 vote the national House on Tuesday approved a $750,000 appropriation to provide an official home for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and his successors in office.

Republicans vigorously opposed the erection of a Vice Presidential mansion, referring to it as "an entertainment palace," "the Vee Pee's tee pee,' and a "junior White House.'

Democrats countered with the argument that a nation spending billions to send a man to the moon should be able to afford to have space for its Vice President.

Humphrey's suburban Maryland home is too small to enable him to entertain VIP's. He can't even use his basement recreation room which has been taken over by the Secret Service.

At one point during Tuesday's debate there was talk of providing an official home for Speaker John W. McCormack, but McCormack ended the discussion.

The U. S. Senate authorized a $1 million expenditure for a Vice Presidential house so a compromise must be reached between that and the House figure of $750,000.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-New York) can go to South Africa any time he wants to — except in May. That was the word given out in Pretoria, South Africa, Tuesday as the government there granted the New York Senator a visa to visit their country, focal point of the struggle between white supremacists and African nationalists."

Kennedy has accepted an invitation by the National Union of South Africa Students (NUSAS) to address a mass multi-racial rally in Cape Town in May.

Aides to the Senator said he was told his visa application was "considered affirmatively" but that the government found it would not be "convient" for Kennedy's visit to take place in May. The reason given was the forthcoming celebration on May 31 of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the South African Republic.

The Senator's aides said he would probably notify the student group of the restriction placed on the visa and suggest a later date.

CHRYSLER DIVISION CHRYSLER MOTORS CORPORATION

The only thing a Chrysler hasn't got is a big price tag.

If you've been thinking a Chrysler automatically means big money, you're in for a happy kind of surprise.

Five Newport models, now available in our new Bronze color, are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars, comparably equipped.

Which means, with a 383 cu. in. V8, automatic transmission, power steering and brakes, radio, and whitewalls. Plus Chrysler's exclusive 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty.*

Chrysler's small difference in price also includes all the new standard safety features such as seat belts, padded dash and sun visors, back-up lights — plus variable speed wipers, safety-action door handles, Safety-Rim wheels, and the biggest brakes in the medium-price field.

Now that you know how really easy it is to do — see your Chrysler dealer and move up... move now.

*CHRYSLER'S 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE WARRANTY WITH THIS COVERAGE: Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, without charge for required parts and labor, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1966 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

Convocation At School Features Local Residents

During recently held Honors Convocation ceremonies at Cambridge School, Boston, Milton Grahm, president of the school and a resident of Newton presented Citations of Merit to educators in the fields of business and communications.

Among those receiving awards was Dr. Gerhart D. Wiebe, Dean of the School of Public Communication at Boston University and a resident of Newton Lower Falls.

Dr. Wiebe, who delivered the convocation address, was honored for accomplishment in better communications and a better informed public.

Also receiving an award was Rev. W. Seevey Joyce, S.J., Dean, College of Business Administration at Boston College. Rev. Joyce, who is a trustee of Boston College, was commended for outstanding service in community planning and business education.

Similarly honored was Richard A. Fulton, executive director and general counsel, United Business School Association. Students named to the President's Honor List, Dean's List and Chi Sigma Beta Honorary Broadcasting Fraternity received recognition.

Cambridge School is a junior college of business and broadcasting.

Parents Hire Lawyers For School Fight

The Parents Protest Committee has retained legal counsel with the intention of correcting what the members call "inequalities in the Newton school system and abuses of authority by the Newton School Committee."

In a letter recently printed in The Graphic, Harold Singer, the committee's secretary, declared that some children, although two years behind grade level, are not getting remedial help. Also, he charged, children are put through uncontrolled educational experiments without consent of their parents.

"In a school system supposed to be the finest in the country, why are there so many unhappy parents," Mr. Singer asked in his letter.

The 20 members of the committee's steering group plan to circulate petitions throughout the city to gain support for their cause.

The legal team retained comprises Jack Sturdevant of Whitman, former member of the Massachusetts State Board of Education, and Robert Sriberg, former assistant Middlesex Court district attorney.

Former Miss Universe CJP Party Guest

The Newton Committee of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston sponsored a cocktail party and reception in behalf of the 1966 CJP Appeal, Sunday, Mar. 20.

The reception was at the home of Eugene M. Brody, 239 Chestnut st., West Newton. Mr. Brody is vice-chairman of CJP's Metropolitan Division in charge of the Central area.

Guest speaker at the reception will be Rina Schafman, native-born Israeli and former Miss Universe finalist.

The 1966 CJP Appeal, which gets underway this month, will seek to raise $6,100,000 on behalf of more than 75 local, national, and international service and welfare agencies.

Capping Service At Local Church

Annual capping ceremonies for the New England Baptist Hospital will be held Friday evening, Mar. 25, at 8, in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre.

Among those taking part in the ceremonies will be the host church's pastor, the Rev. Dr. Harold A. Malmborg.

The speaker will be Dr. Elmer C. Bartels, 63 Burdean Rd., Newton Centre, president of the hospital staff and member of its School of Nursing.

Whitmore And Mann Speakers At GOP Meeting

Members of the Republican Ward Five Committee met this week at the home of M.D.C. Commissioner and Mrs. Howard Whitmore, Jr., Carver Road, Newton Highlands.

Guest speakers at the event included Representative Theodore D. Mann and Commissioner Whitmore who spoke of Republican activity at the state government level.

Chairman of the Ward, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr. announced the formation of the Ward nominating committee with former City Committee Chairman Edward C. Uehlein, as chairman of the committee.

Others appointed to serve on the committee are Mrs. Ann P. Epstein, Eugene M. Hirshberg, and Joseph I. Weinrebe. The group is due to report its slate prior to May 15th.

New members elected to membership in the Ward Committee included Mrs. Catherine Hartwich, Mrs. Charlotte Hirshberg, Mrs. Mary T. Muther, Herbert H. Rosenberg, and Robert M. Young.

State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Amesbury reported on the plans for the Salute to Saltonstall Dinner to be held in the Commonwealth Armory on April 19th under the auspices of the State Republican Committee.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Vivian D. Baird, Constantine M. Bucuvalas, Mrs. Barbara A. Carmen, Mrs. Helen R. Donovan, Mrs. Ann P. Epstein, Arnold Garrison, Mrs. Catherine Hartwich, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Hirshberg, Edward M. Kaitz, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr. Chairman of Ward Five; Miss Jean MacMillan, Mrs. Edith B. W. McWilliams, David J. Palmer, Mrs. Dorothy H. Reed, Mrs Eleanor B. Rogers, Herbert H. Rosenberg, Edward C. Uehlein, Harry L. Fashion Show Huge Success

The Beth Israel Hospital Junior Auxiliary's recent presentation of "Spring Fashions for 1966," held at the Newton, Brookline, Brighton Jewish Community Center was a huge success.

Latest spring styles, modeled by Rose Lacob, were one of the colorful features of the program. Proceeds will benefit the tumor and cancer clinic.

CPA Wives To Lunch At Sidney Hill Club

The spring luncheon program of the CPA Wives Club of Massachusetts will be held Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 30, in the Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill, at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Harold P. Silbert, 22 Voss Terr., Newton Centre, is a member of the program committee, and Mrs. Robert Boyer, 74 Ruane Rd., West Newton, is on the nominating committee that will pick officers to be elected in May.

News Roundup

The 3 percent limited sales tax goes into effect on Friday of next week (April 1). Starting then, you will pay a 3 percent tax on many of the things you buy.

All foodstuffs, including ice cream, candy and soft drinks, will be exempt from the tax. So will all clothing, including shoes and hats, and all articles which cost less than 19 cents.

There will be no tax on medicines purchased with a doctor's prescription, but you will pay a tax on any medicines bought without a prescription. Newspapers, magazines and periodicals are exempt from the tax.

Some confusion is expected at the outset at the checkout counters in supermarkets where foodstuffs are exempt from the tax but such things as soap, soap powder, detergents, tooth paste, shaving cream, razor blades, cleansing and toilet tissue are subject to the tax.

An oddity in the sales tax law is that baby oil is exempt from the 3 percent tax but that the tax must be paid on baby talcum powder.

Paul N. Smith, 33, of Woodsville, N. H., was found guilty and sentenced to death Monday night in the sex-slaying of five-year-old Ellen Gamache. Smith, whom a defense phychiatrist termed a "sexually dangerous phychotic," was moved immediately to the death house at Walpole State Prison after the verdict was returned by a Plymouth County Superior Court Jury.

The handyman defendant was accused of luring the little Gamache girl from a playground in her home town of Middleboro last July 29 and driving her to a wooded section of nearby Lakeville where he allegedly criminally assaulted and killed her.

During the trial, Dr. Robert R. Mezer, of Brookline, testified that sex and anger comprise the major part of Smith's personality.

Shortly before the case went to the jury Monday afternoon, Smith shouted an obscenity at the prosecuting attorney. He was quieted by defense counsel. In his final argument to the jury, defense counsel pleaded with them to find Smith innocent by reason of insanity.

An Oklahoma man must die in the electric chair next Monday — despite last-minute pleas of his 13-year-old daughter to save him.

Three years ago, Brenda Sharp, 13, of Macalester, Okla., watched her drunken father beat, stomp and drag her mother to death in their western Oklahoma home. Last Saturday she learned that her father, Dallas Quinton Sharp, 34, must die in the electric chair March 28.

In battling to save him, the youngster used the only weapons she had — pencil and paper. She wrote to Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon and pleaded for mercy for her father.

Brenda, who now lives in an orphanage with her four younger brothers and sisters, appeared with about 30 persons before the state Pardon and Parole Board. Their request for mercy was denied.

Two bandits brandishing shotguns held up a Dorchester bakery early Monday, robbed two bakers and then locked them in a refrigerated room. As they were leaving, one of the holdup men fired a shot into the door of the cold room where the bakers had been ordered. The thickness of the door prevented either of the bakers from being killed or injured by the shot.

Andrew Lucido, 50, of the North End and Joseph DiTorre of the West End were baking bread when the bandits entered Bombarderi's Bakery at 1580 Dorchester Ave., Dorchester. They remained in the refrigerated room for more than an hour before they were released. While they were shivering in the room, 300 loaves of bread burned in the ovens.

Daredevil burglars stole $20.000 worth of clothing from Wolf's Outwear Clothing Co., in Roxbury in an unusual break Monday night. The robbers climbed up a fire escape to the roof of a six-story building. Then they slid down a rope tied to a grappling hook and kicked in a third-story window to gain entrance to the building. They carried out 550 suede coats and jackets.

Heavy earthquakes rocked Peking and the northern section of Communist China Tuesday. It was the third time quakes have hit China this month. Despatches indicated that the earthquakes were of sufficient severity to cause substantial damage.

Named to fly the nation's first three-man space mission were Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, 39, Edward H. White, 35, and Roger B. Chaffee, 31. Grissom and White are veteran Astronauts. Chaffee,a navy lieutenant, is a rookie who has never flown in space.

Present plans call for the Apollo space triplets to make their flight early next year and possibly by the end of this year and for them to orbit the earth for as long as 14 days. It will be one of a series of tests intended to gather the necessary scientific information to enable men to fly to the moon.

The Space Agency is studying the possibility of executing a rendezvous between the orbiting three-man Apollo and the two-man Gemini 12. That would lead to a rehearsal of a possible rescue in space.

Air Force Lt. Col. Grissom, who has made two trips into space and who almost drowned the first time when his spacecraft sank after landing in the ocean, will be in charge of the Apollo. White, also an Air Force lieutenant colonel, took the spectacular 21-minute walk in space outside Gemini 4 last June. The Apollo mission does not call for a spacewalk.

The Russians orbited three men in space in October, 1964, but the mission was cut short after 24 hours because two of the Cosmonauts became ill.

Some 100 Dedham families are back in their homes after being forced to evacuate over the week-end because of leaking propane gas. The area of River and Milton streets was evacuated until workmen found and repaired the gas leak, attributed to a faulty valve in a propane gas storage tank.

Russia now has on station at all times at least one nuclear-powered submarine in the Atlantic and another in the Pacific, it was revealed this week.

The Russian nuclear subs reportedly are stationed in areas of the Atlantic and Pacific where they could zero in on favorable launch positions off the U.S. coast in a matter of several hours. It has not been widely publicized but the development is being eyed anxiously by government officials in Europe and the United States.

The Russians have 45 nuclear subs and 75 diesal-powered submarines. They are all armed with missiles. In addition, the conventional powered vessels carry torpedoes with which to attack shipping.

Countering the Soviet Union's growing submarine fleet is an enormous American anti-submarine program cost more than 2 billion a year, plus the deterrent power of the much larger U.S. missile force.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Katzenbach testified before a Congressional committee Tuesday backing legislation to prevent the underworld crime lords from intimidating witnesses. He urged Congress to pass a law that would make it a federal crime to intimidate witnesses appearing in crime probes.

Two more cigaret companies joined Tuesday in reducing their price rises. The Philip Morris Tobacco Co. and Liggett and Myers Co. cut their one-cent price rise in half. Earlier, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. had rescinded a proposed one-cent increase at the behest of President Johnson.

The City of Haverhill lost its bid as the site for a $375 million atom-smasher, the world's largest.. The National Academy of Sciences, after appraisal of 85 proposed sites, recommended further study Tuesday of only six areas. They were: Ann Arbor, Mich.; Brookhaven National Laboratory, N. Y.; Madison, Wis.; the Sierra foothills near Sacramento, Cal.; South Barrington or Weston, near Chicago, and Denver, Colo.

All seven members of the crew of a U. S. military transport plane were killed when it crashed into a mountain peak on the Arctic island of Senja in Norway during a blizzard on Sunday. The plane was going in for a landing at Bardu, Norway, when it hit the mountain. It was on its way to pick up NATO troopers, who had been participating in winter exercises in Norway, and take them back to Italy.

A Norwegian helicopter pilot, who found the wreckage, reported that only the tail section of the plane was sticking out of the snow on the 2630-foot mountain peak. Four of the bodies were plunged into deep snow.

The U. S. Supreme Court ruled this week that publications designed only to appeal to "prurient interests" are not protected by the guarantee of freedom of expression contained in the Constitution.

In making the ruling, the nation's highest tribunal upheld a five-year prison term imposed on Ralph Ginzburg, publisher of Eros magazine, who had been convicted under a federal obscenity law. The opinion was delivered by Justice William J. Brennan.

In another ruling the Supreme Court found that the Massachusetts Supreme Court had erred in banning "Fanny Hill."

A far-reaching program to protect the American consumer in the market place was recommended to Congress Monday by President Johnson. Specifically, he renewed his request of two years ago for what he described as effective laws on lending and packaging.

"We can protect both the consumer and the overwhelming majority of businessmen from the minority of producers who would compete unfairly and infringe the rights of the consumer and their fellow businessmen," the President said.

"We need reform in the credit area and we should encourage states to enact legislation to correct abuses. We need such legislation urgently. We can act wisely without further delay," he declared.

The two proposals are already before Congress with their sponsors calling them "truth in lending" and "truth in packaging" measures.

Under legislation urged by Johnson, money-lenders, including those who finance cosumer purchases on time, would have to state the full cost of credit, simply and clearly, and state it before any contract is signed.

The proposal for packaging and labeling legislation would require that each package provide simple, direct, accurate information as to the nature and quantity of the contents, including ingredients where this is important.

Johnson had sketched his proposal on packaging in broad outline in his January State of the Union message. "We must . . . act to prevent the deception of the American consumer—requiring all packages to state clearly and truthfully their contents—all interest and credit charges to be fully revealed—and keeping harmful drugs and cosmetics away from our stores.

in an interview this week. He expressed the belief that the President has been influenced by sentiment in Congress and among the public at large in opposition to extending the war.

Aiken expressed the belief that Secretary of State Rusk has been more in favor of escalating the war than has Defense Secretary McNamara.

A member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Aiken said he could not foresee any quick end to the Vietnamese war. "There are too many guerillas to be run down and taken care of," he declared. "But nevertheless the time may come when the war will taper off and rot out."

He said that in the course of time the war may gradually come to an end "without any formal conclusion."

American soldiers and marines battled the Communists on several fronts in Vietnam Sunday.

Marines engaged the Communists only 35 miles from the North Vietamese border, killing 11 Viet Cong. Marine casualties were reported light.

Paratroopers killed an estimated 20 Reds in a clash 90 miles northeast of Saigon near Tuy Hoa after a Viet Cong prisoner disclosed details of a Communist ambush. Artillery and mortar fire pounded the ambush.

U. S. soldiers killed another 20 Viet Cong in fighting in the Central Highlands near Ban Me Thuot.

Disclosure was made that the Communists used 75-mm. pack howitzers against American forces just north of Saigon last week. The guns have a range of more than four miles.

Swedish seismographers have reported a Russian underground nuclear blast—the second in five weeks—in Soviet Central Asia.

American scientists believe Russia may be trying to develop a warhead for huge new rockets. The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington confirmed that an underground nuclear test had been made but declined to pinpoint the site.

However, Swedish scientists said it was in the area where the Soviets have been conducting a two-year series of experiments. Underground tests are permitted under a 1963 treaty that bans nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in space and under water. Both Russia and the United States have been conducting underground tests since they signed the pact.

The University of California at Berkeley also reported seismological shocks. The signals were said to be equivalent to a nuclear test in the low-intermediate to intermediate-yield range. The low-intermediate range covers explosions equivalent in force to 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT. The intermediate range covers 200,000 tons to a million.

Russia finally got around to revealing that two of their astronauts were in trouble last year. Lt. Col. Aleksel A. Leonov and Col. Pavel I. Belyayev had to ski 12 miles last year after their pioneer Voskhod II space craft landed in the snow-covered Ural mountains. Searchers took more than 24 hours to reach the astronauts, the newspaper Pravda said, and another 24 hours and a 12-mile ski trip before the men could be lifted out by helicopters.

A cautiously worded document easing strict church rules governing marriages between Catholics and people of other faiths has been issued by Pope Paul VI.

The document is enttled 'Matrimonii Sacramentura (The Sacrament of Matrimony). Its provisions go into effect immediately on an experimental basis and will be written into canon (church) law later if they 'experience positive support.'

Under the new rules Catholics who have married, or who will marry before non-Catholic clergymen are no longer excommunicated as previously. But only Catholics married before a Catholic priest are considered validly wed by the church.

The written promise previously exacted of a non-Catholic marrying a Catholic—that he must raise his children as Catholics—is not now required.

Instead, the responsibility is shifted to the Catholic partner, who must pledge to bring up the children as Catholics. The non-Catholic then must pledge to bring the children up as Catholics. If he feels he cannot in conscience do so, the case must go to the Holy See for review.

The new regulations allow non-Catholic clergymen to deliver words of 'congratulation and exhortation' at the completion of the Catholic marriage ceremony.

Basically, there is no change in the Church's view that mixed marriages are undesireable. But in fact, the document said, "relations between Catholics and non-catholics are more frequent in current circumstances . . . bringing about frequent instances of mixed marriages . . ."

The rule abrogating excommunication for Catholics married before non-Catholic ministers does not make their marriages valid in the eyes of the Church, theologians in Rome said. It would be up to the Catholic to talk to a priest and see what is necessary, in his or her own case, to render the marriage valid.

"This ain't like it was in '62,' was the comment when New York Sen. Robert Kennedy received a one-minute standing ovation at the University of Mississippi from an over-flow audience of 4500 at the University's new $2 million coliseum.

Sen. Kennedy appeared at Ole Miss as a guest of the University's law school. The speech was switched from the 1400 capacity campus chapel because of the demand for seats.

Kennedy told his audience "we must create a society in which Negroes will be as free as other Americans." Thus, he went directly to the heart of the racial crisis which shook the campus in Sept., 1962, when the Senator was Attorney General under his late brother, President John F. Kennedy.

Two men were killed and more than 200 injured in the bloody rioting that came when James Meredith, a 29-year-old Negro, arrived at the University of Mississippi—the first Negro ever to enroll at the southern institution.

There were two minor incidents attendant upon Kennedy's visit. When ushers cleared people out of the coliseum to clean it before the speech, an unfounded rumor about a bomb hunt went the rounds.

And two members of a segregationist organization called 'The Knights of the Green Forest" were told to move on when they stopped their small bus in front of a building where Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, were having lunch. The bus was draped with a Confederate flag and such signs as "Go Home, Little Robert."

When asked by a student how the Democrats could make a better showing in Mississippi, Kennedy replied: "I think it's going to be damn tough, and I'm afraid I contributed to that difficulty."

The Army cleaned house in Indonesia Friday. Its leadership named a non-military and predominantly anti-Communist national presidium and shipped President Sukarno, under heavy guard, to his summer palace 40 miles from Jakarta.

Lt. Gen. Suharto, the strong man in the insurgent group, also announced over the capital's official radio that 15 members of Mr. Sukarno's Cabinet had been arrested. All were Leftists.

Gen. Suharto said the five-man presidium and a dozen new members in the 102-man Cabinet were temporary appointments.

The designations were made in the name of Mr. Sukarno, who retains the titles of President and Premier. Gen. Suharto apparently has no new official position besides that of Chief of Staff of the Army.

The actual state of Indonesia defied positive definition. It seems clear that the Suharto group has not gained sufficient power to repudiate Sukarno, if, indeed, that was their object. However, their action certainly reflected a significant step up for them.

President Johnson Friday accepted the resignation of Lloyd Hand as U. S. Chief of Protocol and named James Symington, a Justice Department official and son of the Senator, as his replacement.

Hand gave up the position amid rumors he might enter the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor or Lt. Gov. of California.

The White House was silent on specific reasons Hand gave for resigning. Press Secretary Bill Moyers said he had not seen the letter of resignation, wasn't in the business of confirming rumors, and knew nothing of Hand's future plans.

And on the subject of Bill Moyers . . . He has taken a philosophical view of his role and has concluded that while some reporters are "pathological troublemakers," a press secretary, in turn, can suffer from bloated ego, self-righteousness, hyper-vexation and credibility gap.

"The credibility gap is a problem,' he told the National Newspapers Assoc. 'It is getting so bad we can't even believe our own leaks. There have been so many leaks we are stamping our morning newspapers 'top secret.' "

Two Colorado Congressmen have charged that a 12,000-foot hole dug by the Army to dispose of noxious leftovers from the production of nerve gas may have started an epidemic of earthquakes in Denver.

Reps. Roy McVicker and Byron Rogers accused the Army Corps of Engineers of 'burying" a proposed investigation of the hole as an earthquake trigger.

In 1962, the Corps drilled a hole to hold wastes from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal, a nerve gas factory and storage point about five miles north of Denver.

Soon after the Army began using the hole, Denver started experiencing annoying earth tremors. Geologists said such tremors were extremely rare in the Denver area prior to the hole-digging.

Astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott huddled this week with officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Adminstration seeking answers as to what went wrong with the mission of Gemini 8.

After viewing spectacular color films and quizzing the space pair, officials determined that a short in the circuits controlling a spacecraft yaw thruster was the "probable" cause of the difficulty.

The astronauts splashed down safely in the Pacific, 500 miles east of Okinawa, after a harrowing space journey that began triumphantly and almost ended in tragedy.

Armstrong and Scott blasted off from Cape Kennedy and later linked up with an Agena statellite in an historic space feat. But half an hour after linking the joined vehicles were tumbling badly and command pilot Armstrong fought for 30 minutes to free Gemini 8 from the Agena and then to control it.

Until the pair confer with space program officials for a nine-day period, they cannot answer queries about the aborted mission. However, they did say they had "a magnificent flight for seven hours."

The astronauts were sea-sick during the several hours they spent bobbing around in the Pacific waiting to be picked up by the rescue ship, U.S.S. Gordon, a Quincy-built destroyer.

They commented on that phase of their experience: "Boy, that's a great space ship, but its a lousy boat!"

The premature ending of the trip erased Air Force Maj. Scott's plan to take a space walk of nearly 2½ hours to evaluate how effectively man can work and maneuver outside an orbiting vehicle.

Meanwhile, engineers in Houston's Manned Space Center are studying tape recordings and telemetry data from the spacecraft and tracking in an effort to learn what caused the vehicles to go out of control.

They concentrated on a brief period when Scott sent a radio signal to start a tape recorder. The recorder was to register what happened when Armstrong tried some maneuvers using the Agena jets.

It was at this point the wild yawing and tumbling started. Officials refused to speculate on possible causes.

Holy Astros!

The three television networks—ABC, NBC and CBS—were inundated with complaining calls when that Dynamic Duo of Space, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, came close to being ghost riders in the sky during their abortive Gemini 8 mission.

Pre-empted by real-life drama in space were such programs as The Batman, the Bob Hope show and the Virginian.

Zowie and whack faded from the screen, Hope's quips were substituted for the anxious voices of Gemini control officials and the Virginian was left hanging on a cliff as two Americans exercised the cool control of their training, spinning in a vacuum.

But, apparently, thousands of television viewers were more disturbed by the interruption of their favorite programs than by the plight of two heroic spacemen.

Exuberant over the initial phases of the Gemini 8—Agena space link-up, President Johnson last week predicted that American astronauts will beat the Russians to the moon.. He said the U. S. has pulled abreast of Russia in space achievements and is forging ahead. As a result, he claimed, American space pilots will set foot on the moon "in the decade of the sixties."

A Yank is still dazed today at his good fortune. John Van Altena Jr., 21, of Milton Junction, Wis., could not believe the news when told he was free after serving 17 months of an eight year sentence in East Germany.

Altena an airline employe, was convicted in January, 1965, for attempting to smuggle an East German woman and a five-year-old child through the Berlin Wall.

Until his release, Altena had no idea that Maxwell M. Rabb, president of the United States Committee for Refugees, had worked for his release since last November.

Royal B. Shaw, of Medford, convicted of embezzlement charges 16 years ago by a Navy court martial, has been cleared by the U. S. Court of Claims.

The conviction led to his dismissal, and the court unanimously ordered that he be given back pay and allowances from Feb. 8, 1950. A Navy spokesman said the reimbursement of $5614 was found in his accounts, but he said he had not taken the money.

John R. Franklin, who represented the government in the case said an appeal may be made to the Supreme Court.

The Court of Claims ruling said the Navy itself had found that Shaw had no criminal intent to take the money for his own use, did not do so, and "was not negligent, inefficient or careless."

The United States Chamber of Commerce told Congress Saturday that taxes should not be increased to combat inflation—this year or any other year.

Government expenditures should always be cut when inflation threatens and taxes reduced when recession looms, the chamber's chief economist, Carl H. Madden, told a sub-committee of the Joint Economic Committee.

News Roundup

A thinly veiled warning of possible violence in the nation's capitol over the issue of "home rule," has been issued by Negro leaders there. They said that citizens of the District of Columbia were finally nearing "an overt expression of frustration" over the refusal so far of Congress to grant an elected local government.

The home rule dispute has been dominated by the fact that Negros make up more than 55 percent of the 800,000 population. If organized, they could plainly exercise decisive influence in local elections.

There were qualified forecasts by Negro spokesmen of violence in the streets if controlled demonstrations did not bring "revolutionary changes" in the administration of education, welfare, employment opportunities and police protection.

The President of the Rabbinical Council of America has urged American Jewry to include a statement on the plight of Soviet Jews when they observe the Passover holiday in their homes.

Rabbi Israel Miller, who is also chairman of the American Conference on Soviet Jewry, said the statement would show the Soviet Union's three million Jews that "they have not been forgotten" and that American Jews "shall be their voice in arousing the conscience of the world to the injustice" imposed on Soviet Jews.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the late President, journeyed to Uppsala, Sweden, over the past weekend to inaugurate an exhibition arranged by the Association of Handicapped Children at the university library there. The association plans to establish an educational and research center for the handicapped.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick R. Crowley, of Wilmette, Ill., will be awarded the University of Notre Dame's Laetare Medal this year. They are the first couple to share the award, which has been presented annually by Notre Dame since 1883 to an outstanding American Roman Catholic layman.

Crowley, a Chicago lawyer and his wife, founded the Christian Family Movement in 1949 and have been secretaries of the national co-ordinating committee of the movement since its inception.

Opposition has developed on Capitol Hill in Washington against organized labor's effort to win legislation to ease restrictions on picketing at construction sites. Adam Clayton Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said he does not favor action on the bill until there is a "substantial" strengthening of laws prohibiting racial discrimination by employers and unions.

The problem developed on the eve of a legislative conference, scheduled in Washington next week at which 4000 building trades union members will press Congress for action on the bill.

An issue that most of the public is unaware of is stirring Congressional offices. The issue is this: should the Post Office Department be allowed to carry larger parcel post packages than it does now, a move that the REA Express says would bankrupt it. The express company is the Post Office Department's principal private competitor in the package-hauling business.

The Army will expend its junior ROTC program in high schools from the current 287 to 434 schools this summer, the Defense Department announced.

The department said schools which submit an application for a junior ROTC unit before April 1 will be considered in the year's expansion.

Drinking, dancing and dirty jokes, the enticements that some Western capitalist embassies in Havana, Cuba, offer their guests, according to Premier Fidel Castro—were barred today to most Cuban officials under new Government regulations.

The move was the latest in Castro's drive on the high living of Cuban officials.

Motorists on Massachusetts highways must still be vigilant. The House killed — by accepting an adverse report —a bill seeking legislation to prohibit the use of radar in the detection of the speed of motor vehicles.

The House also killed (in the same manner) a bill that cities and towns be authorized to retire full time police chiefs after 20 years of service.

March An Active Month For Oak Hill Park Women

March turned out to be an active month for members of the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club.

Interesting events included a poster contest for pupils at Memorial School, an opportunity to meet students from Ethiopia and Italy who are exchange students at Newton South High School, and a day in Newton District Court as onlookers.

The safety contest, sponsored by the club's safety chair- and Mrs. David Greer Jr., em- and Mrs. David Gree Jr., emphasized the importance of safety rules in relation to traffic, and the entries were so good, the judges found it difficult to pick the winners.

The winning posters are being displayed at the Oak Hill Park library. The judges were Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Greer and Miss Esther Goredetzky, art chairman.

Winners were as follows: Linda Tulsky, Michael Learner, Aaron Wassermon, Robert Lernden, Laurie Mead, Sharon Dudelson, Gary Kadet, Jane Pritzker, Ann Hansen, Stephen Rubin, Emily Zallen, David D'Ercole, Lori Arduino, Martha Hosmer, Deborah Sparrow, Gary Richmond, Amy Ruby, Ronald Izan and Clifford Hurter.

The March meeting of the club was held in Memorial School, and it was there the members were entertained by the students from abroad, who gave informal talks about their countries. Both gave the impression that they would be very reluctant to leave this country.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ralph A. Barry, Mrs. George E. MacNair, Mrs. Theodore Saltzman, Mrs. Frank Shemater and Mrs. Robert Schmidt.

The day in court was set up by Judge Julian R. Yesley, and it served to acquaint the women with the way traffic violations are handled.

The experience was a part of the many safety programs being sponsored this year by the club.

Day Jr. High Pupils Cited As Volunteers

Three F. A. Day Junior High School students have been commended for community service during the 10th annual Recognition Week of United Community Services' Operation Kindness.

The participants were Paula Boudreau and Susan Brady, who served as volunteers at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and Iris Cramer, who did her service in Waltham Hospital.

Robert B. McCreech, director of the services' volunteer bureau, has called the youth volunteer program "Greater Boston's domestic peace corps."

"It is heartening to find that young people are no longer a silent generation," McCreech holds. "By their volunteer service they show awareness of human needs. The schools and agencies working through Operation Kindness have not only helped alienated youth return to the main stream of American life but have also enabled the more advantaged youth to accept a share of responsibility for improving the lot of all Americans."

Civil Service Test For Telephone Operator

A state civil service examination will be held Apr. 28 for the position of telephone operator in the Newton Public Buildings Department, for which there is one vacancy on a part-time basis (four hours a day.)

The pay is $2 per hour.

Applications must be received in the civil service office at the State House not later than Monday, Apr. 4.

Honors -

Pathology at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine at the Tufts-New England Medical Center in Boston.

The purpose of the award is to recognize, encourage and stimulate outstanding achievement in basic reasearch related to periodontal disease.

The award includes an honorarium of $1,000 and a travel allowance to the International Association for Dental Research meeting which will open today, (Thursday), March 24, and will continue through March 27, at Miami Beach, Florida.

Dr. Glickman is recognized as one of the world's leading investigators in the field of periodontal disease. His laboratory has attracted young researchers from all over the world and many of his students have gone on to exemplary research careers in periodontology.

Award-winning is not a new experience for Dr. Glickman.

He is recipient of both the prize winning awards in the annual essay contest of the Chicago Dental Society, 1943, and the Chaim Award for Research in Dentistry of the First District Dental Society of New York, 1946.

In addition he received the Distinguished Alumnus Award Brooklyn College, 1949, and the Distinguished Alumnus Award Tufts University, 1955. Dr. Glickman received the Samuel Charles Miller Memorial Award for 1965 in June of that year.

Dr. Glickman has written more than 120 scientific papers. He also has authored a textbook in his own name and was a contributing author to three others. He holds distinguished membership in a score of dental societies.

He was chairman of the Alumni Council of Tufts University during the year 1963-64, the first graduate of the School of Dental Medicine to hold this position He also was elected to the Executive Council of the American Academy of Periodontology. He was recently made an honorary citizen of Winnipeg, Canada.

Dr. Glickman is married to the former Dr. Violeta Arboleda who is also a periodontologist who received her degree from the graduate school of Tufts University. They have two children and live in Newton.

B'nai B'rith At VA Hospital

Chestnut Hill Chapter, B'Nai B'rith, held a Beano Party at the Veteran's Hospital in Boston Monday evening, March 21.

The committee consisted of Chairman Mrs. Abraham Ravach, co-chairman, Mrs. Jack Gilbert, president, Mrs. Saul Bardfield, past president, Mrs. William Bauman and new member, Mrs. Albert Dameshek.

Home made refreshments were served and these were donated by many of the members who throughout the year have made many visits and performed many duties for the disabled Veterans.

Avco Appoints John H. Carter

John H. Carter of Newton has been appointed executive vice president of Meredith-Avco, Inc., the community antenna television firm.

He has been director of program development and business administration of the Avco Space Systems division at Lowell, and prior to joining Avco was president of Allied Research Associates, and earlier, president of ITEK Laboratories.

Typical High School Girls Being Sought

The annual search for New England's most typical high school girls in connection with the Mass. High School Pageant of 1966, was announced today.

Seven high school queens, each representing a New England state, and one for the entire New England, will be chosen at the Pageant which will be staged at Pleasure Island in Wakefield early this forthcoming summer.

This competition is open to high school girls from 13 to 17 years old who are in the ninth to twelfth grade in school. Girls must have good scholastic standing, have participated in extra-curricular activities at school. They will be judged on the basis of natural beauty, poise and speech.

The seven winners chosen in the New England Pageant will compete in the Miss High School of America Pageant at Asbury Park, N. J., this summer.

In order to enter the competition, girls must submit an application which can be obtained by writing: Miss High School Pageant of 1966, Pleasure Island, Route 128, Wakefield.

Reality Sunday Subject Of Science Service

A petition for growth in grace and spiritual perception will open the Lesson-Sermon on "Reality" at all Christian Science services this Sunday. The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Blessed art thou. O Lord: teach me thy statutes . . . Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

Included in the readings is this statement from the denomination's textbook: "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Williamson At Safety Parley

Richard Williamson, 37 Hagen Rd., Newton Centre, general supervisor of the engineering and design department of B. F. Goodrich Company Watertown, was chairman and program planner of the plant engineering session of the 45th annual Massachusetts Safety Conference, Mar. 21 and 22, in Boston's Statler Hilton.

Featured speakers were Governors Volpe of Massachusetts and Romney of Michigan, and Philip Geary.

News Roundup

Seven Vietnamese soldiers had to be shot by their American and Vietnamese comrades during evacuation of the fort at Ashua over-run two weeks ago by the Viet Cong. According to a State Department release, the seven were shot when they panicked and overloaded helicopters attempting to take wounded men from the post. The seven, all able-bodied men, rushed onto the copters before the wounded could be taken on board and refused to get off.

President Johnson signed into law a bill authorizing U. S. participation in the Asian Development Bank and also announced that the U. S. was pledging half of the $24 million needed to construct the largest Mekong River project to date in Laos. In doing so, Johnson used the occasion to make a strong plea for U. S. involvement in the affairs of Asia. Total capitalization of the bank will be $1 billion. The bill signed by Johnson authorizes the U. S. to put up $100 million of the direct capital in $20 million installments over the next five years plus an additional $100 million in callable shares.

U. S. State Department officials announced that they had no knowledge of the imprisonment of Edward J. Levy of New York, held captive for two years by Syria on spy charges. A spokesman said the Syrian government would be asked to explain why it failed to inform the U. S. of its incarceration of an American citizen. Levy, 25, was picked up by Syrian guards when he crossed the border from Israel where he had been visiting a Kibbutz. His parents charged that their efforts to find their son were largely ignored by Embassy officials in Israel.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union for the past 34 years, will retire from his union post on April 12. A Polish immigrant who began union activities at the age of 15 in his native country, Dubinsky led the once-bankrupt IGLWU to its present financial plateau of a $500 million treasury. Now 74 years old, Dubinsky will remain vice chairman of the Liberal Party as well as a vice president of the AFL-CIO. Louis Stulberg was elected to succeed him as head of the 447,000-member union.

Two Massachusetts professors will go to court to challenge a loyalty oath required by state law. Samuel S. Bowles, an instructor of economics at Harvard, has been fired as of March 31 for failing to sign the Teachers' Loyalty Oath. Before that date, he will seek a declaratory judgment in Middlesex Superior Court restraining Harvard from firing him pending determination of the law's constitutionality. In a similar case, M.I.T. professor of Mathematics Joseph Pedlosky, who also declined to sign the oath will have his case heard by the State Supreme Judicial Court this fall.

New York subway cars may soon lose their neuter personality to become His and Hers . . . at least between 8 p.m. and 4 a m. bill before the state legislature would require that the first car of all subway or elevated trains be reserved exclusively for the ladies between these hours, making it a misdemeanor for any male to enter a car marked Hers.

A 34-day old government crisis in Belgium was solved when the national committee of the Social Christian Party unanimously voted to form a coalition with the Liberals.

An act to make the special school milk program permanent has been introduced by Congressman James A. Burke. The present act expires on July 1, 1967. In addition, the Administration plans to reduce the program's financing for 1966 to support the defense measure. Administration officials said next year's program would be directed only to needy children and hence would require less money. Burke objected to the stigma that would be placed on those youngsters receiving milk under a reduced appropriation as well as the burden on the child to prove he is needy. Burke's bill asks for expansion of the milk program beginning with the 1967 fiscal year.

A 57-year-old Glen Falls, New York man, mistakenly confined to state institutions for 39 years, was awarded $115,000 by the New York Court of Claims. Stephen Dennison was convicted of stealing $5 worth of candy in 1925 and subsequently confined after faulty psychiatric diagnoses labeled him as low-grade moron.

United Church Women Meet In West Newton

The United Church Women of Massachusetts, an interdenominational Protestant organization with some 15,000 members, will hold a two-day leadership conference and annual assembly at Second Church Congregational, West Newton, beginning Wednesday, Mar. 30, at 9 a.m., and ending Thursday, Mar. 31, at 5 p.m.

Some 350 women from churches throughout the state will attend.

The program will include addresses by prominent speakers, workshops, installation of officers, a worship service led by a motion choir, and a presentation of "Christ in the Concrete City" by the Chapel Players of Old South Church.

At the Wednesday 8:15 p.m. worship service, a motion choir of five teenage girls from Newton Centre Methodist Church will interpret Bible verses.

A Communion service will follow, with Dr. Ross Cannon, host pastor, and the Rev. Lillian S. Gregory, secretary of the committee of the Laity, Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, administering the sacraments.

The Old South Chapel Players will perform Thursday, from 4 to 5 p.m.

Workshops will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 and Thursday morning at 10:40. Panels to discuss and plan future programs will be held.

Living Room Dialogue By Local Group

"A Living Room Dialogue," presented by members of the Auburndale Interfaith Group, will be one of the programs featured at the annual convention of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women to be held on Saturday, Apr. 16, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Participants will be Mrs. Carey M. Peters and Mrs. Albert A. LaPlante of Corpus Christi Church; Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron and Mrs. William Rauha of the Congregational Church; Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner and Mrs. R. Curtis Reed of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah; Mrs. Walter L. Holcomb and Mrs. T. C. Whitehouse of the Centenary Methodist Church; and Mrs. Jackson L. Parker and Mrs. Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom. Mrs. Eugene W. Meyer, also of the Congregational Church, will lead the discussion.

All interested women are invited to attend. Reservations may be made at Council Headquarters, 49 Franklin St., Boston, or with the president, Mrs. Orazio E. Vaccaro of 150 Islington Road, Auburndale.

that the Mayor had requested Boston Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, to submit to him its preference in filling the vacancy, and that the Mayor had failed to accept the Council's recommendation.

He further declared that Fererri was not an elected official of organized labor and that he was not the man for the job as he would not represent the views of labor in matters that come before the Housing Authority.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner expressed the opinion that neither the Mayor nor the Board of Aldermen should be placed in a position where they would be dictated to by the Central Labor Council.

Following further opposition expressed by McDonnell, Alderman Sutherland told the members that he had been informed by the Mayor that he had not communicated with Central Labor Council on the appointment, and that the Council had not submitted the name of a candidate to him.

Mayor Basbas had listened to the debate from a position in the doorway from the hall to the chamber, and had walked down the aisle to speak briefly with Sutherland while McDonnell was speaking.

Alderman William Carmen, chairman of the Housing Authority, chose not to vote on the appointment.

Special Service At Centre Methodist

Members of Newton Centre Methodist Church will observe the fifth Sunday in Lent at a special worship service at 11:00 a.m.

The pastor, the Rev. Seaton H. Woodley Jr., will continue the theme on "What About Morality?"

The Sanctuary Choir, directed by William J. Clark, will sing two anthems.

The Bible study class on "The Book of Acts" begins promptly at 9:45 a.m. Dr. Sam Hedrick, of Boston University, is the leader.

Members of the Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship will assist the pastor in giving devotions at Stone Institute at 4:00 p.m. in Newton Upper Falls.

questions, said yesterday that he can live with the budget adopted by the Aldermen. A $500-a-year pay raise Basbas had recommended for patrolmen in the police department and privates in the fire department, was approved by the Board of Aldermen.

But the Aldermen trimmed down the wage hikes Basbas had proposed for members of the police and fire departments above the rank of patrolmen and private.

Municipal workers in other branches of the city government received 5 percent pay raises.

The cost of the wage boosts granted to the police, firefighters and other municipal employees amounts to about $350,000.

The municipal budget, apart from the school budget, is about $301,140 higher than last year. The raises granted by Basbas and the Aldermen accounted entirely for the increase in the budget over which they have control.

Alderman Nixon, after pruning the Mayor's budget wherever even small cuts could be made, said that 1966 "promises to be another year of increased expenses for the conduct of city affairs, with the inevitable bad news for the Newton taxpayer, a boost in his tax."

Nixon had some warm praise for Mayor Basbas and some tart comments about the school budget.

He said that, following the precedent set by former Finance Committee Chairman Earl D. Wood, "perhaps the less said about the school department the better."

Nixon questioned the number of highly paid officials in the school department, voicing the conviction that "there are too many chiefs in relation to the number of Indians."

A chart prepared by Comptroller Arthur A. Marr, Jr., showed that 429 teachers in the Newton public school system are paid between $10,000 and $11,000 and that in the rest of the city government there are only 20 muncipal employees in those wage brackets.

So closely did the Aldermen trim the municipal budget that a request by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., for funds to add two more fire fighters to his department was denied.

Police Captain William F. Quinn, director of animal control, was another victim of the paring knives wielded by the enonomy-minded Mayor and Aldermen.

Quinn sought $1500 a year for his service as director of animal control. Mayor Basbas cut it to $500, and the Aldermen went a step further and sliced it to $150, a little less than $3 per week. The latter action was taken by an 11-8 vote after an extended debate.

2nd Medicare Sign-up Center

A second emergency Medicare sign-up center has been established at Newton YMCA, 296 Church street, Newton, to assist residents over 65 to apply for the new health insurance program before its March 31 deadline.

Members of the Retired Men' Club of Newton and Newton Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, have volunteered to man a table from 10 to noon Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Peace Center In Newton To Offer Vietnam Speaker

At an emergency meeting of the Council of the Newton Peace Center, held recently at the Peace Center, office, it was stated that the issue of U. S. Policy in Vietnam is a vexing concern in the Newton community as in the rest of America.

Attendance at the public debate on Vietnam, held on January 25th at the Mason-Rice School Auditorium under the auspices of the Newton Community Peace Center indicated keen community concern.

As a follow through on this, the Council voted last week unanimously, to offer speakers and literature for a series of house meetings on the subject of Vietnam to be held throughout the Newtons in the coming months.

Chairman of the House Meetings on Vietnam Program is Mrs. Bernard Jacobson can be reached at 332-8183. Already offering their homes for meetings on Vietnam are: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conley, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, Mrs. Hubert Jones, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Leo Poverman, and Rabbi and Mrs. David Weiss.

New Position For Newtonite With Raytheon

Daniel S. Ryter of 17 Chatham road, Newton Highlands, recently was promoted to controller for Raytheon Company's Microwave and Power Tube Division at Waltham. He formerly was controller for the company's Andover plant.

Ryter is married to the former Zelda F. Freedman of Brookline. They have three sons, David, 7; Alan, 3; and Edward, 1.

He is a member of the National Contract Management Institute and is a lecturer in military contract controllership for Industrial Education Institute.

In his new post he will be responsible for all fiscal matters for the division which is active in the design and manufacture of a broad line of high frequency tubes, ferrite devices, and lasers used in radar, communications, space vehicles, particle accelerators and military equipment.

Also included are two subsidiaries, The Machlett Laboratories, Inc., a manufacturer of power tubes ,x-ray tubes, and light amplifiers, and The Micro State Electronics Corp., a manufacturer of solid-state microwave components and devices.

The division maintains plants and laboratories at Waltham and Burlington, Mass., Springfield and Stamford, Conn., Murray Hill, N. J., and Santa Barbara, Calif.

Ryter joined Raytheon in 1951 and has held financial and administrative posts in the Missile Systems Division at Waltham, Lowell and Andover. Earlier he was with Doehla Greeting Cards, Inc., and Montgomery Ward Co.

He is a cum laude graduate of Boston University (1947). He continued his studies at Cornell University and Boston University and received a master of business administration degree from Boston University in 1955. He is also a graduate of Raytheon's Advanced Management Program.

Aspirin Is Dangerous Unless Properly Used, C'ncil Warns

The Fifth National Poison Prevention Week will take place Mar. 20-26. Each year an estimated half-million children, mainly in the under-five age group, swallow medicines and household products which have the potential to cause serious injury and even death.

Many such accidents involve aspirin. According to the American Medical Association, Americans swallow more than 16 billion aspirins every year. Since aspirin is such an important and common item it is worth your time to learn a few facts about its use. Here are some tips from the Massachusetts Safety Council, a chapter of the National Safety Council:

Most family doctors think it's safe to take an aspirin or two to relieve headaches, cramps or minor aches. But if the dosage has to be repeated several times a day for several days, the doctor should be called.

Never take an aspirin to reduce fever without consulting your doctor. By doing so you may be masking disease symptoms.

Be sure to drink a full glass of water when you take aspirin and don't swallow them on an empty stomach. Otherwise you may irritate your stomach.

Don't take aspirin if you have a stomach ulcer. Aspirin's weak acid content can irritate an ulcer.

Since aspirin deteriorates in the bottle, don't buy more than a two or three months' supply. If the tablets in your aspirin bottle have a vinegary taste or crumble in your hands, throw them out.

Aspirin's greatest danger is its familiarity. There are probably very few medicine cabinets which don't contain a bottle of aspirin. Make sure you keep it well out of the reach of curious, cabinet-exploring young children. Aspirin in large doses can be fatal.

National Poison Prevention Week seeks to alert adults to the dangers of accidental poisoning and to encourage them to take appropriate preventive measures. Resource materials are available from the Secretary, National Planning Council for National Poison Prevention Week, care of Public Health Service, Washington, D.C. 20201, and from the Massachusetts Safety Council, Inc., 54 Devonshire Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02109.

Junior College Publishes 1st Semester Honors

Charles W. Dudley, president of Newton Junior College, has announced the Honors List of the college for the first semester, 1965-1966. This list of forty-nine honor sudents is the largest in the history of the College.

Students who achieve academic distinction are singled out for this special recognition by President Dudley, and later in the year they are feted at an Honors Convivium.

Highest Honors were achieved by Danah J. Traci of Newtonville.

First-year students who achieved honors are: Gail Esquivel, Howard S. Duncklee, Robert B. Nolan, John A. Corsetti, Coleen A. Finley, Sandra Childs, Eric Meyer, Paul L. Loffe, Fred W. Maine Picked For New Camp Site

A new camping environment, Sandhurst, has been formed by Mr. and Mrs. David Goldberg, directors of Camp Sunningdale in Maine, and Greenwood Day Camp in Weston, who brought together a group of enthusiastic educators and directors to form the new camp located in Naples, Maine.

Encompassing an enrichment program of exceptional quality designed to meet the needs of college bound students. The combined talents and rich backgrounds of six of New England's top camp educators is focused on the students and campers that will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosenthal of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Harris Siegel of Natick complete the team. Mr. Siegel is house master and assistant principal at Brookline High School and will be headmaster at Sandhurst.

The Sandhurst concept is unique in that it provides the average and above average student contact with a staff holding masters degrees and having taught at least five years.

Reading will be stressed, both speed and comprehension with languages and modern math as prime credit courses.

side of pieces by Verdi, Gershwin, Bloch, Weber, and others.

Both boys were members of the Theory I and II and Music Appreciation courses which have been taught for many years by Henry Lasker, who is now on sabbatical leave for the purpose of writing a book on the teaching of Creative Music to children and young people, and who will return to Newton High in September.

John H. Harutunian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harutunian of 355 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, began as a child the study of piano under Mrs. Gladys Ondricek of Boston.

He has participated in the National Piano Playing Auditions sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs and has also studied at the All-Newton Music School.

He is now a freshman at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Illinois, where he is majoring in music. Last spring at Newton High School Night at the Boston Pops, John appeared as piano soloist in the Concerto for Piano in D minor by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Walter Wagenknecht, the son of Professor and Mrs. Edward Wagenknecht of 233 Otis street, West Newton, was first exposed to music through listening to records and the practicing of his two older brass-playing brothers.

At the age of eleven he took up the trumpet briefly, and later studied trombone for several years with John W. Coffey. He was trombonist in the Warren Jr. High and Newton High School orchestras and bands, as well as The Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras.

For the past two years he has been studying piano with Mrs. William E. Bell at the All-Newton Music School. He is now a freshman at Boston University, College of Liberal Arts.

James Remley is supervisor of music in the Newton Public Schools.

Boston Drama Critic Speaks Here March 30

Samuel Hirsch, drama critic and drama editor, whose widely read column — "Hirsch on Theater" — appears in the daily and Sunday Boston Herald, will be the feature speaker at a special Sisterhood meeting of Temple Beth Avodah, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening, March 30 at 8:30 p.m.

He will speak on his experience as a drama critic and editor and will discuss the theater as he has observed it.

Mr. Hirsch studied drama in New York City, where his classmates included such stage and screen stars as Gregory Peck, Eli Wallach, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., and Tony Randall. He has been an actor, producer, director, author, educator, and drama critic and editor.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at Temple Beth Avodah, 45 Puddingstone lane, Newton Centre. Refreshments will be served after Mr. Hirsch's talk.

Program co-chairmen for the meeting are: Mrs. Alan Fain and Mrs. Sandra Hackel; refreshment committee: Mrs. Charles Rudnick, Mrs. Maurice Reubens, Mrs. Ronald Viselman; publicity: Mrs. Ed Calmus.

Letters to the Editor

Backs Up Singer

Editor of The Graphic:

Bravo to Mr. Harold Singer, whose open letter to the School Committee was published in your issue of 10 March.

Mr. Singer asks pertinent questions too long unanswered. Questions which demand answering, unless by their very silence the members of the School Committee indict themselves as unwilling or unable to provide adequate answers.

Hospital Campaign Moves Nearer Goal

The expansion fund drive of Newton - Wellesley Hospital moved $70,000 nearer victory this week as workers re-dedicated themselves to making the essential program successful.

Gifts and pledges totalling $70,487 were reported, raising to $3,222,709 the amount contributed to enlarge and to modernize the community's hospital.

The $700,000 objective of the present campaign phase is 60 percent subscribed. The overall goal of $3,500,000 is nearly 93 percent attained.

At the report meeting on March 16, hospital president, Jarvis Farley of Wellesley recalled the vision and determination of the late president of the hospital, George L. White of Newton.

"He said he would refuse to consider any alternative except victory. Reflecting his spirit, we will fight until this vital project is accomplished," said Mr. Farley.

"It will require diligent effort by workers. It will take earnest commitment by townspeople. At stake is the well-being of future generations."

Campaign General Chairman, Bernard D. Grossman of West Newton, announced the next report meeting will be held on April 20th.

"We have more people to be seen, we could use more people to see them. We hope those who gave and those who helped last year will help again in 1966. In brief, success lies within our grasp, if we work for it," he said.

He cautioned about a need for speedy action, in the face of steadily increasing use of the hospital and continually rising costs of constructing new facilities.

"With about a quarter-million to go, the road is not difficult. Personal pride, pride in our community and pride in our hospital will get us there."

Kiddies Theatre Group at Claflin School March 26

The famed Wellesley Children's Theater will present the play, "The Emperor's Nightingale" for all the elementary school children that are interested at Claflin School Auditorium in Newtonville, Saturday March 26.

This fascinating play is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. and ends at 4 p. m. The Creative Arts Committee of the Claflin P.T.A. is arranging all the details under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Stadtmore and her co-chairman, Mrs. William Simons. Serving as ushers will be members of the P.T.A.: Mrs. Richard Cutler, Mrs. Marvin Rich, and Mrs. Melvin Brilliannt.

Tickets may be purchased at the door as well as from the Creative Arts Committee members.

Folk Song Mass On Palm Sunday

With the coming of spring, the Folk Song Mass, postponed because of the January snow, is to be presented on Palm Sunday, Apr. 3, at 7 p.m., in the Church of the Messiah, Auburn St. and Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale.

Accompanied by a group of guitarists and sung by young people from the eight Episcopal churches in Newton, the service will offer a new and unusual experience in worship.

Anyone, whether young or old, is invited to attend.

Sports Roundup

The nine-year reign of the Boston Celtics as champions of the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association came to an end Sunday.

The Celtics made a great run for their 10th consecutive Eastern Division title. They won their last three games of the season, as Coach Red Auerbach said they would. They defeated the Cincinnati Royals 121-104 before a near-capacity crowd at the Boston Garden last Sunday, and they carried the race down to the last day of the season.

But Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia 76ers wound up the season in a blaze of glory, and the Celtics finished one game behind them in the Eastern Division standing.

The Celtics still have a chance to retain their world championship and to gain their revenge at the expense of the 76ers. However, the road ahead of them is steep and rocky. The odds are against them as they try to climb it and storm the glory ramparts against.

While the Celtics are playing the Cincinnati Royals in a 3-out-of-5 game series, the 76ers will be resting.

The first three Celtics-Royals games were to be played in Boston Wednesday night, in Cincinnati and back to Boston next Sunday. If fourth and fifth games are necessary they will be played in Cincinnati on Wednesday of next week and in Boston on Friday, April 1.

Even if the Celtics best the Royals, as it is expected they will, there is a serious danger they will run out of steam when they meet the rested 76ers and Wilt the Stilt.

This is Auerbach's last year as coach of the Celtics. It will be little short of a miracle if it ends on a happy note.

But the Celtics have been playing their best basketball of the season, and they may be able to surmount the heavy odds confronting them.

Auerbach says he isn't looking beyond Cincinnati, that right now he's thinking in terms of stopping Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, the two stars of the Royals.

Saturday night's Celtics-Royals game in Cincinnati will be televised back to Boston over WHDH-TV. So will the game next Wednesday night, March 30 in Cincinnati if the series goes four games.

Boston's Red Sox lost 10 of their first 12 exhibition games in spring training. The White Sox blasted Red Sox pitching for 16 hits to win 10-4 at Winter Haven Monday. Earl Wilson, who hurled for seven innings, was clobbered for 13 hits and seven runs during his stint. Tony Conigliaro and Russ Nixon homered for the Red Sox.

In a televised game on Sunday Cincinnati defeated the Red Sox 6-3 in 13 innings. Sox pitchers performed creditably, but the defense collapsed.

Tied 2-2 at the end of nine innings, the Red Sox went ahead on a Tony Conigliaro home run in the top of the 13th. But shortstop Rico Petrocelli made two errors and first baseman Tony Horton made one before Deron Johnson of the Reds lashed a three-run home run.

Starter for the Sox was pitcher Dave Moorehead who surrendered a pair of tainted runs. Dick Radatz followed for two innings, retiring six men in a row, two of them on strikeouts. Guido Grilli also was impressive as he pitched three innings of shutout ball before Darrell Brandon became the victim of non-support in the 13th.

It was Radatz' first appearance in a week since he was combed by the Kansas City Athletics. His fast ball was in evidence and his control was good.

Grilli showed good poise and a good curve ball as he limited the Reds to two harmless hits.

It looks as though the Red Sox are going to have to find a spot for rookie George Scott whose bat is swinging hot.

Scott, who appeared destined for further minor league seasoning when he checked into training camp at Winter Haven, Fla., is virtually forcing the Sox brass to find a spot for him.

The 217-pound infielder, who won Eastern League MVP honors as Pittsfield's third baseman in 1965, has become a favorite of Red Sox fans at Chain O'Lakes Stadium in Winter Haven.

He contributed mightily to the Red Hose's second win. He delivered a pinch double to drive in the tying run and then scored the winning digit on a hard slide at the plate in the eighth inning of an 8 to 7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The likeable youngster is battling to beat out Joe Foy, the International League's most valuable player at Toronto last season. He travels at full speed all the time, running hard and sliding hard. Given a brief shot at first base, he made a dazzling stop of a hot grounder to turn an apparent hit into an out.

In the game with the Reds, Foy had a single in three official trips. However, he scored three of Boston's runs.

Foy launched the decisive eighth by singling and scoring as Scott belted a shot off the wall in left center. George Smith then scored Scott with the second of his two singles.

The closed-circuit telecast of next Tuesday's bout between Cassius Clay and George Chuvalo in Toronto has been banned in Boston, Miami Beach and San Antonio.

Michael Malitz, who holds the bout's ancillary rights, said, "We go no matter what happens. Even if there is only one exhibitor left."

Sam Silverman, licensee for the Boston showing, bowed to pressure in cancelling the telecast. He said that Edward Urbec, chairman of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, had asked him not to promote the telecast "because of Clay's unpatriotic attitude."

Since Silverman's livelihood is that of a boxing promoter, it was believed he acquiesced so as not to be at odds with the Commission.

Meanwhile, Lieut. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said Cassius Clay would be a good example to his race if he entered the armed forces.

Hershey said Clay scored 16 on the Army qualifying test. The passing score was recently lowered to 15.

Hershey's comments came after Clay's draft board rejected a request for a change in his draft status from 1-A. His attorneys indicated he would appeal the ruling on the grounds of "religious beliefs." Clay is a Black Muslim.

Despite a rugged schedule in the final two weeks of the season, the Bruins still hold hopes of escaping the National Hockey League cellar—for the first time in six years.

The Bruins face an uphill climb in their bid to overhaul the Rangers and escape the cellar. They have three games left with Chicago, two with Montreal and one with Toronto. New York winds up with two games each against Detroit and Toronto and one with Montreal.

"We still have a shot at overtaking New York for fifth, but we're going to have to play a lot better than we did in the game, but we're going to have to play a lot better than we did in the game last Sunday," Coach Milt Schmidt said angrily.

"The last thing I said was 'no stupid penalties' and then Kennedy gets one with 31 seconds to play," Schmidt said. "We were lucky to hold on. We had no business winning the way we made mistakes."

The Bruins edged the Rangers 4-3 in Sunday's game.

Boston University's Pete McLachlan saved his school's hockey team from a ignominious shut-out in the 19th annual NCAA Hockey Tournament at Minneapolis last Friday as BU was defeated 2-1 by Michigan State in the second semi-final game.

With only 23 seconds to go in the game, McLachlan tipped in teammate Dennis O'Connell's long shot to erase what would have been only the second shutout in NCAA tournament history.

BU met Denver University for the consolation title Saturday and lost 4-3. Michigan State whipped Clarkson in the final round Saturday night, 6-1.

Weymouth High School and Durfee High of Fall River will meet Friday for the Massachusetts Schoolboy Basketball championship at Boston Garden in a rematch of the Easter Class A title game.

Durfee, which won the Eastern crown by defeating Weymouth, 59-45, a week ago, advanced to the state finals by overpowering previously unbeaten Westboro, 74-59, last Saturday night.

Weymouth then gained its chance for vengeance by upsetting Drury of North Adams, the Western titlist, 62-56.

News Roundup

Sen. Jacob K. Javits strongly urged the government this week to invite Communist China to negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam war.

Claiming that Communist China's presence in Asia has been ignored too long, the New York Republican said that this was no longer realistic. So far as Vietnam is concerned, the Senator said, peace cannot be restored or the stability of Asia assured without Communist China's presence, agreement and participation.

In the same vein, a group of 198 scholars on Asian affairs declared that "it is up to the United States to try to move the Chinese to a greater acceptance of the principles of coexistence in the emerging world community."

The scholars admit "this would be a long and difficult process."

Lebanon has expelled a professor at American University in Beirut for including in a course the 600-year-old writings of St. Thomas Aquinas on Islam. Officials charge that Prof. John Spagnolo, a Spaniard, insulted the prophet Mohammed.

In the writings, Aquinas attacked Islam and the prophet Mohammed. The disputed passages have been on sale in Lebanese bookstores for years.

Samuel B. Kirkwood, president of the university, said a Moslem newspaper published the writings out of context, bringing down the wrath of the government.

Prof. Spagnolo was accused of distorting religious teachings and the Moslem religion, as well as insulting Mohammed. He and his wife left for London.

Do-It-Yourself Installation

Prefinished Paneling is easy to install. You can do it yourself. Being handy with tools helps, but you do not have to be an expert. A little time, a little patience, and the ability to follow clear, simple instructions are all that are needed. This was the suggestion of Mr. Morgan at the Plywood Center in Dedham. "If, however," he also stated: "you're all thumbs or if you can't or do not want to use a saw and rule, hammer and nails, or adhesive, he will be glad to recommend an installer who will do the job for you."

Mr. Morgan stated that Prefinished Paneling can be installed over existing walls, over furring or directly on studs or framing. The panels can be nailed, nailed & glued, or attached with adhesive which eliminates visible nailing.

Mr. Morgan also stated that easy to follow, illustrated directions are available at the Plywood Center in Dedham.

To make installation as easy as possible and to help you get professional results, the Plywood Center in Dedham can supply you with these Plywood Accessory Products.

Plywood Putty Sticks —used to fill nail holes, etc., made in comparable colors for almost every Prefinished Panel faces as well as grooves.

Plywood Panel Adhesive — Especially developed for easy, effective installation with no visible face nailing, is available at the Plywood Center in Dedham.

Unfinished Pine Trim — Made in the most needed shapes are also available at the Plywood Center along with trim already prefinished in shades compatible with your paneling.

Color Tones — This is the easiest way to finish unfinished mouldings, doors, cabinets, etc., that I know of says Mr. Morgan of Plywood Center.

News Roundup

West Germany's Air Force has been losing one F-104 Star fighter plane every 10 days this year, according to grim figures released in Bonn this week.

Fifty-two of the supersonic planes have been lost since they were introduced into the West Germany Air Force and Navy Air Wing in 1961, nine of them this year and 25 last year.

Eighteen pilots have been killed in crashes in the planes during the past 14 months. Nine pilots have requested transfers to less risky duty.

This has resulted in a controversy in West Germany and has raised a question as to the readiness of the West Germans to fulfill their expected roles in the NATO defenses.

Members of the U. S. Air Force have found the plane satisfactory. Canada, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and the Netherlands have reported no difficulties with the plane.

Most persons in Washington have a tendency to quake and go a little limp when President Johnson grumbles: "You're late!" But not Courtenay Lynda Valenti, 2½-year-old daughter of Jack Valenti, a Presidential aide.

LBJ looked around for Courtenay as he was leaving St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Washington after attending services there Sunday, but Courtenay, who had been detained by a nursery school engagement, was not in sight."

"You're late," complained the President as Courtenay showed up just as he was about to get into his limousine. Courtenay was unimpressed. "Hi Prez," she greeted him, as she ran into his arms to give him his usual kiss.

Approximately 3000 employees at the Csepel automobile plant in Budapest, Hungary, worked an overtime shift and donated the wages for the shift to the Viet Cong, it was announced in Budapest this week.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has ordered a review of all drugs cleared for public use before 1962 as part of its tough new administrator's drive to put more teeth in the FDA's regulatory bite.

Administrator Dr. James L. Goddard said a bureau director will be assigned to full-time work in the review which is to test the safety and effectiveness of drugs.

The FDA is engaged in a program to determine that all drugs approved for public use before 1962 are not only safe, but effective.

Two New Englanders have the inside track for appointment as federal co-chairman and his deputy on the newly-created New England Economic Development Region.

John Linehan, of Scituate, a former official in the Small Business Administration, generally has the support of New England Democratic senators for the top $27,500 job as co-chairman.

George Pazianos, a Hartford, Ct., attorney on the staff of Sen. Claiborne Pell, (D-Rhode Island), is backed for the $24,500 post of deputy.

Both positions are presidential appointments which must be confirmed by the Senate.

A New Hampshire state legislator has charged that a plan to sell New Hampshire sweeps tickets in Europe is illegal.

State Rep. Laurence Pickett (D-Keene), branded as "absolutely illegal" the action of Gov. King and the Executive Council in allowing the sweepstakes commission to spend $10,000 to explore the possibility of selling tickets abroad for this nation's only state lottery.

The commission has denied any violation of the sweepstakes law.

Jaap Botha, a member of the Boer party that captured Sir Winston Churchill when the late Prime Minister was a young war correspondent, died in Hylstroom, South Africa, at the age of 83. Botha had been ill at the time of Sir Winston's death in January, 1965, but he recovered and, last July, he was married to his nurse. She survives him.

In 1899, when Churchill was a newspaper correspondent during the Boer War, a party of Boer commandoes including Botha, captured him. Sir Winston later made a dramatic escape from prison.

Rev. Leon H. Sullivan who left Charleston, W. Virginia, years ago with $17 and a rope around his suitcase, returned this week to be honored as "West Virginian for 1965."

Sullivan, a towering six-foot-five Negro, now heads the Opportunities Industrialization Center in Philadelphia. The rehabilitative center began two years ago with two workers and today it has a yearly budget of $3 million and employes more than 370 persons.

The minister told a banquet honoring him that one of his main objects is to tell people that they can accomplish as much as they believe they can.

"Man is like a balloon — it's not the color that determines how he rises but what he has inside him," he declared.

The United States has banned shipments to Southern Rhodesia of all commodities "that are important to the economy of that country."

The action extended a previous embargo on petroleum products and some guns and ammunition to rubber, chemicals, machinery, iron and steel products and other goods.

Many of President Johnson's Texas neighbors are vigorously opposing a plan to convert portions of their land into a Lyndon B. Johnson State Park. They are the owners of orchards, ranches and dairies near the LBJ ranch, parts of which would be taken for the proposed park. Approximately 75 persons crowded into a tiny courtroom to voice their objection to the plan.

Six persons, including four teen-agers and a 5-year-old girl, were killed in an automobile crash in Port Huron, Mich. An automobile operated by Cornelius Gross, 17, apparently failed to stop and was hit broadside by a car driven by Lloyd Green, 28. Four persons in the Gross car and two in the Green car, including Green's wife and 5-year-old daughter, were killed. Green was critically injured.

State assistance for homeowners and businesses forced out by road-landtakings has sky-rocketed since last September, Public Works Commr. Francis W. Sargent revealed.

For homeowners the state has stepped up its assistance by 600 percent. For businessmen the increase has been 50 percent.

This increase will affect the whole state but mainly the area around Greater Boston, from the Inner Belt to Rte. 495.

The problem has become noticeably acute in finding a route for the huge inner belt roadway through the heart of Cambridge — a project being fought bitterly by a group of Cambridge residents. Sargent also pointed out that towns caught in the Rte. 128-Rte. 495 squeeze have also benefited from the change.

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has decided definitely to seek the Democratic nomination for the Michigan Senate seat now held by Patrick V. McNamara. This pits him against former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who entered the race almost immediately after McNamara announced his retirement last month.

The primary campaign could bring on the party's worst split since 1960 and possibly enhance longshot Republican chances of winning the Senate seat.

Interrogation of hospitalized Stephen Hughes, shot down last week outside of the Malden home of his brother, Cornelius, indicated his brother was with him at the time of the shooting. John J. Irwin, Jr., Asst. Middlesex County Dist. Atty., said officials feel Cornelius was a "second victim." The case has been linked with Greater Boston's series of 28 gang-style slayings.

All signs point to a big victory for the Labor Party and Prime Minister Wilson as the half-way mark passed in the campaign for the general election in England March 31.

Leading public-opinion polls continue to give Labor a margin so wide that the experts are bewildered. The historical pattern has been for the edge to fall rapidly as election day approaches. Exactly that happened in 1964, leaving Labor with the barest margin.

The National Opinion poll recently gave Labor a 13-point margin. Of those polled, 50.7 percent said they would vote Labour, 37.7 percent Conservative, 7.4 percent Liberal and the rest for others or undecided.

Gamblers are betting that Labor's majority in the House of Commons will range from 40 to 80 seats.

An ancient Greek town that vanished 2339 years ago in the Gulf of Corinth is being sought by Greek and American archeological experts. The town of Helikl was engulfed by a tidal wave after a violent earthquake in 373 B.C.

Prof. Spyridon Marinatos, a leading Greek archeologist, will head the search. He has made arrangements to collaborate with the University of Pennsylvania Museum, a leading authority in applying scientific methods for archeological research.

B. C. Debate On "Secular City"

"The Secular City" will be the subject of a debate between Dr. Harvey G. Cox Jr., and Michael Novak, two of the most prominent religious commentators in the United States today, Monday, Mar. 28, at 4 p.m. at Boston College's Bapst Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Jesuit University's Philosophy and Theology Departments, the encounter will explore the significance of current developments in religion and their impact on man and society.

Parole Agents

Richard D. Good, 200 Church st., Newton, and Daniel S. Cohen, 1 Hackensack Ct., Chestnut Hill, are among 18 men and 13 women who passed a civil service examination for the rating of juvenile parole agent in the state division of youth service.

Washington — About one-half the states with civil service systems have adopted the practice since 1937.

At present, she is the official observer at the United Nations of the United Church Women and serves as staff consultant to the Department of International Affairs. She has conducted radio roundtable discussions on world affairs and has written numerous magazine articles and study pamphlets.

A team of national members and state chairman will lead a series of workshops on the theme "Partners in Progress." Among the local women participating will be: Mrs. William G. Morse, Jr., of Worcester; Mrs. Arthur W. Ferguson of Wollaston; Mrs. William Austill of Cataumet, Mrs. Harry Stoddard of Braintree, Mrs. Robert Kuder of Framingham, Mrs. T. S. Potter of Wellesley.

Also Mrs. Halbert Pierce, Jr., of Needham, Mrs. Gerald A. Smith of Harwichport, Mrs. Walter Telfer of Boston, Mrs. Eugene A. Pott of Clinton, Miss Edith M. Bradley of Milton, Mrs. John D. Fox of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Wilmer Kalleck of Ware, and Mrs. Seaton M. Woodley, Jr., of Newton Centre.

Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson of Louisville, Kentucky, will be the leader of the Bible study. Mrs. Jackson was formerly chairman of Leadership Education of the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ. The Christian Century has cited her as one of ten great church women of America.

The first day of the conference will close with an ecumenical Communion. The Rev. Ross Cannon, minister of the Second Church, and the Rev. Lilliam Gregory invite all women of Newton to attend this service.

Outstanding events of the second day of the conference will be a panel discussion, "What's on the Drawing Board?" and a presentation of "Christ in the Concrete City," presented by the Chapel Players of Old South Church, Boston.

There will be only one performance of this unique passion play at 4:00 p.m. at the Second Church, West Newton. Richard B. Arnold, director of the troup, was a member of the New York cast in 1956.

The Chapel Players are a company of professionals dedicated to the production of drama with a religious dimension and have performed throughout Massachusetts and New Hampshire since the group was organized two years ago.

Newton Community Center, Inc. Continues Customary Activity

Activity continues at a rapid pace at Newton Community Center, Inc. Due to the large number of enrollments for children's activities, two new groups have been started at the Center, a cooking class for girls and a co-ed arts and crafts class, will be held each Wednesday afternoon. Registration for these two new activities are being taken at the agency.

Children's vacation week activity were highlighted by two bus trips. Youngsters from the Center attended the Winterfest at the Prudential Center and also had ice skating party at a local M.D.C. rink. Miss Gayle Saunders and Mr. Marshall Hambro of the agency staff co-ordinated the trips. A new feature of the agency program is Friday afternoon mass activities. The program which is not restricted to members varies each Friday. It includes movies, games, contests, etc. Among some of the coming movie features are a Documentary of the Late President Kennedy, the Eisenhower Story, and the Golden Age of Comedy. Programs are scheduled from 4 to 5 p.m. each Friday under the direction of Mr. James Callahan and Mr. Anthony Quintiliani.

Registrations for adult classes in Golf and Cake Decorating are now underway. Golf is scheduled on Tuesday mornings and Wednesday evenings, while the Cake Decorating is scheduled for Wednesday evenings. Mr. Dan Meany continues as the Golf professional and Mrs. Ruth Lucas returns as Cake Decorating instructor. Additional information is available at the agency. Starting date for the spring sewing classes are also to be announced shortly.

A special program sponsored by the Newton Community Center Senior Citizen's group is scheduled for Monday, March 14 at 1 p.m. The program is devoted to a presentation on "Medicare" by a representative from the Social Security Office of Cambridge, to be followed by a question and answer period.

For information with regard to the Center please call 244-2260 or visit the agency at 429 Cherry street in West Newton.

Robert Murphy '67, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Murphy, 291 Dorset Rd., Waban, and Peter Wheelock '67, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wheelock, 103 Prince St., West Newton, were honored at the recent sports banquet at Williston Academy, Easthampton. Murphy was named captain of next year's hockey team, and was a member of this year's team that had a 12 - game winning streak. Wheelock led the ski team in first place finishes, and was named captain of next year's team.

REALTY COURSE

All Classes Held At Motel 128, Needham

MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training avaflable.

As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.

If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.

If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.

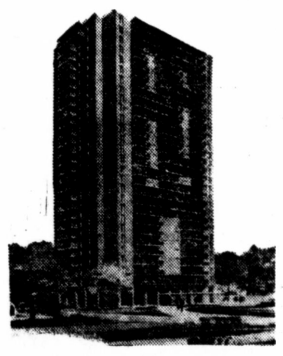

Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale. So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Tuesday, April 5, at 8 P. M. at Motel 128, Exit 56E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. This will be a 6-week, twice-a-week course meeting every Tuesday and Thursday evening in Needham.

THE LEE COURSE IS LICENSED AND APPROVED BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. For more information, you are welcome to call collect any time.

South Shore and Wellesley National Banks Vote Merger

Resolutions to merge the South Shore National Bank and the Wellesley National Bank were approved by the directors of both banks at separate meetings held recently in Quincy and Wellesley.

The merger, to be transacted by an exchange of stock at the ratio of 2¼ shares of South Shore National Stock for one share of Wellesley National Stock, is now subject to approval by the stockholders of both banks and the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington, D. C. Stockholders' meetings of both banks have been called for May 2.

Completion of the merger under the name and charter of the South Shore National Bank will give the combined bank a total of 27 offices and resources of more than one hundred ten million dollars.

South Shore National Bank President, Robert L. Blair, and Wellesley National Bank President, William W. White, issued a joint statement saying, "This merger will create a dynamic, county-wide bank and will introduce additional commercial bank services to the Wellesley area — largely in the field of electronic data processing and trust services."

They further added that "the merger is of real mutual benefit to everyone — the consumer, business and commercial bank competition."

As of December 31, 1965, South Shore National showed resources of 81 million dollars, and the Wellesley National Bank recorded resources of 37 million dollars.

Both banks have exhibited rapid growth over the past several years, and are presently constructing new offices in Sharon, Franklin, Cohasset and South Braintree.

Fireside Series Meeting Set For Wednesday Night

"The Right of Dissent" will mark the next Fireside Series meeting sponsored by the Greater Boston Chapter of the American Jewish Committee, Wednesday evening, March 30, at 8:15 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon M. Roberts in Newton.

Dr. Peter Siegle, of the Center for the Study of Liberal Education for Adults, Boston University, will explore the various elements of dissent, the academic unrest and the psychological and motivating forces involved. A discussion period will follow his presentation.

Co-chairmen of the current Fireside Series are Charles Bay of Boston and Albert Schlossberg of Milton. Chapter chairman is Attorney Leonard Kaplan.

Teacher, author, lecturer, Dr. Siegle is by academic training and experience most knowledgeable on the dimensions of human behavior. He has conducted extensive research and has authored a number of books and articles in the field of education and human behavior.

Information on this program and other activities of the American Jewish Committee may be obtained by contacting the Boston office, 72 Franklin street.

Hammond Chap. Has Beauty Talk

Hammond Chapter of Women's American ORT held its recent meeting on March 16th at the home of Mrs. Maurice Halperin.

A program of "Avon for Beauty" was presented by Mrs. Nancy Carpenter, cosmetics supervisor, assisted by Mrs. Harold Horne, a member of the Hammond Chapter.

All proceeds of the meeting were allocated to the chapter's Epic Project.

Rep. Mann Has Medicare Phone Answer Service

Rep. Theodore D. Mann, president of Theodore D. Mann Insurance Agency, Inc., of Newton, announced today that his office will answer incoming telephone calls by reminding the callers how many days remain to sign up for Medicare.

Mann said, "I would advise business firms and individuals to spread the word, in view of the fact that with all the publicity on radio, television and newspapers, there are still hundreds of thousands of persons who have not signed up for the Hospital as well as the Medical Elective Benefits; therefore I urge all individuals to intensify their personal efforts in the next two weeks to make sure that their friends and relatives who are eligible contact the nearest Social Security Office.

"Further,' Mann added, "Blue Cross and Blue Shield, as well as other commercial insurance carriers, after April 1st will offer plans to supplement Medicare. I advise all those who are eligible to consider acquiring the supplementary coverage as well."

Wine Tasting Party Will Be Held March 30

On Wednesday evening, March 30, the Garden Club of Temple Shalom of Newton will sponsor a wine-tasting party coordinated with appropriate flower arrangements.

The meeting, held for husbands and wives, will emphasize the significance of wine as a part of religious ceremonials along with the horticultural aspects of the cultivation of the fruit of the vine.

Wines will be featured from Italy, France, Germany and Denmark. Robert Gourdin, Chief Sommelier for the Brown Vintners, will introduce the various wines. He has just completed a series of wine introductions for the French government and was head sommelier at the "21 Club" in New York for many years.

The meeting will be held at 8:15 p. m. in the Temple Shalom of Newton social hall at 175 Temple Street, West Newton. Mrs. Arnold Shaw is president of the Temple Shalom Garden Club, with Mrs. Morris Bearak serving as program chairman.

Army Promotes Edward L. Koenig

Edward L. Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben L. Koenig, 56 Park avenue, Newton, was promoted to Army first lieutenant March 1, while serving as a platoon leader in the 752d Engineer Company in Vietnam.

Lieutenant Koenig entered the Army in July, 1964, and was last stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky.

The 22-year-old soldier was graduated from Boston Latin High School in 1960 and from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in 1964.

Thieves -

The entire house was ransacked.

While investigating the break in the Moskow home, police found the side door of the house at 180 Evelyn Rd. open. Everything appeared in order in the home owned by Henry Bornstein.

Ellis Sutcliffe, of 23 Buswell Pk., actually found a burglar in his house. But the man apparently pepped up by beer, raced out the kitchen door before Sutcliffe could get his hands on him.

Sutcliffe told police he was awakened by a noise downstairs. When he went to investigate he found a man drinking his beer and rummaging through a desk in the living room.

Friday morning, Irving Bikash, of 15 Placid Rd., Newton Centre, reported that a carton of women's dresses was stolen from his locked car while it was parked in his driveway. He said there were 15 to 17 dresses in the carton valued at $250.

Three other thefts from autos were also reported. William B. Marquis, of 79 Ridge Rd., Waban, told police a leather bag containing $58 in lenses and filters was taken from his locked car while it was parked at the Pelham St. parking lot, Newton Centre.

Sabatino Grosco, of Leominster, told police that 12 bottles of liquor and four cases of beer valued at $129 were taken from his auto parked in front of 100 Bellevue St., Newton Centre.

A New Hampshire man, Henry J. Arsenault, of Kingston, reported the theft of four hub caps valued at $50 from his car.

The dubious "meanest thief" honor went to the person who robbed James Pepicelli, of 43 Rustic St.

Saturday Pepicelli left a newly purchased $150 second-hand car parked in his driveway. When he got up Sunday, the vehicle was gone. Gone also was his paralized wife's $385 wheelchair.

Mrs. Pepicelli has been paralyzed for 11 years. She depends on the wheel chair when she goes to church or to the LaSalette Shrine.

Pepicelli bought the car so he could take his wife out more often.

Fortunately, the car was recovered by South Boston police parked near Blinstrub's Village. However, the wheelchair was gone.

A stone mason by trade, Pepicelli has been unemployed for the past 10 weeks. Four weeks ago the oldest of his four children was hospitalized for surgery for a broken arm.

Police are still investigating an assault on a 19-year-old Auburndale girl and the attempted assault on a Newton Highlands girl, both of which occurred within 90 minutes Friday night.

The Auburndale girl was assaulted in front of her home. She told police a youth grabbed her from behind, punched her on the nose and right eye, knocking off her glasses and breaking them. The youth fled when she screamed.

Local Students In School Play

Theodore R. Casselman and Barry Burtman, both of Newton, recently participated in the Belmont Hill School Dramatic Club's production of "The Skin of Our Teeth," a comedy by Thornton Wilder.

The play, presented on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 10 and 11, attempts to comment on the development of the human race by following one broadly representative family. Burtman was cast as the Telegraph Boy while Casselman played the part of the Doctor.

The Newton Highlands girl was just getting into her car in front of her home when a youth opened the door on the opposite side and slid in. He grabbed her but she opened the driver's door to escape and fell onto the street, injuring her ankle. The youth fled to a waiting car on Hyde St. and drove away.

The girl told police she thought her assailant was armed with a knife or a gun.

Six persons reported their cars stolen during the week, with two of the vehicles recovered within 24 hours, one in Cohasset, the other in Cambridge.

Journalism Discussion Set On Sta. WMEX

George A. Speers, 34 Hurley Pl., Newton Centre, chairman of Northeastern University's Department of Journalism, will discuss the subject he teaches over Station WMEX Sunday morning, Mar. 27, at 7:30.

The program, titled "Journalism; What is its Real Contibution?" is a part of the series, "Notheastern Faculty Talks," designed to bring to listeners diverse information by qualified experts.

A Northeastern English-Journalism graduate, Prof. Speers holds a M.S. degree in Journalism from B.U., and a master's degree in Education from Northeastern.

He has served on the staffs of daily and weekly newspapers and a monthly magazine, and was editor of N.U.'s alumni magazine for eight years. Since 1963, he has served as general manager of the New England Press Association, a professional association of nearly 200 community newspapers with headquarters at Northeastern.

Recent Deaths

Roy V. Collins President Of Aldermen

Funeral services for Roy V. Collins, 86, one-time president of the Newton Board of Aldermen, were held Saturday, March 19, in Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Mr. Collins, born in Iowa and a Newton resident since 1913, died March 17 in Cushing Hospital, Framingham, after a long illness.

He served on the Board of Aldermen from 1927 to 1940, and was a member of the License Board between 1941 and 1957, holding its chairmanship for most of that period. There was considerable controversy during his administration on that Board, and at one time life was threatened.

An inventor, he worked primarily in the electrical field and developed the Collins Switch, used throughout the world by street car lines.

He was a member of the Centennary Methodist Church, Auburndale, and of the Masons in Newtonville.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Alice Butler of Hallandale, Fla.

Paul E. Tierney

A solemn Mass of requiem for Paul E. Tierney, 61, of 1611 Centre St., Newton Highlands, second vice president of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, was offered Tuesday, March 22, in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Tierney died March 18.

He was a Knight of Malta, a member of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants and a past vice president of the National Association of CPA's.

A member of Bishop Chevrus Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, he was a director and past president of the Eire Society and a member of the Charitable Irish Society.

He was also a past state president and national director of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, a member of the Clover Club, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, and of the Democratic National Committee.

He was a past national president of the Bentley College Alumni Association, an associate trustee of Regis College and a leader of the Nocturnal Adoration Society of Boston. He was a graduate of Bentley College, Suffolk University and Staley College.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Julia C. (Donovan) Tierney; a brother, George of Woburn, and three sisters, Mrs. Eleanor St. George of Brighton, Mrs. Mary Lou Linehan of Bedford and Mrs. Rita Mannke of Anaheim, Calif.

Rose DiBartolomeo

A requiem high Mass for Mrs. Rose (Taglienti) DiBartolomeo, 76, of 133 Carlisle St., Newton Centre, was offered Wednesday, March 23, in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. DiBartolomeo, a native of Capistrano, Italy, and a resident of Newton for more than 40 years, died March 20 after a brief illness.

She was one of the founders and a charter member of the San Giovanni Society.

Survivors are her husband, Michael R. Bartolomeo; four sons, Manfred, Joseph T., Dominic J. and Victor J. Tagliente; a daughter, Mrs. Louis Frada of Natick; a sister, Mrs. Marion Rainaldi of Newton Centre; two brothers, Alfonso L. Secarinano of Newton Centre and Domenic of Italy; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

John B. Dorsey

A requiem Mass for John B. Dorsey, 38, of 6 Sacco street, Newton Upper Falls, World War II veteran and Newton Forestry Department employe, was offered Saturday, March 19, in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls.

Mr. Dorsey died March 16 in Boston City Hospital after a long illness. He was born in Newton.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Mary (McEvilly) Dorsey; his wife, Mrs. Marcia J. (Curry) Dorsey; a daughter, Robin 4; five brothers, Arthur of Newtonville, Edward of Quincy, James of Framingham, and Richard and Stephen Dorsey of Brighton, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Fadden of Brighton and Mrs. Janet Bellivue of Roslindale.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Vito R. Guzzi

A solemn requiem Mass for Vito R. Guzzi, 62, of 491 Waltham st., West Newton, Newton resident of 60 years, was scheduled for this (Thursday) morning at 9 in St. Bernard's Church.

Mr. Guzzi, a native of Jay, Me., and a product of the Newton schools, died March 20 in Newton Wellesley Hospital shortly after suffering a heart attack at his home.

He belonged to Newton Lodge of Elks, and had been employed by the city for 10 years. Previously he had operated his own trucking business.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Carmella (Bruno) Guzzi; a son, Richard of Southboro; a daughter, Mrs. Theresa Luppo of West Newton; a brother, Joseph Guzzi of West Newton, and three sisters, Mrs. Santa Gentile, Mrs. Isabela Caruso and Mrs. Helen Borrelli, all of West Newton.

Burial was to be in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Cpl. R. S. Carven 3d

A requiem Mass for Marine Lance Corporal Rupert S. Carven 3rd., 24, of 30 Beechcroft road, Newton was offered Saturday, March 19, in Our Lady of the Presentation Church, Brighton.

Cpl. Carven was killed in Viet Nam action on Mar. 4.

Newton born, he was a graduate of St. Sebastain's Country Day School and attended Fairfield University, Conn. He joined the Marines three years ago and had served in Viet Nam since last June.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert S. Carven Jr.; two brothers, John D. and Paul J. Carven, and a sister, Mrs. Roy Allen of San Francisco.

Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Theresa Mogan

A solemn Mass of requiem for Mrs. Theresa (Winston) Mogan, 76, of 607 Washington St., Newton, was offered Tuesday, March 22, in the Church of Our Lady.

A Gold Star Mother, who lost a son, Sgt. Vincent P. Mogan, in World War II, Mrs. Mogan died March 19 at her home after a long illness.

Formerly of East Boston and Winthrop, she had been a Newton resident for the past 10 years.

Survivors are a son, James W. Mogan of Newton, and three daughters, Miss Katherine Mogan and Mrs. Marie Howe of Newton, and Mrs. Elaine Murphy of Dorcester.

Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Sara E. Drew

A solemn Mass of requiem for Mrs. Sarah E. (Davis) Drew, was celebrated Wednesday, March 16, in the Church of Our Lady.

Mrs. Drew was the mother of Lt. Walter D. Drew of the Newton Police.

Other survivors are two daughters, Sister M. Falisa, CSX, superior, St. Anthony's School, Allston, and Mrs. Grace V. Prendergast; three sisters, Mrs. Anna McMullen of Newton, Mrs. Margaret Gallant of Watertown and Mrs. Isabel Todd of County Down, Ireland, and two brothers, Charles and William Davis, both of County Down.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Dorothy Murphy

A requiem Mass for Miss Dorothy Murphy, 58, of 92 Washburn Ave., Auburndale, Watertown native and resident of Newton for 40 years, was sung Monday, March 21, in the Church of Our Lady.

Miss Murphy died March 18 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Kiley, with whom she made her home; a brother, Cornelius F. Murphy of Newton, and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Dr. Joseph Tansey

A high Mass of requiem for Dr. Joseph Tansey, 55, of 24 Billings Park, Newton, associate medical director of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, was offered Saturday, Mar. 5, in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill.

Dr. Tansey died Mar. 1.

He also was an associate at Boston City and St. Elizabeth's Hospitals. A graduate of Boston College High School and Boston College, his medical degree was awarded at Harvard in 1937. Following his internship, he served as a resident at Worcester and was a fellow at the Lahey Clinic prior to becoming an assistant physician in the department of hygiene, Harvard Medical School. In 1949, he joined John Hancock and was named assistant medical director a year later.

He held membership in the American Medical Association, Massachusetts and Suffolk Medical Societies, the American Life Convention, the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors, St. Luke's Guild and the Catholic Alumni Sodality.

He served on the staffs of Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, and Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Joan (Leonard) Tansey; two sons, Joseph Jr., and John T.; a brother, the Rev. John A. Tansey, C.S.S.R., of Puerto Rico, and three sisters, Mrs. Arthur J. Lewis, Miss Mary and Miss Ann Tansey, all of Jamaica Plain.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Friends Honor Herb Connolly On Birthday

Herbert L. Connolly of Newton, Boston businessman and civic and charitable leader was the recipient of a birthday party in his honor at Blinstrub's Village on Monday evening, Feb. 28.

The occasion, marking his forty-fourth birthday, was attended by approximately two thousand of Herb Connolly's friends from all corners of the state. The chairman for the dinner arrangements was Richard S. Hoffman ,president of the Perna Guard Insurance Agency of Boston.

For more than twenty years Mr. Connolly has been the president of the largest Buick Dealership in New England, but it is significant of his many contributions in the area of charity and public service that the attendance at this dinner will be mainly made up of people from all walks of life.

The reception began at 7 p.m. and the entertainment portion of the evening's program was headlined by the appearance of Jack Jones, popular singer and recording star, who has just recently returned from a tour of South Vietnam with Bob Hope.

Members of the committee for the birthday dinner include Mrs. Marion Doherty of Brookline, Fred Epstein of Randolph, Gerry Hayes, Public Relations Officer of the National Shawmut Bank, Frank L. Fuller of Watertown. and John Massimiano of Pittsfield, and Attorney Peter Harrington and T. Burke Doherty and John Donovan all of Newton.

Mr. Connolly in addition to his many efforts on behalf of charities was a runner-up in the Democratic contest for Lieutenant-Governor in 1960 and has been a forceful worker for the Democratic Party fo rmore than twenty years.

Walter P. Harris

A requiem Mass for Walter P. Harris, 51, of 120 Adams avenue, West Newton, Army veteran of World War II and a driver for Luther Paul Oil Company, was sung Wednesday, Mar. 9, in St. Bernard's Church.

Mr. Harris, a native of Brighton who had lived in Newton for 25 years, died Mar. 6 in the Jamaica Plain VA Hospital after a short illness.

He was a member of Local 68 of the Teamsters Union.

He leaves three brothers, Roger J. of West Newton, Leonard J. of Brookline and Wilbur P. Harris of Woburn.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

April P. Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Purcell, 96 Nonentum St., Newton, has enrolled for the spring semester at Memphis State University, Tenn. She is majoring in medical terminology.

Kristina Seeglitz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Seeglitz, 315 Franklin St., Newton, a student at Penn Hall Junior College and Preparatory School in Chambersburg, Pa., returned to her home for the spring vacation.

John Harlin, 30, of Los Altos, Calif., plunged 3000 feet to his death Tuesday in a fall from the sheer face of the Eiger mountain in the Swiss Alps. Harlin, with another American and British and German companions, was attempting to make the first ascent of the mountain's north wall by the vertical route. An experienced climber who ran a mountaineering school, Harlin was the father of two children.

Mrs. Karen Kay Hacker, 27, of Des Moines, Iowa, a widow, took her 7-week-old infant daughter to jail with her this week when she served a one-day sentence for getting eight parking tickets and for failing to display her car registration ticket. She was sentenced to a day in jail when she was unable to pay a $70 fine.

Mrs. Hacker said most of the tickets were accumulated by people who borrowed her car. To add to her troubles, her automobile was repossessed when she was unable to keep up the payments on it.

Mrs. Hacker, whose husband was killed in a traffic accident last year, said jail attendants were "very nice" to her and her baby. She was allowed to take the baby to jail because there was no place she could leave the infant.

CAPE COD

Each year the Cape seems to "OPEN" earlier. During the last 2 weeks we were pleasantly surprised by the number of greater Boston people calling at our Orleans Office. We were also aware of the great number of out-of-State cars. The Cape is no longer just a 10-week Summer vacationland: to the contrary, it is very much year 'round and offers 4 beautiful seasons with boating, fishing, hunting; terrific year 'round golfing and its miles of fabulous sandy beaches. All these things are making Cape Cod Real Estate more valuable every day; so why not "drop in" and see us real soon.
Here are few good values on land:
ORLEANS: Water view, private beach rights, ONLY $7500. ½ acre, finished street all utilities, $4300.
HARWICH: Finished street, all util. MUST SELL $2650.
CHATHAM: Top location w/everything, ONLY $5000. Lots from $3000 to $30,000: Homes from $12,000 to $90,000.
ALSO SOME EXCELLENT BUSINESS INVESTMENTS.
DROP IN AND SEE US — RTE. 6A & RTE. 28
Orleans: ¼ mile from RTE 6 at Orleans Rotary Circle; next to famous Goose Humock Sporting Shop. Call

Newton Girl Scouts Help Celebrate National Week

To honor Girl Scout Week and to celebrate the founding of Girl Scouting in America by Juliette Low, the Girl Scouts of Quinobequin Neighborhood joined in a luncheon and program party on Saturday, March 12, at the Second Church in West Newton.

Over 200 Brownies, Scouts and leaders attended the event which was planned and prepared by various troops in the Quinobequin Neighborhood, of which Mrs. Hilmi Arslan of Waban is the neighborhood chairman.

At the luncheon, table decorations (lollypop - decorated spheres) were made by Brownies with leaders Mrs. J. H. Lanning and Mrs. Irving L. Nisson of West Newton and Waban, respectively. Wall murals of girls of other countries added to the gaiety, made by Junior Troop 7 under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Grossman of Waban.

The casserole luncheon was prepared and served by the girls of Senior Troop 585 under the direction of Mrs. Ronald Mertens.

Programs were planned for entertainment and instruction after the luncheon with the emphasis on songs and dances around the world. Junior Troop 566 under the direction of Mrs. Henry Harwood of Waban presented the colors and conducted the opening ceremony. Junior Troop 1010 performed folk dances under the guidance of leader Mrs. Gordon B. Eliot of West Newton. Folk songs were sung by the Junior troop 603 of West Newton with Mrs. Guillermo Sanchez, leader, accompanied by guitars.

Representatives from each troop presented gifts from their troops to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. The presentation was made as candles blazed on a tiered birthday cake. The birthday cake was given to the Newton Police Department to thank them for their constant assistance. As Mrs. Arslan and Mrs. Laning, general chairman of the party, blew out the candles, hundreds of guests made a silent wish for "Happy Scouting in the Next Year."

Highlight of the afternoon was the showing of the film, "Light on the Mountain," about the Senior Roundup in Idaho last summer with Robert Tobey as projectionist.

Among the girls participating in the event were: Troop 1010: Folk Dancing — Carol De Sousa, Anne Friedell, Anne Elliot, Elizabeth Patterson, Cathy Curby, Judy Curby, Michelle Boiteau.

Troop 603: Singing — Gail Collins, Ellen Raphael, Mary Towbin, Kate Fernandez, Susan Howard and Sharyn Blauer.

Jr. College Merger Bill Turned Down

The 1966 bill to "merge" the Newton Junior College with the state system was given leave to withdraw, the Newton Taxpayers' Association reported in its March bulletin this week.

The legislative Committee on Education generally has decided not to tamper greatly with matters which may fall within the jurisdiction of the new Boards of Education and of Higher Education.

Moreover, there are several legislative views of what might be done with the Newton and Quincy junior colleges yet to be reconciled, the bulletin stated."

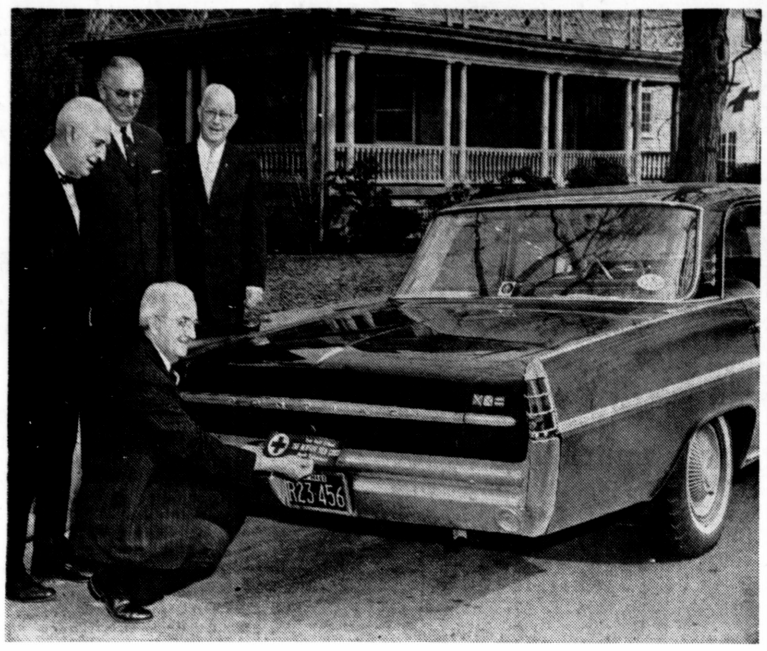

Locally, Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director, reported that the principal difference in views between himself and Charles W. Dudley, president of the Newton Junior College, seemed to be as follows:

That President Dudley seemed to view the matter of deciding between state or local operation as one of black or white and of immediate urgency, whereas Mr. Muther thinks various alternative possible combinations of authority, finance, geography and educational value should be examined and that there is no great hurry if the job is to be done well.

Muther was authorized by the association directors to investigate the question of possible state merger of the college last year. The association as such has taken no action except to raise the question thus far.

"If people are really concerned about bigger tax bites, a shift of a rapidly growing new cost from the city to the state might be worth exploring further," the bulletin stated.

The alternative bill, calling on the state to double state aid to the two remaining municipal junior colleges at Quincy and Newton on the theory that they were doing a job for the state and saving it much money and many headaches, was not withdrawn, the report concluded.

Viet War Dead, Late Official Paid Tributes

Resolutions expressing regret at the passing of a former president of the Board of Aldermen and two Newton victims of the war in Viet Nam were adopted Monday night at the meeting in City Hall aldermanic chamber.

Copies of each will be included in the permanent record of the Board, and will be sent to the families of the deceased.

Harry H. Ham Jr., presented the one memorializing Roy V. Collins, who "served the city well and faithfully for 36 years as a member and president of the Board of Aldermen and as chairman of the Licensing Bureau."

The one honoring the memory of Corporal Rupert S. Carven 3d, who was killed in Viet Nam action, was presented by Paul J. Burke.

The third resolution, honoring Marine Sgt. Enrico Pagnore Jr., also a victim of Viet Nam action, was presented by Andrew J. Magni.

Clothing Drive For Needy Set

The students of Newton Junior College have undertaken a college-wide clothing drive for the needy of Boston. On March 28, 29, 30, and 31, new and used clothes will be collected at College Hall by student volunteers who will sort, pack, and deliver the clothes.

Settlement Houses and appropriate Boston agencies have been consulted, and working in cooperation with the official administrators, College students will contribute to the city-wide program to relieve poverty-stricken families.

Citizens of the Newton community are invited to participate in this drive. Anyone wishing to contribute clothing may call WO 9-9570 for pick-up service.

"Requiem" To Be Presented Here Mar. 27

The combined adults choirs of the First Congregational Church of Braintree and Central Congregational Church of Newton present "Requiem" by Maurice Duruflé, Sunday evening, March 27, at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary of Central Church, 218 Walnut street, Newtonville.

The soloists are Edith Ione Lockwood, mezzo-soprano, of Braintree, and John Ring, baritone, of Dover. Mrs. Lockwood is soloist at the Church of St. John, the Evangelist, Hingham. She has made many solo appearances with the Braintree Choral Society, and in churches and clubs in Greater Boston and New England.

Mr. Ring is director of the Boston Opera Players, is associated with the New England Opera Theater and the Boston Comic Opera Company. He is a soloist with the professional choir of Trinity Church, Boston. He has made solo appearances with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Chorus Pro Musica, and the Cecilia Society, as well as TV appearances for CBS. The public is invited without charge.

James A. Boudreau, 503 Walnut St., Newtonville, a professor at Bentley College, has been appointed faculty advisor to the Paideia Club there. The group, whose name is the Greek word for "culture," helps students to a better appreciation of art, literature and music.

Summer Conference Program Previewed At Local Church

The Newton Branch Alliance of the First Unitarian Society in Newton was given a preseason teaser in an illustrated talk on the spiritual and visual splendors on Star Island at their monthly luncheon meeting this past Wednesday.

The talk "Set in the Silver Sea" was presented by Miss Margaret S. Ball of Newton Corner, a member of the Alliance. Miss Ball is a director in the Unitarian Star Island Corporation, which is part of the Isles of Shoals Association.

She has attended conferences at Star Island every year since 1930 and has been very active in its development as a cultural summer retreat for Unitarians, both young and old.

They meet annually to dispense knowledge of and experiment in new ways to apply religious principles to current problems ranging from individual to international, and pertinent to this scientific age.

Just 50 years ago, The Star Island Corp. was formed by Unitarians and Congregationalists to purchase Star, one of the Isles of Shoales, ten miles at sea off Portsmouth, N.H. The usual weeklong conferences will again be held this year by the Liberal Religious Youth, Family Conferences, Religious Education Institute, International Affairs Workshop and the Institute on Religion in an Age of Science.

The latter conferences are open to persons of any religious or secular perspective and will be held this year the first week in August. The seasons conferences are culminated in the annual "Life on a Star!", which provides inspirational talks, seminars and activities in the arts and sciences for adults, youth, and children.

College youths seek out the last weeks on the island (end of August and first week of September) to share in Star's many meaningful experiences. Anyone from a high school graduate up to 27 years of age may attend for a deepening of their religious experience, share with others in fellowship, and partake of its recreational pleasures.

Miss Ball's slides displayed the desolate splendors and untouched beauty which still abounds on the island, with spectacular views of the ocean and the sky. Star Islanders who attend the weeklong conference have the distinction of being called "Shoalers."

This month's luncheon was prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. William C. Wise, Jr., of West Newton.

Burton Zung, 27 Theodore Rd., Newton Centre, who runs in 100 and 220-yard events, is a member of the Tufts College track team that is on a nine-day pre-season southern trip. Sponsored by the Friends of Tufts Track and the college athletic association, the team will take part in two meets at Quantico, Va., with both the Marines and Penn State.

Graphic Roundup Of Major News Happenings Of The Week

As a service to our readers, we are continuing the practice of printing a roundup of the major news events which have occurred during the past week while the Boston newspapers have been closed down because of a strike. Also published on inside pages are a schedule of the television programs for the coming week and a roundup of the major sports news for the past week.

Sales Tax In Effect Friday

Housewives have been on shopping sprees this week, stocking up on soap, soap powder, detergents, tooth paste, cosmetics, cleansing and toilet tissue.

Their husbands have been buying razor blades, shaving cream, after-shave lotion and packs of cigars in larger-than-usual quantities.

These are among the things on which they will pay a 3 percent tax starting this Friday (April 1) when the limited sales tax goes into effect.

Some confusion is expected as people begin paying the sales tax, especially at the check-out counters in super-markets as shoppers and clerks sort out the articles which are tax-exempt from those on which the 3 percent tax must be paid.

All foodstuffs, including ice cream, candy and soft drinks, and all clothing, including hats and footwear, are exempt from the tax.

Newspapers, magazines and baby oil are among the other tax-exempt items. No tax will be collected on articles which cost less than 19 cents.

The FBI cracked down Wednesday on draft-dodging schemes and in a series of swift raids in New York City and Cleveland arrested 38 men. Among those arrested in New York were nine fathers and eight of their sons.

An FBI official said some of the men paid up to $5000 for false statements about an individual's military status, adding that the schemes had taken in up to $80,000 since 1963.

In Cleveland, officials declared one man arrested was a National Guardsman who handled paper work for allegedly phony enlistments in the 112th Engineer Battalion in suburban Garfield Heights. They said the New York and Cleveland cases were not related.

All the men were charged with violating a 1948 Selective Service Act—a charge carrying a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in the New York scheme two Long Island men sold forms which falsely stated the purchasers were members of Air Force Reserve units. The two men allegedly sent the forms to Selective Service boards which deferred the individuals from induction by changing them from 1A to 1D classification, a Reserve status.

Rites Held For Woman Fire Victim

A memorial service was held Tuesday for Mrs. Ruth Alexander Boardman, 59, of 21 Groveland street, Auburndale, who was burned to death last Saturday when fire swept her home.

Mrs. Boardman, a crippled widow who used a crutch, was trapped in her blazing kitchen.

Fire officials said the kitchen was fully ablaze when they arrived shortly before 2 p.m. The fire was discovered by Gilbert Davenport Jr., 10, of 15 Groveland street.

Intense heat and billowing smoke kept firefighters from entering the home immediately and they had to break down the front door to gain entrance. The body of Mrs. Boardman was found by Firefighter Nicholas Colantuno of Engine 5.

Firemen fought the blaze in the two-story home for two and one half hours before the fire was extinguished. The house was gutted.

Two firemen were injured. Walter A. Clisham was treat-

Burglars And Vandals Have Busy Local Week

Burglars, automobile thieves and vandals have been busy in Newton during the past week.

Expensive jewelry and furs worth thousands of dollars were carried out of Newton homes by robbers.

Six automobiles were stolen in the city over the weekend, and a number of other cars were damaged by vandals.

Robbers who broke into the home of Hyman T. Shapiro at 10 Duxbury Rd., Newton Centre, ransacked two bedrooms and took jewelry valued at $1200. They entered the dwelling by jimmying a first-floor bathroom window.

A wall safe was ripped out by burglars, who looted the home of Samuel Brecher at 237 Upland Ave., Newton Highlands. They carted away money, jewelry and clothing. They gained entry to the house by jimmying a rear bedroom window and breaking a lock.

A large quantity of jewelry was taken by thieves who broke into the home of Samuel L. Baer at 50 Devon Rd., Newton Centre, over the weekend. They got into the dwelling by forcing a cellar door leading from the garage.

Burglars who ransacked the home of Henry Van Dam at 42 Dorothy Rd., Newton Centre, apparently became frightened and left part of their intended loot behind. They departed without a suitcase in which they had placed a silver set.

In an unusual robbery two dressers and matching mirrors were stolen from the lobby of the Tower Building at the Newton Charter House in Chestnut Hill. They were valued at $300.

Power tools worth $865 were taken by thieves who broke into a construction trailer at the site of the new incinerator on Rumford avenue, West Newton.

A mink stole, a gold bracelet, a blue mosaic bracelet, $100 in cash and $14 in coins were taken by burglars who ransacked the home of Walter Feinberg at 135 Ridge Rd. Entrance was gained by breaking a chain lock on a rear kitchen door.

A mink coat and a set of pearls were stolen in a break at the home of David E. Rosengard, 131 Grant Ave., Newton Centre. The side dining room door of the house was jimmied open by the robbers.

An engagement ring and a bracelet were stolen from the home of Mrs. Clare L.

Parents In Opposition To Changes

Family Night Plan Of City Democrats

Newton parents and taxpayers, residing in the Meadowbrook Junior High School area, have issued a statement of concern after being notified that the entire school will be converted to a system known as an "individualized approach to learning."

Harold Singer is secretary of the group known as the Concerned Parents Committee. The statement issued by the committee is as follows:

We, the taxpayers and parents of Newton, residing in the Meadowbrook Junior High School area, having been notified that beginning Sept. 1966, the entire school will be converted to a system known as an "individualized approach to learning," (formerly known as Continuous Learning) and that the traditional course of learning will no longer be available; and being in opposition to this purpose hereby declare our intent to pursue any and such action that will continue to allow parents a voice in the education of their children.

It is our intent to insure the inherent right of each parent to advise and con-

Newton Democrats predicted today that more than 1000 persons will participate in the organization's first Friendship Supper, April 19, at Newton South High School.

Co-chairman Frank Fitz-Patrick and Sidney T. Small reported that ticket sales were "encouraging." They anticipate that many families will take part in the event, which offers families to learn about our government in a spirit of togetherness."

They reported that candidates for U. S. Senator, Governor, Lt. Governor, Attorney-General, Secretary and Treasurer, plus Newton's representatives to the Massachusetts General Court have accepted invitations to attend.

Co-Chairmen Small and Fitzpatrick announced today the following committee assignments for the Friendship Supper

Food: John Vaccaro, chairman, Margaret Hannigan, Miriam Visco and Robert Young; program: Ellen Feingold, Katherine MacDonald and Herbert Regal.

Program direction: Harold Band, chairman; Henry Barry, Robert Green and Edward Richmond. reception: Daniel Golden, Mrs. Hannigan, Paul Kirk and Burt Lavine.

Ticket sales: Joseph McDonnell, Daniel Rothenberg, Michael Mann, Dennis Cronin Jr., Paul King, Billie Brenner, Melvin Chalfen, Sidney Bronstein, Peter Harrington, Dorothy Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Martin, William Sherman, William Matthews, Patrick Regan, Anthony Pellegrini, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle, Vera Loftus, Ann Sullivan, Lee Shaughnessy, John Curtin and Joseph Bullwinkle. Dr. Pounds To Head MIT Sloan School

Professor William F. Pounds of 1401 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, a specialist in operations management and quantitative managerial analysis, will become head of the Alfred P. Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology tomorrow, (Friday, Apr. 1), according to an announcement by Charles H. Towne, MIT provost.

Dr. Pounds came to MIT in 1961 as assistant professor of industrial management in the Sloan School, and in 1964 was promoted to associate professor. The same year he completed his doctorial dissertation and was awarded a Ph.D. degree from Carnegie Institute.

He joined the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, N. Y., as an industrial engineer following his graduation from Carnegie Institute in 1950. From 1951 to 1955 he served as a U. S. Navy pilot, then returned to Eastman Kodak.

While working toward his master's degree, he served as a consultant to the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and after receiving the degree became assistant general manager of the Forbes division of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Company in Cleveland.

Newtonites In TV Show On Vietnam

A men's Lenten service at the Eliot Church of Newton and a meeting in the living room of a Newton home will be part of an NBC Color Special to be shown on Channel 4, tomorrow, Friday night, April 1.

It is titled "Vietnam on the Homefront" and will have Frank McGee as narrator. It will be shown from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Newton church event and local people were filmed together with similar groups in Salem, Oregon; Hot Springs, Arkansas; and Flint, Michigan, to make the television special.

The men of the Eliot Church meet for worship and breakfast on Wednesday mornings during Lent.

At one of these recent services, the emphasis followed a request from the National Council of Churches that the local churches focus their attention on Prayers For Peace in Vietnam. It stressed the desire for peace with justice— not at any price.

About 50 men attended the service which was expanded

HARRY WEINER

Scouts Give Tribute For Top Service

Harry Weiner, a dedicated Boy Scout official in Newton, was honored last night, Wednesday, March 30th, at Temple Emanuel.

Boy Scout Troop No. 225, Explorer Post No. 217 and Cub Pack No. 217, of Temple Emanuel, paid tribute to Weiner for his fifty years of service to the Boy Scout movement here.

Mr. Weiner, chairman of Troop No. 225 and holder of the coveted Silver Beaver Award, was feted at the annual Scout Family Supper held in the Temple Community Hall.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi of Temple Emanual Congregation, delivered the tribute. Abraham Stadlen was supper chairman.

The Volunteer Program, an integral part of the work of the Guild, provides thousands of hours of service annually to blind persons.

The volunteers serve as readers (most of them to blind college students), drivers, guides and visitors.

Move For Repeal of Sales Tax Started By Top Labor Leaders

Still another major battle is shaping up over the 3 per cent limited sales tax which goes into effect Friday.

Top officials of the Massachusetts State Labor Council are now directing a drive to obtain the 36,000 signatures necessary to place a referendum on next November's election ballot aimed at repealing the sales tax.

This is the height of irresponsibility. If the maneuver is successful, it not only would wipe out the sales tax but also may result in giving the public a substitute to which there would be more objection than there is to the sales tax.

If the labor chieftains mean what they say and if they have been sincere in the statements they have made, what they should do would be to place a simply

Lasell Hosts Third Annual Career Conclave On Monday

Li'l Abner's creator, Al Capp, will address a gathering of educators and business leaders when he is luncheon speaker at the third annual career conference, Monday, April 4, at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale.

Mr. Capp's lecture will climax a morning of informal panel discussions concerned with career preparations for today's students.

The conference is presented by the Career Conference Committee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, Massachusetts Association of Secondary School Principals, Massachusetts Association of Women Deans and Counselors. Registration is at 9 a.m. in Lasell's Wolfe Hall.

Heading the list of panelists is the Honorable Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of Newton who will speak on careers in government. Other panelists and the career areas on which they will speak are: Communications, Roger Desjarlais, city editor, Boston Herald; Education, Robert D. Bassett, research associate for the Massachusetts (Willis) Commission, and administrative assistant, Walpole Public Schools.

Local High Schools Enter Science Fair

The fourth annual Regional Science Fair for high students in the Greater Boston area will be held April 1 and 2 at Brandeis University.

Local high schools which will participate in the fair include, Newton High, Newton South High, Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Newton, and Beaver Country Day School, Chestnut Hill.

It is expected that more than 100 students from 35 high schools will take part in the fair which will be held in Brandeis' Shapiro Athletic Center.

It will be open to the public from 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday, April 1, and from 1 to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 2.

The fair is being sponsored by the Greater Boston Regional Science Fair Committee, Brandeis, and the Kiwanis Clubs of Greater Boston.

More than 50 judges from high schools, colleges, and industries will select the winning 25 exhibits. The students who prepared the 25 exhibits will be eligible for the Massachusetts State Science Fair which will be held April 29 to May 1 at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

As in past years, Brandeis again this year will award $500, $300 and $200 scholarships as first, second and third prizes. The winning 25 exhibitors and their schools will also receive certificates of merit.

The entries will be reviewed on Friday afternoon, April 1, by teams of judges. The awards will be presented Saturday afternoon, April 2, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Another feature of the fair is a symposium to be held on Saturday, April 2, conducted by three scientists from the Greater Boston area.

The Regional Science Fair is intended to develop the interest of students in independent scientific research and to enable the more talented students to exhibit their work at a competitively higher level.

Dr. Kenney To Be Speaker At Junior College

Newton Junior College announces the inauguration of an annual event of noteworthy significance, the Newton Junior College Visiting Scholar Lecture. This year to present Dr. John G. Kemeny, on April 13.

College officials expect that this program will be a milestone in the College's pursuit of excellence, in the ever-broadening range of intellectual and cultural opportunities offered to students and Newton citizens, and in the recognition of Newton's community college as a dynamic institution totally committed to higher education of uncompromising quality.

Scholar, author, mathematician, and philosopher, Dr. Kemeny is chairman of the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy at Dartmouth College. His eminence as a leader in the development of mathematic concepts and intellectual thought is acknowledged in academe.

Speaking on "The Laws of Lawlessness," Dr. Kemeny may well influence the course of intellectual effort for some time to come. His discussion of man's perception and formulation of principles of order in phenomena of a random character will be the premere of a lecture he has contemplated for many years.

The Women's Council of Newton Junior College is sponsor of this event. Dr. Kemeny speaks at 10:30 Wednesday morning, April 13, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut street in Newtonville.

Parents Not Pals, Child's Need, Says Newton Speaker

"Parents should be parents, families were monolithic," said Dr. Jerome D. Folkman, as he addressed clergymen of all faiths who met recently at Temple Shalom of Newton, for the annual Institute for Clergy. The speaker's topic was "Religion and the Family."

Dr. Folkman, author and Rabbi of Temple Israel, Columbus, Ohio, said, "The role of religion in the modern American family is more significant now than ever. The changing functions of the modern family make character-building one of its major tasks. Religion in the home influences character more profoundly than in any other institutional setting whether it be church, synagogue, or school.

"In this country, the most effective transmission of spiritual values originates from the mother. The father can amplify her transmission, or he can "short-circuit" it, but rarely can he transmit the values in our cultural setting. church, synagogue, and school play important parts, but religious and educational institutions can only build with the spiritual materials produced in the home.

The new functions of the family place it in greater jeopardy than ever before. Its institutional, productive functions have been subordinated to tasks which are much more difficult of achievement and which require more maturity, education and training than successful family living ever demanded before. The tendency for people in the United States to marry earlier and earlier runs counter to these difficult and cmplex demands." Dr. Folkman went on to discuss the need for greater enlightenment with respect to the meaning of marriage and family responsibility in preparation for marriage.

"It was much easier when familiees were monolithic," he stated. "Young people could enter upon a marriage expecting their spouses to perform the married roles pretty much as their opposite sex parents did. Each spouse could fulfill the expectancy of the other in a given marriage by performing the role of his or her own sex parent as he or she perceived it. With minor adjustments, it worked very well.

"Today, with the many varieties of family structure operating successfully in our society, it is most unlikely that any two people can completely fulfill tthe expectancies of their spouses without applying a great deal of skill and effort to the task in a generally supportive setting. The more compatible they are, the more they have in common, the easier this will be for thtem, but it is highly improbable that any two people will find themselves perfectly compatible."

In discussing modern parenthood, Dr. Folkman said, "Parents should be parents—not pals to their children The children have enough pals. They need two understanding, sympathetic, loving adults. The home is sanctified by love, but it is not without law. Within a framework of law, in an atmosphere of love, children must feel free to discover themselves, to actualize themselves, and, eventually, to outgrow the families of their orientation.

"They will look back upon them fondly, of course, but they cannot be tied to them forever. Eventually, each one must fulfill Scripture's first injunction with respect to family life: 'Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife, and they shall be one flesh.'" (Genesis 2:24).

Messiah Church Folk Song Mass On Palm Sunday

On Palm Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the Folk Song Mass by the Rev. Ian Mitchell will be sung at the Church of the Messiah, Auburn St. at Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, by the young people from the eight Episcopal Churches in Newton.

The group of 10 guitarists who are the accompanists, will be led by the Rev. John Balcom of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands. The Rev. William G. Berndt of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, will be the celebrant of the Holy Communion, and the Rev. Robert Golledge, rector of the host parish will preach. Representative young people from some of the churches will take part in the service.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service, originally planned for January and postponed because of snow. Music will be provided for the congregation so that all may take part in the singing of the folk song music.

A large number of young people met last Sunday in rehearsal of the music. A social hour for youth will follow the service.

Young Violinist

Twelve-year-old violinist Lynn Chang of 122 Bellevue St., Newton, was one of the soloists on the Date Line Boston program on WHDH, Channel 5, last Tuesday. The program was presented by the Youth Chamber Orchestra of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Artist, Lecturer, Speaks Before Church Women Here

Mrs. Warren L. Larson of Lexington will be the speaker on Tuesday, April 5, at the regular meeting of the Women's Association of Eliot Church. Her subject will be, "In The Secret Service," which is a challenge to a deeper prayer life.

Mrs. Larson's career as a speaker began when a friend invited her to attend a Mother and Daughter Banquet and then informed her that she was the intended speaker!

As a former kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Larson recalled how much more the children enjoyed and retained a story when she sketched it for them, so it was a natural step for her to augment her talks with illustrations.

Chalk painting is used to accent some important point in her talk. During the time in which the picture is being created, Mrs. Norman Peterson of Burlington will provide appropriate background music on the piano, and sing a solo.

Mrs. Larson is a member of the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society. Her hobby is oil painting and she is an associate craftsman in the Painter's Guild. She has studied with Philip Parsons, Roger Curtis and Dr. Robert Wesson.

Mrs. Larson is the wife of Dr. Warren Larson who is associated with the Supercon Division, National Research Corporation. The couple has two children, David and Wendy, who are students at Lexington High School.

Mrs. Russell S. Broad, vice president of the Women's Association will preside over the business meeting which will follow the program.

Mary A. Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Hunt, 109 Jewett st., Newton, a sophomore at Bentley College, is serving as treasurer of Delta Omega sorority.

Mrs. Margaret M. Heckler, member of the Governor's Council, will be guest speaker of the Newton Young Republican Club tonight (Thursday evening) March 31st, at 8 p.m., at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry street, West Newton.

One of the outstanding women in Massachusetts politics, Mrs. Heckler is a graduate of Albertus Magnus College in Connecticut and served as an exchange student representing the United States at the International Politics Seminar at the University of Leiden in Holland.

She continued her studies at Boston College Law School on scholarship and was admitted to the Bar in 1956 becoming a practicing lawyer. She is a member of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers Association and the Boston Bar Association.

After a question and answer period, coffee and dessert will be served. Meetings are open to the public.

3-Hour Service In Auburndale On Good Friday

The Annual three-hour service, noon to 3 p.m. for the Auburndale - West Newton area will be held on Good Friday, April 8, at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale.

The Rev. Robert W. Golledge, rector of the host church, The Rev. Roland C. Stahl of Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale; The Rev. Eugene W. Meyer of the Auburndale Congregational Auburndale; The Rev. Ross Cannon of Second Church, West Newton; The Rev. William C. Blair of Second Church, West Newton; The Rev. Russell E. Gundlach of Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, and the Rev. Eddie O'Neal of Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton, will each conduct part of the service.

The Service will consist of addresses based on the "Seven Words from the Cross," prayers, hymns and periods of silence. Each section of the service is approximately 20 minutes long, making possible for people to attend one or more sections during the three-hours.

Everyone is invited to share in this service, which commemorates the three hours that Christ hung upon the Cross on this sacred day.

Lasell Alumnae To Convene On College Campus

The annual convention of Lasell Junior College Alumnae Council, held on the campus today and tomorrow (April 1 and 2), is expected to attract 125 members.

Mrs. Clyde Fasick of Athens, Ge., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hughes, 102 Cabot street, Newton, will have come the greatest distance.

Mrs. Raymond Garon, 31 Wesley street, Newton, will preside at Saturday's meeting. She is the council's outgoing president.

Mrs. Richard A. Crosby, 170 Harvard street, Newtonville, has been elected treasurer of Lasell Alumnae, Inc., and Mrs. R. Alan Chesbro, 110 Carver road, Newton Highlands, was elected chairman of the Scholarship Committee. Among directors named are Mrs. Denton G. Nutter, 1094 Centre street, Newton Centre; Mrs. Wilder N. Smith, 110 Woodland road, Auburndale, and Mrs. Raymond Garon.

and honestly worded question on the ballot giving the voters a choice between a limited sales tax and an increase in the State income tax which the labor leaders have advocated.

No one could have any legitimate objection to such a move.

Maybe the people would prefer a hike in the State income tax although polls which have been made indicate otherwise.

It would be fair to give them an opportunity to express their preference in the privacy of their polling places.

The glaring weakness in the position of the labor officials spearheading the campaign for the repeal of the sales tax is that they are among the loudest advocates of increased spending by the State and its cities and towns.

They say they want better education for the children of Massachusetts. They support programs which would cost many millions of dollars. They agree that real estate tax rates cannot be allowed to continue to climb.

So how and where do we get the money to do the things they assert should be done?

There are two ways the necessary new tax revenue can be obtained. One is through a limited sales tax. The other is by a big boost in the State income tax.

There is no argument on that point. Democratic leaders, Republican leaders, labor leaders, business leaders, and civic leaders are agreed that is so.

When the so-called Democratic tax program, which was based principally on a substantial increase in the State income tax was proposed, the labor leaders supported it. At least they give lip service to it.

But the members of the Legislature found that the people in their districts, including the rank and file members of organized labor, were strongly opposed to a jump in the income tax.

If they had to choose between a limited sales tax and a higher State income tax, they preferred a sales tax.

That was basically the choice then, and it's the choice today unless real estate tax rates are to continue skyrocketing.

So strong was the public objection to a sharp increase in the State income tax that only a handful of members in the overwhelmingly Democratic House of Representatives voted for the tax plan which the labor leaders endorsed.

The legislators who voted for the limited sales tax obviously didn't do so because they wanted to commit political suicide. They did it because they were convinced the people they represented preferred it to a big jump in the income tax.

You might ask why there should be any objection to placing a question on the repeal of the sales tax on the ballot—if the people really want the tax.

Realistically, of course, the people don't want any taxes, and it would be wonderful if we didn't have to pay any. Unfortunately, the services and programs the public needs, wants and demands cost a lot of money.

If a question on the ballot is so worded as to create the impression that the choice is between a sales tax and no tax at all, most people obviously are going to vote to kill the sales tax.

They'll learn later that their votes were interpreted to mean that they preferred an increase in the State income tax.

One question on the sales tax already is scheduled to appear on the ballot next November.

In effect, it asks the voters if they approve of the action of the Legislature in enacting the sales tax.

In a sense, that is not a fair question. It also should give the voters an opoprtunity to record a preference between the two tax proposals.

However, the vote on that question will not be binding on the legislators, although there may be some doubt that the Legislature will continue the sales tax beyond next year if the people should record themselves heavily against it.

The fundamental objection to the action of the labor officials in seeking signatures to place a sales tax repeal referendum on the ballot is that they are trying to hoodwink the public.

They create the impression that no new tax is needed, and they know that is not the fact.

They don't make it plain to the people that if the sales tax were repealed, something else would have to be substituted for it, and that something else would be a big boost in the State income tax.

Salvatore Camelio, president of the State Labor Council, is just indulging in double-talk when he says: "We believe that the question as to whether or not the sales tax is good or bad for the people should be answered by the people themselves."

The fact also is that the sales tax will have been in effect only seven months when next November's election is held. That is not a sufficiently long period to give it a fair trial, and its benefits will not be fully apparent by then.

Supporters of the sales tax may counter by obtaining signatures to place on the ballot a question asking the voters to choose betwen a limited sales tax and an income tax increase which would raise the same amount of money.

Margaret Heckler Urged To Run Against Martin

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is being strongly urged by Republicans in her district to oppose veteran Congresman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., who will be 82 years old in November.

Martin, who is in feeble health and had a poor attendance record on the rollcalls in Congress last year, has indicated that he intends to seek another term.

Councillor Heckler has expressed a reluctance to run against Martin because of her fondness for him. However, she has not yet given a final answer to those seeking to persuade her to stand against Martin.

Ricciardi To Oppose Cong. Thos. O'Neill

Former State Public Works Commissioner Jack P. Ricciardi is planing to oppose Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge in the September primary.

Ricciardi is undertaking a rugged fight because O'Neill is one of the most popular and hard-working Congressmen in Massachusetts and is a member of the powerful House Rules Committee.

Ricciardi was appointed State Public Works Commissioner in 1960 by ex-Governor Foster Furcolo. He held the post during the two years of Governor Volpe's first term and then was legislated out of his job when ex-Governor Endicott Peabody won approval of a bill reorganizing the Public Works Department.

An unusual aspect to the campaign Ricciardi is planning is that he doesn't live in O'Neill's district. He resides in Wellesley which is in Congressman Martin's district.

Under the Constitution a candidate for Congress is not required to live in the district in which he seeks election.

In fact, the late James M. Curley in 1942 and 1944 won election to Congress in basically this same district when he lived in another area. But there was only one James M. Curley.

This is essentially the same district in which the late John F. Kennedy made his political start in 1946 when he gained election to Congress to succeed Curley on Washington's Capitol Hill.

O'Neill succeeded JFK in 1952 when the latter moved up to run for the U.S. Senate.

Since then the district has been enlarged and now includes Brookline, but it also takes in many of the same sections it did back in the 1940's.

Liquor Price-Fixing Issue on Beacon Hill

The perennial battle over liquor price-fixing is being waged on Beacon Hill. Its outcome can be forecast with a high degree of safety.

Those package store operators who want to maintain high prices on liquor will win, and the public will lose.

The same old lame excuse is offered that the establishment of minimum liquor prices is necessary in order to prevent price wars among package store owners.

What this means is that competition between package stores on a price basis is unlawful.

A hearing on the establishment of minimum liquor prices for the two-months period beginning May 1 has been scheduled by the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission for April 5.

After the minimum liquor prices have been fixed, some package store operators will go on selling liquor at lower prices to their regular customers, and the ABC Commission will spend public funds for the employment of inspectors trying to catch them in the act of doing so.

In short, that State agency will spend your money in attempt to make sure that you don't get bargain prices when purchasing liquor.

This is how ridiculous we do things in Massachusetts in the name of fair trade practices, but the package store lobby at the State House is probably strong enough to keep on doing it.

Exactly what guideline the ABC uses to establish the minimum liquor prices is still a puzzle to this writer even though we have read the testimony given at some past hearings.

That agency apparently fixes minimum retail prices without knowing the wholesale prices at which liquor will be sold to the package stores, during the two-months period in which the retail prices will prevail.

This seems to be a strange way of doing things.

Viet Demonstrations Communist-Promoted

The evidence points pretty strongly to the conclusion that the recent demonstrations against United States policies in Vietnam have been inspired and planned behind the scenes by Communists.

It obviously is more than a coincidence that these demonstrations were held simultaneously in a number of cities throughout the nation, and federal officials have been able to link Communist ties to some of the demonstrations.

Most of the people taking part in the marches and demonstrations are sincere in their desire to protest against the war in Vietnam. It is becoming increasingly evident, however, that they are being used as pawns even though they don't realize it.

Lee Loumos Says:

I was reading in Retailing Daily recently that what America needs is personal portable TV sets in six packs. This may not be as far-fetched as it sounds. Portable TV's have become so inexpensive now that you can purchase six for what one used to cost. I have always felt that someone should design a TV Set that could show the three network channels at one time — I'm sure it could be done — but it would probably be less expensive to purchase three separate small ones. Thus you could monitor all three channels at once and not wonder what you're missing. So three for the adults and three for the children and there you have TV in six packs like beer.

And remember, this is the last day before the sales tax goes into effect, so think of all the extra tax money you will save by getting your six pack today! Shall I expect to see you tonight?

"They Found the Stone Rolled Away"

ON the grim heights of Golgotha was enacted the most appalling tragedy of which history preserves any record. To the followers of the Victim it was at the time a bitter and seemingly irreparable extinguishment of their high earthly hopes and confident heavenly expectations, and they precipitously deserted their beloved Master. But to Jesus, His course, as He sooner or later foresaw, inevitably led to the cross. It fulfilled his earthly mission and was the outcome of His deepest mind and consecrated life. As it has been aptly put, "It was His love of men and women and His faith in God that took him there." The meaning of that terrible cry at the last hour, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" has ever been the subject of controversy among men in the centuries which have since elapsed. The cross, however, was not the end.

Came the deep and dynamic mystery of the resurrection. Whatever interpretation has been put upon it by theologians, Bible scholars and historical critics, the all significant fact remains that an event occurred which transformed the disciples of the Master in an amazing way. A few weeks after they fled the cross a disheartened and timorous group, they were prepared to joyfully undergo torture and imprisonment and cheerfully welcome death. The all important fact also remains that the power of the resurrection worked such a spiritual leaven in the minds and hearts of men that life on earth was revolutionized in an incredible manner and to an unbelievable extent, and the leaven still retains its pristine vitality.

The Easter Story confirmed and clarified for countless people in all parts of the world the belief in immortality. With that precious legacy of faith, however, I am not here directly concerned. Rather it is my purpose in what follows to cursorily indicate something specific of the way in which that morning transformed the character and daily lives of men.

They found the stone rolled away. He rolled away from life the ponderous stone of futility so that individual existence, so circumscribed in scope, so burdened with ceaseless toil and the sorry scheme of things, was forever assigned its rightful place within the limitless vista and unimaginable circle of eternity. He rolled away from life the stone of bitterness until we see "the sufferings of the present time" against the perspective of the "glory which shall be revealed."

The story of the resurrection is that of God saying an eternal No to every crucifixion in life in the immortal Gospel narrative of Him who foretold the event as He came down from the mountain, charging them, saying, "Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of Man be risen from the dead." God saying No to every form of evil —to man's inhumanity to man, to the exploitation of the weak by the strong even to the devouring of widows' houses. And widening the scope of the word saying No to the self-centered life of him whose time and energies are consumed in laying up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God, and to the idle and unproductive life of him who goes and digs in the earth and hides the talents for creative living with which God has entrusted him.

And, not to be overlooked, likewise saying No to the remorseless crucifixion of God's pathetically helpless children of the subhuman kingdom by man who, in his superior intelligence and power, possesses uncurbed dominion over them.

At this Easter Time, let us try to recapture the vision of the stone rolled away, the empty sepulchre and the encounter on the road to Emmaus, and meditate on their meaning to us in our individual lives. And let us strive to emulate the example of those spiritual masters of life, among the first of whom was Paul, in "rethinking" as it has been put "everything in terms of the resurrection," and to hearken to the imperative mandate of God's eternal No. Thus will our hearts be thrilled by a great and joyous hope and animated by a new and dynamic faith. Thus will we become "heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ," and thereby will the "new heavens and new earth" be made manifest.

Walsh at 91 East Quinobequin Rd., which was entered by breaking the glass in the rear kitchen door in order to unlock the door.

The homes of Harold Sussman at 1569 Commonwealth Ave., West Newton, and John M. Ayvazian at 10 Mignon Rd., West Newton, both were ransacked. A safe was pulled out of a closet in a bedroom at the Ayvazian dwelling.

An unsuccesful attempt was made to loot the safe at the National Lumber Co. in Newton Highlands. The handles and tumbers of the safe were broken by the intruders who climbed a 20-foot pile of lumber and broke a lavatory window to get into the office.

Two fire extinguishers were stolen from a truck owned by Richard White & Sons while the vehicle was parked in Newton Center.

Two tires were stolen from the garage at the home of Hyman Isenberg, 119 Rosalie Rd. Newton Centre.

Francis J. Barry, manager of the Garden City Beverage Co., 172 California St., reported to police that $410 in cash was stolen from the store last Friday.

In other crime news, a rash of stolen cars and malicious damage to motor vehicles was reported to Newton police over the weekend.

Frederick L. Pratt, Pine St., Dover, reported his 1953 car was stolen from a Washington St., Newton, garage where it had been stored and up on blocks.

A 1965 car, valued at $3800, was reported stolen Saturday from the Grove St. section by Ronald Weiner of Babson College, Wellesley. The vehicle, which bore New Jersey registration plates, was recovered Sunday at Woodward St. and Plymouth Rd., Newton Highlands.

Patrolman Albert R. Flanagan investigated a complaint of William Roberts, 279 Grove St., Newton Lower Falls, that his car was stolen from the rear of his home.

A 1962 sedan, owned by Goldie Kaswell, 65 Garden Cir., Waltham, was reported stolen from Boylston St., Chestnut Hill, Sunday. It was later recovered at Cedric Rd. and Rowena Rd., Newton Centre.

William O'Halloran, 377 Walnut Street, Newtonville, reported his car was stolen from the parking lot of the Brae Burn Country Club.

Catherine A. Getman, 157 Charlesbank Rd., Newton, said while she was at work for a Watertown St., Newton store, her 1960 car, valued at $600 was stolen. She said the vehicle contained $30 worth of groceries and $200 worth of mechanics tools.

Mrs. Fred Korin, 25 Woodcliffe Rd., Newton Highlands, reported to police that the roof of her car was slashed while it was parked in the driveway. Damage was set at $150.

Margaret Steinman, 11 Doris Cir., Newton, reported that the window on the driver's side of her car was broken while it was parked on Temple St., West Newton. While investigating the report, police found several other cars in the neighborhood with similar damage.

The same damage was done to the car of Harriet Adelman, 154 Evelyn Rd., Waban, while Henry Wise, Jr., of 22 Caroline Pk., Wabana, told police that windows in his car were broken by BB pellets while it was parked on Highland St., Newtonville.

3d Generation Grossman At Head Of Firm

Nissie Grossman of 9 Baldpate Hill rd., Newton Centre, has been elected to the presidency of Grossman's Lumber building materials company, succeeding his uncle, Sidney W. Grossman of 84 Bigelow rd., West Newton.

Sidney Grossman, who was president for 17 years, will serve as vice chairman of the board of directors of the 70-year-old firm.

The new president is the grandson of the late Louis Grossman, who founded the company which, during Sidney Grossman's regime, increased its chain of stores from 16 to 50. Nissie Grossman is the elder son of Reuben A. Grossman, who was the firm's second president and is now chairman of its board of directors.

A director of the Newton Taxpayers Association, Nissie Grossman is treasurer of the United Synagogue of America, New England Region, and a past president of Temple Emanuel, Newton. His family includes, besides his wife and a daughter, Eve, who is a student at Boston University, two sons, Thomas and James Grossman, fourth generation Grossmans who are now in the firm.

Robert A. Edwards, 77 Davis Ave., West Newton was named as a member of the faculty committee for Wentworth Institute's annual open house.

Women Voters Sponsor Radio Program Series

The Newton League of Women Voters announces that a series of radio programs on "Life on Mainland China" will be heard over WGBH-FM (89.7 m.c.) on March 31 and April 1 at 3 p.m. These programs were recorded at the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts 44th School of International Relations held at M.I.T.

Sepakers on the programs include: John K. Fairbank, of Harvard's East Asian Research Center; Ezra Vogel, research associate at the Harvard East Asian Research Center; Harold Isaacs, professor of political science at M.I.T.; Felix Greene, journalist, and Roger Hilsman, former member of the U. S. State Department who presently teaches at Columbia University.

Smorgasbord By Church Women Of Newtonville

An International Smorgasbord will be held prior to the April program meeting of Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newtonville Methodist Church on Wednesday, April 6.

The smorgasbord, which will feature foods of five continents, will begin at 6:30 p.m. with Circle 4, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Justin P. Gleason and Mrs. Charles D. Scott, making arrangements. Some of the members of the Society will come in native costumes of other lands.

Mrs. Janis A. Kalnajs, secretary of Missionary Education and Service and April program chairman, announces that following the smorgasbord supper there will be a talk about Korea by Miss Dai Sil Kim, a graduate student in church history at Boston University School of Theology.

Highlands Club Meets All Day On April Six

The Wednesday, Apr. 6, meeting of the American Home Committee of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will be an all-day affair in the Columbus St. workshop, with a business session at 10:45 a. m., followed by a talk on "The Romance of Silver" by a Boston jeweler, who will also display a number of silver patterns.

The afternoon program will have "Personalize Your Kitchen and Dramatize Your Meals" as its theme. There will be prizes, recipes and souvenirs provided by the gas company.

A festive table, arranged by the jeweler in the morning, will hold dessert and coffee, served by the committee.

Members are asked to bring a box lunch, and Mrs. Albert S. Genaske, social chairman, urges all to make reservations early.

Hosp. Chaplain Central Church Women's Speaker

The Women's Association of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will meet Wednesday, April 6.

A group headed by Mrs. C. W. Taylor will work on surgical dressings at 10 in the morning. Luncheon will be served at 12:30, and at 1:30 Miss Edith Rideout, the president, will call the afternoon meeting to order.

Mrs. Franklin Field will introduce the speaker, who also will lead the devotions. He is the Rev. James Kirk, chaplain of Newton - Wellesley Hospital and a PhD. student at Boston University majoring in Psychology and Pastoral Counseling.

Chairmen of the meeting are Miss Helen Starbird, Miss Marie Sladen and Mrs. Chandler Butler.

Waban Woman's Club

The regular meeting of Waban Woman's Club will be held in the Neighborhood Club Monday afternoon, Apr. 4, at 2 o'clock. The program will be "The Delight of Arranging Flowers" by Evelyn Cronin.

CATALOGUE COMMITTEE — Catalogue committee members, left to right, Mrs. Bertram Petkun and Mrs. Albert Holzwasser, both of Newton, and Mrs. Marc Friedlaendor, discuss Art Gala to be held April 30-May 3, by Boston Section, National Council of Jewish Women.

International Art Gala Is New Concept In Fund Drive

Newton women are playing prominent roles as the Boston Section, National Council of Jewish Women, presents a new concept in fund raising with the opening of an International Art Gala on April 30 at the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Brookline. There will be an exhibition sale open to the public on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, April 30, May 1 and May 2, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Nathaniel Sharf is chairman of the event and Mrs. Henry Pollack is co-chairman. A formal champagne dinner for benefactors opens the Gala on Saturday, with a cocktail supper party for patrons the following night.

Arrangements for the Benefactors' Dinner and Patrons' Supper are being made by Mrs. Ryna Shapiro and Mrs. Milton Green. For reservations contact Mrs. Irving Fireman, 37 Independence Drive, Chestnut Hill.

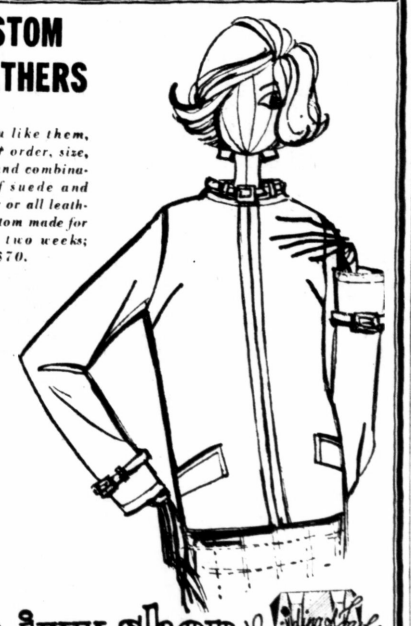

The committee has obtained works of art from many countries through several outstanding galleries. Art from the mid-19th century to contemporary times is represented by oil paintings, water colors, original graphic and sculpture.

An exciting feature is the Young Collector's Corner for those who appreciate good art but cannot afford a master. The famous Harry Winston Jewel Collection will be on display. The art will be for sale, the jewels just for viewing.

Proceeds from the sale will help support local Council services and National Council's educational projects in Israel.

Simmons Club Plans Supper For May First

At a recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. Samuel Stonberg, the board of the Newton Simmons Club formulated plans for an International Buffet Supper as its annual fund raising affair. Each year the Newton Simmons Club raises money for a scholarship which is given to a deserving Newton student who is entering Simmons College.

Mrs. Chappy Arnold accepted the general chairmanship of this affair. Mrs. Sidney Gorfinkle, hospitality chairman, and her committee are planning the Buffet Supper Internationale. Mrs. Myron Weiss is in charge of decorations, and Mrs. Charles Garfinkle, program chairman, has arranged to have George Roberts, husband of past-Newton Simmons Club President Selma Roberts, provide the entertainment for which there will be many interesting and valuable prizes.

The International Buffet Supper will be held on Sunday, May 1, at the Newton Highlands Women's Club on Columbus St. There will be an opportunity for old friends to renew acquaintances as well as to make new ones during the Sherry Hour preceding the supper.

All Simmons alumni are welcome. For further information, phone Mrs. William Hadley a 244-7084. Shte is chairman of reservations.

Three Books By Wagenecht Are Just Published

Three books by Boston University Professor Edward Wagenecht, 233 Otis St., West Newton, all published during the past month, are: "Henry Wadsworth Longfellow; Portrait of an American Humanist," "The Man Charles Dickens" and "Nine Before Fotheringhay; A Novel About Mary Queen of Scots."

In addition, Prof. Wagenecht has just delivered to the University of Oklahoma Press for fall publication a manuscript entitled "Merely Players," which contains studies of eight great actors, David Garrick, Edmund Kean, William Charles Macready, Edwin Forrest, Edwin Booth, Sir Henry Irving, Joseph Jefferson and Richard Mansfield. This will be a kind of companion to his "Seven Daughters of the Theater," published in 1964.

He is now at work on a book on John Greenleaf Whittier in the series on American writers which he is doing for Oxford University Press.

"The Man Dickens" (University of Oklahoma Press), is a complete rewrite of a book originally published by Houghton Mifflin in 1929. The revision takes advantage of the enormous amount of work that has been done in Dickens studies since the earlier publication.

The Longfellow book is a revised version of "Longfellow; a Full-Length Portrait," published by Longmans Green in 1955.

"Nine Before the Fotheringhay" was published in London under the pseudonym "Julian Forrest." An American edition may appear later.

Former Resident, Miss Morrison Plans To Wed

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Morrison of Greeley, Colorado, formerly of Newton, which makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Jaffin Morrison, to Norman P. Rajotte. He is the son of Mrs. Antoinette Rajotte of Bristol, Ct.

Miss Morrison attended Wellesley College and was graduated from Rhode Island School of Design, where she did senior honors work in Rhome, Italy, in 1965. She is presently a designer of children's books at Random House in New York.

Mr. Rajotte attended the University of Colorado and was graduated from the Rhode Island School of Design, where he completed the Italian honors program, in 1963. He is an architect for the Andrew C. Rossetti firm in Bristol, Ct.

An April 126 wedding is planned.

Mother's Rest Club

Fashion Show April 4th By Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will sponsor a spring fashion show, featuring club members as models, at the meeting on April 4.

A short business meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the All-Purpose Room of the Emerson School, High and Pettee streets, followed by the fashion show at 8:15 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Hostess for tthe meeting is Mrs. Daniel MacKinnon, assisted by Mrs. Harold Wenger and Mrs. Alfred P. Filosa as pourers.

Tickets for the fashion show may be obttained by calling Mrs. Thomas Lane at LA 7-5816.

Crittenton Show This Afternoon

The Florence Crittenton League's annual fashion show brunch will be held this (Thursday) afternoon in the Imperial Ballroom of Boston's Statler-Hilton.

The show, which opens with a social hour at 12:30 will feature the Jordan Marsh international collection, plus American designs, with Edna Somers, Jordan's fashion director, commentating.

Newton Circle ticket chairman is Mrs. Leon Tuck, 235-2598.

Auburndale Church Women Assist Center In Roxbury

A group of women of the Auburndale Congregational Church, including Mrs. Richard French, Mrs. V. Stoddard Bigelow, Mrs. Edgar Holmes, Mrs. Paul Chandler, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, Mrs. Ralph Keyes, Mrs. Lyle Beal, Mrs. Guernsey Camp, Mrs. Richard Kenney, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Mrs. Ralph Weston, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Mrs. William Rauha, and Mrs. Alton Lamont, presented to the Blue Hill Christian Center of Roxbury on March 25th a 16mm sound film projector Bell and Howell.

It began a month ago when several of these women visited Blue Hill Center, and wanting to help were advised by the director, the Rev. Mr. Virgil Wood, the great need for a sound projector which could be used at both the Center and the new Opportunity Industrial Center for training of job skills.

Members of the church were invited to a dessert at the church. The concern of these women was presented to those present; talks concerning the Center were given by Peggy Griffin, program director, and by Ann Brookshire, Andover Newton student working with young people. After their explanation of work being done, the projector was given to them as an act of faith. It yet had to be paid for.

An appeal was made to those present and before everyone went home, over $600 was given, more than enough to pay for the projector, the additional money being given to the Center to help them meet a budget crisis before the end of their fiscal year.

More than the projector members of the church became enthused with the Blue Hill Christian Center and the church and the Center will be in conversation to discover more ways in which person to person help may be achieved.

The group of women responsible for this project have been studying theology and social ethics together now for five years but recently have disbanded to each seek ways in which what they now know may benefit others.

The sound film projector will be used at the Blue Hill Center for children, youth, and training films for job skills.

Honors Given Local Boston University Men

Boston University faculty and staff members who reached career milestones this year were honored at a recent annual service award dinner, at which President Harold C. Case presented a B. U. chair and letter of appreciation to 17 individuals.

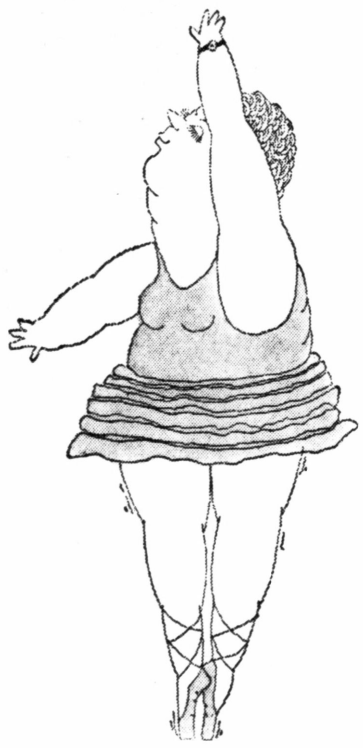

Among them were these Newton residents: Prof. Camillo P. Marlino of 96 Claremont street, Newton, and Joseph H. MacDonald of 191 Allerton road, Newton Highlands.

Marlino, a professor of Romance Languages, is retiring after 25 years of service. MacDonald, a carpenter for the University, is retiring after 24 years.

Observing their 10th anniversary of employment were Prof. I. Alden Macchi of 52 Roundwood road, Newton Upar Falls; Prof. Robert Liberman of 18 Van Roosen road, Newton Centre; Prof. Robert L. Treese, 14 Parker avenue, Newton Centre; Henry L. Fremiere Jr., 260 Cabot street, Newtonville; Prof. Edward C. Booth, 31 Pilgrim road, Waban, and Prof. George H. Faxon, 145 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill.

Ballet dancers love Bulova... It keeps them on their toes!

... and on time too. Ballet dancers can't be late for the curtain call. For that matter, you can't afford to be late either.
That's why it's time you learned about Bulova excellence. Our Watch Experts will tell you it takes nine months and more than 3500 separate operations and inspections to make a Bulova. 30 different teams of experts work on every watch. 1500 craftsmen spend a total of five full working days just checking it. Each tiny part (and there are more than 100 in every watch) is inspected, checked and re-checked more than 800 times. This isn't the cheapest way to make a watch. But, it's the best.
So, be on your toes — and on time. Select a Bulova.
See our extensive Bulova Collection of fine watches.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE
If you are troubled with infectious dandruff, yours is a complaint that dates back to the early Egyptians. The causes are many . . . fatigue, emotional stress, climate, diet, oily hair and lack of sensible hair care are some of the prime contributors to this condition.
Washing your hair twice weekly with medicated shampoo and finishing off with an anti-dandruff rinse is a good start toward controlling dandruff. Inasmuch as foods high in fat content can stimulate overactive oil glands, it is a good idea to bring diet into the campaign against dandruff.
Speaking of good ideas . . . how about treating yourself to a dazzling new hair style. Our stylists have the knack of creating the perfect hairdo, expressly for you. Come with confidence to MR. GEORGE'S HAIR STYLISTS . . . 39A Lincoln Street . . . Phone: 527-5185 . . . All phases of beauty service.
THIS WEEK'S HELPFUL HINT: As a further check on dandruff, wash your combs and brushes often, adding ammonia to the rinse water.

BE HOST TO A FOREIGN STUDENT
Want an interesting and enjoyable experience? Have a foreign student in your home. You can choose a young lady or gentleman who you will find congenial and appreciative.
They come from Latin-American and European countries, are fully vouched for, and have excellent references.
Some of these young people need accommodations while taking summer courses, however, most of them will register for the 1966-67 school year beginning in September.
If you have space in your home — possibly as a result of your own youngsters going off to college or the armed forces — fill it with one of these earnest respectful visitors. They will, of course, pay reasonable compensation for room, any meals, laundry, etc. For information call 267-1426 between 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Senior "Workday" Set For Saturday April 2

Seniors at Newton High School are anticipating a busy day on Saturday, April 2nd when the "Senior Class Workday" is held. Proceeds will go to the Senior Class Scholarship Fund.

Features of the "Day" will be a car wash to be operated at the high school and a Bake Sale to take place at the Newtonville Star Market.

The seniors are ready and willing to take on any and all odd jobs; work around the house, the lawn, garage, cellar, etc. They have announced their willingness to give a good return on any money contributed to the event.

Local residents who do not have any chores to be done are asked to consider donating some succulent items to the bake sale.

Fran Deats is chairman of the workday committee, Ellen Berman is co-chairman. Those who wish to contact youngsters for odd jobs or to contribute to the sale are asked to phone either, 527-3539 or 527-4284.

International Institute Ball Sat., Apr. 16

Now that crocuses have pushed their brave heads out of the soil along Commonwealth Ave., the International Institute of Boston wishes to remind Greater Boston, including the Newtons, that its annual ball is to be held Saturday evening, Apr. 16, in the New Sheraton-Boston, Prudential Center.

This year the ball, up to this time known as the Mardi Gras Ball, will make a special feature of its grand march, always a dramatic spectacle, to be heightened by the massing of the various ethnic groups at intervals, identified by banners with the names of their countries.

Members of the ball committee include Mrs. Adolph Namaksy, Mrs. Thersa Naum and Mrs. Hans Plendl, all of Newton and members of the institute's advisory committee. Other Newton members are Mrs. Ama Lamp, the Misses Franciska Plendl and Afsa Shirazi, Emery Parkas, president of the Hungarian Society of Boston, and Mrs. Katherine Cowin, a member of the institute's board of directors.

It is recommended that reservations be made early. Tickets may be obtained by mail order or in person at the institute, 287 Commonwealth Ave., Boston. Telephone KEnmore 8-1081.

participated in the D-Day Normandy landings.

Twice a candidate for the House of Representatives from the 4th Middlesex District, his campaign activity did much to rejuvenate the Democratic party in Newton.

Following the campaigns, he actively led a resurgence of Democratic strength. He served as chairman of the Newton Democratic City Committee for four years, and was a founder of COD.

He was a member of the Boston, Massachusetts and American Bar Associations, and was active in the Catholic International Cause of Greater Boston, the Fair Housing and Human Rights Committee of Newton and the Newton Community Peace Center.

He was also a member of the board of governors of the Massachusetts Committee for the Abolition of the Death Penalty.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Jacqueline (Lamache) Cooke, and a daughter, Michelle.

Burial will be in Newton Cemetery. The funeral will be held from Mackay Funeral Home on Centre street, Newton Corner.

Symphony Quartet Will Be Featured At Woman's Club

The "Mornings of Diversion" program at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse on Thursday, April 7, will feature the Cambridge Symphony Quartet.

Mrs. Harold R. Keller and her committee will present, in addition to the quartet, the well-known accompanist, Reginald Boardman, of Boston.

Mrs. William H. Brine and Mrs. John D. Fox will be in charge of the registration desk. Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck and Mrs. Orville W. Forte will check subscribers' tickets at the door.

Hostesses in the foyer will be, Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. Albert E. Burgess and Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson. Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, co-chairman with Mrs. Keller, will serve as head usher.

Other committee members include, Mrs. Henry S. Adams, Mrs. Elmer C. Bartels, Mrs. William P. Beetham, Mrs. Joshua B. Clark, Mrs. P. Edward Eden and Mrs. Warren G. Reed.

Kindergarten Applicants To Register In April-May

Kindergarten registration for children entering the Newton schools will be held during the months of April and May.

The standard policy applicable to all children states that the child must be 4 years, 8 months of age by September 1 in order to enter kindergarten.

However, children as young as 4 years, 5 months by September 1 may be admitted to kindergarten if they pass a screening appraisal. Parents may obtain application blanks at their school for children to be examined for possible early admission.

Parents are requested to bring with them on the day of registration the child's birth certificate, verification of vaccination and records of all immunizations.

Dates and times for kindergarten registrations are as follows: Angier—May 3- 1:30-3:30; Beethoven—May 3, 1:30-3:30; Bowen—April 12 and 26, 1:30-3:30; Burr—April 26, 1:30 3:30; Cabot—April 12, 1:00-3:00; Carr—April 26 and May 3, 1:00-3:00; Claflin—May 10, 1:30-3:00; Countryside—April 26, 1:00-4:00; Davis—May 10, 1:00-3:00; Emerson—April 5, 1:00-3:00; and Franklin—April 5 and 12, 1:00-3:00.

Other schools are the Hamilton—April 14 and May 5, 1:30-3:00; Hyde—May 3 and 10, 1:30-3:00; Mason-Rice — May 3 and 4, 1:30-3:30; Memorial—May 2, 1:30-3:30; Murray Road—May 24, 1:30-3:30; Lincoln-Eliot—April 5, 1:30-3:30; Oak Hill—May 3, 1:30-3:30; Peirce — May 17, 1:00-3:00; Spaulding — April 12, 1:30-3:30; Underwood — May 10, 1:00-3:00; Ward — May 3, 1:30-3:30.

Earle Johnson To Be Speaker At Garden Club

Members and guests of the Auburndale Garden Club will hear Earle Johnson speak on "Flowers Make the Home" on Monday, April 4, at 1:30 p.m. Members of the club will assist Mr. Johnson by pre-arranging flowers to compliment the various rooms he will discuss. This program has been arranged by Mrs. Robert L. Athas, program chairman.

The meeting will be held at the Church of the Messiah, corner of Commonwealth av., and Auburn st., Auburndale, and will be preceded by a coffee hour arranged by Mrs. A. G. Asaff and her committee. Mrs. Robert Golledge will be in charge of the coffee table flowers.

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. F. Leslie Ford, president.

Dr. Welch Explains School Funds Act To Newton Board

Dr. Donald T. Welch, coordinator of elementary school education, brought the School Committee members up to date Monday night on summer plans for taking advantage of Title 1 of the Elementary and Secondary School Act of 1965, which offers funds to school districts for special programs designed to meet the needs of educationally deprived children in attendance areas with high concentrations of low-income families.

The government granted the city's application for funds under Title 1 last Jan. 31.

The program at present, Dr. Welch explained, is in effect at two schools, the Lincoln-Eliot and the Emerson, where 320 children are involved, including 29 from two parochial schools.

Work is under way, he said, on a program for from 20 to 25 9th grade pupils to help them in their effort to enter high school, and he added that it was expected that from 50 to 60 teaching personnel would be employed this summer.

Only a limited number of children can be provided with intensive help, Welch said.

The greater part of Monday night's meeting was devoted to a discussion of the elementary school science program, with Dr. J. Bernard Everett, division of instruction head; Elinor Johnson, elementary science supervisor, and Eugene Gray, science consultant, giving the members an idea of the work being done.

Outlining the progress of the teaching of science, Dr. Everett told the committee members that in 1946, when he came to the Newton school system, the only science program then in existence involved two or three "genteel ladies" of the Audubon Society who went from school to school with packages of stuffed animals.

In 1949, he continued, one of the most exciting developments in the science program was involvement in the conservation movement. He went no to describe work that was done in cooperation with the workshop at the B.U. Sargent College camp in Peterboro, N.H., a facility that became a "school away from school" by permitting field trips for Newton's science classes. Then, in 1955, a modernized science center was established here for the assembling of kits for science teachers and for use of living specimens, and in 1961 development of the present system's nucleus was begun.

"Now," Dr. Everett concluded, "we have a much better science program than we had in 1945, with more qualified teachers. However, the picture is still somewhat spotty."

Elinor Johnson said that "we believe science study prepares a child to make his own decisions, arouses intrinsic curiosity in a child because the teacher allows him to find his own answers to the questions he asks."

One of the problems in the program, she said, was the fact that many woman teachers lack an interest in teaching science, particularly in the feeding and care of reptiles.

Eugene Gray described his work with teachers in developing ways to try out a great variety of materials. Monday night's meeting of the committee was held in a room devoted to materials used in science teaching in the building of the division of instruction at 88 Chestnut street, West Newton.

The walls, shelves and tables in the room held a great variety of materials for use in science teaching, and many of the articles were invented and devised by Mr. Gray.

The consultant illustrated his remarks with a showing of colored slides. One of them depicted a growth of white pine at Peterboro, N.H., with a lush growth of saplings surrounding the adult trees. Children, he explained, are asked to describe what they see instead of having the teacher point out to them what there is.

What they saw here was a number of saplings that indicated tthat all seeds in a pine cone do not germinate, perhaps due to the density of the growth. It was possible for the teacher, he went on, to induce a great number of questions and to encourage the children to supply their own answers. With careful supervision it was then possible to show the relationship between a growth of trees choked by a too heavy concentration of seedlings and the problem of supplying sufficient food for the inhabitants of an over-populated area.

School

In his teaching and research, Dr. Pounds has concentrated on the quantitative methods of modern managerial analysis, on the problems of operations management, and on the theory of decision making.

He has played a leading role in the development of the operations management curriculum at the Sloan School and has earned distinction as an effective teacher.

During the past two years, Dr. Pounds has participated actively in the Sloan School's international programs. In the summer of 1964 he was a member of the faculty of the school's Advanced Management Program in India, and in 1965 he organized and conducted an operations management program in Colombia, South America.

CURTAIN GOING UP TONIGHT—The Auburndale Club's production of "'Send Me No Flowers" opens tonight, Thursday, March 31st for a three-night engagement. Three married couples, shown in photo, will play prominent parts in the show, Russ and Marnie McClure, left; John and Sue Miller, center, the leading roles; and Peter and Carol Felopolus, right. Mrs. Alice Morrison at HI 4-7697, is in charge of reservations.

into a community effort with laymen representing the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths praying together. This service was filmed for television.

Also attending were local and state political leaders including, State Senator Beryl Cohen, Representatives Irving Fishman, Joseph Bradley, Theodore Mann, Paul Malloy and Alderman Jason Sacks. The Rev. Harold R. Fray Jr., minister of the Eliot Church addressed the group.

The living room segment was filmed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rosoff. Mr. and Mrs. Joel Leighton, members of the Eliot Church, were participants in the dialogue which also discussed the situation in Vietnam.

The four cities, Newton in the East; Flint, Michigan; Hot Springs, Arkansas, and the far-flung Salem, Oregon, on the Pacific Coast, were chosen by NBC in an effort to present a concise coast-to-coast home-town viewpoint on the Vietnam war for the informative hour-long color special.

International Affairs

Sol Baker of Newton Highlands will head up the section on international affairs when New England Region, American Jewish Congress, holds its national biennial convention at Grossingers, New York, Apr. 27 through May 1.

Countryside PTA Plans "Pops Night" And Sale

Mrs. Geri Hackel, chairman of publicity for the Countryside School PTA, this week announced that plans are underway for the final general meeting of the organization to be held in May.

This will take the form of a "Pops Night" and will feature the Countryside orchestra. Also on the program will be a colorful potted plant sale. Date of the meeting and other events to be included on the program will be announced later.

Last night, Wednesday, March 30, the second general meeting was held under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. Justin Richmond, program chairman. It was a workshop meeting with experts in various fields as speakers.

Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent of the Newton Public Schools, in charge of pupil personnel services and special education, gave an outline of the purpose of the workshops and of each session.

The meeting included 12 separate sessions or workshops for group discussion.

Each workshop was headed by a resource leader chosen from the Division of Instruction and the Division of Pupil Personnel Services of the Newton public schools.

They were as follows: reading, Mrs. Anne White and Dr. Melvin Howards; mathematics, Donald Welch and Miss Alger; science, Miss Eleanor Johnson.

Creative arts, Miss Mary Baker; social studies, Harold Beattie; the use and interpretation of tests, Arthur M. Kroll; school adjustment problems, Mrs. Mary D. Barry; homework, Mrs. Evelyn F. Ramsdell; child and home environment, Miss Mary Jean Ogden and Miss Elinor Smith.

There was a moderator and recording secretary for each workshop chosen from the parents of Countryside School. Approximately 256 parents participated in the workshops. The group discussions were followed by refreshments served in the gymnasium.

It was announced that Countryside's PTA programs and fund raising activities have been focused on bringing parents and children together for school interest and unity.

A recent successful PTA event was a skating party under the direction of Mrs. George Volpe, fund raising chairman.

will include a Sherry Hour, greetings from Mrs. Joseph Burke, president of the Mater Dei Guild, and the awarding, by Mrs. Haskell C. Freedman, supervisor of volunteer services, of pins to 70 volunteers who have given one full year and five years of service to the Guild.

The Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, director of the Catholic Guild for All the Blind, will be present to express his appreciation of the work rendered each year through the Volunteer Program.

A concert by the Guild Choristers, under the direction of Anthony V. Cirella, will close the program.

The Guild has over 400 volunteers, 200 of whom read every week to blind students attending colleges in the Greater Boston area.

Any persons interested in this work may apply to the Volunteer Office of the Catholic Guild for all the Blind.

Newton Man To Get Tobacco Table Honors

Irving Wise, of Newton, will be inducted into the Boston Tobacco Table Hall of Fame at the Third Annual Hall of Fame Awards Dinner to be held on Monday, March 28th, at the 1200 Beacon Street Hotel in Brookline.

Mr. Wise, a pioneer in the tobacco industry, joined the sales staff of Philip Morris 32 years ago.

Murray Kirschbaum, of Brighton, and John A. Morrow, of Dover, also will be honored with Hall of Fame citations with Mr. Wise.

FOIL PLOT

Dutch police reported they foiled a plot to rob at least nine banks in The Netherlands by a gang whose men had been able to tamper with the doors of vaults during construction. Hinges were partly cut so they could be wrenched open quite easily, police said. The gang is still at large.

After two men were detained for loitering on a bank building site last summer, an examination of the vault as a result of police suspicion, showed the hinges were cut almost through. The cuts were cleverly filled with metal glue.

Investigators subsequently examined 200 vaults of new banks and banks under construction and found eight other instances of such sabotage.

Balanced Regimen Best

A balanced regimen of physical, intellectual and moral discipline is the formula for successful and productive living in a hurrying world beset by mounting problems, Dr. Paul Dudley White declared last week.

The famed Boston heart specialist spoke at a symposium on the campus of Dean Junior College in Franklin. He said the formula would "arm Americans in the struggle for existence. It would not only prolong and enrich each person's life, but also better serve the community in which they live," Dr. White said.

The formula he proposed called for a daily four-mile hike, a balanced diet on the side of frugality, participation in at least one community activity and the keeping of jottings of thoughts to be used as personal guideposts for reflection at leisure moments.

BEATLES GET RICHER

The Beatles are getting richer "yeah, yeah!"

Since stock in the Beatles company, Northern Songs, was first offered on the London Stock Exchange at $1.09 a share in February, 1965, it has recovered early losses, risen to a high of $2.52 early this year, and is now hovering between $1.96 and $2.10.

When the company went public and sold 1.25 million shares, many of London's business writers called the offering a shaky one. And for a time the financial writers appeared correct.

A few weeks after the first sales, shares dropped below the price at which they had been offered. But slowly Northern Songs rebounded.

The company has widened its interests by buying the U. S. rights to the songs of Nat King Cole and the entire American music catalogs of the Comet Music Corp. and the Sweco Music Corp.

Company directors forecast a pre-tax profit this year of at least $1,570,000.

A Northern Songs asset is the music written by Beatles John Lennon and Paul McCartney. They each have a 15 percent stake in the company worth about $1.68 million at current share value.

AIRLINE STRIKE

The International Association of Machinists has set an April 23 strike date for 34,000 mechanics and ground-crew members against five American airlines—Eastern, United, Trans-World, National and Northwest Airlines.

All five call the union demand, an estimated 15 percent benefit-pay package, "excessive." They say they won't be met.

Despite the deadline, no strike is near. The bargaining falls under the Railway Labor Act. That means if there is no settlement before deadline time the act's strike procedures will take hold. An emergency board will study the issues, taking at least 60 days.

Red China Displays Hatred

Red China isn't seriously iterested in improving its relations with the United States, Sec. of State Dean Rusk said at his first news conference in seven weeks.

The Chinese Communists continue to display "militancy, bitterness, hatred," Rusk said. He added. U. S. officials "have to deal with the situation as we find it. And we do not find at the present time a serious interest in Peking in improvement of relations."

The secretary said "a good deal of Communist China's isolation is self-imposed."

However, he voiced strong hope that the world's nuclear powers, Red China included, can move promptly toward a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear arms.

Rusk said the United States is considering recognizing Communist-ruled Outer Mongolia, a pro-Soviet state tucked between the Soviet Union and China. He declined to predict when the action might be taken.

He also said at the news conference that the United States is urging its allies to go slow in selling to Communist China materials that might add to China's "sinews of war." He referred to West European plans to sell a $150 million steel plant to Red China.

Operation Texas Ends

The fighting phase of Operation Texas came to an end Friday and United States forces in South Vietnam claimed 1236 Communists killed or wounded in five days of bottle in the central coastal plains.

Senior officers said the campaign by 6000 U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops in Quang Ngai Province, 330 miles north of Saigon, smashed an entire Viet Cong regiment, battered several more battalions and cleared out five villages in an area long dominated by the Communists.

Allied losses were described as light, although some small assault units took heavy punishment.

Professor Stands Firm

Yale Prof. Staughton Lynd declined to promise the State Department he will not revisit North Vietnam or go to other Communists countries where American travel is banned.

Lynd had a closed-department hearing to seek reinstatement of his passport. It was cancelled after he visited North Vietnam last December in defiance of the travel ban.

His counsel, Atty. David Carliner, said Lynd asked that his passport be restored so he could fulfill speaking engagements in England and Norway next month.

Carliner said Lynd promised he would not extend that tfip to forbidden countries, but that Lynd "reserved the right to decide whether to travel to them without a passport."

Art Nets $1,228,350

Forty-five pieces of modern art brought $1,228,350 at a New York auction last week and broke world auction records for works by five artists.

The works were sold at the opening of a two-day auction of the 20th century art collection of the late G. David Thompson, a self-described "Indiana horse trader" who built a fortune in steel and other investments.

The House approved a bill to give 30,000 non-professional state workers a 10 percent salary increase effective July 1.

A bill of Rep. Maurice A. Ronayne, (D-Canton), was referred to House ways and means. It would give the higher salary to employes who received a professional rating on appeals but have not yet received the pay hike.

John Bales, 19, of the South End, was shot and seriously wounded Friday after police said they saw him snatch the handbag of Mrs. Rose Limberis, 58.

Bales fled through a vacant lot. When he ignored orders to halt, Patrolman Thomas Connolly fired two warning shots and then a third, which struck Bales in the lower back.

Federal controls on imports of heavy fuel oils were removed Saturday, opening the East Coast to shipments. Sec. of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the action would "combat inflation by encouraging full and free competition in the market place."

Yoga Classes To Be Part Of "Y" Semester

Yoga is a surprise offering in the spring semester of classes for men and women to be held at the Y.M.C.A. in Newton. All classes will be starting the week of April 11, both in the morning and evening.

For the benefit of adults in this west suburban area, Mr. Shri T. E. Khanna, an instructor at Simmons College, will be teaching Yoga on Monday evenings at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Khanna, a graduate of Punjab University in Chandigarh, India, will be stressing the physical culture aspects of this ancient practice of disciplined exercises. Modern humanity is learning to increase its vitality and ease its tensions by participating in this type of exercise.

Mr. Khanna has taught at the Boston Adult Education Centre and at the Newton Public Adult Education Courses. His course at the YMCA in Newton will be eight gested that men wear slacks and tee shirts and women should wear shorts and blouses or leotards.

The usual assortment of classes for adults will be offered in the spring semester in such fields as art, dancing, contract bridge, investing and languages as well as an assortment of topics such as dressmaking, creative writing, auto driving, folk guitar, flower arranging and the ever popular Slim Jane class for the figure conscious women.

Further information as to exact starting day and time may be had by calling the Adult Division Office at BI 4-6050.

Full Line Of Shrubs Ready At Nurseries

Visitors to the New England Spring Flower Show who viewed the gold medal winning exhibit of the Oak Hill Nurseries, owned by Jay M. Berkson, have been calling the Nursery, on Route 1, Westwood, to inquire about the shrubs and trees that were part of the attractive Colonial Wall Garden exhibit.

The Nursery makes a specialty of stocking unusual shrubs and trees in addition to the more popular varieties.

"This kind of wide-spread interest in something a little different is certainly the main reason Oak Hill Nurseries are in business," according to Mr. Berkson. "After all," he continued, "we traveled to upper N.Y. state for lava-like porous rock for the walks, to Cape Cod for beach stone, to Long Island for the Japanese table pine (tanyosho pine), and Rhode Island for the colonial shalestone wall which we rebuilt stone-by-stone at the show."

Oak Hill Nurseries is in their second year of operation at a site on the east side of Route 1 (Providence Highway) just south of the junction of Routes 128 and 1. The Nurseries have acquired additional land which provides In addition to the shrubs that have wintered at the site, each day sees dozens of new trees and shrubs arrive at the Nurseries. Every incoming shrub is inspected by Jay Berkson to insure that it is high quality and disease-free. The Nurseries policy is to handle only Extra Quality Stock.

The nurseries will deliver and plant any shrub on the customer's premises for a nominal charge. Mr. Berkson, a leading landscape architect, will also prepare a complete landscape plan for your grounds at no charge if requested.

Car Production

Detroit—There were 65,000 automobiles manufactured in 1908. By 1940 that number could be produced by U.S. plants in five days or less.

Sentenced In Wife Slaying

Donald L. Webber, 32, of Jamaica Plain, was sentenced to four to eight years in Walpole State Prison Friday in the baseball bat slaying of his wife last Summer.

Superior Court Judge Lewis Goldberg permitted the roofer to plead guilty to the lesser charge of manslaughter at the outset of his trial for second degree murder.

Relatives of the slain woman, Frances Webber, 28, shouted their disapproval of this action in court.

Septuplets Born

The largest human multiple birth ever recorded—setuplets—was reported last Friday by Edith Cavell Clinic in Brussels, Belgium.

Clinic sources said five of the babies were born dead and two died soon afterward. They were premature.

The names of the couple were withheld but hospital authorities did say the woman had taken Swedish fertility pills.

AFL-CIO President George Meany underwent surgery of the right hip joint last week at the Harkness Pavillion in New York City. The surgery was designed to correct "arthrolplasty" — damage to the hip from arthritis from which the 71-year-old Meany has suffered for years.

A 1000-year-old murder was unearthed in West Yarmouth last week. Excavation in the yard of Edmund Purcell there revealed a skeleton which archeologists at Harvard said was that of an Indian woman shot in the back with a dart. They place the date at about 1000 AD.

Army Buys Margarine

In Hitler's Germany the cry once was "guns instead of butter."

In the United States Army and Air Force today it is margarine instead of the higher-priced spread.

The Defense Department droppd butter to save an estimated $6,480,000 a year. The Department found out what civilians have known in the last year: Butter prices have been going up. A sharp drop in milk production is the reason.

The Pentagon said it could purchase margarine for 16 cents a pound. The Department will reduce its purchases of butter from 1.8 million pounds a month to 800,000 pounds monthly. This means that the Army and Air Force will substitute one million pounds of margarine a month for butter.

The Navy will still use butter. The sailors will get the 800,000 pounds purchased by the Pentagon monthly because it is written into the Navy ration law adopted March 2, 1933.

Shoe Industry To Hold Line

The shoe industry has promised the Government a general hold-the-line policy on prices if export controls are maintained to keep down the price of hides, and hence leather.

The export controls, imposed earlier this month, have been bitterly criticized by cattlemen and hide interests and several members of Congress from cattle-producing states. At present, however, the Administration plans to stand firm.

There was no pledge that every price would remain unchanged, but a general policy of restraint was indicated.

"Black Position Paper"

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), one of the most powerful men in Congress, has issued a "black position paper" outlining Negroes' responsibilities today.

Powell said the paper represents "a summation of my life's philosophy." He worked long and hard on it, which is unusual by his own admissions.

Often sounding more like loquacious Cassius Clay than Booker T. Washington, the 57-year-old Negro Congressman assumes a position of statesmanship in his "paper."

"We must give our children a sense of pride in being black," Powell said in the first of 19 points in his paper. His 19 points call for local Negro leadership and for Negro leaders who can negotiate with the "white power structure," not beg for crumbs.

The Congressman, who spends less time in his home district than in Washington or Puerto Rico, also said that "absentee black leadership should be purged."

He said "black masses must produce and contribute to the economy of the countstrength of their population. We must be a race of producers, stockbrokers and industrialists—not consumers, stock boys and secretaries."

Demonstrations and all continuing protest activity must be non-violent," he said.

BODIES FOUND

Discovery of a broken pair of eyeglasses near an abandoned rural church in Russellville, Ky., has solved a three-months-old disappearance of a banker and his daughter.

The bodies of Edgar C. Harper, 81, and his daughter, Mrs. Eustice Givens, 49, were found covered with brush and boards in a wooded area near the old church cemetery. Cause of death was not determined immediately.

The glasses were found a week ago and search for the pair resumed after they were identified as Mrs. Givens', who disappeared with her father Dec. 11 from his home at Lewisburg, a town of 500 residents near the Tennessee border in southwest Kentucky.

The disappearance of Harper and his daughter baffled police and shocked the community. Mrs. Givens had been staying with her father regularly. Harper, president of the Lewisburg Banking Co. and owner of several oil wells, suffered heart and blood ailments.

The woman's husband told police he arrived at Harper's home on theh morning of Dec. 12 and found both missing. There were no signs of a struggle.

Harper's wallet was discovered along a road near Russellville Jan. 3, but a searching party failed to find any trace of the couple.

Eight Seminarians Expelled

Eight seminarians at St. John's Seminary in Brighton have been expelled for demonstrating in support of free speech. David Kuleisus of Maynard said he and seven other youths were expelled Friday as suspected leaders of a silent demonstration staged to protest what they considered a lack of academic personal freedom.

Some 125 seminarians participated in the demonstration three days earlier outside a library where Cardinal Cushing was meeting with a group of pastors.

Kuleisus said the seminarians were seeking a personal audience with the Prelate "because we are his obedient sons and we wanted to plead with him in a serious but peaceful way to address himself to our problem.

"We have been trying since September to have the Carinal speak to us," Kuleisus said. "Every attempt met with failure. Our only resource was this demonstration lasting a half-hour and meant to plead only for dialogue . . ."

Kuleisus said Cardinal Cushing agreed to meet with a delegation of seminarians and subsequently did. But, Kuleisus said, the Prelate refused to meet with the student body, vindicated present policy at the seminary, and threatened to call off ordination.

The eight seminarians expelled would have been ordained into the priesthood next year.

Kuleisus charged the Cardinal later met with seminary officials and they jointly decided to expel the youths suspected of instigating the demonstration.

Rt. Rev. Lawrence J. Riley, seminary rector, declined to comment on the expulsions. Cardinal Cushing, who was scheduled to address a New York Port Authority dinner, over the weekend was not available for comment.

"We have been in the seminary for six and seven years," Kuleisus said. "We have been taught again and again that there is freedom of speech in the Church.

"We have been taught that obedience is not servitude, but reasonable and co-operative service.

"Our expulsion," Kuleisus said, "has made us wonder whether these things are merely words meant to sound pleasantly in the ears of modern man or whether there is indeed in the Church a cherishing of freedom always and everywhere and for everyone."

Russia Leads In Planet Race

Edgar M. Cortright, a U.S. space official, said Monday that Russia may well capture the lead in planetary exploration "during the years immediately ahead."

Cortright, deputy assoc. adm. for space science and applications for NASA, said it remained to be seen which country will dominate exploration of Mars, Venus, and the rest of the solar system in future decades.

As far as the United States is concerned, Cortright said, "this coming year will be a crucial one for the decision makers."

He said that despite many failures, the Russians have a planetary flight program "several times the size of ours," and "there seems little doubt their luck will change."

NASA now spends less than one per cent of its annual budget on planetary exploration. Cortright said "this nation is ready and able to step up" work in this "exciting area of space."

But when such an expanded program will get a go-ahead is uncertain, he said, adding that the critical decisions must be made in the coming year.

REFUGEE IN 2-HOUR SIEGE

A young Cuban refugee was convinced by a Catholic priest in Providence, R.I., on Sunday to surrender his gun and two young girls he held hostage in a two-hour siege. Maximo S. Palacios, 26, held 50 policemen at bay, firing some 20 pistol shots. No one was injured.

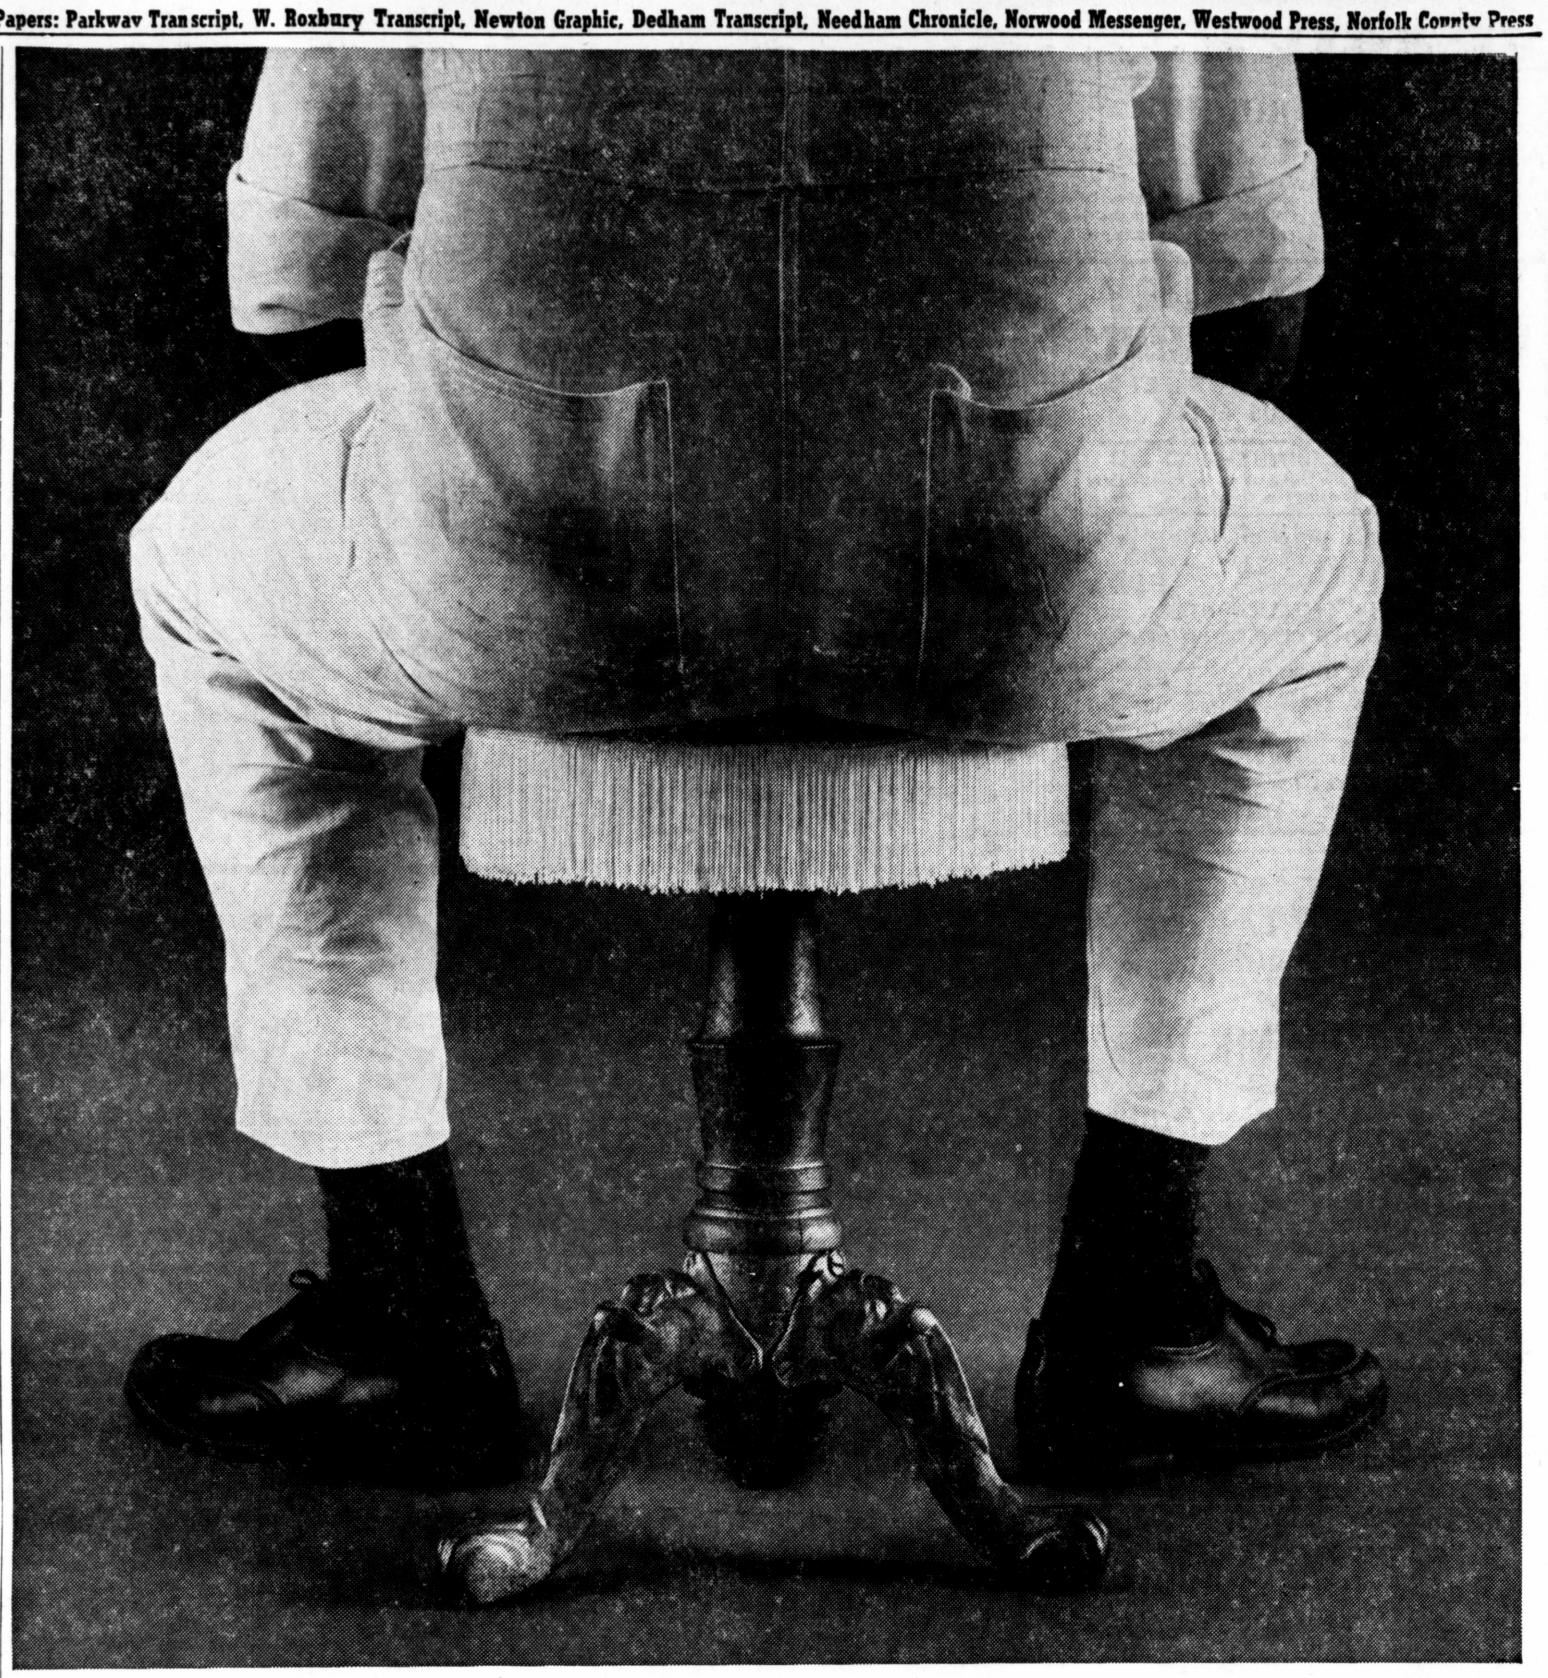

Rev. Joseph B. Coleman, Providence police chaplain, walked into a tear gas-filled apartment and brought out Janet Waters, 9, and Palacios' gun. Moments later Palacios came out carrying Cathy Waters, 7.

Police said Palacios broke into the second floor apartment of Mrs. Angelina Seals, 32, about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. Mrs. Seals told police he threatened to kill her and her two children. She slipped away about 9 a.m. and called police.

Malcolm E. Graff, director of the Massachusetts water resources division, says the state is "heading into a severe drought situation" again this summer in spite of recent above-normal rainfall in some sections.

He said the chances are slim that rainfall alone can restock the state's depleted reservoirs. He added he saw little likelihood that new sources of water will be found in the near future.

Who gets hurt when a mover dillydallies and lollygags?

You do.

You get hurt where it hurts most: in the pocketbook.

A moving man charges by the hour for a local move. So if he dillydallies a little here, and lollygags a little there, it's costing you money. The funny thing is, many movers don't deliberately waste time. They just don't know how to save it.

That's where training comes in.

We have the toughest training program in the moving business (over half the men who are hired by us can't survive the first year of training). We begin with men who enjoy working. Then we teach them how to work fast. We teach them all the time-saving know-how we've accumulated in our 75 years of business.

So when the Bekins man begins moving your possessions, notice how fast he works. Notice how carefully he works. Notice how quickly the move goes.

And notice one more thing.

How little pain there is in your pocketbook.

Roundup Of Major News Events Of Past Week

One-Man Raid

A 19-year-old marine from Sudbury staged a one-man raid on an enemy bunker in Vietnam, killing two North Vietnamese Army regular and capturing a 20MM cannon which had pinned down his entire company.

Pfc. Alvin S. LaPointe performed his heroic feat during a pitched three-hour battle, in Vinh Loc, a village outside Quang Ngal City, about 330 miles Northeast of Saigon.

While a buddy maintained covering fire, LaPointe crawled to within five feet of a bunker where two North Vietnamese soldiers had been firing a cannon.

To the astonishment of the watching marines he then dove into the bunker, landing on top of the cannon.

LaPointe said that one of the Red gunners froze, presumably in amazement, and LaPointe killed him with his bayonet.

The other Communist tried to run, but LaPointe brought him down with a hand grenade.

Sgt. Mack Ferrick of Sal Clemente, Cal., LaPointe's squad leader, said he was surprised when the Sudbury youth dove into the bunker. He added that the cannon would have taken many more casualties except for LaPointe's heroism.

The marines killed 150 Communists during the fighting, according to estimates, and South Vietnamese troops reported they killed another 67.

Scion Kidnapped in Florida

A massive hunt was underway Tuesday for a kidnapped Miami, Fla., youth as the ransom demand doubled to $50,000.

After hours of waiting for a telephone call from the kidnapper, four police officers sped away from 18-year-old Daniel Goldman's home Tuesday morning carrying a bulging, brown leather briefcase.

But there was no comment from investigators on whether the burly gunman who abducted the boy at gunpoint from his home had made a promised but apparently long-delayed contact.

The kidnapper slipped into the plush home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman through an unlocked patio door early Monday. At gunpoint he demanded $20,000 from Goldman, a contractor. When told by Goldman that there was no money in the house, the gunman bound the couple with venetian -blind cord and forced their only child to leave in his own white car.

Five detectives spent the night with his family, tape-recording every phone call.

The gunman told the parents as he was leaving that he wanted $25,000 cash by 6 a.m. Tuesday. After that, he said, the ransom would double. "Any trouble," he warned the parents, "and you'll never see your son alive again."

As the search moved into a second day, a marked increase in police activity was observed at the Goldman home. Police and technicians entered and left the fashionable home every few minutes and a third telephone line was installed, apparently to monitor incoming calls.

Police said their fears increased when the kidnapper, described as extremely dangerous, failed to telephone between 6 and 7 a.m., as he had promised. In the call, he was to detail instructions for delivering the money.

Neighbors along the quiet street just off Biscayne Bay—where houses run from $50,000 to $300,000—talked with police and with reporters.

One woman described the quiet, studious high school senior as an intelligent, well-mannered boy.

Daniel, whose birthday was Monday, is a muscular, 5-foot-11, 175 pounds. He is well liked by fellow students but took little part in extracurricular activities.

A ham radio operator, he earned $200 a month repairing television sets for friends, He was saving the money to pay for college where he planned to study electronics.

He wouldn't have to pay his way because his father runs a construction company that is one of the largest builders of condominium apartments in south Florida.

Neighbors were awakened Monday 'by cries of "Help, call the police," coming from the Goldman house before dawn.

Goldman had worked his gag loose and started screaming. He and his wife weren't' able to break their bonds.

Goldman said the kidnapper appeared to be in his early 50's, wearing silver-rimmed sunglasses and a baseball cap. Goldman said he had a vague feeling he knew the man, who spoke to Goldman and his wife by name.

Buddists Demonstrate in Vietnam

Buddhists demonstrated in Hue and Saigon, South Vietnam, Sunday, demanding a return to civilian rule and accusing the United States of obstructing this by backing the military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

In Hue, the former imperial capital 400 miles north of Saigon, some 20,000 demonstrators marched through the streets. The crowd was orderly.

It was Buddhist rioting in Hue last year that led to the downfall of strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Banners demanded the ouster of Premier Ky and Chief of State Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu.

About 500 Buddhists paraded in Saigon, accusing the government of selling out the country by giving the U. S. permanent bases with 99-year leases at Da Nang, Cam Ranh and Vung Tau. An American spokesman categorically and officially denied the existence of any such lease agreements.

The march was halted on orders of the Buddhist leaders. One of them, Thich Tam Chau, urged his followers to be patient and give the government a chance to comply with their demands for civilian rule.

Gen. Ky later broadcast an appeal for calm. He promised a return to democracy, but said it "can't be built overnight."

Martin Luther King at Paris Rally

A civil rights rally was held in Paris Monday night by Martin Luther King but it was not attended by the U. S. ambassador to France, Charles Bohlen, on orders of the State Department.

U. S. Minister Robert McBride said the Embassy was told that while the government supports the civil rights movement as a whole, it prefers not to side officially with "any individual private group."

He added that Bohlen had told singer Harry Belafonte, who appeared with Dr. King, that the civil rights struggle was "a prime domestic problem rather than an international problem."

Sunday Dr. King reaffirmed his intention to broaden his civil rights campaign to include opposition to the war.

"The two issues are tied together," he told a press conference. "There can be no peace without justice," Dr. King said, "and no justice without peace."

Recover $84,000 Trophy

The best known sports prize in the world—the World Cup, the international soccer trophy—has been recovered after being stolen in London.

The golden trophy, which vanished a week ago from Central Hall near Parliament, was found buried in the garden of a house in the south London suburb of Upper Norwood. A mongrel dog uncovered it.

A dock laborer, Walter Bletchley, 47, was charged Saturday with stealing the cup, a solid gold statuette valued at 3000 pounds ($8400) but insurerd for whopping $84,000.

Urge Cancer Checkups

Annual checkups have significantly decreased the cancer death rate for a group of 13,000 Minnesotans, it was revealed by a University of Minnesota Cancer Detection Center study that began 18 years ago.

In the annual examinations, doctors look specifically for signs of cancer of the breast, prostate gland and lower bowel.

Though they develop tumors in the three body areas as frequently as the national average, the Minnesotans render them relatively docile by prompter treatment as a result of the checks.

Breast cancer on the national average kills 23 per cent of female cancer victims, prostate cancer 13 per cent and lower bowel cancer 20 per cent of male victims.

Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, wife of the former mayor of New York, left Lenox Hill Hospital Sunday after a two-weeks visit for the removal of a benign intestinal tumor. "I feel wonderul," she said, "and I'm glad to be going home."

Young Boy Murdered

Six-year-old Kevin Tuttle of Strafford, N. H., was found murdered early Tuesday near Deerfield, N. H.

Robert C. Brennan of Epsom, N. H., was arrested by New Hampshire State Police and charged with the slaying.

The slain boy, a first-grade pupil in the Strafford elementary school, disappeared while he was on his way home from school Monday afternoon.

The youngster rode on a school bus to within a tenth of a mile of his home. He then walked behind his two brothers, Glenn and Gary, but when they arrived home and looked for Kevin, he was missing.

State and local police, firemen, conservation officials and friends of the Tuttle family searched a wooded area near Strafford Monday night and early Tuesday morning looking for the missing boy. They found his body at 4 a.m. Tuesday.

Senate Passes Imbalance Bill

A bill which would allow the bussing of Negro children from Boston to schools in other cities and towns has been approved by the State Senate.

Present plans call for the bussing of about 245 Negro pupils during the next school year, with Brookline taking 100, Newton 60, Wellesley 35, Lexington 25 and Braintree 25.

Insured After Cong Capture

An official of the Agency for International Development was charged with "a gross act of misconduct" in taking out applications for $20,000 in insurance on the life of Gustav C. Hertz after Hertz was captured by the Viet Cong.

The AID official, who resigned in January after the agency notified him that it intended to fire him, is Quentin R. Verdier, 45, who was Hertz's $16,463-a-year deputy in the US AID mission in Saigon.

Details of the weird case, as complex as the secret negotiations to secure the release of Hertz, have been shrouded by a security classification until the past weekend.

Hertz disappeared Feb. 2, 1965, while cycling in a Saigon suburb.

According to AID official sources, Verdier in April filled out two life insurance applications for $10,000 each, naming himself beneficiary. Officials said he signed Hertz's name to both applications—back-dating one to Feb. 1—the day before Hertz disappeared.

According to AID, Verdier contended he had applied for the life insurance policies in order to turn the money over to Hertz's' wife in the event that she became a widow.

The agency, after an investigation and review of the case, notified Verdier it intended to discharge him for a "gross act of mis-conduct."

It was revealed over the past weekend that the Johnson Administration has been conducting secret negotiations with the Viet Cong—with the help of Algerian officials—for the release of Hertz. The negotiations were begun by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Soviet Communist Congress Opens

The Soviet Communist Party's 23rd Congress opened in Moscow Tuesday and First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev appealed to the Chinese Communists for new efforts to resolve the split in world communism.

The Soviet party is ready to consider the differences with China and "we are confident that a way can be found to overcome" them, Brezhnev said.

He also accused the United States of aggravating the international situation and said the Soviet Union still stands for a settlement of the Vietnamese problem "on the basis set forth by the DRV (North Vietnamese) government and the South Vietnam National Liberation Front (Viet Cong)"'

The Communist program calls for recognition of the National Liberation Front as the representative of the South Vietnamese people and withdrawal of U. S. troops from Viet Nam.

"In connection with the American aggression in Vietnam and other aggressive actions by U. S. imperialism, our relations with the United States have worsened and the blame lies on the ruling circles of the United States," Brezhnev said.

"As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, it is prepared to live at peace with all countries but will not resign itself to imperialist inquiry against other peoples," he declared.

Informed observers in Moscow said Brezhnev's statements appeared to be a restatement of the Soviet Union's' view that it wants better relations with the U. S. but can do nothing until the U. S. ends its "aggression" in Vietnam. Brezhnev's remarks appeared to lack any new, harder line toward the United State, observers said.

Moscow radio made clear that Brezhnev proposed two different procedures for healing the Soviet-Chinese dispute. One was a top-level Chinese-Soviet meeting in Moscow or Peking. The other was a world Communist meeting, which Brezhnev favored. China so far has refused to attend a world meeting.

Tigged TV Show Ratings

A former Congressional investigator admitted in Oklahoma City Friday that he rigged the ratings of four national television network programs, including a Bob Hope show, because he wanted to expose the rating system and gather material for a book.

Rex Sparger, 33, made the statement after he was accused in a $1.5 million damage suit of pirating trade secrets and "tampering" with rating results in an effort to influence viewers.

The suit was filed in Federal Court by the A. C. Nielsen Co., Chicago, whose ratings often determine the survival of network shows.

Sparger said he chose to jack up the number of sample viewers who supposedly watched the Bob Hope Christmas Special "because he is such a great man" and because "Nielsen already had destroyed" the opposing three shows.

The Hope show recorded the highest audience ever for a special.

Sparger said he gave "The Flintstones" a healthy rating because the cartoon about a kooky Stone Age family has been getting bad ratings and the show is going off the air.

The Carol Channing Show on Feb. 18 was another program for which he reported artificially high ratings. He declined to name the fourth program.

"Quite frankly," 'Sparger said, "I did it for research and to get material for my book, which I hope will be profitable."

Sparger was an investigator between 1961 and 1963 for a House committee that criticized TV rating systems.

During the Congressional investigations, the team headed by Sparger uncovered what they described as fictional rating charts. They also said they discovered that Nielsen had drawn data from only 36 radio sets to judge the comparative audiences of 41 radio stations in the New York City area.

And they said they found that two neighboring Negro families in Chickasha, Okla., both on relief, were used by Nielsen to represent 100,000 television viewing families in the entire region.

Hoffa's Pay Set at $75,000

Teamsters Union President Jimmy Hoffa may not be liked by Bobby Kennedy and the two juries who found him guilty on charges of jury tampering and fraudulently negotiating loans from the union pension fund, but his union's Executive Board still loves him.

In Miami Beach, the board roared approval of Hoffa's candidacy to succeed himself as president and continue drawing his $75,000 yearly salary.

"Brother Hoffa is still in the ball game," said Brother Hoffa. "You can bet your britches he is."

Hoffa is appealing his Federal court conviction, but should they stand, he faces 13 years in prison.

Ex-con Arrested in Girl's Murder

A 58-year-old-ex-convict was arrested on a charge of murder Monday after the Sunday night bludgeon-slaying of a pretty 15-year-old girl in North Arlington, New Jersey.

Ewill Wellington Long, who was captured largely through the efforts of the girl's 19-year-old brother, tried to plead guilty to the crime at his arraignment in Bergen County Court, Hackensack.

"I'm pleading guilty. I killed Penny Van Orden. I don't want to mess around. I'm guilty. I have no defense. I want no lawyer."

The court reminded Long of his rights and then entered a mandatory plea of innocent in his behalf. He was held for grand jury action.

Long, who lived about a block from the Van Orden home on High st., Newark, offered the girl a ride to a girl friend's home Sunday, police said. Instead of taking her to the girl friends home, he drove to a deserted section of North Arlington, they charged.

She was found alive in a ditch there by police. Her skull had been crushed and she was half naked. She was still alive but died 90 minutes later at West Hudson Hospital in Kearny without regaining consciousness. Doctors said she had not been raped.

Police said they spotted a 1959 blue Cadillac pulling away just before they found the body.

When told of the blue car, Dennis Van Orden, the girl's brother recalled he had seen Long driving such a car. Accompanied by a friend, Dennis followed the car Monday to Long's place of employment in Harrison. He confronted the powerfully built ex-convict there and then called police.

Police said Long had been arrested nine times since 1939, including three times on charges of assaulting women, although the charges were later dismissed in each instance.

Volpe To Discuss Sales Tax

Gov. Volpe plans a statewide television appearance Thursday (March 31) to explain the three per cent limited sales tax to Massachusetts residents. The tax goes into effect Friday of this week (April 1).

Announcement of his television appearance came after the executive council of the Massachusetts State Labor Council voted to file a referendum petition aimed at repealing the sales tax law.

Salvatore Camelio, council president, said "we are filing a petition signed by 10 qualified voters and we expect to obtain far more than the 36,000 signatures required to put this important question on the November ballot."

The sales tax issue is already being used by two Democratic candidates for governor, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue (Holyoke) and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack.

In a speech in Foxboro, McCormack said that Volpe's "'false promises very well could cause his defeat in November."

About April 1, Donahue will begin distributing bumper stickers lettered, "Donahue Yes, Sales Tax No."

Review Position

The United States position on the admission of Red China to the United States is being "intensively reviewed," UN Amb. Arthur Goldberg said. He added that he "would not be backward in inviting the end of the isolation of Communist China" if the Peking regime would denounce war as an instrument of foreign policy.

Defends Red China Deal

A spokesman for German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard"s government defended a projected deal in which a group led by a West German firm would build a $150 million steel plant for Red China.

Deputy Press Chief Werner Krueger said the plant would not add to the war-making capacity of Peking.

Sec. of State Dean Rusk sharply criticized the deal last week.

Krueger, taking note of this reaction, said the Rusk criticism was aimed only at aid that would increase China's war-making capacity. He said the new mill would not produce new steel but only process existing steel.

Rusk and other critics have said that the plant would enable the Communist Chinese to process two million tons of steel a year that could not otherwise be used.

To Oust Missionaries

Burma has asked all foreign missionaries who entered the country after its independence in 1948, to leave there by the end of this year.

Hardest hit by the order were 232 Catholic missionaries. Also affected were 20 Baptist, their wives and children, and three Anglicans. More than 400 Catholic missionaries were reported to be in Burma. There was no indication how long those who arrived before 1948 would be allowed to remain.

Military Junta Flees

The three-man military junta ruling Ecuador was reported to have fled the country Tuesday after seven persons were killed in three consecutive days of anti-government demonstrations. Rioting students tried to storm the presidential palace in Quito but were turned back.

Government spokesmen said a civilian would be appointed provisional head of the government until a general election is held.

A spokesman for the junta said earlier that the unrest that set off anti-government demonstrations in Quito, Guayaquil, Cuenca and Loja originated in commercial grievances against the government but had been used politically as a weapon to topple the government.

At that time, the spokesman denied that the junta was preparing to hand over power to a civilian because of the outbreaks.

Humphrey Tries to Defrost Labor

"George Meany, Won't You Please Come Home," was the theme of speech by Vice President Hubert Humphrey as he sought to repair the recent falling-out between the Administration and organized labor.

Humphrey told the AFL-CIO building trades legislative conference in Washington, "The President of the United States is your friend and we're not going to let you down."

His conciliatory remarks were apparently intended to assuage a large section of American trade unionism, embittered because of the failure of a Democratic-controlled Congress to repeal Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act, acceptance by the Administration of a minimum wage bill below the level set by labor and continuing pressure by the White House to maintain the government's wage-price guidelines.

Labor's discontent with these developments was summed up by AFL-CIO President Meany, who declared: "I don't buy the idea, and there is nothing in the record to sustain the idea that labor needs the Democratic party. I am sure it is the other way around."

Despite the coolness between labor and the Administration there is little likelihood of an open breach in the traditional association.

Trouble in Space

Scientists have discovered a "pretty serious" problem in the Gemini 8 flight's Agena target satellite, which continues to circle the earth about 253 miles in space.

The Federal Space Agency in Houston said the trouble, apparently in a yaw hydraulics system, sent the docking satellite into a series of unexpectedly high orbits last week.

Otherwise, the target has behaved normally since the moment March 16 when Gemini 8, suddenly bucking and weaving in space, had to abort a linkup and return to earth.

Astronauts Neal Anderson and David Scott landed their space vehicle safely in the Pacific some 500 miles from Okinawa. Later, it was revealed an apparent short circuit in a jet thruster on their ship had caused the space mishap, turning a triumphant trip into near tragedy.

Develop Plane Warning Device

A warning device that can eliminate mid-air collisions of airplanes has been developed by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis.

The device has been tested on McDonnell's Phantom jet fighter planes and probably will be developed for use by airliners.

It provides a 60-second warning to airplanes converging at speeds of up to four times the speed of sound, and it even tells the pilots what evasive action to take to avoid a collision.

McGarry Indicted

Bernard G. McGarry, of Milton, was indicted Friday by a federal grand jury for allegedly evading his income tax for three years.

McGarry, who has had a running court battle with the Internal Revenue Service for several years, was accused of false statements of income in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

The U. S. Attorney's office charged that McGarry owes the government $44,644.94 in income tax for the three years. If convicted on the three counts, McGarry faces maximum penalties of 15 years in prison or $30,000 in fines, or both.

The battle between McGarry and the IRS has involved several court sessions, and McGarry's attorneys charge that the IRS used illegal "snooping" devices to harass him.

New Trial for Sagansky

The U. S. Court of Appeals Friday ordered a new trial for Harry "Doc" Sagansky and Morris Weinstein who were convicted of using interstate telephone facilities to transmit wagers.

The decision overturned a U. S. District Court conviction of the two men. The conviction was based on testimony of a Treasury agent who said he placed bets with Sagansky and Weinstein by telephoning them in Massachusetts from Washington.

The appeals court said "'it is undisputed that the government agent, John Hanley, was the one to suggest the use of the interstate wire for his proposed bets. The appeals court held that Hanley induced the offense.

English Eyebrows Shoot Up

Eyebrows of proper English televiewers shot up over the appearance of Prince Philip in a British Broadcasting Corp. documentary about his 10-day American tour.

In "The Duke Goes West," Philip was shown losing his temper and swearing at film crews in Houston, Tex. Included was a behind-the-scenes incident in which someone approached Queen Elizabeth's husband with a microphone.

"Here comes that bloody machine again," the Prince exclaimed angrily. One of his minions then said, "take the bloody thing right away, you wouldn't like it if you were in his place." (Editor's note: The word bloody is considered one of the worst cuss words in England.)

After the documentary was aired, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said, in what must be the understatement of the month, that the BBC "did not consult us about the program."

To Induct More Doctors

During the period from July to September this year the Department of Defense has requested the Selective Service System to order 2496 physicians for induction; 1446 to be assigned to the Army, 700 to the Navy and 350 for the Air Force.

The Defense Department said the induction call is necessary because of the insufficient number of qualified physicians who have volunteered to serve on active duty in the armed forces.

For the same reason, the Defense Department also requested the induction of 900 male nurses, 700 for the Army and 200 for the Navy.

John C. Carr, director of the Massachusetts Selective Service, stated that Massachusetts has been asked to order 54 doctors for induction during the period, and 23 male nurses beginning in April and ending in July.

Space Theme Features Cub Pack's Blue-Gold Banquet

The annual Blue & Gold Dinner of Cub Scout Pack 272 Norumbega Council was held Tuesday, March 29, at the Meadowbrook Jr. High School.

Cubmaster Dan Goldberg of Newton was presented a gift from his pack of an official cub scout bronze desk calendar, personally engraved.

Honored guests at the head table along with Dan Goldenberg were:

Mr. and Mrs. E. Everett Clark — Mrs. Clark, principal of Oak Hill School; Mr. Ralph Sisson—District Scout Executive; Mr. Jack Crosby — Cub Scout Commissioner; Mr. Dan Bloom—South District Chairman; Mr. Irving Backman — P.T.A. President and Committee Chairman; Mr. Frank Hurley—New South District Commissioner; Mr. Carl Frutcoff —Cubmaster of Pack 217 of Newton; Mr. Ted Madfis—Activities Chairman and District Committee member.

After a spaghetti dinner catered by Tony's Italian Villa, the cub scouts and Dads saw a film from N.A.S.A. of Astronaut White's walk in space—"4 Days of Gemini".

Following this film there was an authetic Space Derby, in which each cub scout and his dad brought a carved space rocket they had made together, and launched them in the space derby.

At the end of the evening, each cub scout was presented with a 4 year old White Spruce tree, complete with planting instructions.

Cub Scouts and dads attending this dinner included: Harvey Dana, Jack Sandler Bloom, Daniel Scheff, David Zonis, Mark Israel, Peter Nathanson, Michael Madfis, Robert H. Dichter, Neal Alberts, Stuart Rothman, David Friedlander, Joseph Karas, Michael S. Leavitt, Ricky Swiman, Richard Diamond, Jonathan Stuart Bamel, Jordan Kreidberg, Marc Bruce Ehrlich, Barry and Peter Wald, Gerry Katz, Eric Schuster, Ricky Hahn, Stephen Lanes, James Cohen, Cary Benjamin, Steven Carlin, Mark Flicop, Stephen Narva, Howard Saltzberg; Paul M. Stein, Kevin Kasdin, Harvey Kaufman, Richard Chaloff, Barton Goldenberg, Michael Cutler, Stephen Dana, Alan Isgur.

Den mothers and dads assisting at the dinner included: Mrs. Simon Scheff, Mrs. Marsha Zonis, Mr. Ted Madfis, Mrs. Anita Bamel, Mrs. Barbara Karas, Mrs. Miriam Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wald; Mrs. Connie Stein, Mrs. Ruth Flicop, Mrs. Kasdin, Mrs. Nancy Chaloff, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Karas.

Many people helped to make this affair a success, and Cub Scout Pack 272 wishes to thank them all—especially Mr. Sidney Katz who planned and coordinated the many endless details necessary to insure a perfect party.

ed at the scene for smoke inhalation. Lawrence W. Sampson was treated at the Newton - Wellesley Hospital for an eye injury. Both men were attached to Engine 2.

Fire officials said the fire started from combustible materials near the kitchen range.

A retired secretary of Lasell Junior College, Mrs. Boardman was the widow of Edgar J. Boardman. Survivors include a son, Edgar, of Hanover, and a daughter, Mrs. Joan Grainger, of Sherborn.

The memorial service was held at 2 p.m. in the Church of the Messiah, 161 Auburn street, Auburndale, with the Rev. Robert W. Golledge, rector, officiating.

At Management Group Meeting

Chester Haley, 198 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands, participated in the recent meeting of Boston Chapter, Administrative Management Society, held at the Maridor in Framingham.

The speaker was the Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., dean of Boston College School of Business Administration and president of the Boston Metropolitan Area Planning Council. His subject: "The Business Man's Responsibility in Our Changing Society."

Takes Signal Course

Second Lt. Robert Matherwiez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Matherwiez, 10 Cliff road, Newton Upper Falls, completed a signal officer basic course at the Army Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga. A 1958 graduate of Newton High School, he received a bachelor's degree from Northeastern University in 1964.

FREE LECTURE TUES., APRIL 5, 8 P.M.
REALTY COURSE
All Classes Held At Motel 128, Needham

MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training available.

As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.

If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.

If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.

Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale. So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Tuesday, April 5, at 8 P. M. at Motel 128, Exit 36E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. This will be a 6-week, twice-a-week course meeting every Tuesday and Thursday evening in Needham.

THE LEE COURSE IS LICENSED AND APPROVED BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. For more information, you are welcome to call collect any time.

News Roundup

Residents of Michigan continued to report sighting unidentified flying objects over the week end despite the explanation of earlier sightings as "swamp gas" by a scientific consultant for the Air Force.

Three policemen in Bad Axe, Mich., reported watching a bright blue light over Lake Huron for about 30 minutes Saturday and thousands of residents of Hillside County, just north of Ohio, watched a couple of lights cavort high in the sky for several hours Saturday night.

A housewife in Birmingham, Ala., politely backed her car out of the way so another vehicle could leave her driveway. She later discovered that the driver of the other car had just finished burglarizing her home and was leaving with her television set, among other things.

New Viet Front Opened

U. S. Marines have opened a new front in South Vietnam.

In pouring rain and under heavy protective fire from warships and aircraft of the Navy's 7th Fleet, the marines swarmed from helicopters and landing craft onto the Long Thanh Peninsula of the Saigon River Delta, 25 miles south of Saigon.

The assault, which intensified and expanded U. S. military operations in the southern section of South Vietnam, was made by the 1st Battalion of the 5th Marine Regiment, numbering between 1200 and 1500 men.

Marines seized control of a seven-mile beach stretch along the river and then moved inland to take over territory a mile back from the river. Land and sea forces also moved through and around the peninsula's inlets and swamps to seal off escape routes.

Principal purpose of the mission was to make the river access to Saigon safe. The Viet Cong have made three recent attempts to block the river route to Saigon by sinking ships.

Cardinal Defends Right to Dissent

"The right to dissent is among the most precious of our national values and it must continue to be preserved at whatever cost," Cardinal Cushing said Sunday at a communion breakfast of the Holy Name Society of the Port of New York Authority at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, N. Y. C.

He added, "a strong nation does not tolerate dissent merely because it is strong; its strength comes from the very liberty that permits dissent among its citizens."

The Cardinal cautioned, "we are free to disagree with the law but not to disobey it. For in a government of laws and not of men, no man, however unruly or boisterous, is entitled to defy a court of law."

H-Bomb Deep in Sea Off Spain

The next attempt to recover the U. S. H-bomb found in 2500 feet of water off Polamares, Spain, March 15, will be even "more difficult and lengthy," according to an official announcement.

The bomb has shifted into a new position and fallen deeper into the sea. The shift resulted from the snapping of a lift line during the initial attempt to raise the bomb last Thursday from the side of a 70-degree slope.

Officials would not indicate when the next attempt at recovery might start but expressed belief the job might be done "in a matter of days." The bomb fell into the sea after the plane carrying it collided in flight Jan. 17 with a refueling plane.

Planes Bomb Reds

In close tactical support, U. S. Air Force B52's dumped 100,000 pounds of bombs on thick mangrove swamps 18 miles southeast of Saigon Monday, only a mile ahead of American Marines sweeping the river approaches to the Vietnam capital.

An Air Force spokesman said a Communist jungle mine factory hidden among mangroves 40-feet high apparently had been obliterated.

He described the strike—the nearest ever to Saigon—as "the most awesome and devastating thing I ever have seen."

Two other waves of B52's from Guam unloaded their massive bomb loads on Tay Ninh Province, an old Viet Cong stronghold and reputed jungle headquarters of the National Liberation Front. The bombers attacked sectors five miles apart near the Cambodian border about 70 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the south, Air Force jet fighters blew up 34 sampans and three large motorized junks in raids over the Mekong Delta south and west of Saigon.

China Lauds Viet Protests

Demonstrations against United States' policies in Vietnam were carried on locally, nationally and in England, Italy, France and Norway over the past week end.

Locally, some 14 demonstrators were arrested at the Boston Army Base last Friday, and several hundred took part in a protest-parade from Cambridge Common to downtown Boston on Saturday. For the most part, the march was orderly but when the marchers reached the downtown area, they were greeted by hecklers who backed the Administration's policy in Vietnam.

Overseas, England's foreign minister, Michael Stewart, was the target of Left-wing agitators while he was defending Britain's support of America's position during an election rally in Hull.

In Oslo, Norway, it was reported that several U. S. Marines fought with Norwegians protesting the American role in Vietnam.

Rain in Rome was credited with cutting down the numbers at an anti-American rally from an anticipated 30,000 to about half that.

Fist fights broke out Sunday in the town of Beziers in southern France, when Right-wing demonstrators clashed with anti-U. S. Leftists.

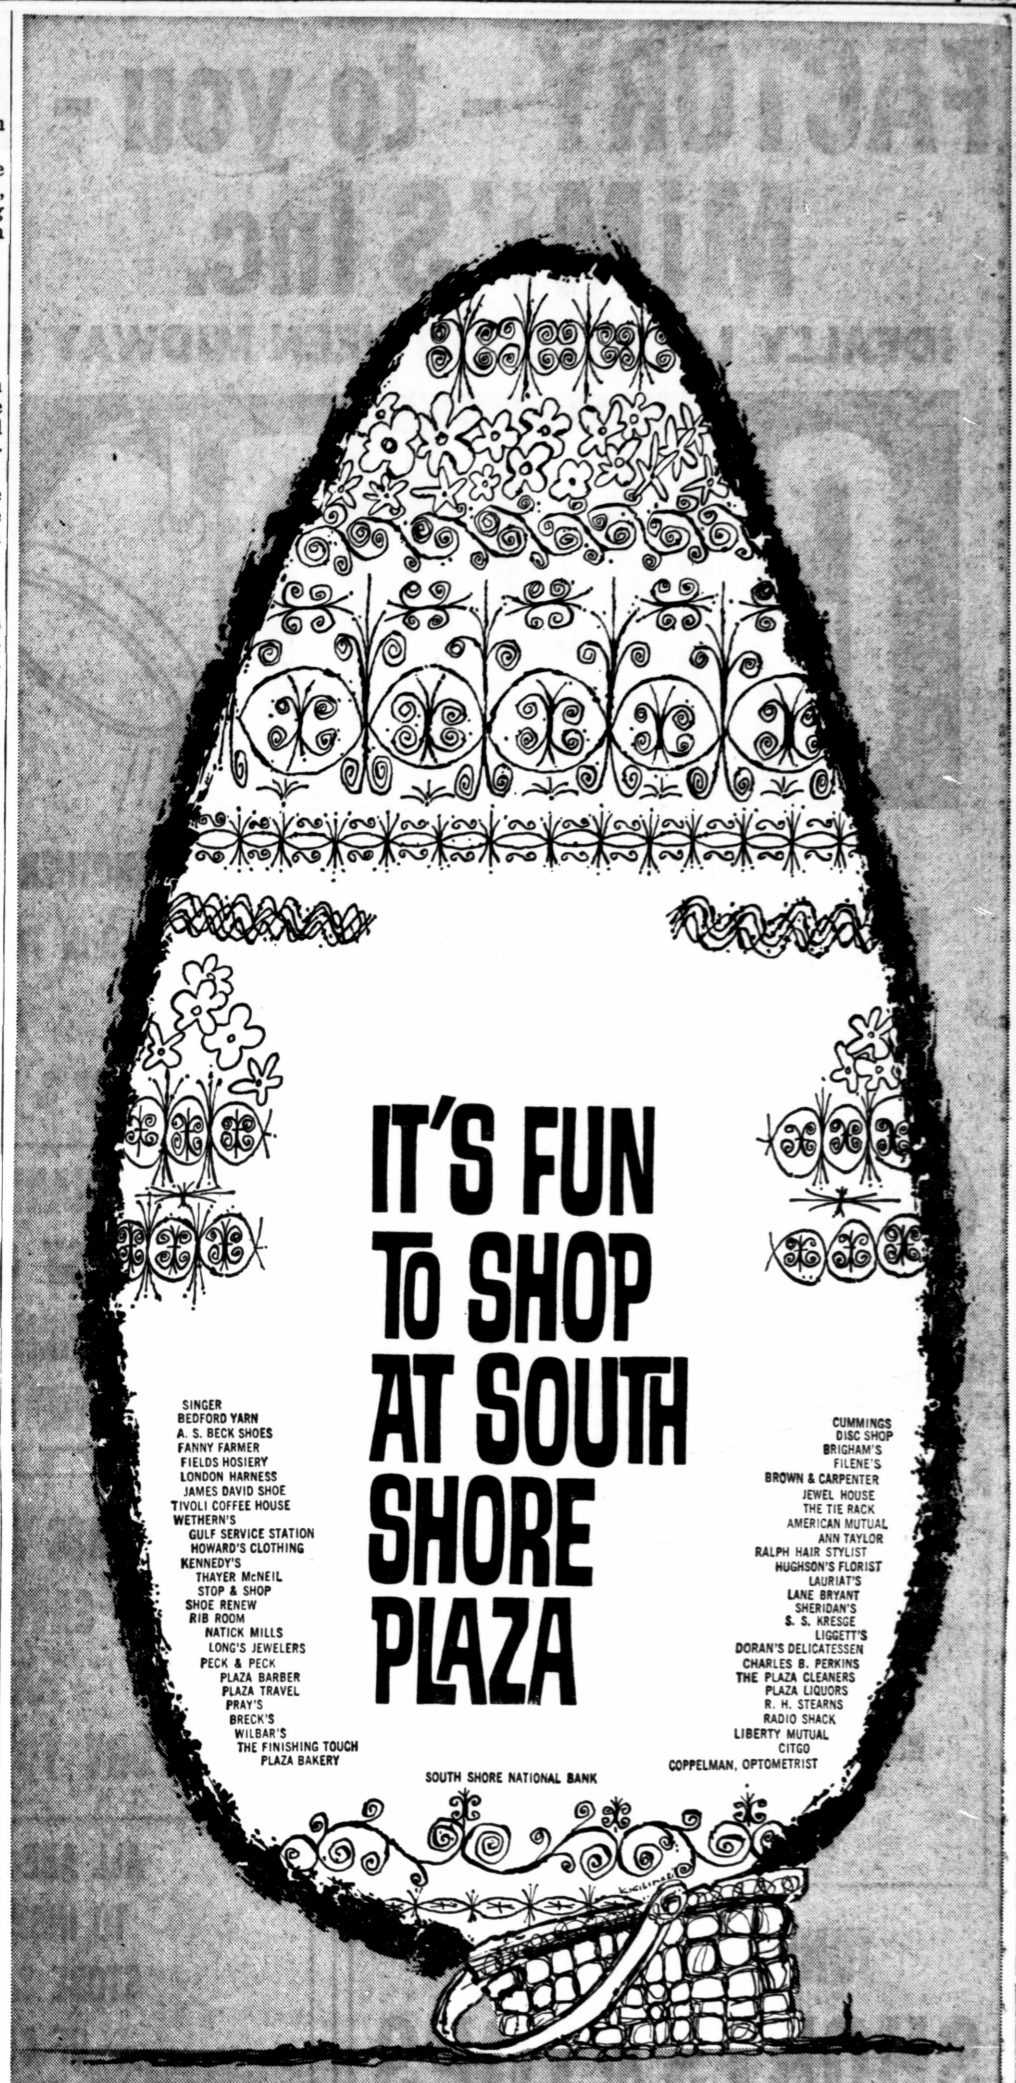

Commenting on the demonstrations, especially those in the United States on Friday and Saturday, a Chinese Communist statement called the protests "strong support for the Vietnamese people who are holding high the banner of struggle against U. S. aggression.

"This righteous action of the American people is a heavy blow to the Johnson administration that pursues the policies of war and aggression," a broadcast from Peking said.

Batman For Kids

The ABC-TV network says "Batman" is for adults—but some critics say it is for the birds.

Now comes the American Research Bureau which mantains it's for the kids. In a recent survey, aptly entitled "Holy Audience Estimates, Batman—it's the Kids!", the ARB said two January Batman programs ranked "first and third among teenagers reached" and among "children reached" they were were second and third.

The two episodes of "Batman" ranked 10th and 12th in "homes reached," but neither appeared among the top 25 by "men reached" or "women reached."

Presbyterian Panel

The United Presbyterian Church in the United States has taken a major policy step to acquaint its members with recent developments in regard to China on the diplomatitc front.

The denomination's Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations voted to create a China Relations Panel "composed of churchmen knowledgeable about China, scholars on China and international affairs experts."

The panel will approach such other organizations as the United Church of Christ and the Southeast Asia Church Conference in the hope of cooperating with them on a long range program.

G.O.P. 'WHITE PAPER'

Republican Congressional leaders plan to issue a "white paper" this week on the inflation threat in the United States.

This was revealed after Reps. Gerald Ford, of Mich., and Melvin Laird, Wis., warned President Johnson he cannot expect GOP support for another tax increase before the November elections.

Rep. Ford said he is convinced the Administration will ask Congress for higher levies before theh lawmakers adjourn. Rep. Laird thinks the President will delay the tax request at least until June and thehn couple it with a request for more funds for the Vietnam war.

Republicans feel they should oppose a tax increase until after every effort is made to cut domestic spending. They were scheduled to press this view when the House considered a $2.5 billion special appropriation, catch-all bill Tuesday.

Privately, leading House Republicans accuse the President of having deliberately withheld accurate estimates of the cost of theh Vietnam war during theh 1965 session.

Bonjour Papa Pierre

The former press secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy, Pierre Salinger, became the father of an 8½ pound boy Friday. Nicole Salinger, 26-year-old French wife of the former U. S. senator from California, gave birth at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Hollywood.

Nicole is Salinger's third wife. They were wed June 18, 1965, in Paris. The boy was named Gregory Edgar. Salinger now is an airline executive. He has three children by an earlier marriage.

Newton Youngsters At Museum Owl's Birthday

It was the 15th birthday of Spooky, the world-famed great horned owl at Boston's Museum of Science, and among the 100 four-to-nine-year-old boys and girls on hand to help in the celebration were Anthony S. Kuten of 543 Centre st., Newton; Jennie L. Scott of 56 Farlow rd., Newton, and Richard and Marshall Ainley of 79 Fountain st., West Newton.

In addition to the admiring youngsters, several of Spooky's animal friends were there to share the spotlight with him, among them Black Beauty, the indigo snake, and Herkemiah, the porcupine.

Spooky, still hale and hearty, has been seen to date by nearly 5 million museum visitors in 10,000 demonstratiions. He has appeared in dozens of local and national TV shows, and traveled some 30,000 miles to star in 1000 lectures.

The popular owl came to the museum just 15 years ago this month, a forlorn foundling so young he was still sporting the egg tooth with which he had pecked his way into the world. Spooky seemed just the right name for the little gray-feathered spectre with the big, round, wondering eyes.

Boston's Museum of Science had opened only nine days prior to his arrival. A progressive museum with revolutionary ideas about kindling the public's appreciation for science through unusual exhibits and lively demonstrations, it was quick to recognize a future star in the appealing ball of fluff.

It is expected that the loving care that has been his lot since babyhood will give him a far greater life expectancy that any of his counterparts in the wild, and he may well go on as the museum's mascot and piece de resistance for anotther 15 years.

High Schoolers To Perform In All-State Units

Eight Newton High School and three Newton South High School musicians will participate in the All-State Band, Orchestra, and Chorus in Fitchburg this week in connections with the Massachusetts Music Educators Association Conference.

Daniel Starr, violin, and Marjorie Weinert, violin, from Newton South High will play with the All-State Orchestra, while Jeremy Balmuth, French Horn, also of Newton South, will play with the All-State Band.

From Newton High, Louise Lerner, violin; Ellen Garfinkle, violin; Coin Page, viola; Martin Yaffee, oboe; and William Dornbusch, clarinet, will play with the All-State Orchestra, while Clifford Orent, Jeffrey Elson, and David Maslan lend their voices to the 300 member All-State Chorus.

All of these students auditioned first for the Northeast District festival and then were auditioned again for All-State. They will spend Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week at Fitchburg rehearsing for the All-State concert at 2:00 P.M. on Saturday afternoon. Stanley Chapple will conduct the Orchestra; Mrs. Lorna Cooke de Varon, the Chorus; Dr. Harry Begian, the Band.

A Woodwind Quintet from the Newton High Schools will play for a general session on Thursday afternoon under the direction of Peter H. Cobb. Members of the quintet are:

Martin Yaffee, oboe; John Berman, horn; Jonathan Cline, flute; Philip Woodbury, bassoon, and William Dornbusch, clarinet.

Sgt. Enrico Pagnano Jr.

Marine Sgt. Enrico Pagnano, Jr., who was killed in Viet Nam action Mar. 18, was buried Saturday, Mar. 26, with full military honors in Newton Cemetery, following a solemn requiem Mass in the Church of Our Lady.

He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Pagnano, Sr., 227 Adams St., Newton, and the third resident of this city to give his life in the Viet Nam war.

In addition to his parents and several uncles and aunts, he leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Costanzo DiBona and Mrs. Marianna Pagnano.

College Mixer Is Planned By Junior College

Newton Junior College students have announced an Intercollegiate Mixer to be held April 1, at Motel 128 in Needham. Students from nearby colleges and universities have been invited to attend.

"The Vandals," a well known local group of musicians will play for dancing and will entertain during the evening.

The co-chairmen of this affair are: Arthur Bernard and Charles O'Brien. Members of the committee are Donna Palmer, Ronald Custeau, Bob Barrett, Thomas Arbuckle, Carol Shine, Joseph Gardener, Nancy Mooney, John Melnick, Sandy Pinto, Marilyn McQuiston, Linda Gallo, Elaine Hough, Pat Bunton, Betsey Brooks, Ann Penta, Ellen DiCarlo, and Mary Joyce Flanigan. All these students are residents of Newton.

Local Women At Heritage Food Program

A number of Newton residents will assist in hospitality for a meeting of the Harvard Woman's Club of Boston, to be held Thursday afternoon, April 7, in Hotel Vendome, Boston.

They are Mrs. Joseph A. Ahearn, Mrs. Walter O. Blanchard, Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. John E. Millea, Mrs. Neal O'Hara and Mrs. Samuel L. Lowe Jr.

The program, "Heritage Cooking," will feature the preparation and serving of gourmet dishes with the latest in kitchen techniques and tips on food shopping.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock.

Deny Counihan Motion

Superior Court Judge Francis J. Quirico denied a motion by Edward A. Counihan 3d, former state banking commissioner, to set aside an indictment charging him with taking a bribe and conspiring to accept a bribe.. The judge ordered that Counihan's case, along with 14 other bribery and conspiracy cases, go to trial April 25. The indictments resulted from investigation by the now-defunct State Crime Commission.

Hijacks Airliner

A Cuban flight engineer killed a guard and a pilot in hijacking a Cuban airliner in a vain attempt to fly it to Miami last Sunday night. Authorities hunted him throughout the Havana area.

The engineer, Angel Betancourt Cueto, escaped when the plane landed at Havana's International Airport after the pilot, Capt. Fernando Alverez Perez, duped him into thinking he was coming down in Miami.

The dead were Capt. Perez, reported shot after Betancourt learned of the deception, and Edor Reyes Diaz, a guard slain earlier in the flight. The co-pilot, Evans Rosales, was injured when the plane, a four-engined Russian built Ilushin 18, ran off the runway and crashed. It was on a flight to Havana from Santiago, Cuba.

Plead Guilty

Seven Boston men were ordered to make restitution to the state of $2700, when they pleaded guilty to charges of obtaining unemployment benefits while they help jobs. At the same time, Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph Ayoub asked for warrants charging 12 other Boston men with 160 counts of larceny from the state by collecting $5200 in benefits while they held jobs.

Watched on TV

Ousted Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev did not attend the Soviet Communist 23d Congress in Moscow this week although technically he is entitled to attend because he is still a member of the Communist Party Central Committee.

He was said to be watching the televised proceedings in his country villa 40 miles out of Moscow with less than hearty approval. Khrushchev is known to be bitter about the fast shuffle he got from his successors.

Teacher-Oath Law Stands

Repeal of the Massachusetts teacher-oath law was rejected by the House Tuesday on a vote of 185 to 36. The roll-call vote came on a move to overturn an adverse report from the Legislative Committee on Education.

Also rejected by the House was a bill to establish the minimum pay of teachers with 10 years' experience at $7500 a year.

Meanwhile, the Senate rejected a bill under which fire fighters would be permitted to retire after 20 years' service on a pension of 40 percent.

Arrest Young Killers

In less than 90 minutes, Brooklyn, N.Y., police arrested two 18-year-old youths and a 14-year-old boy for mugging and kicking to death Agripino Bonillo, 49, a $68-a-week cook, the father of 10 children. Bonillo managed to slash one of his assailants and police followed a trail of blood to the home of one of the youths.

Bonillo, an immigrant, had always counselled his 10 children, "stay away from bad people" and "study, study, get a good education."

2nd Tallest Building

Without fanfare, construction of Boston's second tallest building began this week. Formal exercises, marking the start of the 40-story, $30 million office tower are scheduled for later in the spring.

The New England Merchants Bank Building, as it will be called, is being erected on a tract between the Old State House and the New City Hall in the Government Center.

Scheduled for completion late in 1968, the pink granite-faced skyscraper will be the second highest structure within the downtown area. Only the 52-story Prudential Tower will be higher.

The so-called Parcel 8 site, where the new building is being erected, was purchased last Friday by Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Co., of Boston, from the Boston Redevelopment Authority for $917,000.

Parcel 8 is bounded by Dock sq., Washington, State and Congress sts. Besides several structures already razed, the site includes a portion of Devonshire st. and the present nine-story New England Merchants Bank Building. That structure will be torn down when the new tower is ready for the bank's occupancy.

Ready for Combat

A Defense Department spokesman said Tuesday the major portion of the nation's uncommitted Army divisions are ready for combat "at this time" because they are being used to train recruits.

The spokesman made the statement at a hastily called Pentagon press conference in response to reports of a still secret Senate staff study that charges the demands of Viet Nam have sapped the readiness of the Army's forces in this country.

The Army's divisions in the United States form the "strategic reserve" that would be called upon to meet sudden contingencies arising anywhere in the world.

UFO's Over New England

Unidentified flying object reports finally reached New England Tuesday night. Several persons in East Haven, Ct., said they were mystified by a colorful, flashing object near Saltonstall Mountain, a hill not far from the Tweed-New Haven airport. And a dozen reports of UFO's were made in Southern Maine.

An airport employee, radio operator Peter Gagliati, said it couldn't have been an airplane. He said he looked around through binoculars and saw a "green and red flashing light" which "appeared to be standing still." He said he knew of no aircraft flights in the area at that time.

Robert A. Caldwell, of 63 Willow rd., East Haven, said "this thing seemed to start over the mountain with a red, green, yellow, blue revolving light. It changed colors as it rotated, dancing around like a kite." Several other persons reported seeing the same thing.

One of a dozen Maine reports came from William Cushing, 14, of Old Orchard beach, who said he is an amateur astronomer. The youth said he spotted an egg - shaped, multi - colored object through his 60-power telescope.

He said it had a glowing blue body with a green dome and a string of red lights on its sides. The object went through a series of figure eight maneuvers for about 10 minutes, the youth said, then disappeared.

Meanwhile, earlier Tuesday, Rep. Gerald Ford (D.-Mich.), formally requested Congress to launch an official inquiry into the UFO sightings.

Later Connecticut police chased several Massachusetts cars into Rhode Island where the occupants were arrested and charged with fleeing to avoid prosecution.

Sports Roundup

Bruins Still Last

The Boston Bruins are still in the cellar of the National Hockey League and they have no place to go but up — yet it's doubtful.

The Bruins lost another try to get out of the dungeon Sunday night when they were defeated by Les Canadiens, 3-1 at Boston Garden. It finished off a poor weekend for the Bruins who lost to the Canadiens 5-2 Saturday night at Montreal.

The Boston team climbed to within two points of the fifth place New York Rangers last week. But they missed two opportunities to make any further progress against Montreal. New York, however, fared just as poorly by losing 5-1 to Toronto.

Boston still has a chance to overtake the Rangers since they have an extra game left to play. They finish at home against Toronto Thursday (March 31) and Chicago Sunday (April 3).

New York is at Detroit Thursday night and winds up at Detroit April 2.

Sox Win 3rd Game

The Red Sox finally beat the Minnesota Twins. Of course, it was only an exhibition game but it was a great morale boster for the Sox who have only won three of their 15 exhibition games so for this Spring.

In a seven-inning tilt before 5000 at Ponce, Puerto Rico, Sunday, the Sox snapped an eight-game losing skein by defeating the Twins 5-1.

Tony Conigliaro and rookie Mike Andrews hit home runs in a five-run sixth inning to enable the Sox to salvage the finale of a week end series with the Twins who defeated Boston in 17 of 18 games enroute to the American League pennant last year.

Southpaw Dennis Bennett, battling to overcome a stiffness in his left shoulder, hurled three innings for Boston, allowing one run on two hits. He was relieved by Dick Radatz who checked the Twins for two innings. Rookie Bill Rohr followed Radatz and kept the Twins at bay for another two innings.

The Sox sent nine men to bat in their big inning. Conig hit his sixth homer of the training season and later added a double. Young shortstop Andrews drove in three runs.

Speed Record Smashed

America's top sport car drivers look ahead today to Le Mans, France, and "the track of truth," after leaving the Sebring, Fla., track where the speed record was smashed by a Ford.

After the fastest 12-hour race ever run at Sebring - a speed duel that left five persons dead - Fords flashed across the finish line in 1-2-3 order Saturday, just as they did last month in the 24-hour Continental at Daytona.

It will be at Les Mans, however, that the American Fords must demonstrate in the hardest possible way their smashing victories in the first two 1966 races for the Worlds Sports Car Manufacturing Championship were not just flukes.

It was, of course, just plain luck which enabled Ken Miles and Lloyd Ruby to take the checkered flag of victory at Sebring.

They smashed the Sebring speed record by averaging 98.631 miles an hour around the tortuous twists and turns of the course in their Ford XI roadster.

But Dan Gurney, of Costa Mesa, Cal., and Jerry Grant, of Kent, Wash., drove even until the engine of their Ford Mark II went dead 100 yards from the finish with Gurney at the wheel.

If Gurney had just sat there, his car would have come in second because it had covered more miles than any other except the winning car. But the young driver pushed it to the line and under the rules of the race disqualified himself.

As the race neared its end, a German Porsche racer collided with a Ferrari, hurtled through a fence and smashed into a group of spectators, killing four and injuring four.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., at the wheel of the Ferrari, escaped injury. So did Don Wester, of Monterey, Cal., the driver of the Porsche, but the mental shock of the experience put Wester in the hospital.

Earlier, a flaming crash off a hairpin turn brought instant death to a Canadian driving champion, Bob McLean.

His powerful Ford GT40 racer, its gas tank ruptured by a collision that flattened a utility pole, exploded in the air and crashed like a fireball with McLean still in the driver's seat.

Cassius Clay is still heavyweight champion of the world. He out-pointed George Chuvalo in a bruising 15-round bout in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens before a crowd of 15,000 fight fans Tuesday night.

It was no mis-match as the two heavyweights battled fiercely for the full 15 rounds. Clay, with his superb boxing skill and dazzling speed, threw everything in his repertoire at the tough, case-hardened Chuvalo without once knocking him down.

From the 10th through the 15th round Chuvalo appeared to gain his second wind and carried the fight to the tiring Champ, whose punches seemed to have lost their power. It was the greatest number of rounds Clay has had to fight in one bout in defense of his crown.

After the fight, Clay said he would probably defend his crown again in two months against Henry Cooper.

Still Holding Out

A "final" offer of $210,000 was made Tuesday by the Los Angeles Dodgers to holdout pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, and Gen'l. Mgr. E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi said the offer was spurned.

Bavasi said he originally offered Koufax $100,000 and raised it to $112,500 during a meeting with Atty. Bill Hayes, representing the pitching duo. He said the original Drysdale offer of $85,000 was increased to $97,500.

After the rejection, Bavasi said, he phoned Dodger owner Walter O'Malley at Vero Beach, Fla., and the two agreed that the $210,000 figure was as high as the club would go.

Meanwhile, Koufax and Drysdale reported to the set of "Warning Shot" in Hollywood to begin rehearsals for the movie which goes into production April 11, the day before the Dodgers play their home opener.

Harrowing Moments in Space

The two Gemini 8 Astronauts—Neil Armstrong and David Scott—in their first press conference told of the harrowing moments they spent on March 16 in a pitching, rearing spaceship high above the earth.

So violent was the kicking and plunging of the Gemini locked onto the Agena that the Astronauts feared the two ships might break apart.

During the press conference it was revealed that only a combination of unfortunate circumstances halted the flight and prevented it from continuing the full three days.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Centre, declared that Armstrong and Scott could have stayed aloft for the three days if they had been able to make a prompt diagnosis of the trouble in their spacecraft. But their situation was such they were unable to do so.

It also develops that the Astronauts shut down the Agena control and revved up the Gemini when they would have done just the opposite if they had known what the trouble was. Subsequently, they tried various combinations without success.

Armstrong said he and Scott were "extremely reluctant" to give up the flight but that the decision to re-enter under such conditions is determined prior to the flight.

The two Astronauts were given NASA exceptional service medals for their "quick thinking and sound decisions." Scott also was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Air Force while Armstrong, a civilian, was given an in-grade civil service promotion.

Mrs. Gandhi in Washington

Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi began six days of talks Monday with President Johnson and other Administration officials in Washington.

Mrs. Gandhi, the 49-year-old daughter of the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, took office in January on the death of Prime Minister Lal Bahadhur Shastri. She arrived in the United States Sunday on President Johnson's personal plane and spent the night in Williamsburg, Va.

The President sent his plane to Paris for Mrs. Gandhi because a strike of navigators of the Air India line grounded its planes.

The visit of Mrs. Gandhi is considered both timely and crucial—a fact emphasized by Mrs. Gandhi"s decision to keep the date despite serious strife and food shortages in India.

The timeliness derives from the current Indian and Pakistani agreement to quit fighting over Kashmir and to talk out their differences. During the fighting, relations between the U. S. and India became strained.

Against this background, observers expect the Gandhi-Johnson dialogues to be a mixture of private talks and brass-tack negotiations on aid.

Much importance was being placed on the personal exchanges. They may help the Administration assess Mrs. Gandhi's political posture and ability to make India a viable democracy and a force for freedom among the independent countries of Asia.

Indonesian Crisis Resolved

The government of Indonesia apparently resolved its crisis over the past weekend as President Sukarno announced a new reform Cabinet without Leftists and along lines sought by the anti-Communist military.

President Sukarno still contended he was running the government as Indonesia's "great leader," but the makeup of the Cabinet undoubtedly was a bitter pill for him. It included the fiercely anti-Community army strongman, Lt. Gen. Suharto, and former Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution.

Gen. Nasution was fired by Sukarno Feb. 21. The President was said to have gone into a rage last week during the protracted negotiations on the Cabinet when the army insisted Gen. Nasution be brought back into the government.

Sukarno kept his position as Premier, though it is generally considered he is simply a figurehead leader retained by the military because of his strong appeal to the public.

However, in a radio speech, Sukarno insisted the new Cabinet was responsible to him. He named a 30-man cabinet plus a six-man Presidium, a sort of executive committee.

Gen. Suharto, 45, who blocked Sukarno's efforts to bring Communists back into prominence by taking power March 11 and arresting 15 key Leftist ministers, was named Fifth Deputy Premier. He also retained his post as army chief and was charged with responsibility for Indonesia's defense and security.

Gen. Nasution, 47, who led a purge of the country's Communists after last Sept. 30's Red-backed coup was crushed by forces under Gen. Suharto, was named a minister and deputy commander of KOGAM. This the key command body of civilian and military groups in the campaign to "Crush Malaysia."

Heroic Rescue

Another thrilling story of the heroic rescue of a U. S. pilot downed in enemy territory in North Viet Nam came out of Saigon this week.

Air Force Lt. Kenneth D. Thomas, Jr., of Mount Auburn, Ill., had just finished a strike 75 miles north of the 17th parallel when his plane was hit.

He headed west toward the mountains, but his control system had been damaged by the shot. He lost control of the plane and was upside down when he ejected out of it. Thomas parachuted into rough, mountainous country.

The crew of the "Jolly Green Giant," a helicopter equipped with a winch, headed north to the rescue of Thomas. With it went four Skyraiders, two to search for Thomas, two to answer any enemy ground fire, as well as a C130 transport plane with electronic gear to help in the rescue operation.

Jets raced to the scene to furnish air cover.

Thomas was located within a half-hour on the thin ledge of a cliff. Captain William E. Cowell of the "Jolly Green Giant" attempted to pilot in the helicopter. The air was turbulent. He tried five times to get in and finally had to turn back as his fuel began to run low.

A second helicopter and a third tried to make it but couldn't. Food and provisions were dropped to Thomas, and the rescue task force went back to the base to plan the operations for the next day.

Thomas cat-napped under a ledge during the night and early the next morning began hiking, climbing and crawling to a narrow canyon where found a clearing. He reached a 10-foot clearing through trees about 240 feet high at four in the afternoon.

Down came the "Jolly Green Giant." A hoist on which the cable is 240 feet long was dropped to a pile of rocks where Thomas was standing. It took 10 minutes to haul him up into the helicopter for a back-slapping, bear-hugging reunion.

Valeri Tarsis, the Russian writer deprived of his Soviet citizenship because he was insufficiently devoted to what he calls his homelands idiotic political system," was in Rome on a lecture tour and hoped to meet Pope Paul VI. "I would like to meet him," he said. "I would like to tell him there are still people in Russia who believe in God; that there are still Christians."

Two masked gunmen escaped with $200,000 in diamonds and assorted jewelry Thursday in a bold daylight robbery of Harry Cortell's Jewelers on the third floor of the Jewelers Building, 333 Washington st., in the heart of downtown Boston.

The gunmen herded Cortell, his son and six employes into a side room. One of the holdup men hurled a check-writing machine at one of the employes who was moving too slowly.

The men then methodically took the diamonds, watches and other expensive jewelry from a huge wall safe that had just been opened for the start of the day's business. .

Killed In Viet Nam

Married only one day before he was sent to Viet Nam last August, a Quincy Marine was killed there last week, word was received by his young wife, Catherine, last Thursday. Lance Cpl. James H. Cavicchi, Jr., of 20 Lind st., Germantown, died in a helicopter crash in the vicinity of Quang Ngai, some 200 miles north of Saigon.

Says NATO Inadequate

Portuguese Premier Antonio de Olivieira Salazar warned other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) that they can no longer expect Portugal's "automatic cooperation." He said NATO is totally inadequate for present needs and is a source of "disastrous results."

More Security for LBJ

President Johnson's future travel plans probably will be kept secret except for those occasions when he is making a public appearance and large crowds are desired. This is because, the White House explained, speed and surprise are two elements in the President's trips that can add greatly to security.

Arrested For Murder

Charles Moretto, 21, of Revere, was arrested on a charge of murder Thursday in connection with the shooting death of a cafe bouncer who he said attacked him with a pool cue. Arthur Doherty, 35, also Revere, was shot as he rushed three attendants at a gasoline station on Revere Beach pkwy.

Police Chief Colin A. W. Gillis said Moretto, who operates the station, took a .38 cal. revolver from his pocket and shot Doherty after he rushed into the station swinging the pool cue.

Green In New Appeal

Theodore "Teddy" Green has filed a petition in U.S. district court in Boston questioning the legality of the 25-year prison term he now is serving in federal prison for robbery of a Norwood bank.

Geen contended in his request for a writ of habeas corpus that the rules of the federal court and the U.S. Constitution were violated in 1952 during his trial before U. S. District Judge Francis J. Ford.

Given Stiff Sentences

Six to eight years have been cut from the heavy sentences imposed on four Americans, one from Framingham, for the "beatnik" murder of a Barcelona, Spain, businessman. James Stephen Johnson, 31, of Framingham, received a seven-year remission on a 21-year term.

Glee Club To Hold Concert On April 26th

The Highland Glee Club of Newton, through its president, George F. Brewer, 1090 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, has announced that their annual spring concert this year will be held on Tuesday evening, April 26th in the Meadow Junior High School in Newton Centre.

"This change from the traditional second Tuesday evening in March to seven weeks later was made because the weather late in April is less severe than it is in early March, and more of our senior music lovers will be able to attend ," explained President Brewer.

"The improved attendance at rehearsals and the growing enthusiasm of the members is due for the most part to the skill and personality of our new director, all of which guarantees a highly successful spring performance," said Brewer.

The new director of the Highland Glee Club is Robert C. Prince, supervisor of elementary school music in Medford, who is well known throughout New England as bass soloist as well as being a director of singing groups.

He directed the Highland Glee Club in its Christmas concert in December and thrilled the audience with his rich, colorful, bass voice in the solo part of one of the club numbers.

Sponsoring membership in the Highland Glee Club can be obtained through Mr. Brewer at his home or any club member.

Newton Library Has Display Of Rare Figurines

The Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, is the scene of an unusual exhibit of figurines made by Mrs. Jenina Federkiewicz of Dorchester. Included in the display, which will remain until April 19, are figures of such famous people as the Kennedys, Johnsons, John Wilkes Booth and Albert Einstein.

Mrs. Federkiewicz, wife of Dr. John J. Federkiewicz, is a native of Poland who came to this country after World War I. She was formerly a portrait painter but became allergic to oil paints. She then switched to fashioning figurines about 14 years ago after seenig an exhibit of Dresden dolls.

These figurines are made of crepe paper wound around wire armatures. The faces are modeled in clay, then fired and painted. When completed, they are coated with a liquid porcelain to give them a permanent, ceramic finish. Dresses are made of various materials such as lace or brocade onto which Mrs. Federkiewic sews tiny sequins or seed pearls. The artist also makes the jewelry.

This is careful, painstaking work and some figurines take as long as two months to complete. Photographs serve as source materials.

Other figurines on display include: Paderewski, Helena Modjeska, Cardinal Cushing, Pope Paul VI, a Polish mountaineer, a peasant girl from the district of Lowicz and the ballerina Borkowska.

Gunman Gets $65 In Late Night Holdup

A gunman got $65 in a holdup of the Socony Mobil Station at 1232 Washington St., West Newton, shortly after midnight last Friday.

Thomas M. Hubbard, 18, or 13 High Rock st., Wayland, an attendant, was alone in the station when a youth walked in and demanded: "Empty your pockets, this is a gun and it's loaded."

Hubbard gave him $65 from his jacket pocket. The bandit then said, "Open the register," andn Hubbard replied, "we don't have one."

The youth escaped across Washington St., down Davis St., and in the directtion of Watertown St.

The Wayland boy called Newton police and a squad of officers led by Sgt. William C. Nally and Sgt. John J. Kennedy responded.

Therapy For Winter - Weary Eyes

Warm sunny skies, gentle surf, carefree youth, provide a preview of long-awaited summer days ahead. Lovely nymph is Trudy Lakin, of Chestnut Hill, a B.U. student attending annual College Weeks in Bermuda. The lucky lad? He's Jim Spivack, from the Bronx, and University of Buffalo.

International Ball To Be Held May 14th

The Suburban Region, American Jewish Congress, will hold its fourth annual international ball Saturday evening, May 14, at the Blue Hill Country Club, Canton.

An orientation meeting of the committee in charge was held last week at the home of Mrs. Paul Dichter of Newton.

Participating were Mrs. Penneth Cline of Newton, hostess chairman; Mrs. Eli Feldman of West Newton, national vice president; Mrs. Paul Dichter, hostess; Mrs. Myer Rubin of Newton Centre, reservations chairman; Mrs. Gerald Stepakoff of Newton Centre, program book chairman, and Mrs. Oscar Miller of Newton Centre, hostess chairman. Mrs. Robert Kirschbaum of Chestnut Hill is patrons and sponsors chairman.

The International ball is the highlight of the programs of the social season of the region and honors the Louise Waterman Wise Youth Hostel in Jerusalem, a unique center for young people from all over the world. Mrs. Robert Berns of Newton Centre is president of the region.

Robert Demmons, 30 Broadway, Newtonville; Mark Steinberg, 86 Athelstane Rd., Newton Centre; Dzintans Alksnitis, 32 Kimball Terr., Newtonville; Anthony Arpino, 75 Prescott St., Newtonville; William Howley, 441 Parker St., Newton Centre, and Richard Steinberg, 49 Newbrook Cir., Chestnut Hill, have been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute for the 1966-67 academic year.

Oak Hill Park Bicycle Rodeo

A bicycle rodeo is scheduled for Saturday morning, Apr. 2, at 9:30 o'clock in Oak Hill Park.

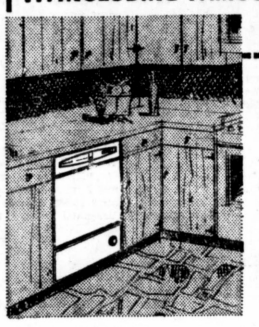

Sponsored by the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club, it is another traffic feature for children in the interest of safety on the road.

Officer Feeley of the Newton police will give a test on rules of the road, and parents will act as bicycle escorts.

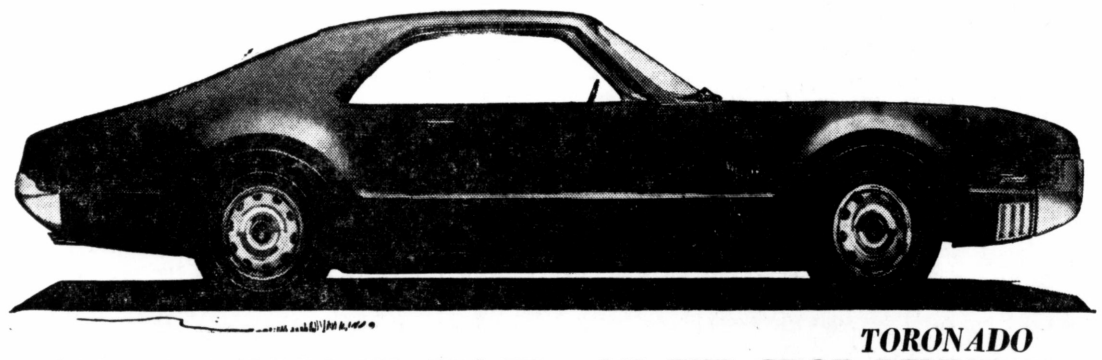

The club will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Mrs. Frederick J. Wood is program chairman, and Mrs. M. Mark Klein co-chairman.
